before you begin your stroll through memory's garden

the pathway will lead you first through the lovely grounds and pleasant homelike buildings
where students

found homes during nine crowded months
forged friendships that shall endure for life
lingered in silent meditation at eventide

slipping quietly through the gateway of morning and evening worship
you will

kneel once again in the house of prayer
hear once more the choral anthems of adoration
feel the joy of active endeavor for others

beyond the archway of the chapel service

lustrous rainbow colors shimmering against fresh full foliage

every teacher is in his place

guiding the group beneath his care

and past the president's friendly words is

the surging student body
dignified seniors
ambitious juniors
gay and carefree underclassmen

and as the laughing faces blur

you may find yourself

strolling down some well-worn lane
or gazing at some weather-beaten monument to a bygone day

or your inward eye may rest once again on collegians busy

in the mill the dairy the laundry

or you'll find yourself

on the diamond the score tied YOU up to bat

later

when the night dews have fallen on the hushed and shadowy campus

sweet music will gently soothe your weary soul

your tired eyelids will slowly close

and you'll envision the

SMC of the Future

the garden of memory is limitless

and you need not follow the path laid out

it matters little where you may wander

for on every hand will lie things unseen by all but you

time is an element of all things

double time is the essence of all memories

so stroll leisurely as you

Many more young men and women are needed to enter the ranks of nursing. Nursing is a noble profession and upon graduation offers a wide choice of opportunities to the well-trained young person. The rewards are not all monetary; perhaps the greatest reward being the satisfaction that comes from service to others, possibly being instrumental in saving a life or in directing someone into the Christian way of life.

The spirit of liberty is the spirit of Him who, nearly two thousand years ago, taught mankind that lesson it has never learned, but has never quite forgotten that there is a kingdom where the least shall be heard and considered side by side with the greatest.

The President's Message

To

STUDENTS, TEACHERS, AND FRIENDS OF SOUTHERN MISSIONARY COLLEGE

God has a master plan for the universe. If it were possible to see the blueprint for this world, I feel certain Southern Missionary College would be conspicuously marked as a school of special service to His children in the Southland. The details of God's great program are so minute and personal as to call for plans for each of us as individuals. Southern Missionary College was established and at present exists only to serve the personal needs of its students, teachers, and patrons.

God has a place for you in His great plan. If you fail Him and do not train to fill your place, it will cost you eternal life and delay His schedule. If you would make a true and complete success of your life and purpose on earth, early "find and follow God's way in education."

Recently, I was approaching a large Midwestern city, and my attention was called to an airplane in the act of sky-writing the name of a well-known beverage. The twelve-year-old boy in the car remarked how silly and wasteful of time and money for the first letter was gone before the last letter of the name was completed. How similar is preparation for any service other than for a place in God's work.

The challenge of Southern Missionary College and 1947-48 is to prepare and help others to prepare to meet their God. If you would join a movement certain of success, a cause which war, depressions, fire, or flood can not stop or even retard, except to the glory of God, train for a life of service in finishing the Advent message. Southern Missionary College with all it has to offer is at your service.

Faithfully yours,

(Signed) Kenneth A. Wright

TO TOWN——

— by car

— by station wagon

— by bus
In anticipation of a sunny summer, Ray Weeks, Betty Hardy and Sarah Ann Goodge purchase sun glasses at Brainerd Drug Co. They also find a fully-stocked Prescription Department.

The Read More Book Shop carries a line of books ranging from current periodicals to the Encyclopedia Britannica. Browsing through some of these are Rosalind Aldridge, Sarah Ann Goodge, James Gray and Bill Alvarez.

Chattanooga's Read House Hotel features an excellent dining salon. Here is a group of Southern Missionary College students engrossed in the pleasant task of ordering a meal in the Green Room.

Mr. Williams states that there is a large demand for delicious Holsum Bread at the College Store.
Kay's Ice Cream serves everything from cones to banana splits. Sarah Ann Goodge and Bernard Reid thirstily indulge in a chocolate malted milk.

