SMC BULGERS AT SEAWAYS

Richard Ellsasser, world famous concert organist, will appear as guest artist at the first lycceum program of the academic year.

ORGANIST

Ellsasser to Play at First Lycceum

The first lycceum of the 1958-59 school year will be presented by organist Richard Ellsasser, the celebrated organist of October 18, 1958, in the Lyceum Auditorium.

Richard Ellsasser was born in Cleveland on September 14, 1926. His father was head of a conservatory of music in that city and a member of the Cleveland Symphony under Skoloff. Signs of musical talent appeared at a very early age; from the age of two, it was discovered that the child had the phenomenal gift of perfect pitch. At five, he was able to play from memory any hymn or well-known melody one might think of. His father, however, discouraged him from playing "by ear" and insisted that he learn proper key signatures and be able to read music, as soon as possible. It was about this time that his amazed parents one day discovered him giving piano lessons to the maid.

Ellsasser's intensive musical studies began under his father, but when he rebelled at the idea of leaving from one of his parents, his training was transferred to the pianist from the Cleveland orchestra. The child's first public appearance was made at the age of seven when he began a tour of the Eastern states, leading programs with some of the leading symphonies of the nation.

At nine, Ellsasser joined the Cleveland choir at Trinity Cathedral in Cleveland under Edna Arner Kraft and quite naturally became interested in organ. His progress was phenomenal and in less than a year he was giving organ recitals throughout the East, playing programs of all-Bach which later brought him international renown and into an international organ center where he had authority on the works of his great composer.

He made his New York debut in 1937 which was followed by the annual transcantonal and inter-city tours which have won him such wide acclaim. No concert artist has done more extensive touring than he played for so many people annually as has Ellsasser. His audiences yearly have exceeded 200,000 evolutions of the continent north who see him in television and hear him on the radio and on RCA-Victor Red Seal, M-G-M and Pan-American records. His concert appearances, now over 1500 in number, average 100 yearly. For a time he was organist at John Wanamaker, New York, which houses the largest concert organ in that city.

Ellsasser's greatest accomplishment lies in the amazing feat of being the youngest person in history to have memorized and performed the entire 20 organ works of J. S. Bach. This included the first performance of the complete "Gebrauch" or "Larger" He was granted the Henry Lutz Award for his role to the ballet, "Greenwich Village," voted the best American ball of 1946 and is composed of numerous other organ, orchestral, and choral works.

Besides all of these other activities, the artist has found time to serve as Minister of Music at the Winther Methodist Church of Los Angeles and to create and direct the first seven Music Festivals of that church. In 1943-1953 he organized 112 concerts during that period to, devote himself exclusively to concerting, recitaling, conducting and composing.

Student Assistants Featured in Registration

An already used and efficient program of student-ship registration was inaugurated during registration week this year by the public relations section of the Student Association.

A number of students—all volunteers—were on hand in the auditorium to meet new students, conduct them to their respective advisors, assist them in making out their program cards, and in making last-minute changes and final checks.

The program, which had the enthusiastic approval of the Academic Dean, Dr. G. E. Shandell, was headed by a number of the advisors and registering students as a great help in spreading the registration program which, contrary to some estimates, took only three days to complete despite the larger enrollment in the history of Southern Missionary College.

The students who, wearing their bright green ribbons, assisted the registration were: Leo Hall, Dorothy Kollisch, Jay Leonard, ELLIAS McDERMOTT, Patsy Mathers, Ann Shovels, Don Stair, Stanley Showalter, John Taylor, and Don Williamson.

It was noted by those who came closely in contact with the program that this might become a regular feature of registration week.

New Cafeteria Opens Doors

Breakfast in Friday morning, September 12, was the first meal to be served in the new cafeteria which is housed in the new Home Economics Cafeteria Building on the Southern Missionary College campus.

The new building houses the dining room facilities, kitchen, lounge room for the Student Association, offices for the cafeteria department, and the shelf, and a broom closet.

The building also houses the Home Economics Department, which has a living room, dining room, and kitchen where home economics students can get actual experience with home-making. One wing is devoted to a clothing laboratory and another to a clothing laboratory and home-making. The building will be taught in a condensation room opposite the apartment area. Two offices, a classroom, and a storage room are located in the building.

The building is a brick construction with the upper brick section walls. The approximate cost was $200,000, and the structure was started last November. Percy C. Caisson, superintendent of construction of the building. The architects were Bunnell and Fisk.

Minchin to Hold Fall Week of Prayer

The fall Week of Prayer, beginning October 10 and continuing to October 18 will be conducted by Elder E. L. Minchin.

Elder Minchin has labored in Australia of which country he is native. His experience includes evangelism, college work as dean and music teacher at New Zealand Missionary College, and Missionary Volunteer work in Australia. More recently he has served as Missionary Volunteer Secretary of the British Union Conference and the Northern European Division Since 1954 he has worked as an associate secretary of the Missionary Volunteer Department of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

Elder Minchin will speak at morning chapels as well as evening worship and Sabbath services. He comes, with over twenty years of experience in youth work, to lift the souls of students of SMC to a higher and closer walk with their Master.

SA Starts Film As First Benefit

The date is May 20, 1937; the time is 8 o'clock in the morning; the place is Bowser Field, and history is about to be made.

The crowd was tensely, impatiently reaching toward the dazzling, misty sun. A whisper, a shout, a pointed finger, and the crowd turns as one man to stare at a dark object slowly approaching the field. They have arrived.

The track trembles the plane ascends as a body plunges up alongside and proceeds to post into its tank the life-giving fuel that sustains it. It is the flight of the delta plane between sections of failure, life or death.

A few words of farewell, a hand-clasp, and the tall slim young man dashes himself up into the cockpit, adjusts his paraphernalia, starts his engine, and with a care free wave of the hand, rolls down the muddy, pecked field and is off. The "Spirit of St. Louis" is gone.

Several miles away at Van Hook stadium, at the announcement that a Westerner named Charles Lindbergh had taken off for Paris, fifty thousand hard-billed bovine fans stood, their heads bare, and prayed for the pilot who had dared to defy time and space and the elements in order to prove that man could do the impossible. By non-stop from New York to Paris.

The next day is the news that Charles Lindbergh had safely landed at Le Bourget Field in Paris upon an amazingly audacious, American feat which erupted from one end of the nation to the other. One of New York's largest newspapers sold 14,000 extra copies in a single day.

When finally he returned to America about a special cruiser of the United States Navy sent to France specifically for his use, the young aviator still unharmed and fitly, became the toast of his country, the great nation loved at his feet.

Charles A. Lindbergh, almost without the knowledge of his fellow citizens, pressed worked day and night to paint innumerable portraits of the man whose tall unharmed and fitly, became the toast of his country, the great nation loved at his feet.

538 Register for New program of Classes

All previous records at Southern Missionary College were surpassed when 538 students were registered for the opening class on September 18, 1958. The previous record set in 1951 was 468 in opening day of classes. The new record surpasses last year's figure by a total 70.

Registration was held in Lynn Wood Hall where the preliminary work place and in the T. Bernadeau Auditorium where medical check ups were given and programs were arranged. The Freshmen had an orientation program on Monday and Tuesday, September 15 and 16.

Miss Annette Pukala, a freshman from South Carolina, was the 500th student to register thus setting the record of being the first 500th student to register during regular registration days. She was awarded a prize during the first chapel which centered her in some school supplies (at the Southern Missionary College).

The enrollment has presented housing problems, and plans are already underway for the construction of a new women's residence.

Local Student Awarded Prizes in National Home Economics Contest

Rosemary McCurdy and the prizes awarded her in Fourth Place Winner in the Annual Creative Table Setting Contest sponsored by the Lenoir, Inc. at Triaxton, New Jersey.

Miss Rosemary McCurdy, a junior home economics major at SMC, was fourth place winner in the fourth Annual Creative Table Setting Contest. The contest was sponsored by Lenoir, Inc., Triaxton, New Jersey, producers of fine dinnerware and gift items. She was awarded two fine place settings in West Wood, the pattern used in her entry.

Home Economics authorities contest winning a prize in this contest an outstanding achievement because of the thousands of high school and college girls throughout the country who compete.

Those entering the contest were asked to create an original table setting on creative forms provided by Lenoir. Each girl selected the theme, chose the setting for which to create her setting and by coordinating china, silver, glass, and accessories, produced an original table setting.

Miss McCurdy chose as her theme and occasion a Thanksgiving dinner. The table cloth was brown linen. The center piece consisted of a pine cone, chrysanthemums, fall colored pebbles and chrysanthemums. The napkins were fall-colored linen. She chose "West Wood" by Lenoir for her china. "Tones" by Imperial for the crystal and "Silver Solitaire" by Reed and Barton for the silverware.

Scoring points on the entries and the entries were judged as: Originality and interest of the table setting as a whole; interesting combination of patterns in linen, china, silver, and glass; color of cloths, and kinds of materials chosen for table center and napkins, suitably to the occasion for which the table is set; choice of patterns, silver, glass, and silver; texture of table center cloths and napkins, hand-woven table decorations and table accessories; correct placement of china, silver, and glass; all written text required of the student; originality of all work on the entry and completeness of the entry as a whole.

The contest was judged by a group of prominent personalities who are recognized as outstanding in their respective field. The judges were: Betty Berger, stage, TV, and recording star; Steven Shuman, famed painter, illustrator, and author; Lester Post, cover artist; Mrs. Richard I. Land, chairman, National Council of Judges, Teddard Gardner, State of New York.

Editorial . . .

This Is Our Purpose

In the editorial of the SOUTHERN ACCENT, Vol. 1, Number three of October 26, 1945, the opening sentence reads like this: "The purpose of the SOUTHERN ACCENT during the current school year is to give wide coverage of the news and activities of Southern Missionary College."

With this issue we commence Volume 4, and we would like to say that basically the purpose of the SOUTHERN ACCENT is still what it was 13 years ago; we shall strive to present the opinions and the activities of the students of Southern Missionary College.

At all times we will be in mind that the motto of our college is "The School of Standards, and we will strive to print nothing that will lower these standards. We also recognize that we are accountable to Him whose standards never change, and we shall strive to bring honor to His name through the printing of this paper.

There will be changes in this paper as there have been changes during the past 13 years that the SOUTHERN ACCENT has been published. We recognize that without some changes there is no progress. It shall be our policy to follow the best journalistic styles possible.

Recognizing that the opinions of many of our readers may be worth sharing with others, we invite you to make use of the section known as "Letters to the Editor." Here it is that you have your opportunity to "sound off," but let us say that here as in the rest of the paper, standards must be maintained if the letter is to be published.

It is with these few thoughts and aims that we send this first number of Volume 14 of the SOUTHERN ACCENT rolling off the press and into the hands of our subscribers. We are praying that this will be the best year in the history of Southern Missionary College and one of the best for the SOUTHERN ACCENT.

THE PARABLE OF THE GOOD SAMARITAN

Revised by Charles W. Gilkey (Publisher's Permission Granted)

A certain Freshman went down from home to college, and he fell among critics who said she had no style, that her manners were awkward, and that she had an unattractive personality. Then they stripped her of her self-confidence, her enthusiasm, and her courage, and departed leaving her hurt and lonely and half dead.

And when the Seniors saw they were amused, saying, "What a good job some of the Sophomores are doing of that Freshman," and they passed by on the other side.

In like manner other juniors also when they saw they smiled and said, "Yes, verily, for she hath not the making of a good campus leader." And they passed by on the other side.

But a certain special student as she went about, came where she was, and when she saw her, she was moved with compassion and came to her and bound up her wounds; pouring in sympathy and understanding, and she took her to her room, and set her on her feet again and brought her into her own circle, and was a friend to her.

Which of these do you think proved neighbor to her that fell among the critics? Go thou and do likewise. (Published as a public service by the Student Committee on Public Relations.)

"Best of Buchenwald!" BONN, GERMANY... The museum's wooden doors slid open to the only cell of the courtroom turned up from the small figure of the man who was wheeled down the aisle... "Best! Murderer!" From every corner of the room came similar cries, denouncing out the sound of the judge's throne, denounce for them.

Then, as suddenly as it had begun, the fire ceased, and one of the most shocking trials of all time began. Even though this is 1950, thirteen years after the Second World War, the same pain of the human body was felt... Whether or not it was Sommer who forced prisoners to be fit on the ground, fat, and remain still while a tank ran over them... After the war had reached its end, the Nuremberg trials were begun, the government brought in being Sommer to trial...

Thirteen long years. Ample time for any man to contemplate or to regret his wrongs. Any normal man, that is that Gerhardt Sommer... "No man is on his right mind could be as proud and arrogant as Sommer was at his trial... Testimony brought out that it was Sommer's caution to his prisoners bought into his private...

At the end, Gerhardt Sommer received the maximum penalty under present-day German law... Perhaps, in a second thought, it might be best if I did not forget the story of Gerhardt Sommer, the "best" of Buchenwald... self-confidence in our civilized world... but for the grace of God, go I.

SA ACTIVITIES SA President Outlines Objectives

By DON WALTON, President
 Given September 29, 1958

I feel very happy for the opportunity of speaking to you, the Student Association members, this morning.

It is my desire in the next five or ten minutes to give you some idea of what you, Student Association expects to accomplish for this coming year.

Don Wilson

Intercommunication between members of the group may also be planned in the early stages of the life of a group.

When we as a group begin to mature, we will have less difficulty in reaching decisions, our discussions will become more thorough and complete. Less competition is present in positive organizations. Cooperative rather than competitive interrelationships improve the intercommunication between the members, the co-ordination of effort, the friendliness, the pride in the group, the general basic harmony and effectiveness of the group. We as individuals will develop according to our own needs and motivations as well as those of others in the group.

It must be recognized that we as individuals and as a group have many varied and unique needs. However, if we are to be productive, each one of us will need to share ideas and respect the contributions of others. I feel that this year as the Student Association, we will have a very good opportunity of working toward and accomplishing many things of real benefit. The first and most important will be a real benefit to our campus will be our coming to the Social Center that will be open all day and where you may find a high school or gentleman of your choice to talk and listen to your ideas. This will be the Student Union Room. Many of you have seen this room on the far side of the new cafeteria building. We are planning to build each one of you in this campaign. I can still remember the campaign I had here two years ago. I can think of no one who will be as successful as you have had before school opened so much. We will have this campaign under way in approximately two weeks and I am sure that we won't have time to show you the floor plan this time. I am sure that the campaign starts we will present it to you. I think you will find it to be a high light in your year here at SMC.

I believe in the ability of you, the Student Association, to solve the problems or issues and discuss them freely and with an open mind. This is as we have open discussion periods here in a large part of our Student Association meetings, you will arrive at sensible decisions. I believe that every member should have the opportunity to contribute to the solution of problems confronting the group. I will try in my power to co-ordinate the work of this organization, to help you to extend toward the goals. We will see that there is an opportunity for full adequate discussions so that there will be a better understanding of all issues. We do not want just a few people making the show but a general participation on everyone's part. We will be independent thought but we must also be understanding of the varying points of view. I believe that every man possesses a certain amount of dignity and that this dignity should be honored and that every man should equal opportunity to speak and work. I believe that every man should achieve status according to his innate ability, opportunity and work.

I have just one short word for the faculty this morning. Those of you who are sponsors of committees, etc. I want you to be sure that the committee chairman will be looking to you for help and guidance. Please be sure to meet with them—encourage them. And to please be sure this morning, inform your sponsor of your meeting time. Seek his help, and I know he will do all in his power to help you.

Within the next two weeks we plan to be holding on the student in the publication called the View. This was presented in a separate department to the young gentlemen who are searching for a purpose and could not remember or never knew her name. I am sure that with the weeks we are planning to initiate an identification. Also, within a few weeks I will have your name and address plus your picture. It will entitle you to the benefits of the school and of the Student Association. It will keep a close check on elections as we will plan the and allow people to vote only one time.

Inspirational and Recreational Week End Provided by MV's

By presenting The MV Album a streamlined interest of community Volunteer activities for the new school year, Elder L. M. Nelson, MV secretary for the Southern Union, and Elder E. S. Rife, Georgia-Cumberland Union MV secretary, inaugurated on Friday night, September 26, what MV Counsel Chairman Jim Tucker called, "Progress for one of the best MV years yet." The program was only one of several programs which made up the MV week end of this year.

"The MV Album" was a fast-moving program presenting most of the activities of the local MV Society in brief form. Especially emphasized were the various band activities which are designed to promote Christianity to those who are often unacquainted people of the community. Examples of such bands are the Hospital Band, Literature Band, and a band which conducts a Story Hour for children. Besides "The MV Album," which Rife narrated, "History of MV Activity" was related by Nelson. The evening was concluded by an appeal to respond to the new Story Your Faith program, "Operation Firefly." The response was interpreted as an unanimous agreement on the part of the students.

"Operation Fireflies" was explained further on Sabbath afternoon in the Church Chapel when a color film was shown to acquaint the students with the objectives and plans of this recently developed volunteer program. The film, produced in Atlanta, Georgia, by the Southern Union MV Department, depicted an actual instance of this evangelistic program for youth was used. Another feature of the program which seemed to be immensely enjoyed by the Society was a segregation arranged by the local MV Counsel. This consisted of congregational singing with a variety of musical and inspirational numbers, following the film, plans for putting "Operation Firefly" into action as the College Elder Nelson stated that this plan will consist of eight weeks of two youth each to give Bible studies to people in surrounding communities. He stated further that in this use each team will listen only one Bible study and give it each week to a different home until the series is ended. He seemed very pleased with the response shown by the Society to conduct the week end, and the Southern Union MV Department gave what seemed to be most of the students, one of the most unusual events, one of the most unusual events, one of the most unusual events.

To conclude the week end, the Old Time Social Hour, consisted of three groups of students at a time participating in various old-fashioned type games, of the type often mentioned in earlier generations. The individual games lasted only a few minutes at a time and were interspersed by social music and dancing. The activity was further added to by previously arranged groups coming against one another. Tucker stated that he considered the evening an effective way to help the students understand the true meaning of Missionary Volunteer Fellowship.

Physical Education Professor Reveals Interesting Life

As this fall term commences, I can check on my gray hairs, and I find that this will be my third year at SMC. I regard this as a minor misadventure in itself, since I can take a nap in the shade of my oak and holly (Florida students, in fact, a bar at this time). Its natural climate plus as opposed to that of local extremes is almost beyond human endurance. I think, after the mediation upon the fact, that the one thing that has kept me here for anything of an aquatic nature. Only former students and the "beals" will understand and appreciate this statement, but you freshmen will understand a better job and by:

This episode has as its object by getting to know the Coach better. I suppose I should thank the car of my car and get to the business of shaking the gear. I am thirty-seven years old (not the wister), and all commenced with a vicious injury in a delivery room of a hospital in Columbia, South Carolina shortly after a fireworks display on Monday on the 30th of July, 1921. Since I was born on the 30th of July, I am a few minutes, I believe I should thank this delay-tension only. I had the normal Advertiser boyhood raised only by an excessive intake of assorted varieties of beans (mostly eaten) at home and abroad (Flossie Lake and Pingah Accel) (I completed my secondary education in a small rural public school in Virginia. I was fortunate to receive a full college scholarship in football and basketball at Hampden-Sydney College only about fourteen miles from home. I managed to attend here for one year before I received another offer of a scholarship from another long established institution—the United States Army!

