I want the New Year's opening days
To fill with love, and prayer, and praise.

Some little thing to do for Thee,
For Thou hast done great things for me.

New Year

In Jesus' name our prayer we raise,
Whose guiding hand has blessed our days.

And may we, Lord, in godly fear
Serve Thee through all this coming year.

Southern Missionary College Shows
Academic Progress

RICHARD HAMMILL, Dean

I am glad to report to the alumni of Southern Missionary College that our expansion and development continues, not alone in the building of better physical facilities, but in the expansion of our curricula, in the improvement of our course offerings, and in the raising of our scholastic requirements.

After registration was over this fall, our enrollment statistics showed that we had in school about forty students more than last year. A larger percentage of the students in the freshman class are planning on the four-year curriculum than in any other previous class. Whereas a few years ago a large proportion of our students were taking majors in one or two departments, we now find that the student body is pursuing classes in a wider range of departments and pre-professional courses.

To care for the wider interest of our students, new curricula are being planned. An affiliation has been arranged with the University of Tennessee so that we may now offer a pre-Law course for those students who wish to follow that profession. Our teacher preparation degrees have been revised and the standards raised. The ministerial curriculum is being readjusted to fit in with the new plan of the denomination to require ministerial interns to have an M.A. Degree.

Recently several new general requirements for graduates were instituted. These consist of requiring every student who receives a four-year degree to take some work in Sociology and two new courses, one in the History and Appreciation of Art and the other in the History and Appreciation of Music. A course in the writings of Ellen G. White and her blueprint of Christian education is required of every graduate. Moreover, all students are required to take a course in the Health Principles laid down in the Spirit of Prophecy. We feel that these are all significant steps in the training of our Adventist Youth.

In 1950, as you all remember, our College was granted accreditation by the Southern Association of Colleges at our first request. It is the custom of the Association that for three years thereafter, a newly accredited college must appear before the Commission of Higher Education to give written and oral reports and to be questioned regarding the progress of the institution. The Higher Commission, after the administrative officers of the school appeared before them for two years, dispensed with the third year investigation saying it was evident that our school was offering a quality of education equal to that of other good colleges in the Southland.

I have noticed that in the past two years we

Greetings

Messages of friendship are highly in order these days when we are entering the unexplored paths of a new year. The Alumni Association officers take this opportunity to extend to you each one the warm hand of comradeship. It is our hope that the bonds of mutual friendship will grow stronger than ever between our Alma Mater and each one who has gone from its halls.

We believe the same spirit of devotion and dedication which activated the pioneers in our early work should now direct us in the finishing of the task so nobly begun.

Should we not at this time as members of a great family who has much in common rededicate ourselves to service for the Lord? The large number of ministers, teachers, doctors, office and institutional workers, laymen and students who have been or who are at Collegedale might well meet daily at the throne of grace to reaffirm our devotion to the finishing of the great task before us so that we soon may meet together in the school above.

Ludingtons Leave Collegedale for Bangkok, Siam

Prof. and Mrs. D. C. Ludington have lived and worked at Collegedale for the past 24 years. They left December 13 for Bangkok, Siam, where they plan to visit their son, Louis, for two years. Mrs. Ludington will supervise the care of the three grandchildren while there. Prof. Ludington will find it difficult to decide which of the many places open and needing his attention he should fill.

Each member of the community and the school regrets to lose the Ludingtons for even two years. Many tokens of love and expressions of friendships were given to Ludingtons before their departure. We now anxiously waiting their return.

COLLEGE DALE'S HEALTH UNIT

Kenneth A. Wright, President

At last! It is actually happening in Collegedale. Already the bulldozers have completed their work and the stakes are in place ready to start the work on the foundation of a Health Unit. I say Health Unit rather than Sanitarium for the first 2000 square feet floor space will be office and clinic space.

Dr. Merlin Anderson to start the medical program, which, with God's blessing and ye contributions, will grow into our long needed and desired Collegedale Sanitarium.