Hibbler-Barnes Co. has handled various construction jobs in this vicinity. Lawrence Scales is shown chatting with one of the drivers for this firm.

Eckerd's Drug Store has a large variety of cosmetics. Here Corinne Dortch and Virginia Scales sniff the odiferous contents of gayly colored powder boxes.

Field's Clothes offer an ample variety of men's clothing. Here Bill Alvarez is selecting his spring wardrobe under the watchful supervision of Bernard Reid.

Violet Studio Camera Shop is the place to buy your photographic equipment. Virginia Scales and Corinne Dortch contemplate the purchase of a camera.

Sherwin-Williams Co. furnish many materials for interior decorating other than paint. Dorothy Hannum, Bill Alvarez, Martha Cooper and Ray Weeks enjoy a demonstration of wallpaper designs.

All types of building materials are handled by T. T. Wilson Co. Jack Darnall and Roland Semmons pose by one of their cement mixers.

That "Colonial Is Good Bread" is proved by the large deliveries made by this driver at the College Store.
Miller Brothers Co. is the largest department store in Chattanooga. Rosalind Aldridge and Sarah Ann Goodge are seen shopping for a new dress.

Bill Alvarez, evidently an authority on women’s apparel, chooses appropriate foot-wear for three feminine friends. They are shopping in Sears, Roebuck & Co. whose slogan is “Everything for the Family.”

“Say it with Flowers,” and Bernard Reid seems to be expressing himself quite fluently as he selects corsages for Betty Hardy and Sarah Ann Goodge at Easterly-Woodhead Flowers, Inc.

While James Gray looks on, Rosalind Aldridge turns a critical eye on the fine repair work done by Eaton’s Shoe Shop in Brainerd.

One of the homes of the Dortch Baking Co., is this beautiful building in Birmingham, Alabama. Other plants are in Atlanta, Georgia and Jackson, Mississippi.

Jon Terry Veazey tries his hand at removing a delicious Dortch’s Pie from the oven. Ted Dortch smiles approvingly.

“Even the dough tastes good,” is unspoken praise of Corinne Dortch and her cousin Dorothy Dortch.

John and Jerita Wilson and Marge Jean Dake look on as Howard Dortch explains the mechanism enabling the machine to wrap 120 delectable Buckeye Bars a minute.

Serving Line
You may have nourishing meals and delectable foods without using meat of any kind. The three recipes on this page illustrate how easy it is to make tasty, meatless entrees. Madison meatless protein foods take the place of meat in the diet and may be prepared in the same way as meat—steaks—cutlets—roasts—potpies—croquettes—salads—sandwiches, etc. Other Madison protein foods—Soyburger, Yum, Not-Meat, Vigorost, Soy Cheese.

AMBROSIA HOUSE

STAKE-LETS

Arrange slices of onion in a well-oiled baking pan. Place Stake-Lets on top of onions. Pour sauce from can over all. Add pulp of one can tomatoes and six stalks celery diced. Bake in hot oven 30 to 45 minutes. Serve with grilled fresh mushrooms.

STAKE-LETS CLUB SANDWICH

A tasty club sandwich can be made by using the above browned Stake-Lets as the filling for a toasted hot sandwich, with lettuce and tomato. Toast bread. Use toothpicks to hold together. Serve with potato sliced, lettuce, and raw sliced carrots. This is a fine lunch.

Available at health-food stores and specialty groceries, or write Madison Foods.

Dear Mrs. Scales:

To my knowledge, no record has been kept of the college alumni. The secretary of the Alumni Association or the Accounting Office may be able to give you further information.

However, I have access to the annuals for the past two years and have compiled a list which may help you. The list includes only the college and professional seniors. I was not able to find out where every individual is serving at present. Sorry I can't help more, but perhaps this will be of some benefit to you.