For the next four years I was attached to the Air Force and was first an aviation mechanic and for the last year, a field officer partner on a B-29. It was during those four years that I acquired two girls, a wife and a daughter. I want here to include a few brief details concerning the second-in-command and how we met and merged. This is necessary in order to avoid the possibility of coming back food!

I met my wife, Ann, on a blind date arranged by her uncle, who at that time was my immediate supervisor on a job in a powder plant in Sandusky, Ohio. This was the summer of 1934, just prior to my entrance into the service. At that time she was a disillusioned high school senior in her home town of Port Clinton, Ohio. Her parents had plans for her attendance at a local college the next year, but I supported those plans in the bud. I courted her into a freshman housewife one year later! Since this time she has tried frantically to further her education on the college level, but until last year she has largely been handicapped by our progeny. Jo Ann (age 14), an academy freshman, and Allison Lee (age 11).

Bonus Lyceum Coming Saturday Night Underwater Photographer Shows Film

Underwater exploration is the latest growing sport today, having acquired hundreds of thousands of adherents in the past decade. In fact, there seem to be more people spending their time these days in the sea rather than by the sea.

Halfway round the world from this community is an enchanting island which provides unique opportunities for the gun-fish hunter, the underwater photographer or the casual submarine enthusiast. Mike Wilson, young Canadian explorer-photographer, has spent more than a year living in the coral-reef waters off the coast of Ceylon to make his thrilling color pictures "Beneath the Seas of Ceylon" which he presents here on Saturday night, October 23 under the auspices of the Lyceum Committee.

Some of the world's most beautiful coral reefs lie off Ceylon and views along its thousand miles of coast on the led of the Indian Ocean are the wrecks of ships that have fallen victim to the elements of a ruthless foe. They are a boon to the underwater photographer; for their twisted hulls, covered with barnacles and seaweed are the homes of fish which have taken refuge in them and, in the safety they afford, have grown to giant size.

An intertidal picture, Mike Wilson took his camera into the gaping halches of many of these wrecked ships as well as into scores of coral-reef caverns and grottos on the floor of the sea to capture, on brilliant color film, the beauty of thousands of tropical fish in their natural habitat.

He also made a film survey in a complete lake, went down in the hundred feet of water and harbors hundreds of giant groupers, fathead fish and weighing over 100 lbs.

When Mike Wilson first visited Ceylon in 1955, a 3,000-ton freighter ran aground on the reefs where he was there, and he filmed the ship with its superstructure intact sticking out above the surface of the water. A year later, when he returned to the island, he again took films of the sunken ship to show how quickly the tides had almost totally demolished the once proud craft.

In his roving on the bottom of the sea, young Mike once encountered a school of deadly scorpionfish. The slightest touch with their wicked spines can easily poison a skin-diver in a matter of minutes. Instead, these scorch-biting denizens of the deep gathered around Mike like a bunch of inquisitive peepers, leaning him unscathed—but plenty scared sharks also abound in these waters, ready to pounce on wounded fish—or skin divers.

Mike Wilson became addicted to underwater exploration as a result of his experiences as a frogman with the British Royal Marine Commandos. He has pursued his enthusiasm by working as a peal diver in Australia, where he introduced the aquaplane to this region in his explanation of the waters of the Great Barrier Reef. An expert photographer, he supplied the beautiful color illustrations in the book, The Coast of Ceylon, written by his good friend and colleague, the well-known nature-film writer, Arthur C. Clarke. With Clarke, he went to Ceylon in 1953 and did together they explored the waters of the coast. Mr. Wilson furnished the pictures for The Reefs of Ceylon, a book of their joint experiences in Ceylon, which was published in the spring of 1957. So fascinated were both men with the island known as "The Pearl of the Queen" that they both returned to Ceylon to continue their explorations. Mike Wilson's exciting color motion picture, "Beneath the Seas of Ceylon" is more than a year and a half of filming all over Ceylon.

It is, amidst adventures will have the opportunity to explore the scattered ruins of an ancient Hindu temple which had been hoisted and tossed into the sea, stone by stone, more than three centuries ago by enemy invaders despoiled as pillage-worshipers. The 17th 2,000-year-old temple was once one of the richest in the East, and many of its treasures are still being uncovered on shore and in the sea.

Physics Department Receives Grant to Continue Research

The Physics Department of Southern Missionary College has been granted $2,150 to carry on its research program in the field of spectroscopy and the uses of computers, by the Research Corporation of New York.

The research project has been in progress at the Physics Department for two years. Students have had opportunity to participate in connection with the course in Spectroscopy, Physics 181, 182. Sare for the purchase of an original spectral reflection grating, most of the apparatus used has been made in the laboratory out of surplus or used parts.

The grant will make it possible to purchase some additional needed equipment and to employ talented students for preparation of apparatus and for computations. An item which has been badly needed is a desk calculator, on which many calculations must be performed rapidly and accurately. It is anticipated that the grant will apply over the space of a year.

The Research Corporation is a non-profit organization with headquarters in New York. Drawing its funds from patents which include that of the Cornell smoke precipitation system, it accepts applications from small organizations trying to enter the field of research. Application for such a grant was made last spring. An interval of several months is usually required for evaluation of any proposal.

The grant will make it possible to carry out the research of the Department more efficiently, will give several students the opportunity to gain a valuable experience in this exciting type of work, and will contribute to the academic worth of the College. At the end of each semester, all interested persons have the opportunity of hearing reports given by students who have been working on the project.

NBC Carries Lecture Series

By E. O. GRUBBS

On October 5 an exciting experiment in mass education began. The National Broadcasting Company announced an "Educational Classics" series of General Physics Lectures Sponsored by such giants of industry as the Bell Telephone Company, United States Steel, Pittsburgh Glass Company, The Ford Foundation, International Business Machines, and the Caltison Company, the program will generally attract the following groups of students: (1) high school science teachers, undergraduate college students, and gifted high school students; (2) those who are interested in academic credit through an extension college or university; (3) interested laymen (business men, technicians in other fields who want to brush up on their physics, and anyone else who is curious and interested in the recent advancements in physics). Those who take the course for credit will need to receive college credit through the extension college or university, purchase the syllabus and outline-synopsis, secure one of the four recommended textbooks, and make arrangements with the university to take the required examinations and meet from time to time in seminars to discuss the program shown on the daily program.

During the first presentation (seen locally over NBC's affiliate in Chattanooga, WRC-TV, at 6:30 a. m.), Dr. HERCY White of the University of California at Berkeley outlined the procedures to be followed and gave a brief synopsis of the course. Dr. White, principal speaker for the program, stated that the first semester's work would be concerned with "Classical" Physics and would cover the conventional topics of Kinematics (speed, velocity, review of trigonometry, light bodies, and projectiles), Flight (use of high speed cameras, Newton's principle, deflection, and projectiles); Newton's (Newton's laws, work and energy, gravitational field, conservation of energy, ballistics, rotating bodies, rods, and solid lines); Electricity and Magnetism (series and parallel circuits, energy and power, magnetic fields, transformers, vacuum tubes, the A-C theory, microwaves, electronic computers).

In the second semester the TV physics lectures will present Albert and Nerlike physics. Included in the Atomic Physics will be such topics as spinning electrons, isotopes, relativity theory, light spectra. Atoms, De Broglie waves, electron tubes, Bohr's atom, and solid state physics. In the Nuclear physics phase of the following topics will be presented: radioactive decay, positrons, nuclear models, bubble chambers, cyclotrons, cosmic rays, fusion, fission, chain reactions and the study of elementary particles.

The course will be characterized by numerous demonstrations and the appearance of famous physics teachers and many Nobel prize winners. Hailed as one of the most progressive educational programs to be televised, the series is expected to attract a vast field of interest and general interest. It should be pointed out that the course is especially designed to give high school physics teachers a refresher course in basic development in the field, but college and gifted high school students can receive credit for the course providing the stipulations of the institution involved are met. Even though no credit involved, science students in general will receive a tremendous stimulation and satisfaction from watching the program. This program should raise the level of science education in the United States.

Master Guides Organize for Year

By playing host to 83 future Master Guides, local MV leader Jim Tucker initiated plans for the 1958-59 Master Guide Club. The Master Guide group represents the last step in the progressive classes which are promoted by the Missionary Volunteers Department. The group met for the first time on Sabbath afternoon, October 4, in the College Chapel.

Upon arrival the members of the group received questionnaires which dealt with their previous MV activities. Following this, Jim Tucker outlined the Master Guide requirements and the program which will be followed during the coming year.

Especially emphasized was the Christian Storytelling Hour, one of many vocational honors in-

College Students Reconciliate Lives For Christ

Elder Edwin L. Mischak, a well-known MV leader, Friday night opened the Fall Week of Prayer with a personal message to the students of Southern Missionary College. He urged the congregation of some 1200 Secondary Adventists to accept Christ's invitation, "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

Elder Mischak is an associate secretary of the Missionary Volunteers Department of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, a post he has held since 1954. A native of Australia, he has been affiliated with MV work for 27 years. He has, during this time, held positions with the department all over the world and here also to know young people from many countries. Having had five children of his own, he has also had the chance to become well acquainted with young people from the family group.

The theme for the week's services was "Christ Is the Answer." It is intended to inspire upon the hearts of the students of Southern Missionary College. This was further emphasized by the use of the chorus based on this theme.

Sunday night was pre-empted by the "The Loneliness of Sin." This sermon stressed that although many are still outside of Christ, there is still an ache in their hearts for a personal Savior. An other outstanding sermon planned for Wednesday night will feature "The Best in Everything, Love and Marriage."

During the opening service Friday night, Elder Mischak related many personal experiences, which helped the students understand his opinions on various subjects. One of the main things which he stressed was the fact that Christ's personal invitation to young people today is to "Go," as usually thought, but "Go on into me," as usually thought, during the regular Sabbath morning. Elder Mischak became more specific and kind in his message on the need for Christ.

"A day is coming when every man will bow and acknowledge that Christ is Lord," was one of his first statements. His next in connection with this was Philippians 2:11. His closing statement was: "I will do all that I am able to say: 'I know my Father, and He will explain all when heaven at last is revealed.'" chained in the MV progressive class program. "The best course would be to include a required number of specific Christian stories to groups of children and young people who are not able to say: 'I know my Father, and He will explain all when heaven at last is revealed.'"

Tucker urged on closing that the group begin immediately on the requirements, instead of waiting until the last moment to begin the work.

"By a strict show no late, then," he concluded. Following the program, which discussed the College plans, Tucker mentioned that one of his highpoints of the year's activities will be a program of study camps for all 33 selected Master Guides

Horse Sense

One is always reticent about comparing members of the human race with members of the lower orders of animal life. With this fact in mind, consideration we would like our readers to indulge this one comparison with a horse.

At some time in his life every one has witnessed a scene of this nature, either on the screen or in actual life. The stable on some wealthy farm has caught fire, and the farmer and farm hands are struggling to get the horses out before they are roasted to death. A horse is finally removed by force. Then the inevitable takes place—the grasp on the horse slips, and in no time at all the horse is back in the burning stable.

During this Week of Prayer which has just been concluded, we have been led from the burning structure of sin. We have been led from this burning structure of sin. Arc we now, like the horse, going to turn about and run back into the burning structure to be destroyed with sin, or are we going to display more than "horse sense"?

The Bible refers to this experience which many of us have had as the "iron horse." Just as in life, things must be kept growing at birth, so with this new experience we have entered upon, growth must not stop. The Master, has said: "But every one that is thus born shall abide in Him." Just as in life, things must be kept growing at birth, so with this new experience we have entered upon, growth must not stop. The Master, has said: "But every one that is thus born shall abide in Him."

"Abide in Me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in Me, . . . Without me ye can do nothing."

The temptation now comes to us to feel that now that we have been pulled from the fire we will be able to continue in the Christian Way on our own strength.

"Many have the idea that they must do some part of the work alone. They have trusted in Christ to do the work for them, but now they rely on their own efforts to live right. But every such effort must fail."

We believe that it is the desire of every student to make this the best year in the history of SMC. We also believe that the most important factor which will contribute to this success is the close walk with, and steady growth into the likeness of Christ.

Steps to Christ, p. 69.

Letters to the Editor . . .

Dear Editor, Sabbath, October 17, marked the close of a wonderful week of prayer. Those of us who heard Elder March speak were impressed by his deep spirituality. We realized that we were listening to a servant of God who enjoys a personal relationship with His Son. We witnessed the outpouring of the Holy Spirit as young people dedicated and rededicated their lives to the Master. Yes, one wonders if the spirit manifested this past week will continue, or will it die out as a fire without fuel. This week can stay with us if we truly want it. Fellow students, let's determine to make Christ the center of our everyday lives that we may be called true children of our Heavenly Father. Jack Marshall

Dear Editor: I can access this little item the other day and thought you might like it.

I like to print it if you like it.

THE JOY OF BEING AN EDITOR

Getting out this paper is no picnic. If we print people, people say we are silly. If we don't, they say we are serious. If we clip things from other papers, we are too lazy to write ourselves. If we don't, we are stuck on our own stuff. If we stick close to the ball all day, we ought to be out hunting news. If we don't print contributions, we aren't appreciative guests; and if we do print them, the paper is filled with junk. If we don't make a change in the other fellow's wrap-up, we are too critical. If we don't, we are asleep. Now, like or not, some guy will say we sussed their fun from your magazine. WE DID! Name Withheld by Request

Marian Revell The word dictatorship appeals to a certain individualistic and authoritarian character and background in assisting them in wading through the jungle of authority in Haiti from the hands of the fully elected president, Francois Duvalier.

"Duvalier is a dictator, they told the revolutionaries, and we are not the people's choice, assume the government from his grasp, and we will pay you well."

By now, there was the cry of the protesters: Arthur Payer, Levain Kerlan, Danny Jones, Bob Hickey, and Joe Walker weren't in the Haitian army in the care of the Haitian army like they never are. Their sole reason was the Haitian treasury, and their only hope was the amount of saved money.

And so, one dark night, these five American citizens, accompanied by three civil Haitian army officers, set off for the mountains. For the cost of Haiti, where, having loaded seven, they managed a jeep and sped to the capital, Port-au-Prince.

One in ten, they attacked a local barracks, capturing some fifty soldiers. Their next move, according to the master plan, was to contact the leaders in Miami, who had friends and political contacts who were sure to rise up to aid in the rebellion.

Unfortunately, the boys had too long gone from home and failed to recognize the fact that President Duvalier had fled to the island, set the machinery once again into smooth operation, and captured the hearts of his fellow countrymen.

These upon whom the rangers had counted for help merely laughed themselves sick at the thought of rising up against their friend and president. All the "revolutionaries" could get was a humorous, "Go play in somebody else's backyard."

Silence Reigns Radiator Alarm Clocks

The mansion season has seemed to have passed, and we are settling down for a chilly autumn and a cold winter. . . . Thanks to our girls' club and the cooperation of the following for a most entertaining occasion. The boys suppose we were grateful. We're crossing our fingers in hope that it will become an annual affair.

Predominant in our halls now is the silence maintained during the study periods. Thanks to the members, Mrs. Mary . . . White, and Beverly Disher. Let me, at this time, express my most humble apology to Sarah for omitting her name from the Gift Club Officers in the last issue. She is our pianist, and a very able one indeed.

The earliest door decorations belong to room 114. Sandra Dickson and Charlotte Horvath have a most barometer! I'm told that it's not too accurate though it does feel that everyone who pats the door tests the liberty of acting as watchman.

My deepest sympathy goes out to those who have a stomach who is taking Nature Study and Conservation. Our room has been favored with spiders and other insects of various nature, which I would care to quit, but I have my doubts!

CARE packages from home seem to arrive in some rooms quite often. Romany's Godwin is the recipient of the most delicious fudge, and the girls' club and the consensus on our campus. . . . the anti-senior even getting a fighting chance.

Some of us, who were having a difficult time being oriented into the routine of rising in time for our 7:10 classes, no longer have that problem. . . . sufficiently well. It brings life giving warmth on these cold nights.

I hear that "Big" Sandra Elliot plays freeze out every night by fraying the windows wide. Ah, wretched gonna do!

In that the deadline closed long ago for this column, we can't give it time to do shift, but without the goodness of wishing you well.

Service Department please note—some people believe that there may be a valid disposal in case of the cafeteria rooms. Please check.

This year we have several good cornet players on campus. Mainly because this is hard to catch, but there are times when your talents are know this much in demand and times when silence is very golden. Even though one of those new modern buildings on our campus is a music building with ample practice rooms, we'll try to list a few during the lunch hour each day. Maybe you could understand in return that, to your next door neighbor in Talps, his quit is an excellent class may seem more important than your next note. 1959 Seniors Elect Burchard; Veep Jones Becomes Senator

On Tuesday morning, October 28, the senior class of 1959 gathered in the Library Faculty Room. The class elects this year its officers under the direction of the Academic Dean's office.

Jack Burchard, a business major from North Carolina was elected president. During his stay at SMC, he has among other things held these offices: church deacon, assistant church treasurer, and vice-president of the Men's Forum.

Other officers elected were Bill Jones, vice-president; Anne Davidson, secretary; J. P. Regier, treasurer; Paul Jensen, pastor. The class elected Dr. Watrous as their sponsor.

Ackerman Sings New York Concert

Mr. Dorothy E. Ackerman, an assistant professor of music at Southern Missionary College, gave a benefit concert for the Advent Devotion of the Greater New York Conference of Seventh-day Adventists at the New York City October 25.

Mr. Ackerman, contralto, was assisted by Mr. Roger McNeilly, first tenor of the Faith for Today quartet. They were accompanied by Mrs. Herbert Holmsten, accompanist for the Faith for Today quartet.

Featured in the concert were old Italian numbers, and an aria from Mignon—"Comains to le pays".

There are 32 members in the June graduating class. The summer class graduating in August will have a separate class organization during the summer.

Elder Scully Tells Effects of Drugs On Human Body

The effects of alcohol, tobacco and drugs on the human body were brought out by Elder J. V. Scully, assistant secretary of the American Temperance Society, Washington, D. C., in the chapel service, Wednesday, October 29.

Elder Scully told of visiting situations where delinquent children are rehabilitated. He stated that research has proven a definite connection between excessive use of alcoholic beverages by the parents and the delinquency of their children.

He said that interviews with hospital authorities show there is an increase in the births of infants one month following Christmas and New Year. Fourth of July, and Labor Day holidays giving some assurance that these conditions were caused by excessive use of alcoholic beverages in the celebration of these holidays.

Elder Scully is currently on a tour of schools and colleges to bring before young people the dangers of indulging in drugs and alcoholic beverages.

Language Division Shows Extent of Their Work

During the regular chapel period of October 20, the SMC Language and Literature Club presented a summary of their activities and introduced the teaching staff of the Language and Literature Division of the College.