Dr. Anderson's family lives here while is in California completing the requirements to become a fellow in the American College of Surgeons. The Andersons have spent the last nine years as missionaries in Ethiopia.

The Sanitarium is not a part of the regular college expansion program and will be built a strictly "pay as you go" basis. This first unit will be a marvelous blessing to the college students, its faculty and their families, and the entire Collegedale, Ooltewah, Apison communities.

We are using the new fine arts building, a will dedicate it as the Harold A. Miller Fine Arts Hall on Feb. 10, 1954. Next fall we plan to start work on the Home Economics building.

ACADEMIC PROGRESS

are having more students from foreign countries than ever before so that now we have a fine cosmopolitan group on the campus. I believe that this is due in large measure to our loyal alumni who are scattered in many lands of the earth and are recommending to students who wish to come to the United States to they come to Southern Missionary College. It is our desire that Adventist youth of other lands and of other sections of the country feel their way to SMC to broaden the thinking and attitudes of us all. We solicit the interest of our alumni and hope that they will encourage their young friends to look toward Southern Missionary College as a good place to attain higher quality of Christian education.

As this Bulletin comes to you it is with the hope that each one of you has a most successful New Year.

THE COLLEGE DALE ALUMN

A number of the Alumni Association members have sent in gifts and donations on tain projects in times past. Do you have suggestive project for our association? If you do kindly send it in — would you like be the first to boost the project finance also? Have you thought about some spe need of the Medical Unit? Thanks for suggestions and your financial help!

The secret of success consists not in habit of making numerous resolutions a various faults or sirs, but in one great sorbing, controlling purpuse to serve Go Helps to Happiness, p. 127.
From the day when the Southern Training School moved from Graysville to Collegedale reopen as Southern Junior College there has been incorporated in the master plan a medical center, a right arm to serve the college community and through which this community might render physical and spiritual service to surrounding areas.

The project, which was designed by the architectural firm of Bianculli and Palm, will be built in three steps, according to the present laws, and is to serve the area which includes Collegedale, Ooltewah and Apison.

The unfolding of this dream began last spring when the Collegedale Clinic opened its doors. The Clinic is now paid for and well equipped. Dr. Van Blaricum has recently located at Collegedale to become Medical Director of the Clinic. He brings with him a wealth of medical and surgical experience.

It is the hope and plan that by next spring a strong promotional program will be launched to change the name of the Collegedale Clinic to the Collegedale Hospital. Incorporated in this program will be the addition to present facilities of twenty patient beds, an operating room, diet kitchen and larger treatment room. Later it is the plan to add a sanitarium wing.

All Collegedale is behind this program believing in the many statements from the prophet of the Lord relative to colleges and sanitariums working hand in hand. We know that our alumni will rejoice with us.

CABINET SHOP PROVIDES NEW INDUSTRY

By CHARLES FLEMING, JR.

The workings of the Lord in mysterious ways are evident in all branches of His work—including the establishment of industries on the SMC campus.

Three years ago when the new science building was under construction, the matter of tables, desks, and other furniture installations for the laboratories came up for consideration. The men in the science department of the College studied the various styles of equipment produced by the top manufacturers in this line, took the best features of each, combined these features with some ingenious ideas of their own, and drew the plans. The cabinets were made and installed by our cabinet shop.

When we were ready to order pews for the chapel in our Fine Arts building, we decided to make them in the cabinet shop. This was accomplished at a savings financially and certainly with no sacrifice of quality or design.

Since that time we have continued making both science and church furniture for other institutions. The volume of work, however, has been greatly limited due to our small space available in the engineering department.

About October 1, a friend of the College, learning of our needs for additional space to manufacture laboratory and church furniture, sent the College a gift of $10,000 to cover the cost of constructing a new building.

The new building will be located between the present engineering building and the broom factory warehouse, and construction has already started on this new addition.