The program began with a number of Spanish hymns sung by a group of Spanish students. This, according to Dr. C. G. Bushnell, the division head, was to illustrate one of the modern methods used to teach foreign languages.

A scene from registration was enacted; this presented a familiar sight common to a registration day. Dr. Bushnell was shown attempting to convince a registrant that he should major in English, while the prospective student, Stanley Shvartzler, was somewhat skeptical about the curriculum. However, with the help of several other students and teachers, he decided to become an English professor.

Following this, the teachers of the Language and Literature Division, Tennessee and the Black Hills of South Dakota. They were each interviewed on their former teaching background; afterward they discussed the various aspects of their departments.

The program was under the sponsorship of Dr. Bushnell, the L.L.C. He helped him with various arrangements of the program were the club officers.

"Faith for Today" Quartet Presents Secular Concert as SA Benefit

Stepping out of their role as singers of sacred music, the Faith for Today television quartet will present a secular concert for a Student Association benefit program Sunday night, November 15, at 8:00 p. m. in the Tabernacle Auditorium.

The program will open on a patriotic theme with Gilbert's "Fudge to the Flag" and Gilbert's "The Dream." Selections will include such universal favorites as "Shouldn't Men" by Kernberg, "Shenandoah" by Bartholomew, and "Up With the Jolly Roger" by Challenge-Gandhi.

Roger McNeilly, first tenor, will sing "La Romanza" by Dillazian, an Italian love song; second tenor Walter Jensen, "My Lady Walks in Love's Feet" by Charles and Tim Studley, ball, a comedy number; "The Thief" by Hamblin, Herbert Holmsten, bassist, will sing solo spots in several of the quartet numbers.

For one group of songs the artists will fold formal attire and present a few western numbers in substitute cowboy trappings. They will sing "Home on the Range," "A King of the Navajo Trail," "The Wild Rider," and "Cary Me Home to the Lone Princes." "The Musicians," an old German school song simulating seven musical instruments to a gay finish, will be the program to a gay finish.

The fine program of music will be staged and directed by Anthony Farrar, film director of the TV series Stets and lighting by Cecil Hedfman, also of the production staff. Costumes supplied by Cathy Oak Film studio.

The quartet appears through the courtesy of the Faith for Today television program. Tickets are available every Sunday over the ABC-TV network.

Beckner, Rees Announce All-time High for Annual Ingathering Field Day

Elder H. E. Beckner, pastor of the Collegedale Church, and Dr. C. N. Rees, president of Southern Missionary College, have announced to the student body that the annual college ingathering field day proceeds have reached an all-time high in the history of the college.

On Thursday, October 31, approximately sixty-two cars carrying an estimated three hundred solutions left the campus for widely scattered points of contact, varying from five to one hundred miles. People in almost every walk of life were brought into contact with the ingathering program of the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

office workers, executives, businessmen, farmers, housewives, brick layers, students, and an unlimited host of others. The solicitors were received in varying degrees of warmth, but on the whole, the public was pleased to see young people working for their Lord.

By late Thursday evening, the cars began to return, one by one, with many tired but happy students who looked back with satisfaction upon a day's work well done.

At the end of the day, Professor D. L. Jackson of the music department held forth in the tabernacle as auctioneer while items of produce were bid on in a highly spirited crowd.

Friday morning, in regular chapel period, Dr. Rees, in discussing the field day, said, "I am deeply proud of the student body for their part in this Ingathering program." He announced that the total net proceeds of the day amounted to well over five thousand dollars, bringing the total ingathering funds to more than $12,000, and went on to say that not one who spent the day sleeping, but also the students who remained in the city and who spent their day's wages toward their mission-ary goals should be commended.

Married Couples Forum Organizes

Dorcas Betha, a new student from Mobile, Alabama, was elected the president of the Married Couples Forum at the brief meeting held on the night of October 12 at the Tabernacle.

The constitution, which calls for several changes in an act, election procedures, and minor business provisions, is expected to add future officers in being better able to interpret the functions of the club.

Open to any Seventh-day Adventist now currently enrolled in a writing course in an Adventist academy or college, the Free Lance Division offers a first award of $100 and two second awards of $75 each for the best first-person or "as told" narratives in addition to those recurring awards, authors submitting manuscripts acceptable for publication will receive payments at the magazine's regular free lance rates.

Other officers elected were: Julie Romans, vice-president; Peggy Todd, secretary-treasurer; Jerry Holridge, publicity secretary.

Male Chorus Sings Plays in Columbus

The Male chorus, under the direction of Professor Don Crook, made its first trip for this school year on Sunday, October 26, to Columbus, Georgia. This trip was in connection with an evangelistic field held there by the G. C. Church.

The current Free Lance Division, an experimental project marking the Pen League's twentieth year, is concentrated on the narrative form, with a 3,000-word minimum and a postmark date-line of February 5. If results are satisfying, The Youth's Interest will receive payments on some writing from other than narrative will be scheduled for next year.

This is the first time that concentrated students not taking some kind of composition course have been able to participate in the Pen League, which has been making awards for original manuscripts from Seventh-day Adventist college and academy students since 1920.

Members of the year's Male Chorus are Robert Aziz, Carl Holden, Paul Holden, Lester Warren, Renee Mitchell, Richard Kohler, Roland Marincow, Jerry McCobby, Bert Carby, Lane Schmidt, Gary Fowler, Jackie Collins, Don Hall, Tommy Meater, Robert Dickinson, Bob Riles, James King, Richard Larson, Kenneth Rogers, Elwood Foote, Dale Perrew, Freeman Ward, Larry Blackwell, Roland Stone, William Bay, Benny Moore, and Danny Holby.

Brothers desiring the Free Lance Division of the 1939 Pen League are available directly from the editor, 3333 Rockledge Drive, Takoma Park, Washington, D. C.

This 1938 issue is quite different from those of former years, in a smaller size, convenient size, 5 1/2" by 8 1/2", and contains 53 pages.

SMC Pioneer Passes Away In Berrien Springs

Elder S. E. Wright, one of the first men in selecting and establishing Southern Missionary College, was called to rest Saturday, October 16 at his home near Berrien Springs, Michigan.

Elder Wright, 89, had been near 60 years of service to the Seventh-day Adventist denomination. He was president of the Southern Union Conference of Seventh-day Adventists at the time SMC was established. He and Elder W. H. Brown were active in promoting the transfer of the original track of land, the Thebanus farm, to the denomination for the purpose of establishing Southern Junior College, which later became SMC.

Hyde Speaks at Wisconsin Academy for Homecoming

During the Homecoming Week of November 8, 1938, Elder Gordon Hyde, minister in Troy, Mich., and religion, will deliver the Sabbath morning sermon to a gathering of some 600 alumni, along with the students and faculty of Wisconsin Academy, Columbus, Wisconsin. The theme of the Homecoming Week will be "His Nobility and Service," and this will be the basis of Elder Hyde's sermon.

The Wisconsin Academy for Homecoming was inaugurated in an American city, where he first entered in 1912, and it was there he was married in July, 1914. Wisconsin Academy was the precursor of the old Beloit Academy near Appleton, Wis., one of the oldest schools in the denomination. It was moved to its present location in 1920. Through the years its alumni have been scattered all over the globe serving humanity.

The Homecoming Week will have special meaning for Elder Hyde, although he is not an alumnus of the academy. He spent the years 1952-1956 there as an instructor of Bible and speech and also as pastor of the school.

Hyde is a graduate of Newbold Missionary College, England. After finishing his education he came to America and spent two years at Emmanuel Missionary College. He began his ministry in Wisconsin in West Union, Wis., where he returned to England as an evangelist in 1947. In July, 1952, he returned to America to attend the faculty of Wisconsin Academy.

He will be returning to familiar territory and dear friends. He very fondly remembers Wisconsin as his "home state" for it was there he met his wife, Mrs. M. J. Hyde.

Hyde was a member of the faculty of Wisconsin Academy for Homecoming. He has been in the denomination since 1912. He has been in the denomination since 1912. He has been in the denomination since 1912.

Officials Visit Berea College

Three Southern Missionary College officials: Dr. C. N. Rees, president; William H. Taylor, dean of student affairs; and H. B. Lundquist, executive secretary of the SMC Alumni Association made a recent trip to Berea College, Berea, Kentucky, where they sought information in the fields of public relations, alumni organization, and fund raising.

MV's Present Good Shepherd In Vespers

In the quiet of Sabbath evening, October 24, the beautiful story of the Good Shepherd was presented in word and music by the MV Dept. of the First Green Pastures suddenly became vividly real, and we found ourselves before the Still Water receiving spiritual refreshment we needed.

His purpose was to give the College of the Youth's Interest a preliminary idea of the program which will be presented in the state of Georgia in the fall of 1939. The college will be in the state of Georgia in the fall of 1939.

The scripture was given in song by Marilyn Biggs, and Ronnie Feltz offered the benediction. Mayor John Kieffer then presented the theme of the program, An American Indian's Version of the Good Shepherd. The prayer was given by Pat Moore, and Norman Brown recited the Aurnon's Verses. Ramona McCarty spoke as the Lord as did Shephard, followed by a duet, Lane Schmidt and Dick Larson, singing "My Shepherd." One William White sang "Good Shepherd" in his own style. The mixed quartet, Buddy Hatfield, Dick Larson, Dorthy Stevens, Joyce Tomlinson, "Hark! A Heart Beat in My Name." Ole Mae Metts spoke on the passage, "Who Restores my Soul," and to carry on the theme.

Dean Clark Interviewed All Premeds Students

Walter B. Clark, dean of students at the College of Medical Evangelists, Los Angeles, California, visited the campus of Southern Missionary College Monday and Tuesday, October 27-28.

Interviewed All Premeds Students

His purpose was to give the College of the Youth's Interest a preliminary idea of the program which will be presented in the state of Georgia in the fall of 1939. The college will be in the state of Georgia in the fall of 1939.

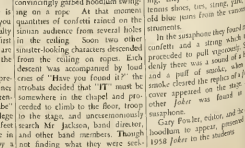

"Joker" Issued in SA Chapel Amid Confetti, Smoke, Etc.

The Joker—Edith Bull Burton, the art editor of the Joker, enters the chapel by a rope suspended through a hole in the ceiling. Right: Gary Fowler (left) and Bill Barlett (right) are seen in the background, private to have a look at the Joker. The Joker is a 5 1/2" by 8 1/2" magazine, and contains 53 pages. Another noticeable difference is the inclusion of a theme: "Will you graduate?" Pictures of all faculty members are included for the first time, and student portraits are grouped by classes rather than the usual alphabetical order.

This very original Joker was presented in a rather original manner as follows: During the spirited rendition of "Sweet Kentucky Blue" by the Southern Missionary College Concert Band, two large booms fell, suspended through a large hole in the chapel ceiling, followed by a conveniently ported hoodlum waving on a rope. At that moment quantities of confetti rained on the silent audience from several holes in the ceiling. Soon two other hoodlum-looking characters descended from the ceiling on ropes. Each decided to make a speech. The first one of "Have you found it?" the second declared that "IT" must be somewhere. The third and last hoodlum declared to the floor, troop to the stage, and unceremoniously search Mr. Jackson, bond salesman and other band members. Though not finding what they were seeking, they found such articles as tennis shoes, ties, some cases of old blue jeans from the state of Tennessee, and a pair of socks. In the substitute they found such confetti and a pair of socks. In the substitute they found such confetti and a pair of socks. In the substitute they found such confetti and a pair of socks.

Union Room Campaign

Collegians Seek $5,000

Friday, November 14, marked the opening of the campaign for student facilities here at Southern Missionary College. As soon of you know, this year has brought a large increase in enrollment, as has the highest in the history of the college. Last year the Student Association envisioned the great need there would be on our campus for a Student Center. They laid the ground work for this project by securing a room on the main floor of the Heuse Economics-Cafeteria Building. We feel very fortunate at securing this room in spite of the need for more space in the cafeteria, and we want to thank the Board of Trustees for this wonderful gesture.

The increase in enrollment, while being very wonderful, has created some problems. At the present time there is no place on the campus where students may go for relaxation and viewing.

The students have the full responsibility of decorating and furnishing this room. During the past several weeks committees have been at work planning for its completion. The room will be furnished with comfortable furniture, a carpet, lamps, and suitable wall decorations. Also there will be a Heuse room that will play background music in the room as well as the cafe menu during meals. This room will be a place that all of us will be very proud of, it will be a place that will greatly enhance the facilities of our college and show how student initiative not only helps students but the school by providing a room (of which there is none now) where couples and others can meet for Christian association.

We feel very fortunate in securing Mr. A. W. Frazier to lead the decorating in this room. His experience and interest in providing us with a top-class job for a minimum cost is our most great help.

Already he has saved a large sum of money and to him we want to extend our appreciation. The Student Body is divided up into three groups according to the state each student comes from. The Carolina are all of the students from areas outside the Southern Union. The Drive Warriors are made up of the students from Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, and Florida. Comprising the third group, the Rebels, are students from North Carolina, South Carolina, Kentucky, and Tennessee. So far a wonderful spirit has been demonstrated by each side and it is impossible to say who is going to win. For the special prize that there will be a special prize which has not been announced yet. Also for the individuals who raise the most money there will be three cash prizes. First prize of $50, second prize of $25, and third prize of $10. Each side has its own distinctive stationery, and they have been really sending the letters out.

We know that this campaign will be a success because of the wonderful support the people in our conferences have extended to us. We hope to have the campaign over by Christmas time and the Student Center in operation. This will mean that each one of us will have to do our part and share.

The money that will be left over from the furnishing of the Student Center will go toward other projects of improvement on our campus.

Many Plans Laid For Christmas

The Lyceum and Social Committee announces several interesting activities for Christmas. The first activity on the campus this year is a $50.00 cedar tree to be placed in the lawn directly before the flag pole. This living Christmas tree will be decorated with appropriate and colorful lights. In cooperation with the Student Association, the lights will be turned on every one hour time on the evening of 12/24 when the SA is staging a Christmas program. The tree will be turned on each evening from 7:00 to 9:00 midnight—only New Year's Day.

Who will be the mountain a landscape will be erected on top of the recess building and Christmas cards (on records) will be broadcast across the campus every evening from 5:30 to 6:30. This playing of Christmas music will also be on Dec. 2 and continue each evening through the holiday season.

Following the Christmas program will be presented by the Music Department on the evening of Dec. 23. The students will make a way to the "tree" where a caroling will take place. Each person will be presented a souvenir booklet of Christmas carols. A small band will accompany the singing, a surprise in store for students who attend no song.

These features will show the number of parties and other activities should make the Christmas season at SMC cheerful and interesting—you are invited to participate in all enjoy this time of good will and joy.

MV's Present "Dear Janet"

"Dear Helen, Thelma hasn't turned out here as I expected. I thought everyone would be perfect. I'm having financial problems, too. I thought God had answered prayer in sending me here. But now I wonder, Helen, why doesn't God answer my prayers? Love, Janet"

Concomitant with the above letter, the MV Program Committee presented "Dear Janet." The program was featured in the regular MV services of Friday, November 7 and repeated what is considered by many, a typical problem of young people today—the letter prayer and devotion.

The program consisted of a type of monologue in which "Helen" Ramona McCurdy—ably an-nered the above quoted letter. Narrator Stanley Showalter made prompted suggestions over the PA system which had to do with the letter. Also, included in the program were various musical and inspirational numbers interspersed to emphasize certain parts of the letter.

In an interview following the program Miss Joan Kuttler, acting Chairman of the MV Program Committee, made the following statement: "In such programs as 'Dear Janet,' the MV Council is endeavoring to keep alive the spiritual life created by the recent Ways of Prayer. We feel that private prayer and devotion, such as emphasized in 'Dear Janet,' will prove to be of real help to the personal religious life of SMC students." She then said arrangements were being made to put on this program in the Cleveland, Tennessee, SDA Church.

Bobby Thomas, a freshman student in the Division of Nursing at Southern Missionary College, is receiving a check from the officers of the 401st Club of the American Legion in Orlando, Florida. His scholarship will help him to continue her college nursing program at SMC, Florida Banner and Hospital at Orlando in the campus financial training in SMC's collegiate program of nursing.

"Yeah Cosmos"

COSMOS
We have all been very successful in revising the old adage, "It's all over but the shouting." We certainly have done enough shouting already. Now we're so fit that we haven't shouted for nothing and we're in the "tree" where a caroling will take place. Each person will be presented a souvenir booklet of Christmas carols. A small band will accompany the singing, a surprise in store for students who attend no song.

These features will show the number of parties and other activities should make the Christmas season at SMC cheerful and interesting—you are invited to participate in all enjoy this time of good will and joy.

Fight Warriors!

Now that the campaign has been launched for our Student Center, we know that the supporters of the Dixie Warriors want to do their very best in favor of their group. The Dixie Warriors come from the southern states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, and Mississippi. Knowing the popularity of Southern folk, as demonstrated in the phrase "Southern Hospitality," we know that our friends are many, therefore we are expecting overwhelming results from our efforts, with a victory over the Rebels and Cosmos. And of the rate the letters have been flowing, we know that this is the sole aim of all.

Of course, we wouldn't want any hard feelings! Why, some of our best friends have the misfortune of being a Rebel or Cosmos, but the Dixie Warriors have proved to be a very understanding of this existing problem in a time of necessity.

Our Student Center, for which we are working, will provide numerous outlets for student activities. With the Hi-Fi and a congenial atmosphere, who wouldn't like to spend a few relaxing moments or hours there? With well to well carpeting, beautiful murals, restful lighting and comfortable furniture, combined, would certainly make an impressive place to take parents and visitors to our campus while at the same time locating the morale and spirits of the students.

So, Dixie Warriors, we have set before us a goal, and a very tangible one, one for which we must raise $2000, and, with everyone doing his part, this shouldn't be a difficult task at all. The individual goal is $10, but don't stop at that. If you can't do it, try to do it. But get it and take the Dixie Warriors over the top to a grand victory.

Now, in order to obtain this overwhelming victory, we must write letters. Write to your friends, neighbors and don't forget your relatives (be they rich or poor). We want everyone to have an opportunity to help support this campaign in general—but the DIXIE WARRIORS in particular.

EMC is Site of New University

The Durham Conference of the General Conference voted that the new University be moved to the campus of Emmanuel Missionary College at Breckenridge, Michigan.

Dr. King O. Rutenbush, president of Emmanuel Missionary College and a former dean of SMC, is the newly elected president of the conference.

The move will necessitate the building of a new Administration Building, a library, and a new Seminary Building. Also housing facilities will have to be constructed for the students.

It is planned that classes will begin September, 1959.

WSMC Applies for FM Radio License Board Grants $1000 for Transmitter

Don Tucker, manager of WSMC-FM reports that he was contacted recently by Mr. Emory G. Tucker of Breckenridge, Michigan, in some way heard of SMC's hopes for a FM transmitter and called to enthusiastically urge commencement of FM programming in the area "as soon as possible."

Mr. Tucker stated that he had been contacted by his neighbors in Breckenridge as well as his co-workers at TVA were "Fed up" with the Rock and Roll music. He backed up his enthusiasm with a petition urging a FM station with "50 signatories. Mr. Tucker's petition reads: "Please put Chattanooga on the FM map."

Social Education Week at SMC

From November 17 to 21, the activities of the week were under the direction of the Social Education Committee of the Student Association and chairman Elton Sullivan.

Tuesday, November 18, was designated as Revels, Courtesy Day. On this day the ladies had the opportunity of listening the part of men and vice versa. This was to give the ladies a chance to show the men how it should be done. Tuesday evening, November 18, was a dance in joint working with the results of being a good member.

At the 8:00 meeting, chapel (one talks were given). The first was by Mrs. Helen, chairman of the Division of Nursing. She spoke on reverence and especially dealt with the matter of who to wear to religious services. The second was by Elder Don Coker, an contractor in voice as the Division of Fine Arts. He dealt with the subject of group.

He stated that the subject of group, for example, "Guns of Hallel and "Candle Men's (a joint work in Chattanooga, was the speaker. He spoke on style (clothes and taste in connection with one's clothing. The Friday, chapel was also devoted to the subject of wearing apparel.

WSMC-FM is now a reality as the result of a great deal of enthusiasm and planning on the part of Dr. Hoffer, Elder Hyde, Don Tucker, President Reed and several others. The Board of Trustees of SMC has allocated $1000 for the purchase of a FM transmitter through local radio engineer, But Barnes. Barnes has arranged for WSMT-FM in the amount of $1000 for a 10 watt FM transmitter for educational purposes.

Interested visitors may call a function in such a case merely a formality, and assure it will be forthcoming within 90 days.

8 Chosen for Who's Who

Eight names were selected from among the students of SMC to appear in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. Upper biennium students are selected each year on a basis of scholastic achievement, leadership ability, moral character, religious interest, and prospects for success.

Mrs. Bob Remans

Mrs. Bob Remans was born in Chattanooga, Tennessee, and has spent all but two years of her life in Tennessee. A graduate of Collegedale Academy and a Home Economics major she will graduate this June. She has worked in the College Library and has been active in other lines in Sabbath school, superintending and secretary and vice-president of the Married Couples Forum.

Phyllis Kieny

Born in Ohio and coming from New Mexico is Phyllis Kieny. Phyllis is a graduate of Forest Lake Academy, Miami, Florida. She is at present a junior nursing student studying on the Florida campus of SMC in Orlando, Florida. Phyllis has been active in the nursing club and as a member of the Faculty Student Board at Orlando.

a junior with a Theology major and a speech minor. He has paid most of his college expenses by cooperating each summer. Don has taken a very active part in student affairs as vice-president of the Student Association. He has also worked in classrooms of the Student Committee of Religious Interest, Musonary Band leader, and Student director of the Voice of Youth Choir.

Norman Peck

Chemistry major, Norman Peck, is chairman of the Student Committee on Scholarship. Norman was born in Texas but now claims Tennessee as his home. He is a graduate of Little Creek Academy. Norman has worked as a builder, bookkeeper and has taught some of the academy here. He has also been president of the Chemistry Club while here at SMC.

New Social Plan

(Evans's Note: A social committee consisting of the college students, the college administration and the Student Association has been formed to coordinate the social activities of SMC. We believe that this is an admirable job and in this work, and we are pressing the idea for its continuation. The members of the committee are: Mrs. L. M. Evans, chairman; Mrs. L. M. Evans, secretary; Mrs. L. M. Evans, treasurer; Mrs. L. M. Evans, publicity; Mrs. L. M. Evans, membership; Mrs. L. M. Evans, finance; Mrs. L. M. Evans, correspondence; Mrs. L. M. Evans, general.

Your Social Life

It is the purpose of the college to give you guidance in the development of a well-integrated personality. The college provides you with opportunity to associate with others in a pleasant, happy atmosphere, and centers, you will find many occasions to make a large circle of acquaintances and to share in pleasant and enjoyable company.

The student and faculty committees on program and social programs plan the Saturday night activities. These include music, lectures, suitable motion pictures, and lectures. Mixed student groups may also plan social outings for themselves on "dates." Saturday nights, being certain to make all necessary arrangements the day of the week, a group of men, and your chaperone will in advance of the occasion. These special occasions which will be limited to open weeks.

Choosing Friends

No condition or circumstance in life offers a better opportunity for developing satisfying friendships than do the associations at college. Since the friends you make during your college days almost certainly will be among the most lasting in your life, it will be to your permanent advantage to choose them well. At college the old adage, "A man is known by the company he keeps" is doubly true. By making many well-selected and lasting friends you can establish a good reputation and gain the rich benefits of uplifting associates. Noble, high-minded fellow students are stimulating and inspiring in their influence upon your life.

A Christian college campus is no place for loose-knit sentimentality and infatuation. There are other stimulating friendships available in addition to that "special one." Degrading, splitting associations are encouraged, but dignified, fraternal action as evidenced in an evenly balanced between men and women or a noble display of affection which would be embarrassing to faculty, visitors, and cultured students is out of order.

Social Standards and Privileges

Only a student who adheres to Seventh-day Adventist standards and practices of Southern Missionary College and whose social conduct indicates that he is in harmony with these Adventist ideals for association between young men and young women is entitled to the social privileges afforded at the college. It is highly recommended that each student familiarize himself with the ideals and standards of social etiquette as set forth in the writings of Ellen G. White and other Adventist authors concerned to counsel young people.

You are regarded by observers as a representative of SMC, and since Christian social regulations are founded on solid principles of social conduct, they are not suspended during vacation periods.

Class Takes Field Trip to Pisgah

On the weekend of September 13 to October 2, the class "Admission to School Home" took a trip to Mt. Pisgah Academy, Canaan, North Carolina, for the purpose of observing first hand the principles and administration of Mt. Pisgah Academy. The class met Monday morning, the class met with Mrs. Lesa Hopper's girls, Jean Lester, boys' dean, and Eddy James Edwards, formerly dean of the school. Students were given a tour of the school and had a discussion of problems and methods used by academy deans. Much valuable information was gleaned at this time.

Don Wilson, president of the S.A., presents his trophy to Larry McKinley, the captain of the winning Red Skins.

Red Skins Are Victorious Flagball Season Terminates

On November 10, Don Wilson, president of the Student Association, presented to Larry McKinley, captain of the Red Skins, a trophy for having the winning team of the Collegedale football league.

The Red Skins, through the efforts of Gene Stone and Larry McKinley, will be placed in the Student Union room to record the names of the winning football teams of the future.

Campaign Songs

Cosmos
We're Cosmopolitans, Rebels here at
You Dixie Warriors too will tremble
Shirts and declare that we were
Too much for you—Toss in your towel
Cosmos will take the prize—so
Howl ye Warriors! Howl ye Rebels, Howl!

Dixie Warriors
Fight, Fight, Fight
I'll be really on the ball
Write, Write, Write
The Warriors top them all.
In, Win, Win, Win,
We're bringing in a band
There'll be more 'em in the Rebels

Oh, we are Rebels, Rebels, Hip Hurray
And like all Rebels we are feeling gay
The position fixed from the start
They lost their courage, turned around
And saw they're not so smart
As when they said they'd win for sure
That kind of bragging we cannot endure
Let's give the Rebel yell
Hip, Hip, Hurray—
On Rebels, On and drive the foe
Wab—W'bo—
Wab—W'bo—

THE LOST IS FOUND... Common-sense enlightenment reigned on approximately twenty men and boys rescued the woods for the 15-year-old boys of Mt. Pisgah. Although it was Phyllis Kieny who found the boys, she presented the last letter of the day to our small, dainty baby, the one named 'Fanny' who had been in the picture before. The picture shows the boys and their mother in the picture before.

Amy Busholt

Home Economics major, Amy Busholt, was born in the United States Valley of Texas, Amy has some years outside of the United States in both Colombia, South America, and Puerto Rico where her parents were missionaries. Amy now makes her home at Collegedale with her parents. She has been active in the MV Society as the secretary. She has also worked as bookkeeper for College Industries, Inc., since the second semester of her Freshman year.

Jim Tucker

Jim Tucker comes from Nashville, Tennessee. He received his Academy education at Little Creek Academy. Jim is a theology major and has spent summers in the field as a student outdoors. Jim has been a very active leader in the MV Society. He is the leader this year and has been very active in past years in the Master Guide and Pathfinder Activities here at Collegedale.

Carolyn Lucas

Carolyn comes to us from Washington, D.C., where she has spent most of her life. She has however spent three years in Jamaica. Carolyn is an English major with a Secondary Education minor. Carolyn's activities have included that of girls dean, columnist for the Southern Recorder, '37-'38. She is currently editor of the Southern Messenger and treasurer of the Daughters of Zion.

"Konic Kemistry" Is Theme of Club Meet

SMC Chemistry Club initiated its series of club programs with the presentation "Konic Kemistry." The play was set for the program when Kenzie Burtel stood in as the equipment for the demonstration and tripped over someone's foot, precipitating the comical and colorful to the floor with a resounding crash. After someone pointed out that he had knowledge in the young woman, the contents of the box were examined, revealing the remains of a shipment of expensive Claiton Bats. A quart concluded the show on a somewhat odder note.

One question—Which one resembled one of a silly girl? Answer: Silates.

In addition to the comic show, elections for club officers for the school year were completed.

Dr. Larsen, president, Perry Danvers, vice-president; James Leeper, treasurer, Lou Denison, secretary, David McFallin, pastor.

Scintillating Science
(From page 5 Column 6) tell that Jim Tucker will need to leave school for the test of the summer. He's going home to recuperate from attacks of a small superficial ulcer in the duodenum.

Junior Class Elects Officers; Del Valle Chosen President

The Junior class met in the Science Building, December 16 to elect the officers for 1958-59. Chuck Ad Valle, a theology major, was elected president. Chuck Ad Valle, president of the men's team last year. Chuck took his first two years of college at Southern Missionary College. Other officers elected were: William Straub, vice-president, John McIntyre, secretary-treasurer, and Richard Frank, pastor. The speaker will be announced later as this by the appointment of the president of the college.

CHAPEL TALK

Dean Addresses College Assembly Stresses Values of Life

"It was a mob watching for the sunlight to fall during the days of the French Revolution. It was a crowd waiting for the banner's knot to tighten in 17th century England. It was a happy carnival mob waving the greatest show on earth. It was more than 5,000 persons packed around the corner of The Standing more than 100 yards deep on the corner of the Cornhill they said, 'There he goes,' as he leaned forward, and they sighed with disappointment when he eased back. Operation Fireside Planned by MV's

In a recent interview, Elder H. V. Henderson, coordinator of the Southern Missionary College MV Service, stated that plans for the soon opening Operation Fireside social-wisdom project are becoming definite as the time approaches.

He mentioned that although it is not still impossible to reach the person, the plans for the follow-up meetings to be held directly after Operation Fireside is completed.

"We are hoping to open up 50 homes in which students will be able to give Bible studies. This will mean, of course, that over 100 students will need to respond to the call to serve Christ in this new and unique manner.

"As of now, we plan for the houses to be given very soon after winter vacation. They will continue until the Spring Week of Prayer which will be a series of devotional meetings for the benefit of the persons to whom the Bible studies have been given.

He thought for a moment and then continued.

"We, as members of the MV Council, hope and pray that the SMC student body will get behind Operation Fireside and endeavor to win many souls to Christ as the opportunity presents itself."

He then added that most definite plans and instructions will be released as formulated.

SURVEY

College Education Drains Finances

Results of a recent survey of over 100 colleges and universities in the United States have just been reported by U.S. News and World Report magazine in one of its more recent issues.

The report, which covers colleges of all sizes, private and public, in all areas of the continental United States, gives evidence of a pre-dominantly varying picture concerning enrollment and cost.

It is interesting to note that these variations occur seasonally, to a large degree. In New England and the East, colleges are overcrowded, and state almost prohibitive to a large group of graduating seniors. Conversely, colleges in the South, Southwest, and the West have abundant space and lower rates.

Church colleges seem to be more expensive than state supported institutions and are also the least crowded.

Total costs ran the gamut from $900 at the University of Alabama to $2,700 at Dartmouth.

Of the 140 colleges surveyed, 109 reported a rate in tuition charges for this school year which vary from modest room and board rates in addition. Aided charges will range as high as $400 more per student per year.

Perhaps the thousand-dollar per student rate of the SMC can be judged as we have thought!

Choirs Present Sacred Concert

Chorus Line—An evening scene at the large Christmas tree which is situated in the Chapel area.

MV's Feature Elder Reeves "What I Saw in Rome"

"Actually, there are very few in modern Rome, though it is hard for some to believe, there are vivid examples from each of these three periods in history, in various parts of Rome. "One evident thing a person will usually notice, is that modern Romanism is actually only baptized paganism. For on every hand are evidences of the old hang-ons from pagan sun worship."

Among other things, he referred to what he termed, the false pretenses of the Roman Catholic money-grubbing methods. He used as an example, the occasion in the area of Mater Lurelli when Tettel, an indolgent-looking man, was represented by Leber and sent away in disgrace.

The slides shown included pictures of such places as, the great Roman Colosseum, the Appian Way, the Maritime Prison in which the apostle Paul was kept, and the men's prison at Vasto Emanuel. There were also pictures of many Roman Catholic shrines such as the Vatican, and St. Peter's Cathedral.

Nursing Students Tour Union

You mean we can spend a whole week at SMC?

Will we really be able to visit all the deaconatically sponsored students in the Southern Union? As the promotion trip for the Division of Nursing was in the making, questions were asked, hours were spent in planning, and many plans were made. November 19 finally arrived, and Miss Gladys Bledsoe, Associate Director of the Division of Nursing, accompanied by five Junior students of nursing Helen Elliott, Shirley Finney, Nina Groth, Mary Lou Lammig, and Carol Rozell, left the Florida campus.

The program consisted of a concert that took place in the living room of two graduate nurses who reviewed their college days by looking through a genre album. Several short films were interspersed throughout the serene depicting various phases of a student's life. "Thursday the group was privileged to give the chapel program at Pugh Academy. On the way to Highland Academy, they visited Fletcher Sanitarium and Hospital. Then on the following day the program was again presented at Highland Academy. "The group was very happy to be able to spend Friday night through Monday afternoon at SMC. On Monday morning the program was repeated in the college chapel and in the academy chapel that afternoon. "Tuesday afternoon, after a very enjoyable week end, found the students again touring their classroom groups, the Southern Missionary College. Choral Department presented their annual Christmas musical program on the Sabbath afternoon of December 15. According to 1 Don Cook, head of the Choral Department, the highlight of the all-religious program was "Lull" The Chorus. Host (from The College City), as sung by the College Chorus; Larry Blackwell, a freshman student at SMC, joined with the group, which is directed by Dorothy E. Ackema.

The program reminded of religious carols and traditional Christmas songs. Other soloists included Judy Fowler, Anne Davidson, Sarah Dalton, Leland Tetz, Dick Larson, and Carl Hehler—all of whom are SMC students. Bubbe Rhodes, linked with the College Choir, in "I Wander as I Wander."

The chapel group taking part in the program were the Collegiate Chorus, the College Choir, the SMC men's choir, the Collegiate Acoustic Chorus, and the Joy Choirs of the Arthur W. Spalding Elementary School. The directors of these groups are Dorothy E. Ackema, J. Don Cook, and Edna Mae Jackson. The Department functions through the auspices of the SMC, to which Miss Taylor is the head.

The program was conducted by the traditional Christmas songs, "The Little Light." The entire program of over 150 minutes was on stage as the group endeavored to bring to the hearts of the Christmas.

Administrators Meet With Accrediting Body

Recently Dr. C. N. News, president, Dr. G. E. Wood, dean, Mr. Charles Flegg, Jr., its chief manager, and Miss Paul I. Hunt, representative of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, held in Louisville, Kentucky.

Southern Missionary College and Collegedale Academy are members of this regional accrediting body, having been voted into membership in 1951 and 1954 respectively. Dr. News, found it presenting an annual report on the college to a committee of the group, that SMC continues to hold its excellent rating through this body.

Two state unions of SMC were admitted into special and regular standing with the group this year; now all SDA colleges in the United States are accredited by this or similar regional bodies.

In reporting to the Deas and staff on the meeting, Dr. News said that the SMC program received commendation from the group for the high caliber work of SMC in doing its spiritual, educational, and work programs.

In reporting to the Deas and staff on the meeting, they hope that they may have in some way encouraged other young people to enroll in the Southern Missionary College Division of Nursing.

New Equipment

Trotter Machine—One of the most modern in the equipment in the chemistry department is the new Spectral Analyzer Trotter, which does an excellent job of analyzing. This unit cost approximately $200 and is part of the equipment which was bought for the chemistry department. This is a machine which does a host of work on extra chemistry problems and is a great improvement in the department. It is being operated by Thomas Peck, a senior chemistry major.

Here's Christmas

Lindberg Joins Faculty; Fills Andrews Vacancy

Mrs. Evelyn Lindberg, formerly Southwestern Junior College, League, Texas, has joined the faculty at Southern Missionary College to teach the English classes in the academy. Next year she will teach in the college.

Mrs. Lindberg received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Willamette University, Salem, Oregon, and her Master of Arts degree at Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, Texas.

She has served as dean of women at Atlanta Union College, South Lancaster, Mass., and at Wells Woman's College, College Park, Washington. She had been connected with the English department of Southwestern Junior College for twelve years and she was called to SMC in 1958.

Mrs. Lindberg will be filling the vacancy left by Miss Frances Andrews.

Color Film Shows Animals at Night

Several Claves of the Minimal Institution Society will be the lyricists for Southern Missionary College Sunday night, February 9, 1959.

Claves has discovered a way to take color motion pictures of wildlife at night. His program was entitled, "Animals at Night in Color." Claves served as a photographer for the late Mrs. Thomas A. Anderson. He is shown concerning by the Honorable Gerald Pugh for the President of the South Sea Expedition in 1929. For three years he was on the staff of the New York State Conservation Commission.

He has written articles and taken pictures for such magazines as "The National Geographic" and the "Saturday Evening Post."

Board Convened February 15

The annual meeting of the Southern Missionary College Board will be held on Sunday, February 15, at 10 A. M.

The College board will discuss plans for the 1959-60 school year at Southern Missionary College. Also under discussion will be plans for the addition of new faculty members to the teaching staff in several divisions of instruction.

Sunday evening a social function for the faculty and board members of Southern Missionary College will be held in the new cafeteria.

The college board consists of Don B. Rice, chairman, C. M. Rice, secretary, G. E. Shankel, recording secretary, C. F. Fleming, P. Davidson, F. H. Dorris, N. C. Wilson, H. Hill, H. S. Hanson, W. Sowers, H. D. Lawson, L. J. Leake, H. Lester, E. L. Mady, L. C. Strickland, A. P. Adams, G. Miller, H. V. Reed, L. M. Nelson, M. C. Patton, H. H. Schmidt, K. R. Davis, and B. F. Sumner.

Prophecy Series Features Mrs. White's Grandson

Elder Arthur L. White, left, shows Dr. Oren H. Christensen, chairman of SMC's Religion Division, and Dr. C. H. Rice, president of the college, one of the many pages of material from Mrs. Ellen G. White's writings. Elder White's grandson is Mrs. White, past a series of lectures at SMC on the Spirit of Prophecy recently.

Elder Arthur L. White, grandson of Mrs. E. G. White led out in the Spirit of Prophecy Emphasis Week on the campus of SMC, February 2 through 7.

Elder White spoke at chapel services, morning worship and the 11 o'clock service Sabbath morning. The week was concluded Sabbath afternoon, February 7, with a Question and Answer meeting in which Elder White answered many questions about the life, work and writings of Mrs. E. G. White.

Through the use of colored slides and vivid recollections of his grandniece, Elder White traced Mrs. White's pioneering life through her childhood in New England, her visits to Europe and her work in Australia.

He stated that the same fifty-three books and numerous articles for our denominational periodicals during her life.

During the week exhibits displayed E. G. White documents, early letters, manuscripts, diaries, early books, etc., from the White family. The General Conference office. These were also supplemented by rare volumes from the Arthur Davidson Memorial Library.

Some of the topics presented are: (1) How I Received the Prophet Among You, The Prophet Gifted in Action, How We Got Our Doctrine, Relationship of the Spirit of Prophecy to the Bible, Walking in the Light.

Elder White made strong appeals that we not be disappointed by neglecting this great blessing of God to His remnant church, but that we make full use of the Spirit of prophecy ministry.

President Seeks Staff Additions

The Board of S. C. needs help made by P. C. N. Reed, Jr. of California, from January 26 to 30 to be obtained in person for the Southern Missionary College faculty.

White on his trip to California, President Reed visited Laramie College in Oregon, the College of Medical Evangelists at Loma Linda, and the College of the Spirit of Prophecy with former students of Southern Missionary College. The results of this trip have not yet been made.

Club Officers Sponsor All-School Supper

A scene taken during the first part of the Business Club at the all-school supper sponsored by the Club Officers Council.

The Club Officers Council had planned a program in the Tabernacle-Sabbathroom, Sunday evening, February 15. The members of the various clubs were present for the supper, which consisted of hot dogs, corn, potato chips, cake, and milk.

The program was presided by the club, each giving a performance of five minutes. Orville Swartz, president of the CDC, welcomed everyone and introduced the clubs as they were to perform.

The Business Administration and the Literary Club put on a play about a Senator and his income tax problem.

The Teachers of Theology Club invited the different teachers and faculty members. The Language and Literature Club acted out an old English play written by Stanley Showalter.

"Memories" Staff Forges Ahead on 1959 Book

A progress report of the Southern Memories, the year book of Southern Missionary College, was given in an interview with the editor-in-chief, Carolyn Lane, February 8, at her office.

Mrs. Lane stated that the cover has been designed, and all of the portraits of students and faculty had been taken. The portraits alone constitute about one-third of the year book.

The staff not only has progressed in the making of the annual, but has been busy remodeling the office into a more attractive place on the walls and woodwork and new work tables and cabinets have been constructed to aid the making of the staff members.

Mrs. Lane is her job as editor-in-chief has to coordinate, act upon, and approve everything that goes into the making of the year book in addition to these things, she has helped in the painting of the office and making and hanging the new drapes.

The assistant editor, Gary Fowler, works with the editor-in-chief in anything that comes up that needs special attention.

Judy Fowler, literary editor, writes captions and other necessary writing in the year book.

The layout editor was Larra Phillips, but he has returned to his home in California. The staff has taken over his job of arranging the format of the year book.

Secretary of the annual is Jettie Taylor. She prepares all copy to go to the press and also the letter writing. Associate secretary is Betty Morrill.

Alvin Christensen, the student editor, is responsible for the snapshot campaign and the page up of the steps.

Business manager, Leslie Pennington, has the job of telling of plans and keeping the books. He also has the job of keeping the editor-in-chief within the budget.

Bill Burkett, art editor for the year, designed the cover and the division pages. He built the new work tables and cabinets for the work room. Charles Knicker is the art editor for the second semester.

The faculty sponsor, Mr. Gordon Madges, keeps up the morale of the staff and coordinates between faculty and staff. He painted the new work in the office.

Enrollment at SMC has hit an all-time high this year with 595 students. See the story on page 4 with the roster of new students for this semester.

Andrews Accepts Call to Position on SWJC Faculty

Mrs. Fernus Andrews has accepted a call to connect with the English department of Southwestern College in Arlington, Va.

Mrs. Andrews, a graduate of SMC and former editor of the ACCENT, has been a sponsor of the ACCENT since 1955. She was teaching the English class in the academy and also was in preparation for the college.

Other positions she has held are dean of girls at SMC, Virginia Academy, New Market, Virginia, and several years in the office of the Bureau of Press Relations of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, Takoma Park, Washington, D. C.

While at SMC, she also held the position of public relations secretary for the Collegedale SMC church.

Board Approves Majors; Considers Dorm Plans

Plans for a new women's dormitory, the establishment of a communications major in the curriculum, and the appointment of new members were some of the items considered during the Board of Trustees' meeting at Southern Missionary College.

The board heard about the aerial long-range plans for expansion and saw the first sketches from architects for the entire campus. Preliminary sketches for the women's dormitory are ready, and board hopes the ground can be broken for the building this spring.

Board Chairman Don B. Rees, ending of the Southern Union, reported the long-term indebtedness of the institution has been reduced, being a possible for SMC to along on its expansion plan.

The board voted to establish a communications major, naming the it as speech, journalism, and the relations. Heading the new program will be Elder Gordon Hyde, who has been working on a Ph.D. in speech at the University of Wisconsin.

The new map will use the facilities of a planned Downtown Madison station as well as the college's own, the SOUTHERN ACCENT.

Campbell Returns to SMC For Repeat Performance

Sam Campbell, noted photographer, naturalist, and writer will give a benefit program for the dorms.

Sam Campbell is coming to Southern Missionary College again, this time as a natural lecturer, who packed the house last year, will give another of his series at SMC's Thursday night, March 12.

Of the state, that remote places not yet well known. Rocky Mountain National Park is included, as well as Estes Park, and the Denver system.

The famous and beautiful scenes about Colorado Springs are included. "The Cave of the Winds, The Garden of the Gods, and a 'dark night dream'." Next the audience is carried into the interior beyond the front range, to Grand Lake, and on into the north and southward parts of that amazing land. An Indian rodeo is shown, and the fascinating cliff dwellings in the mountains. Mrs. Verda National Park. As a final dip into this world of

Marley Will Be Evangelistic Speaker for Prayer Week

Elder E. L. Marley will be the speaker for the Spring Week of Prayer which opens tonight at Southern Missionary College.

Marley is the president of the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference of Seventh-Day Adventists with offices in Nashville, Tennessee. Before accepting this post he was pastor of the First Seventh-Day Adventist Church of Nashville, Tennessee.

The Spring Week of Prayer this year will also be the annual meetings for Operation Dine. This will include the series of Bible studies that has been given by the students participating in Operation Friendship. Elder Marley will speak to the student body at the chapel period every day. The evening meetings of Prayer will be held in the Tabernacle Auditorium at 7:45 p. m. He will also speak at the 10:00 o'clock church services on the Sabbath of March 7 and 14.

Some of the topics for the evening are: "God's Surprise for You," "Prayer will be the light in the darkness," "Can I Go To L.A.," "The Secret of Life," and "Why Be Baptized?"

S.M.C. Observes Brotherhood Week

What is Brotherhood Week? It is one week of the year dedicated in a renewal and resolution to assist brotherhood and to others the right and equal to a name for brotherhood in the year.

Brotherhood Week, sponsored by the National Union of Christians and Jew, Inc., has been observed since 1911.

In program No. 113 "Redirection to the 1300 Goals of respect for individuals and peoples, 123 Practical suggestions for people can take to promote an understanding and realization of these ideals, 133 Entertaining and inspiring messages to build brotherhood everywhere. Its goal: a single family, man under God."

Brotherhood Week at Southern Missionary College was under the direction of Elder A. Rees.

A "Mr. The Day We Hear," was shown to the students in program No. 114. A. Rees, president of the Southern Union of Christians, spoke in a religious class were asked in room with a Japanese boy, President Rees, said, "I am sure of others brother's death in a Japanese prison camp, one young man finds it hard to accept the news of his brother being the foreign soldier tell of his experience in finding Christ, that the boy became fast friends upon graduation, the American had makes his decision to go as a missionary to Japan."

Wednesday in chapel, Dr. Samuel W. Pyle, pastor of the Lookout Mountain Presbyterian Church, spoke in the afternoon class study body.

Ristau Directs Colporteur Week

February 20-29 the annual Colporteur Conference was held at SMC.

This convention is held for the training of students who will colporteur during the summer.

Publishing secretaries from the General Conference, the Southern Union and the local conferences attended this convention.

Elder Eric Ristau, the publishing secretary of Southern Union was the chairman for the week 11.

"Minutes to Midnight," a film about colporturing, was shown Sunday evening to the assembly. After this Elder Huggins explained the importance of the preparation of the canvass and how to get the interest of the person to whom one is selling the book.

Elder Eric Ristau

Monday at chapel three some of the student colporteurs told of the experiences they had had in the field of canvassing and how to sell the book.

Wednesday evening, slides accompanied by a recorded story of conversation as the result of a colporteur's work were shown as an inspiration to the future colporteurs.

Wednesday the chapel period was given to some of the faculty who had had experience in colporturing. They told of the blessings to be gained. These were not only financial but spiritual, emotional, and in personal development.

Editorial . . .

Democratic Representation . . .

Constitutional revision is a perennial topic of conversation in a Student Association. It seems that the Association always has members who are not satisfied with the way things are conducted. The agitation on our campus for a Constitutional Revision Committee is just another sign of this feeling. We wonder if there are not some people who are just looking for a change for change's sake.

We concede that it takes some changes to make progress but we maintain that not all changes necessarily result in progress. We also maintain that very little progress can be achieved if an organization is in a continual state of change.

The one phase of the Student Association which receives more criticism than the others is the method by which officers are elected. Some students always seem to feel that the nomination and election of officers is a fixed thing governed by a very small minority. If this is the case with our present system here at SMC, then we heartily recommend a change.

Let us investigate our present system to see just how it works so we can better evaluate our stand on any changes which might be recommended. The present system, as laid out in the Student Association constitution, reads as follows: "... At least one week before the election, the president and vice-president of the Student Association shall solicit suggestions for each office to be filled, from each member of the Student Association. The president and secretary shall render the student Senate a full report of all suggestions received." Our Student Organization A Work, page 16, Article 2, Section (a).

This is the system which we are at present following by the use of preferential ballots. These are given to the students in the spring of each academic year, and each student is given the opportunity to suggest his choice for any office. The results of these ballots are tabulated by the secretary of the Student Association and are made available to the Senate at the time that they nominate officers to be elected for the following year. A study of past results of the preferential ballots and officers nominated shows that these ballots were followed very closely. There are exceptions to this because there are other requirements such as GPA of 1.8.

It appears to us that it would be almost impossible to find a more democratic way of handling our elections. There is a recommendation which the Senate is bringing to the floor of the Student Assembly which would provide that two representatives be elected from each class for the sole purpose of sitting on the Senate at the time of nomination and election. We cannot see where any benefit would be gained from this, unless it be in the fact that it would make the Senate a larger body and hence prolong the agony of this business. The eight students would probably have very little knowledge of the work performed by the offices they were nominating people to fill.

We are not to wonder if the agitation for revision does not come from a few disgruntled office seekers who in the past have not been elected. On the basis of the evidence we now have, we can do some other than to support the present system until it proves itself inadequate or unworkable.

D. S.

Brotherhood Week . . .

The following section taken from the Bylaws of the National Conference of Christians and Jews is right to the point in expressing a concept of brotherhood which we would do well to make a part of our thinking.

... to promote justice, amicable understanding and cooperation among Protestants, Catholics and Jews, and to analyze, moderate and finally eliminate intergroup prejudices which disgrace and distort religious, business, social and political relations, with a view to the establishment of a new order in which the religious identity of brotherhood and justice shall become the standards of human relations." From the Editor's Mail Bag

Dear Editor,

I feel constrained to express my opinion about advertising that was done in chapel a few days ago for Summer School. First, let me be understood that I am not a student here and I recognize that there is a saving in for some people. However, I do not believe that the amount of advertising is a true picture of the magnitude of these savings, on the part of the university of the group that the way I charge the tuition and fees; these figures should be given as comparative costs for 10 hours.

Summer Registrar's Office
Tuition 120.00 180.00
Fees 150.00 132.00 182.00

Total 147.00 162.00 163.00

I believe the advertising figures shown in the advertisement were $411.00. I am sure it is incorrect in my derivation of these figures. I will be glad to do them for you if you wish.

Respectfully yours,
Donald Hill

ERMA LANCASTER

Snipe Hunting Safari Hobos Stay

It seems as though the headlines on this column get shorter with every issue. I am sure they don't though—I'm merely my invariable procrastination that gives that illusion. In any case, here I am again with more tidbits of news from Maude Jones Hall.

If my hearing aid is correct I understand that the Snipes, Spels, O'Brians and Joan Poole. Did you really catch some "Snipes"? I thought they only came out when it had a full moon.

No man say so the spectacle I witnessed the other night. The audience of all details, should immediately be covered so I shall not attempt to give them, but if you happen to see Sandra Elliott, ask her what's the latest in the fashion world?

Perhaps a suggestion or two will be taken to heart by those who lurk in Maude Jones Hall.

During our first drill the other night we proved one thing—our snipe's getting out of the dormitory fast enough. Need it be said that we wouldn't take time to put on our shoes and socks, comb our hair, brush our teeth, get something to munch on while waiting to return to the dorm, or anything else, after that siren has gone off. Please, let's keep this in mind; it may save your own life.

It's not wise to eat right before you go to bed, it is Joan Kutter's opinion, when invading the dorm (which isn't a bad idea), and all sorts of wild and weird things. Poor roommate, Ann Cunningham, hardly got any sleep.

Very familiar with a "hot foot" and "hot seat" aren't you? Ramona Heiser is even more familiar with the latter than the average person. I understand that she had her posterior facing west, anterior facing east, then being moving west-when her feet were facing east. A real headache! Needless to say it was slow, she had sacrificed!

Stella Nordstrom—you're going to have to make a statement! Patty Murray was reported to have said that the dorm isn't like to go home to an empty room. Patty—I know you aren't aware of the dorm. Did anyone see those hobos leaving? Marty Bender, Jeanine Kelly and Karen Olson looked like hobos on their way to take a sun bath in Maude Jones Hall. They were loaded with sack lunches, blankets, quilts, books and radio—to top the load off their backs. These mean-looking bards. Either they were contemplating a departure or were just getting their exercise when they started climbing up, under, around, and in the balconies on the siding. Glad they never let it be said that Janice Collins is a wind baw. She would have a hard time blowing out a candle—much less a kerosene lamp. To those 13 gathered in Maude Jones Hall, who conducted the worship service? Jane Hart—were they really making noise and did you stay for worship?

"Get 'em up!" Marty, you and Karen are under arrest—don't know how you heard you're arrested of breaking and entering a private home. How about this? Also, how about hitchhiking on Saturday night, especially as late as 10:30—really, we're beginning to wonder about you and your stay for worship?

At our great Dazewalite Forum we were honored to have our guest speaker Mrs. Elva B. Gardner, a lady of whom we think very highly. Her opening remarks stand up the situation here in the College of Education very nicely. She stated, "The women and men who represent the home of the brave, and girls of Maude Jones Hall represent the land of the free." Thank you, Mrs. Gardner, and we hope you will return as our guest again very soon.

Get This Inside Story on Talge Hall

Join me in a visit to Dean Upshur's new office. As we enter the front door to our dorm, we face a beautiful new divider which screens the shower room door. The plecter and the hallway, like the man's office and that of the dean, are paneled in white oak. Our right is a bank of plate glass windows with the standard lockers for taking and passing notes. The table before it is made of oak. We occupied to see search for someone to let us into the locker room. There he is, studying his lessons at the desk of Alva Turner, Dean's secretary. "Sorry," he may follow, just reach to the door knob on the opposite side of the window and over three feet to the door knob on the inside and let yourself in." This invited I scratch my ear, hold my elbow, and let us into the new scene of monitors. This is a place with modern chairs, his player, locked door with only little prep work for sound to intrude and disturb monitors. On the opposite side of this fortress is the door to Intermentum. This door, unlike the first one we entered, is a solid construction as opposed to the other. In further directions we drift into Dean's office and are greeted warmly. Having gained this ground we find it very pleasant in the friendly atmosphere of warm colors, matching furniture, an impressive desk to replace the one that can be used before, wall to wall carpet, and even clean windows.

After the usual greetings we get down to business and find out that several new students are now in the dorm. Besides Jim Turko and Jerry Williams, who have returned, we have the following new students: Harold Smith, Jack Carroll, Chai-Kung, Jerry Wang, Billy Johnson, and Don Barcraft. Dean suggests that we may find some of these people in our new dorm lounge.

At the end of second floor we pass swinging doors and enter a room fit to complete with the Student Union hall in respects to carpeting the floor association. Here in our lounge we will wall carpeted drapes which match the wall, floor circular tables, study tables, two focused piano, and all the little touches to make it a home. Somewhat wisely planned this room in sections grouped by activity. Thanks, Dean, for getting this expert help. We feel that our dorm is really on the way up. It may be sure that we use all these features to the best way possible.

Lanier Watson, just where were you for two hours while your fellow case explorers searched for you in vain? I understand you did some exploring for maybe two miles without any light. We are all glad to see you back. Please don't leave for so long a time.

Our men's club now has real form and substance. We Anderson, our last president laid the plans for this change and allowed us to see them. Ted, you'd have enjoyed last night when our new officers were approved. Probably you'd have approved as we elected Jerry Cobb as vice-president to fill the place Daniel Rossell left by his stepping up to fill your vacated place as president. Yes, you're coming; we have a growing spirit club meetings will soon start. Sorry to disappointing members.

Operation Fixside is growing every week. Truth is, you're really very ready and the presentation is a blessing to those of us who have a growing spirit club meetings will soon start. Sorry to disappointing members. The enthusiasm of these participating to meet but was not entirely accepted by someone present. It is that we counseled to return home and meditate about it until they see it differently. The enthusiasm of these participating to meet but was not entirely accepted by someone present. It is that we counseled to return home and meditate about it until they see it differently.

Thus the reader of this column can see that there is no evidence in all parts of our program. Room for improvement still here and I have endeavored to chide gently here and there. I will never be satisfied, but rest assured we'll continue to grow and prosper.

Said So! My Tom Pappa!

'Tis I, Dear Lord.

'Tis I, dear Lord, who stands and pleads
'Tis I who waltz by with thee,
For Thou I know power in prayer
And long Thy glory may see.

'Tis I, dear Lord, who wants to work
To bring love and joy in Thy fold;
No duty will I ever shirk
To tell the love which few have held.

'Tis I, dear Lord, at Thy command,
Stand ready 'e'er to do Thy will
For those whom I may lead as I should,
That they may climb up Calvary's hill.

President Rees Attends Higher Education Meet

CHICAGO, March 4—Dr. C. N. Rees, president of Southern Methodist University College, is taking part in the Fourteenth National Conference on Higher Education which began here Monday. More than 1000 college presidents, deans, and faculty members from institutions of higher education throughout the country, both public and private, are participating in the four-day meeting.

Sponsored annually by the Association for Higher Education, since 1964 this year is being focused on the new imperatives confronting educators in view of the race against time to provide educational programs adequate to meet national needs. Impending curricular changes, higher education in the world scene, and higher education as an instrument of national policy, are among the topics being discussed in general sessions and seminars.

Consideration is also given to subjects of more immediate interest to the educators by more than 35 round-table discussion groups. Of these, Dr. Rees is participating in "To what extent can an administrator be a faculty member and student participation and still be effective?" Also, "What are the relative merits of student leadership, lecturers and work programs?"

Taylor's Give First Concert Using New Baldwin Piano

Professor and Mrs. Maria Taylor pose at the keyboard of the new imported Baldwin piano.

Professor and Mrs. Maria Taylor are pleased by Mrs. Virginia Gate Shunko-Rittenhouse, violinist, gave a piano recital Saturday night, February 21, at Southern Missionary College.

The concert was the first using the new Baldwin nine-foot grand piano purchased from Grand Piano Co.

PR Secretaries Attend Workshop On Journalism

First in a series of Press Relations workshops for the Ga-Cumb. conference of SDA's was held at the Beverly Road SDA church in Atlanta, Sunday, February 22.

Leading out was Elder Elwood Bell, public relations director of the Ga-Cumb. Conference.

The second meeting of the press secretaries was held at SMC Sunday, March 1.

Board Bills Drop Reports D. L. West

An announcement from the office of Mr. Don West, assistant manager of SMC, states that the average board charges this far this year are lower than the published average.

Reeves Lectures At Atlanta Church

Professor C. A. Reeves gave his lecture, "What I Saw in Rome," in Atlanta, February 21, at the Beverly Road Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Elder Reeves has traveled widely in Europe, and the pictures for the lecture were taken in Rome during Holy Year.

Professor Reeves was also the speaker at the 11 o'clock hour at the Beverly Road church.

SMC Will Host Chemical Society

The March meeting of the Chattanooga section of the American Chemical Society, which usually meets at the University of Chattanooga, will be held at Southern Missionary College.

Since this is a topic of medical interest as well as chemical interest, the members of Hamilton County Medical Association will be invited to the lecture.

As the World Turns

In spite of the fact that Secretary of State Dulles is very ill with cancer, his post, carried out by his aide and Prime Minister Macmillan, is having some effect on Khrushchev and the Russians.

His tentative agreement to accept the West's proposal of discussions at the ministerial level, such discussions to go past Russia's announced deadline on the disposition of Berlin, freshens an attempt to back down gracefully. Dulles' detentions are now admitting its firmness, mental with flexibility, on the Berlin question.

Atlantic Cable

A sure list was thought to be, for a while, attached to the Russians, who, supposedly had cut several of the Atlantic cable.

Loma Linda Accepts Five Students

Into the School of Medicine at Loma Linda, a new crop of 1959, of these five, three are members of the class of '38, the other two will receive their diplomas this May.

The five who have been accepted are Joseph Bishop, David Jarrett, and Dick Kenfield.

Joseph Bishop ('58) is teaching grades 5, 6, 7, and 8 in Kansas City, Kansas, church school. George Jarrett ('59) finished his requirements last January and is at present teaching science in a high school in Jacksonville, Florida.

Carl Jones received a diploma this May.

Dick Kenfield ('38) is teaching Science at Shenandoah Valley Academy, New Market, Virginia.

The editors want to appreciate to Bill Taylor and Barbara Brees for leaving them off the Ga-Cumb List in the last meeting. They also appreciate a grade point average of 2.9 or better, carrying back report to 12 hours or more.

The freshman and sophomore classes organized soon after the beginning of the second semester. This committee organizes the organization of the classes and files the two variant reports on the Student Senate.

James Culpepper, who has recently returned to college after having served his time in the United States Army, was elected president of the sophomore class.

Assisting Mr. Culpepper as a member of the sophomore class are Beverly Schmidt, vice-president; treasurer; and Roger Flom, president. As sponsor the class elected Dr. A. H. Heflinger, professor of physics.

Working with Mr. Watson as freshmen class officers are Otis Metcalf, vice-president; William Latta, secretary; Lawrence Lubert, treasurer; and Lester Watson, president.

The class chose Mr. E. O. Grandis, president, professor of biology as their sponsor.

Rhodes, Jensen, McCoun Take Talent Scouts' Contest Cash Prizes

Talent Scouts, the annual student talent program, sponsored by the Student Association, was won by Jimmy Rhodes. For his performance as a one-man band. First prize received Rhodes $25.

Second place winner of $15 was Paul Jensen for his juggling act. Jimmy Rhodes' one-man band won first prize.

College Industries, Sanborn Springs Co., McKee Baking Co., Clee Inc., and an anonymous donor provided advertising for the talent event. The advertising money was used to finance the press and the production.

Bill Moody and Mr. E. D. Goodrich were responsible for the staging, roadomatic back drops, and lighting.

Other contestants, who received $5 each for their performances, were as follows: Larry Blackwell, Freeman Ward, Sarah Dalton, Judy Fowler, Lene Schmidt, Paul Holden, Erna Lancaster, David Kogrey, Jon Loeborg, Bob Romans, Don Hill, Robert Arns, Carl Hadden, Lashley Yris, and a dance consisting of Marilyn Buggs and Dick Latens.

Other members of the committee that planned the Talent Scouts are as follows: Pat Batters, secretary; Jon Finkel, Mary Cobb, Carl Madden, Dorothy Satter, and Marilyn Young.

The last of four man programs sponsored by the Student Association, Talent Scouts was free. Previous programs included bores.

The Spirit of St. Louis, "The Faith for Today" and "The Albert Schweitzer Story."

SA Senate to Have Administrative Day

The Southern Missionary College Student Senate recently voted to accept the SMC faculty's invitation to conduct Student Administrative Day tomorrow. On that day Southern Missionary College students will take charge of the actual operation of the college.

The student administrative officers have invited Dr. Leroy A. Mann, newly elected president of the University of Chattanooga, to be the convocation speaker tomorrow. Dr. Mann is president of Tennessee Wesleyan University at Athens, Tennessee.

Don Wilson, president of the Student Association, will take the place of Dr. C. R. Neen, president of the college, for the day. Don Carey, vice-president of the Student Association, will be academic dean, taking the place of Dr. C. E. Shanks. SA Secretary Jonathan Godwin will take over the duties of the college registrar, Mrs. Theodora Lambeth, to the exams.

Don Hill, SA treasurer, will take up the duties of Charles Fleming, SMC business manager. Assistant business manager D. E. West will

Baptisms Planned to Follow MV Project And Elder Marley's Week of Prayer

Hoar Resigns Principalship

Principal Paul J. Hoar, of Collegedale Academy, recently indicated to the academy's board of trustees that he would prefer going back into teaching full time.

His resignation was accepted at the board's last meeting, he will continue in the principalship until his successor, who will be announced at a later date, will arrive on the campus.

Professor Hoar has taught at Collegedale Academy since 1916. Beloved for his ability to get ideas and concepts across in the classroom, he is returning to his main interest. He will teach the classes in chemistry, biology, algebra, and geometry.

Professor Hoar holds the B.A. from Atlantic Union College and the M.A. from Boston University.

Elder Marley and Henderson discuss the exciting program resulting from MV Operation Riverside and Week of a Year.

Elder E. L. Marley, president of the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, was the speaker for SMC's Spring Week of Prayer, March 7-14.

A variation is made in the pattern for Weeks of Prayer in that this week of prayer was conducted in conjunction with "Victory Through Christ" revival series which climaxed the Operation Riverside activities. Elder Marley spoke to the students each morning in chapel and to a student-community group each evening in the Tabernacle-Auditorium.

In his chapel talks, which were not sermons, Elder Marley brought practical solutions and guidance to the questions and problems of the youthful heart on matters pertaining to his religious experience. Much was on "ugged" down with technicalities, but were given principles upon which decisions could be made.

whether an act is small, or contemptible in itself, or simply that all pointed to a common goal. Heaven the chapel was so concluded Friday with a testimony service. Students heard "As God wills waiting their turn to speak a word for Christ, more than that not, pleading in their faith and wisdom to overcome anything believing their but from testimony of a strong Jesus.

The evening meetings were evangelistic in nature, and dealt with major doctrines of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. Some of the topics were "God's Purpose for You," "When God Judges the Church," "Can I Go to Hell?" "The Secret of Life," and "Will He Repent?"

The response to all talks was good. To climax the week, a baptismal service for three candidates was held. Two of those were students, Shelby Grazier of Tennessee and Joye Strasser of Atlanta.

College Days, April 12 and 13

Kindly consider this a cordial invitation to all high school and academy seniors to be the guests of Southern Missionary College on Sunday and Monday, April 12 and 13, usually called College Days.

The plan is the same as in previous years. The academy seniors arrange with their pastor or conference educational secretary for transportation. Food and lodging while on the campus will be provided by the college. The Student Association, working closely with the Dean of Student Affairs, is now busy planning the activities, and any communication concerning College Days may be written directly to the Student Association president, Don Wilson.

Hyde Receives Fellowship

Elder Gordon M. Hyde, head of the department of communications at Southern Missionary College, has been awarded a Faculty Fellowship for advanced study and research covering a one-month period, beginning September 1, 1959, from the Southern Fellowship Fund.

Mr. Hyde will receive $2,400 plus tuition and fees at Michigan State University, East Lansing, Michigan. He will continue his work toward the Ph.D. degree in speech.

Elder Gordon M. Hyde

Southern Missionary College has named Mr. Hyde a leave of absence for fifteen months to enable him to take full advantage of this fellowship and to complete all requirements for the doctoral degree.

It has been decided that this is the most opportune time for Mr. Hyde to be on a leave of absence as students entering the new communications curriculum will be taking their basic college work in the autumn year, and by the time they are ready for specialized courses in speech, it is anticipated that Mr. Hyde will be back in the department.

In Professor Hyde's absence, the section of the department will be directed by William H. Taylor, associate professor of journalism and public relations.

"Dare to Be Different?" Says Former Dean

"And be not conformed to this world, but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind," quoted Dr. F. O. Rittenhouse as he addressed the student body at chapel period.

Dr. Rittenhouse, president of Potomac University and past academic dean of SMC, believes that it is a tragedy that conformity has become such an important part of our culture. He referred to a recent text which two Purdue University professors made on several thousands and teenagers, they found that today's younger generation has a dying spirit of the willpower, an enlargement of the ego, and a deterioration of the intellect. "These young people are afraid to think for themselves and believe that the worst thing that could happen to them would be to be considered 'odd balls' by their friends."

He went on to say that the only hope for our nation and for our denomination is that we learn to appreciate our individuality. Even in the world of industry a handmade motor is better than a machine-made one, and a hand-drafted design, better than the mass-produced one.

Dr. Rittenhouse concluded with the thoughts that the way to please God is to consider your talents and then dare to be different. Our hope for the future is that we sit ourselves apart from the unthinking herd.

SA Elects New Officers

The Hamilton County Election Commission learned that the Student Association was voting members to be used in the election of the SA administrative officers for the school year 1959-1960. The elections were held April 1. The two candidates were located in front of the Home Economics building and the A. G. Daniels Memorial Library.

Three hundred and thirty students participated in the election to choose Don Crane as President and Guyton as Student Association president for next year. Don is a former Theology major and has served as vice-president of the SA the last year.

Elected to serve as Don's right-hand man, as vice-president, is Dick Taylor. Dick is a junior pre-med student from Talons Park, Maryland. At the present time he is the manager of the radio station WSMC.

Jolene Taylor will serve as the secretary of the SA next year. She is a sophomore vocational student from Covington, Tennessee, and is now serving as secretary of the Club Glee Council.

Don Hall, a sophomore business administration student, was elected to the second consecutive year to the position of SA treasurer.

300 Seniors Visit Campus

The students, faculty, and administration welcome the academy and high school seniors to the Southern Missionary College campus.

Siebenlist Elected Schmidt Will Be Cafeteria Director

Professor J. R. Siebenlist, past only business manager of Heidelberg College, Cape Prince of Wales, Alaska, has been elected principal of Collegedale Academy.

Professor Siebenlist is a native of Oklahoma. He has served ten years in Africa. His duties as principal of Collegedale Academy will include teaching World History and American History.

He is expected to arrive on the campus this summer.

Elder Siebenlist's experience includes teaching and the principalship at Oak Park Academy, Nevada; Iowa; public school teaching and superintendencies in Nebraska; and principal and business manager of Solms Missionary College, South Rhodesia, Africa.

Dr. C. N. Ross announced the appointment of Mr. John Schmidt, Jr., as director of food service for the coming school year.

Mr. Schmidt has, for the past ten years, been in charge of the food service department at the Walker Memorial Sanitarium and Hospital, Avon Park, Florida. He received his education at Sherman.

John Schmidt

Josh Willey Academy, New Market, Virginia; Schmidt and his wife Catherine, graduated there in the 'last of '38.

Although reared in Talons Park, Maryland, Mr. Schmidt is a native of Pennsylvania. He states that he has been connected with food service work most of his life starting at the age of nine to learn the baking trade from his father, who had charge of the bakery of Washington Sanitarium and Hospital, Talons Park, Maryland.

Mr. Schmidt operated his own bakery for four years in Talons Park, prior to his entering the armed service in World War II. He served Uncle Sam as a cook and a new sergeant. Upon release from the armed services he connected with Washington Missionary College in charge of the bakery department.

In 1947 Mr. Schmidt moved to Florida and in the fall of that year was called into the argument work to help promote the work at Avon Park, Florida.

Approximately 300 academy and high school seniors, representing nine Southern states, are at present on the SMC campus for the annual College Days program. The academy seniors were welcomed yesterday morning at Robinson's Corner.

The visitors were received at the college library where they also enjoyed for their stay here. Yesterday afternoon was spent in touring the industrial plant of Southern Missionary College. Also, there was some participation in games on the ball field and gymnasium.

Last night following devotions by Wilfred Byers, chaplain of the Student Association, the usual Sunday night welcome program was presented. The entertainment was provided by its various academies represented, the senior class presidents introduced the particular talent from their class.

Orientation for the visitors was held this morning from eight to noon o'clock. Following that, instructional tours were made which highlighted the radio, chemistry, fine arts, science, and industrial arts divisions of the college. Following lunch, picnic which is to be served on the campus.

This afternoon most of the college's night welcome program was presented. The entertainment was provided by its various academies represented, the senior class presidents introduced the particular talent from their class.

Tenight the student committee on programs will present SMC's 1959-60 year-end review. The review will also be held on the ball field tennis court, and gymnasium.

Collegedale Academy Hosts First Union Music Festival

The first annual Southern Union Music Festival was held on the Southern Missionary College campus over the week end of April 10 and 11. Student musicians from eight Southern academies were present.

Under the direction of Mr. Burton L. Jenkins, band and music instructor for Collegedale Academy, the musical week end began with a program of sacred music on Friday evening. Talent presented included Forest Lake's male quartet, Mr. Pugh's choral ensemble, Collegedale's girls trio, and the band's debut into the Collegedale choir, spoke briefly on "The Place of Music in Worship."

The vocal quartet, provided the inspiration for the academy, chapel, and various Sabbath school divisions for the following morning.

The speaker for the church service was Dr. Raymond Moore of the Potomac University educational department. His subject was in the history of the festival, composed of students from each academy, presented the special music for the service.

Elder H. V. Reed, president of the Carolina Conference, spoke at the sacred concert on Sabbath afternoon. His subject was the theme of the Music Festival, "On the Wings of Song." The concert featured the female band, boys' band, chorale, and a combination chorus and band.

Pete Foree, Little Creek, and Madison Academies presented instrumental, brass, chorale, and vocalists. The vocal group brought together for the week end.

There were approximately 140 academy students with academy principals and music department heads who worked together to make the festival a possible. Since Collegedale Academy was the host academy for the year, the future plans will be to rotate in a different academy each year.

Pine Forest Academy

The Senior class from Pine Forest Academy, Chubb, Mississippi, has the distinction of being the smallest class to come to College Days. It does not follow that the smallest in quantity is the smallest in quality; in fact, it is often just the opposite.

The members of the class are:
Beal, Rose

Forrester, Kay
Solomon, Shirley
Sossing, Juanna
Taylor, Carol
Wilson, Gabrielle
(Editor's Note—We regret that we were unable to get a picture of the Senior class of Pine Forest Academy.)

Millard Speaks For CFL Weekend

F. R. Millard, associate secretary of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, was the guest speaker for the Church League weekend. Elder Millard spoke for the Friday chapel, Friday evening services and the church league April 24 and 25. Elder Millard has spent 30 years as the president of the league, a missionary in the Far East. He has been the president of the league from 1946 to 1958. Elder Millard also served with the United States Army as a translator of the Japanese language during the Second World War. Twenty countries were represented on the missions pageant during the Friday evening service. These countries were represented by students who are natives of the countries or by students who have lived in foreign countries. Many are dressed in native costume on the missions they represented. New officers for the 1959-60 had year were elected during the day chapel period. They are: President, Washington, president, Wood Park, vice-president, Jean, secretary-treasurer, Leland, music director, Josane Kelly, pianist, and Don Parrish, baby secretary. Elder H. B. Landquist, associate pastor of Religion, is the faculty officer.

Plans Progress As New Majors Take Shape

Three new majors are being offered for the school year 1959-60. These new majors are a bachelors of arts in communications, a bachelors of arts in mathematics, and a bachelors of science in physics. The communications course will consist of translation, speech and public relations. It is designed to equip the graduate for positions in editorial and public relations offices. Professor Gordon Hyde and Professor William H. Taylor will be leading out in this new field. General emphasis will be on modern mathematics in the new math major. Merlynd K. Neerth will be one of the new instructors in the math field. The physics course allows more study in the major field with a total of 48 hours in physics, 20 hours in mathematics, and 5 hours in practical arts such as glassblowing and metalworking. Reductions have been necessary in other areas in order that the whole curriculum add up to 128 hours. Dr. Ray Helfrich will be leading out in this field.

SA, MV, Leaders Attend Workshop;

Union College Is Host

Heikon Accompanies Missionary Volunteers

The newly-elected SMC MV officers of the coming school year in April 28 for Union College, Nebraska, to attend the MV Workshop for the eastern MSA (and middle western) colleges. Elder L. M. Nelson, youth secretary of the Southern Union, and Elder H. V. Hendrick, sponsor, accompanied the group to the meetings. Students attending are: Willie Hopps, Jim Tucker, and Alice Fowler.

The workshop, lasting from April 29 through May 2, will give opportunity for the leaders to pool ideas with one another in order to make their individual clubs more interesting to college youth and more serviceable to the church and community. This workshop is the first to be held in several years, and it will prove the valuable information for improving the MV Society.

New Officers Attend

A group of Southern Missionary College student leaders will attend a workshop for Student Association officers of eight eastern Seventh-day Adventist colleges. To be held at Union College, Lincoln, Nebraska, the meeting will be the ninth annual convocation of the group. Those present from SMC will be SA President, Don Wilson, President-elect Don Crane, Secretary-elect Jolena Taylor, Coordinator William Taylor, Social Representative Carolyn Lane, College Newspaper Representative Ronald Watt, and Yearbook, Editor-elect Gary Fowler.

The work shop will begin on April 30 and will continue until May 2. The program will consist of general sessions held each morning and sectional conferences held in the afternoon.

The SA workshops are presented at a different college each year and will be held at Southern Missionary College next year.

Academy Seniors Get Scholarships

President C. N. Rees personal scholarships to outstanding academy seniors during the chapel period on College Days. Before the SMC student body and other visiting seniors, these students were forwarded to receive recognition and rewards.

Chosen by the faculty members of their respective schools on the basis of scholarship and character, such of these students will receive $50 to be applied to tuition at SMC next year.

The recipients of the awards are: Collegiate Academy, Carol Ann Meador and Pauline Janice Pritchett Academy; James Gray and Ellen Swezey, Forest Lake Academy; Edna Cantwell, Walter Zisk, and Charles Smith, Highland Academy; Bonnie Woolsey and Gwen Lowbell, Little Creek Academy; Boggs Goulding, Madison Academy; Gerald Kelley and Robert Kendall; Mount Pisgah Academy, Richard Terrell and Margaret Davis; Pine Forest, Kay Foyester.

Schoolmasters Attend Banquet At SMC

Members of the Unbroken Schoolmasters Club were entertained with a banquet at Southern Missionary College, April 28, 1959. Composed of principals and teachers from elementary schools, high schools, and colleges in the Chattanooga area, this club consists of about 70 members. The purpose of the club is to instruct and entertain.

Regular club meetings are held at the University of Chattanooga. However, twice a year the meetings are held at other schools. Usually the final meeting of the school year is held the fourth Tuesday in April or of every year at Southern Missionary College. At this final meeting the officers for the following year are elected.

Dr. G. E. Shinkelt, academic dean of Southern Missionary College was guest speaker. "Ouch! Our Affairs" was his topic.

Before the banquet members of the club toured the recently completed Home Economics Building. Dinner was served in the dining room by the members of the home economics classes.

Union Session in Miami Rees, Fleming Re-elected

April 4 was an important date for the Southern Union Conference of Seventh-day Adventists for it marked the beginning of the Quadrennial Session in the few days preceding. All roads led to Miami Beach, where the meetings were held. The session closed on April 23.

Attending from SMC were Dr. C. N. Rees, Dean G. E. Shinkelt, Dean William H. Taylor, Mr. Lyscom.

Singing Quartet Appeared Saturday Night

The Alabama Singing Quartet presented the Lyceum program Saturday night.

The Alabama Quartet, a string quartet from the University of Alabama, appeared at Southern Missionary College Saturday night, May 2. This was the last Lyceum program presented by the SMC Lyceum committee this year.

Ranked by critics as among the foremost chamber music organizations in the country, the quartet has achieved its present position by giving concerts in an area covering fifteen states. Its reputation has been further extended by television broadcasts and several series of national radio broadcasts.

Mr. Earl Raab was appointed as first violator of the Alabama Quartet following the death of Oklahoma Cade in July, 1946. Before assuming his present post as Professor of Music at the University of Michigan and a member of the University of Southern California.

Mr. Raab's colleagues, all members of the University of Alabama are: Cecylia Boland Johnson, second violator; Henry Barrett, viola; and Margaret Chappell, cello.

Mr. Johnson holds ten degrees in music from the University of Music, with additional graduate study at the Juilliard School of Music in New York, the Beckwith Music Center, and in Europe in the study of Herman Schechter. He earned his bachelor's and master's degrees at the University of Alabama, where he now teaches Theory and chamber music. A graduate of the University of Minnesota and the Juilliard School of Music, Miss Christy has recently studied with Pablo Casals in Prague, France. In the summers she practices violin at the Transylvania Music Camp and serves with the Beartown Festival Orchestra in North Carolina.

Charles Fleming, Dr. Otha Chubberson, Miss Maize Merritt, Professor P. J. Hour, and Elder Paul Boynton. The elders consisted of reports of progress of the various conferences and departments of the Southern Union covering the past four years. Officers were elected for the ensuing four years. A ministerial convention will be held in connection with the session.

In the SA election held April 21 and 22 Stanley Shawler was elected to be editor of the SOUTHERN ACCENT for 1959-60. As business manager the SA elected David Hamilton. The office becomes effective June 1, 1959.

Stanley Shawler will be a Junior English major next year. Mr. Shawler has served the ACCENT on the staff as a columnist and also as associate editor. He has held the office of chairman of the Committee on Publications and Public Relations and was responsible for enlarging the scope of this committee to include Public Relations. This semester he was elected to fill a vacancy as chairman of the Program Committee and was responsible for the SA Talent Show Program. Mr. Shawler comes from Hendersonville, North Carolina. David Hamilton will be a senior business major next year. Mr. Hamilton has been in from Orlando, Florida, and is a graduate of Forest Lake Academy. Mr. Hamilton has served the SA as chairman of the Health and Labor Committee during the school year 1957-58. This year he has held the office of president of Christa Transylvanica. He will also be elected the ACCENT Editor. Mr. Hamilton is of the Student Association Finance Committee along with Mr. Shawler.

Band Tours to Union Academies

By permission of the program at Mt. Pisgah, Alabama, and Fletcher Academy, the SMC concert band and orchestra, under the direction of their tour manager, completed their tour of the region. Their program was presented over the week end at both schools.

The concert was under the direction of Miss Helen Jackson, gave a nice concert on the night of April 4 at Mt. St. Andrews. The same program was given at Fletcher Academy the afternoon of April 25. Included in the program were: "O Whither Shall I Go?", "If Thou Be True", "The Prince of Lilies" and "Jesus' Way in Service Dying." Besides the concert presented by the band, there was very nice instrumental and vocal numbers by band members.

Chorale Sings for Orlando Audience

On their last concert tour of the school year, the Glee Club (No. 72) traveled by Orlando, Florida, where they presented a concert directed by Mr. J. B. Cooper. They presented their program of Thanksgiving.

This group of approximately thirty students with their director, Mrs. J. M. Anderson and accompanist, Marna J. Taylor, will next year meet in Ocala.

A program of acclamations at Forest Lake Academy on Saturday evening featured floral tributes.

Leaving the Collegeville campus this evening of Thursday night, the Glee Club will be directed through Traskley by...

A second event here to Loan-er, Kentucky, and will feature talent from this city, a new being planned for the Chorale.

Editorial . . .

An announcement that was recently posted on the bulletin board by the Dean of Men merits a little thought and consideration by us. This announcement was to the effect that all who had borrowed books from him should start planning to return these.

Someone else has made the suggestion that we at SMC should have a "Bring Back What You Borrowed Week." We believe that this might be quite a good thing. We have "Grouchy Week," "Greasy Week," "Stinky Week," "Brotherhood Week," "Printing Week," and so on and on an ad infinitum.

To get to the point of the matter, what we are trying to say is that you had better start planning to return the things that you have borrowed before the day after you leave.

An Ode to Thencwritng

Now I should be sleeping tight—
Instead, I have a theme to write
From books that weigh a half a ton.
I don't know who that is for you.

I'm so tired my eyelids close,
And so I sit and stare and daze
Thinking of the coming day.
When I can put my themes away.

When I can go to sleep at night,
Instead of staying up to write
About some men I never knew,
And what they did for me and you.

Soon I'll hold my sheepskin tight,
Then I can make the others rest.
With happy joy it fills my mind,
For then I'll make the others find

The little passages to deep
That break me now from needed sleep.
Soon my themes will all be done,
And I'll relax, and watch the fun.

Adventist Prayers Published

Recently a newly revised edition of America's most popular book of daily devotions entitled God's Prayer was published by the John C. Winston Company of Philadelphia. This book of daily prayers has been used by Christians of all denominations for many years. Writers by some of the most eminent preachers of the English speaking world this revision contains prayers by Seventh-day Adventist ministers for the first time.

Adventists whose prayers were used were Elders H. S. Richards, W. A. Eggal and C. A. Rivers. The prayers of Elder Reeves, associate professor of Religion at Southern Missionary College appears below.

"O God, our Father, give us this day a constant sense of Thy presence with us."

"Break up your sleep, O soul and refresh Thy sin. Use to do a new awareness that we need Thee every moment. May Jesus be as real to us as the sky and the sun. May His vision of His radiant

CLUB NEWS

Home Economics
Who are the Home Economics Club? Didn't have fun this year? Well, the first thing we did was to go up to Lake Ocoee to spend a whole week out swimming, fishing, and eating wonderful food prepared by whom? Why us, of course. We had our own picnic with the Industrial Arts Club. A film and lecture on "Lighting," furnished us by Miss Horton of the Chattanooga State College.

Our Christmas party this year was as gay and colorful as the last one. We had our very best holiday parties and had real cozy fires in our parlors.

We also appreciated the interesting demonstration of an "illustration of a modern automobile with swivel stars, provided us by the Industrial Arts Club.

We were fortunate this year to witness displays and demonstrations of crystal and silver and an astronomical clock, which cooled a potato in a regular serving dish in 3 minutes. The four girls living in our modern management house are really learning what it is like to manage a home. The aroma which filters through the doors about most time tells one to know the way to a man's heart.

It is also fun to feel that we are serving organizations other than our own, our own planning and serving, or in sharing our talent department with them.

Our activities extend beyond the campus, too. The Home Economics Department will have an interesting and educational "Open House" for home economics students near and vicinity on May 10 and 11, an "Open House" for the general public on May 17.

You see, we didn't get too bored with life this year. If you don't believe it, just drop in on us May 17.

Teachers of Tomorrow
Let's all join hands and form a large circle, called Shirley Jean Givens, and let's remember to be earnest in physical education, led by the Teachers of Tomorrow Club in games. The last meeting of the school year was held on the tennis courts where a program of recreation was carried out.

At a previous meeting Elder Reile, MV Secretary of the Georgia Cumberland Conference, spoke about the Progressive Classwork program and outlined the group of the new facets of the program.

Another guest speaker, a representative of the Lyons Canning Company, told the class of the new methods in the field of selling.

"Natural resources" supplied the material for one program. A few members of the club related their experiences in student teaching, and in so doing they created enthusiasm in the members who had not yet undergone the "harrowing" experience.

As the year's programs were planned to constructively help the members in their prospective careers, the TOT club is looking forward to a brighter and better year in the fall. If your future includes teaching, then let the TOT club include your name as its membership list.

Cajunpar
An annual picnic of the Cajunpar Club was held on Sunday at the student park.

Approximately eighty persons attended this affair, and each participated in various musical social activities presented mainly by one of the day-trippers.

Supper consisted mainly of spaghetti, tomato salad, and fruit punch, which the participants themselves prepared.

After filling their stomachs, they filled their minds with thoughts of God as Richard Brink led us in devotion.

The sponsor of this picnic was the Southern Union Conference, P. U. 1 (Building Department, The Hillside), and the purchase money was needed to put over this program.

The Collector Club officers are: Bill Berry, president; Chuck Dick, vice-president; Judy Smith, secretary-treasurer; Richard Brink, secretary; Ronald Borge, public secretary.

Music

New officers were elected for the school year 1959-60 at the last meeting of the Music Club. Elected were: Judy Smith, president; Sarah Dalton, vice-president; Judy Falls, secretary; and Leland Tetz, treasurer.

Next year the club and the First Arts Division are planning to sponsor a series of four Sunday night concerts. It will be a closed subscription organization this year, and the events will be an announced early in September. Tickets will be available at the time of registration.

Thus far this year the club has sponsored receptions for two artists of the program series and had several social events. There is yet to come this year a "Vegetarian Banquet." No date was given as this time.

Religion

The Religion Club, under the direction of its president, Paul Jones, has been quite active this year. These activities have included instructive programs as well as social recreation.

This year the members of the club have had the opportunity of listening to speakers like Elder N. C. Wilson, president of the Georgia-Cumberland Conference; Dr. Otto Christensen, chairman of the Division of Religion of SMC; Elder H. E. Beach, college Bible instructor and a missionary to South America for many years.

The most recent speaker was Elder E. W. Wells, a retired missionary in the Far East and also as an evangelist and pastor in the U.S.A. He spoke on modern Spiritualism and Hypnotism, as well as its relation in the Holyland scene. He gave strong warning against even going to use manifestations of this power of the devil.

The club was able to get a film which portrayed the work that a minister would meet in different types of churches.

HEMA LANCASTER

Finals—Exams and Summer Weddings

Our firstlings first! An apology is in order to those Seniors who were here for College Days, and we presented them with our best wishes. We are truly sorry; we remedied the situation soon after you left. Hope the weather didn't dampen your spirits and that all of you will be back with us when school starts in September. We enjoyed having you all here.

Now here the lute of "twangy" fried green tomatoes, No, no you? It was to mo. Ruth Painter was describing them as having "twang" to them. . . . It's a down stroke on a guitar, not an up-stroke one. Ruth, you gave very good descriptions!

Understand that Sarah Dalton was literally in a sticker on the College Chapel trip to the sunny (??) State of Florida, Seniors as though she forgot to sew hooks and eyes on her camembert, so she was seen into it, not daring to breathe for fear she would "tip a stick!"

Diane Ludlum, in a shiny gown your finger met time you lay your glazer down. I heard that Elaine abandonedently left her dress later while visiting them, she picked up the glasses and commented that if they were a little stronger they would be just like her. Really, would they, Dora?

We are trying to be twice as charming this year. Mrs. Robbins graciously came out from Chattanooga and gave us a few tips. This was very a delightful speaker, and we all thoroughly enjoyed it. This was sponsored by the Dixeyville Club which also gave some of us well felt after nights. Quite a number of girls went in swimming at the Industrial Y in town. We really had a fine time doing being decked, drowning, being drowned! How we can do it again very soon.

With a many summer weddings being planned by members of Maude Jones Hall, it's kind's hard to get down to studying for the Finals which will be starting their heads around the corner in just a few weeks. I heard that they are going to try a new technique to get the best of their minds and more working. Instead of studying, they're useless him on the chimes, they are going to play "How Come the Bird."

I've found them, I've found them, these girls who are deking the Bureau of Federal Revenue. Don't know whether Maggie Hixon and Linda Miller will be here to finish out the year or not. I feel that the Income Tax men are after them. Can't hold out on Uncle Sam, girl, he's got to have spending money, too.

GENE KENDALL

The Spot on the Glass Face

All year there have been some who indulged in shaving the hair in the shower. With the advent of spring, with the impressions of fire time, some of these people appear to be taking up for ways to do so. It's all saved time. This morning I saw the works of more or less artistic value adorning our shelves in the medium of shaving soap. All modern artists' tools, beakers, free to copy this style and medium.

Not only College Days, a success in spite of the fact that the Highland Anderson's homecoming weekend have past and so far as last issue. Some of the us-Highlanders, who I am afraid have come to fire with us, made this weekend very memorable. At one time on Sunday morning those fellows kind a egg's leg to the eye as the bell tower in the center of the campus at Highland, the staff subjected to various indignities, made his plight very well known to everybody. It was "Mark's story" our fellows caused you this misadventure on campus. We're not sure where we've had them for a year leg.

Harb Marchant doesn't like the kind of chocolate that Bill Hudson gives him. Seems that it doesn't settle too well with his stomach.

Whenever borrowed that trash can from back of the dorm we as well return it. The odor present there was purely chemical in nature and very permanent. It was outside only for the purpose of firing out after Jackie Carroll and Harold Smith had done their guest. They, we have a role against unauthorized visiting with a $5 fine for violation? If any member smelled like Pyridine for weeks with the stuff on the floor, bed, trash can, and almost everywhere else, I'd be glad to see it.

Bill Jones, I know that you, as monitor, reported Eugene Anderson and Norman Elliott as sleeping through a recent visitor's session which they were really off campus. Don't feel bad, someone was in their beds just a glass for anyone who wants to slip into their room.

Professor Kullback has evergreen scent bags. Maybe his only exceptions could be his students who think that they are cheating "A's." Even the latest wog in cartoons on our bulletin boards might people check bags and wipers on.

Click Knickled walked off the outside of a large bottle with concentrated HCl. This ran down into the sink and caused a most unpleasant attempt to neutralize the mess with NH₃OH. The cloud of NH₃Cl was so great that Dr. Christensen wondered which of his prodigies had blown up the lab.

Bucky Goggin, Harold Herrman, Herman Washington, Richard Burk and Robert Maness will arrive Friday night, at 2:30 Sabbath morning they came back in a downpour of cold weather to begin very early preparation for Sabbath school.

I must stop and get up now. I just noticed that white wax coat was painted one drop fell on the glass face of a picture frame. The light brown hair looks lovely, but that white freckle must go. Please excuse me.

Amici Activities By GENE MATHIS

The time has again arrived for us to inform you all of the activities of the men of Amici, and selling and short-stretching popular now. Buddy Fisher tried successfully to get into bed the other night, but discovered he was a victim of a short-stretched bed. Potts and Jim Reynolds said their shirts feeling like a sweater had no idea of who would pull such pranks, but he would believe the dean is his room 4435 locked!

One night about a week ago, a reporter was spitting jelly upon the dean, but discovered he was actually reached over to straggle pillows and then yelled and peed clear out of bed. There was also where his pillow had been! "Clear examination revealed it was only a very real reaction," the dean said. "I bet you, Donth had shown average Gene had short-stretched his about a week, earlier. Joel was asked with laughter as he laid out Gene to be now promoted engineer in return. All will be quiet for maybe a week, then Joel will reach at eh, Joel."

All the guys are looking forward to the Casa Loma Club camp out to the weekend of May 8, 9, 10, 11, as all are going to a camping spot.

Spring Feared in Academy Hour

"Spring's Extravaganza," the annual Academy versus program, this year sponsored by Miss Evelyn Lindberg, began at 8:30 when the curtains opened revealing a park scene with gayly decorated bandstand, flowering trees, white park benches, and a Woodland Church that opened a delicious spring morning with the song, "It's Spring."

People who say it to be human beings (Mary Ann Bagnowich, Linda Depero, Anns McCallie, Lisa Richardson, Paul Gebert, Wilfred Starr, Don Sawyer, Jerry Williams), a practicing band conductor (Frank Grubb), golf looking for birds (Curt Ross, Wilson, Jimmie Lee, Wilson, Sherry Smith, Joyce Markow, Jerry Durichka, Jennie Marlow), a negro manna (Pauline Janice), and even a volunteer actor (John

"Another feather in the nest?"
 "These are the famous last words of an ACCENT reporter. There has been nothing like this only last night. It's getting that time of the year when people do very strange things such as about 10:00 one night Mary Ann Bagnowich and David Rees were seen running up and down Camp Road. Not only that, but Mary Ann was out in the middle of the road doing push-ups while David rode a bicycle round and round in circles on Mr. Dana's lawn. Maybe they're seeing pink elephants, too, but that's only a guess. The Valley Echo, '59, back from the publisher."

The seniors rode around campus on the Sunday with horns blowing and streamers on the cars. After riding over some of these "straps" they were seen by Mr. Dana's Clower but they stated they had to go home. They mentioned feeling woozy. The car driver would be tried, as just as he'll know, previously that we'd Henry had seen in a little accident and had been arrested.

Much dissatisfaction over the old name of the small had been shown, so the staff had a contest and offered a $5.00 prize to the person who could suggest the best name. Stanley Owens, a sophomore, had the best one, 'The Best Student' and also received $5.00 for the contest payout.

Eighty pages full of the pictures of the students, faculty, and activities between the whole cover with red design. Many hours of work were rewarded by the pleased expression on the faces of every one.

On the Tennessee River, The club president, L.V. Genser, tells me that all arrangements for food, entertainment (skating and boating), and games had been arranged.

Well, folks, it's time for me to wander aloof. This is your column leaving you with the good word, "Y'all comin'."

punching and being photographed (L.V. Genser, Hattie Young, Walter Lancaster, Marilyn McClintock, Ruth Ann Thacker, Marcia Harold, Norman Swain, Johnny Goodhead), all interrupted the morning set of the Irish policeman, Emory McPhee (Dwain Holley).

The giddy spring afternoon began when individuals boys along with shots readily evaded the tired policeman. Contested playsmen (Joseph Stewart, Kathy Myers), 10 to 10 gangs who tested a funny little jerk (James Crocker, Kenny Tyndall, Robert Potts, Raymond Vandrick, Carol Ann Meyer), a hobo (Henry Fish), an absent-minded professor (Mr. Hoan), a negro manna (Pauline Janice), and even a volunteer actor (John Bevy) kept life in the park interesting and very busy all afternoon. "Sweet Little Alice-Bob-Gown" (Henry Seaton), opened the show—the romantic spring night Don Marlow, stage decoration whizman, was in charge of setting the stage with a shimmering scene, a fountain, and sparkling stars that were tailor made for the couple, who came to listen to the Academy Band played at Park Center. Yes, spring had burst out all over, and as David Rees played "The Pink and Apple Blossom White," you could almost feel the spring had sprung! The Woodland Church sing "Night Mail in Gales," and as the cast muddled back on the stage they all performed the program with "It's a Grand Night for Singing."

Our session was made well argued down the corridor toward the monitor, and as a dew close to its place of refuge, all characters of its place-toping like delegates in a kind of assembly. Some enough there was a, a big, black pink painting on a ledge blushing its fierce looking eye and stretching its long black eye.

The Underground Society

By DIKE WILSON

The Society of Speakers (abbreviated S.O.S. for short) recently was organized when a group of curious students found them selves involved in a search for an explorer's paradise. These caves, located on our campus, usually are used as a meeting place for members of the society, but an article giving expedition consisted of diving to the nearest cavern for a day of adventure and nature study in a virtually unknown world. A total of fifty-five persons (including the S.O.S. members) have received an intimate acquaintance with God's underground wonderland. Eighteen expeditions have been made to eight different caves located in various parts of Tennessee. Huge underground corridors had beautifully decorated chambers were explored and enjoyed by all. Humorous incidents added spice to the exploration, a few of which will be related in the article.

Emanuel Nickajack Cave, visited in the 1500's by De Soto, was particularly explored by our group on October 1. A man-made dam in front of the mouth of cave entrance had created a lake about one-half mile back into the cavern, the water parts of the cave being accessible only by swimming or by boating.

Our method was a homemade life (or death?) raft made by tying five inflated inner-tubes together with twine and covering the whole contraption with a canvas tarp. When these stepped on the raft it floated perfectly, when four got on we got wet, when five got on, the raft sank and we had to start over. After three trips were made by making two trips with the raft, on the return trip, three explorers were on the raft and two animals in the cave. One animal swam behind the raft (A peep-tooter is a springing swimmer or diver.) In the cave, the raft was chattering tires, but several explorers agreed that it was a very interesting mode of travel.

Battell Cave, which was recently created a national historical park, is the only cave you can read to learn the history of the state from a graphic. Alcatraz, was the scene of a little excitement when three explorers, Bruce Moore, Allen Olsen, and the author, arrived from out of its depths four hours later than was expected and found, to their surprise, that the two were, Barbara Moore and Barbara Olsen, had alerted the National Guard of the neighborhood in a cave. In this case, our own training was an aim.

On December 13, in this cave, a party of interested explorers made a trip to the cave during the whole year. Three members, LARRY McComb, Jim Mathis, and Casey Camp, had entered the cave on the day of the other thirteen. As the larger group was past waiting at the entrance, there were returning to the entrance at a very great rate of speed, as fast as their legs would carry them, and with faces white with shock. One man, another said it was a bear. Larry McComb called it a "big black bobbing spring in a ledge. The spring had burst out in a hurry, and he was so impressed that this monster was very hungry, and not one of the three wanted to be frightened here."

"Our session was made well argued down the corridor toward the monitor, and as a dew close to its place of refuge, all characters of its place-toping like delegates in a kind of assembly. Some enough there was a, a big, black pink painting on a ledge blushing its fierce looking eye and stretching its long black eye."

Battell has taken over the late afternoon hours of some of the fellows and has proven to be well on the way to a good season. Bethca has brought in a good weekend record of 3.6. On April 16 has teamed Silver 4 to 3. Tim on the 21st with the aid of McComb's three bags and McComb, double each by Dyles and Ekall, Bethca over-arms Arias 6 to 0. The last game played was on April 16. The game played on April 16 was a win for Bethca on top again with a score of 15 to 6 over silver. Bethca pitched a full game for his team, but Wilker had to receive Nolan for the Silver's team.

The following is a list of games for the season:

- April 10 — Anns and Silver
 May 3 — Bethca and Silver
 May 7 — Silver and Anns
 May 10 — Arias and Academy
 May 12 — Bethca and Silver
 May 14 — Bethca and Silver
 May 17 — Silver and Academy
 May 19 — Silver and Arias
 May 21 — Bethca and Anns
 May 23 — Anns and Silver
 May 25 — Nothing has happened as of yet. At least nothing has been reported for the girls' softball team, but following is a list of games for the rest of the season:
 April 29 — Mary Lou and Regina
 May 4 — Regina and Sarah
 May 6 — Sarah and Mary Lou
 May 11 — Mary Lou and Regina
 May 13 — Regina and Sarah
 May 18 — Sarah and Mary Lou
 May 20 — Mary Lou and Regina

Will have a more complete report next issue.

Lycum Presents Disney Films

Starting night, April 16, the Lycum Cinema featured the films, Red Corridor, Sam and The Lioness Desert. These colorful films are three from the Lycum True Life Adventure Series depicting interesting and unusual personal, places, and animals in the animal world.

Red Corridor portrayed to most interesting and entertaining way the antics and foibles of bees in mountainous country. Likewise, Sam and The Lioness Desert was quite an insight into the lives and moorings of a most unusual people. The full length feature film, The Living Desert, was both entertaining and informative. Animal life in the desert became a real thing as the audience watched the strange phenomenal that continues daily.

Addition to the program was by Lycum Det or fifty cents.

"Well, 'curiously killed the cat', but it was our curiosity that killed it, not the cat's! You can imagine, after the way the cat was sprung upon the wall which looked exactly like a real cat, and the gleam of the eyes was caused by the reflection of our lights upon two sharp spots in what was thought to be the cat's eyes, the language died the rest.

Our largest group, consisting of numerous individuals, including Mr. Bagnowich and Mr. Conner, made a trip to Cowpens Cave on January 10, when they all had a wonderful spring scene under a towering waterfall which was one-half mile inside the cave. This was the first trip in which the cave was flooded, and their giggles of delight echoed through the chambers as they roared beneath and during the wonder that the stronger set moved completely.

Many many more words could be written, if space permitted, about the incidents and experiences gained, the lessons learned, the beauty seen, and as a dew close to its place of refuge. A book could be written on the spiritual applications of cave exploration. But even though this article must end here, there was a, a big, black pink painting on a ledge blushing its fierce looking eye and stretching its long black eye, which we all saw as we explore it thoroughly.

Burke Addresses Physics Club

On Friday, April 17, the Physics and Pre-Engineering Club of Southwestern University College presented its monthly meeting because of the able leadership of its president, Ken Burke. The program was given in having, throughout the year, speakers from well-known establishments, such as the University of Tennessee, Georgia Institute of Technology, and the American Nuclear Energy Society.

Ken is a senior chemistry major who has been actively engaged in the spectroscopy study of the research project being carried on in the Physics department. (Several articles concerning this project appeared in the Accent earlier this year.) Mr. Burke's talk consisted mostly of a report of the progress that has been made on his phase of the project this year, his year and especially next semester. He also talked about the future of the research project.

SA Elects Senators for 1959-60

The Student Association elects officers to fill the remaining unexpired positions which held April 21 and 22 at Lynn Wood Hall.

Officers to be filled were: editors and business managers for the Southern Accent and Southern Memorial, chairman, WSMC chairman and business manager, standing committee chairman, and COC president and secretary.

Executive SA officers were elected in the elections of April 1, which was the annual administrative day. Those elected at that time were: Don Crane, president, Dick Toler, vice-president, Julius Taylor, secretary, and Don Hall, treasurer.

Gary Fowler
The editorship of the Southern Memorial is to be taken over by Gary Fowler of Maclain, Florida. He has previously served as an assistant editor of the yearbook and co-edited this year's Joke.

A junior this year, he was graduated from Forest Lake Academy. He is the son of Mr and Mrs H. W. Fowler.

Carolin Lane is the present editor of the Southern Memorial and relinquishes her duties to Fowler at the close of this school term.

Dick Larson
To be business manager on the year's staff will be Dick Larson of Avon Park, Florida. Also a graduate of Forest Lake Academy, he is a junior this year.

Larson is the son of Dr. and Mrs C. J. Larson also of Avon Park. He has already earned his college credits by completing such summer jobs as Lelek Penetration has held the position this year. The job requires a large amount of substitution for absences. It is considered that Larson's experience selling books will be an asset to his department.

Paul West
Paul West was elected to fulfill the duties of the Club Officer. Council president from Turlock, California, he is a graduate of Modesto Union Academy and is a freshman this year.
He is an active member of the Student Association, being a side raising campaigner. He is the son of Mr and Mrs D. C. West.

He will take the place of Orville Swarner who is a present running co-ordinating agency for the clubs which function on the campus.

Pat Mathers
Elected as COC secretary was Pat Mathers of Princeton, Florida. A sophomore this year, she is a graduate of Forest Lake Academy.

She has acted as secretary to the student committee on public relations and publications and for the past semester as secretary to the committee on programs. She is the daughter of Mr and Mrs J. A. Mathers.

Julena Taylor served as COC secretary this year.

Chuck del Valle
Chuck del Valle was elected to act as Student Association chairman during the following year. He is from Johnson, Iowa, and is the son of Dr. and Mrs. C. G. del Valle. A junior theology student, he is a graduate of La Sierra College Academy.

The SA chapter is responsible for the devotions presented at the regular Student Association assemblies and the devotions for the Senate meetings. Wilfred Reays is the present chaplain.
Dick Valle is presently the junior class president and served as student association president at Southwestern Junior College.

Bruce Frooman
Bruce Frooman, a sophomore of Chatsworth, North Carolina, will be chairman of the student committee on public relations and publications. He has assisted the programs committee with the programs they have presented this semester, among other activities.

The public relations committee is responsible for on-campus publicity and public relations. It is also a coordinating group for the various student publications. The present chairman is Cindy Lewis.

Freeman is a graduate of Myers Park High School, Charlotte, North Carolina.

Carolyn Luce
The program committee will be under the direction of Carolyn Luce. She is a junior from Takoma Park, Maryland.

Max Lane is the present editor of the Southern Accent, and for some years was a columnist on the SOUTHERN ACCENT staff. A graduate of Takoma Academy, she is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. Rayson Lane.

The program committee is in charge of the benefit programs and the entertainment program which the Student Association sponsors. The present chairman of this committee is Stanley Swindler.

Julius Garner
Leading the recreational activity of the Student Association will be Julius Garner of Bethesda, Tennessee. A sophomore this year, he was graduated from Otis High School, Otis, Missouri.

The recreation committee is in charge of the extra-mural sports leagues on the campus. Don Culp is the present chairman of this committee.

James Culppepper
To assist Culppepper with the programing and business matters of the WSMC will be James Culppepper of Madison, Tennessee. A graduate of Madison College Academy, he is a sophomore this year.

Culppepper will be in charge of the programming of WSMC and will also take care of the business matters which arise. He is the son of Mr and Mrs. J. L. Culppepper.

Fomer English Teacher

-- Wisconsin Gives SMC Dean

By SASTIN LEWIN

I walked into the modern, efficient appearing office not knowing exactly what to expect. For it's not often that a male student of SMC has a "conference" with Miss Alf.

MISS ALFREDA COSTERISAN

Garnes is the son of Mr and Mrs. Elmer Garnes.

Ollie Mae Metts
Ollie Mae Metts, a freshman of Columbia, South Carolina, was elected to be in charge of the social relations committee. She has served as a member of the committee for one year and is vice-president of the freshman class.

Mrs Metts, the daughter of Mr and Mrs Q. W. Metts, is a graduate of Mt. Pisgah Academy.

The social education committee assists the faculty in the cultural and social development of the students. It sponsors such things as candle-light hour and Country Week. Elaine Sullivan is the present chairman.

Orville Swarner
Orville Swarner, present COC president, will head the scholarship committee during the next year. The son of Mr and Mrs O. W. Swarner, he is a graduate of Central High School in Memphis, Tennessee.

A sophomore this year, Swarner is the winner of the annual temperance oratorical competition here. He is to take the place of Nuttina Peck, present scholarship committee chairman.

James King
James King was elected to be the chairman of the health and labor committee. This committee is in charge of the student activities promoting better health.

King, a freshman this year, is from Hendersonville, Tennessee. A graduate of Highland Academy, he was president of his senior class at "B" King.

David McFadden is the present head of the committee.

Berry Cobb
WSMC general manager will be Berry Cobb, a junior from Atlanta, Georgia. He is a graduate of Blue Hill School, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Cobb.

Cobb has, this year, acted as business manager of the station and is a licensed amateur radio operator. He is making definite plans to become a licensed radio-telephone engineer in the near future.

Dick Toler, vice-president elect of the SA, holds this position at the present time.

James Culppepper
To assist Culppepper with the programming of WSMC and will also take care of the business matters which arise. He is the son of Mr and Mrs. J. L. Culppepper.

Fred Costerisan, dean of women.

Quickly, construction contracts, the Hall improvements of the new portion that she is very much interested in and plans to open for the future.

"I'm very pleased for my girls here. The campus remains the best of secondary camps I visited on my recent visit."

"During my own education in the public school system I was very keen on the system of Wisconsin. One example of what I consider to be important, was the fact that I had rheumatic fever which made it impossible for me to attend school from 1913 to 1916. I graduated from South County Normal Training School, a small training school for students. My first school was a little woman public school. This was during the depression when many students were glad to get a job with our SDA educational system. Quite a number were working for their room, board, and spending money."

"I've always seemed singular that I started working during the depression. There were no young men in the area available to find any work except making the local post carrier."

After one year of public school teaching, she is able to accept a job for a year's schooling at Highland Academy for her husband. This was the only way he would have been able to provide for the children.

"After being here, they would have the girls' dorm moved to the grounds. So I'm helping the present girls' dorm, which was erected in the basement. I took good care with the girls and washed all underclothes for them. I never leave I had been a SDA member for over ten years at the time things looked so bright. The rewards of education is the lives of young people and parents. them to the present situation. He expresses his own ideas and teaching philosophy."

The fellow who was the assistant dean, who was operating the post office in the girls' dorm, built this building. The girls' dorm besides teaching, a high school subject.

"Working in the girls' dorm did something for me, I had been together, clean, bright, and did many other things. He also studied together—so I was especially, the Spirit of leadership and public. This was something that I was in public school."

"She told of wanting her college degree at Tennessee Normal College."

"After that I stayed on at an English teacher for two years. This time I had a room at a boarding house. My own girls helped me understand their problems."

"She said and said on a regular philosophy of life—I'd build up my philosophy in my mother she was able to bring up eight children in a shaded home, an adequate education from all other attendees, with all of them attending public school—and up to this day, she has all her children's lives. Seventh-day Adventists."

"She thought for a moment when continued."

"If any student was able to find a job in public in the area, there are a lot of women in the area. She said that for these girls do the same for these girls."

SMC Students-Staff Observe National Music Week

A number of events on the campus of SMC evoked the observance of National Music Week, tradition of the first week in May. Honoring Music Week has not become a tradition here but it is hoped that it may be so in the future. The plans for an observance will develop every year bigger and better over the years to come.

Mr. Morris Taylor, the head of SMC's music department, introduced a Music Week in chapel, May 4. Although a string quartet played a Beethoven Sonata, Quartet concert.

This being the 100th birthday of the death of Beethoven, Handel's Messiah chapel was heard in line. Between the music was the program. Mr. Taylor led to the students in song.

The program was Amy Bonfield, Betty Martin, Sylvia Dutton, Cath Dixon, and Terry A. Lottner and Joy Connors.

Local Discussion

Tuesday chapel presented a discussion on music, in which the panel was made up of two members with Mr. Taylor as chairman. The students who performed religious services was discussed and illustrated by three vocal members.

Wednesday chapel presented a discussion on music, in which the panel was made up of two members with Mr. Taylor as chairman. The students who performed religious services was discussed and illustrated by three vocal members.

Thursday chapel presented a discussion on music, in which the panel was made up of two members with Mr. Taylor as chairman. The students who performed religious services was discussed and illustrated by three vocal members.

Friday chapel presented a discussion on music, in which the panel was made up of two members with Mr. Taylor as chairman. The students who performed religious services was discussed and illustrated by three vocal members.

Saturday chapel presented a discussion on music, in which the panel was made up of two members with Mr. Taylor as chairman. The students who performed religious services was discussed and illustrated by three vocal members.

Sunday chapel presented a discussion on music, in which the panel was made up of two members with Mr. Taylor as chairman. The students who performed religious services was discussed and illustrated by three vocal members.

Gymnastic Team Gives Physical Power Program

The expected crowd held their breath as the SMC gymnastic team presented a well-planned program of dynamic gymnastics the night of May 9 in the tabernacle-adjacent gymnasium.

Mr. E. J. Cooper, head of the physical education department, introduced the program which was conducted without figure crowns, and was the most outstanding performance he had been inspired during a previous performance away from the school.

Performing the most outstanding performance was the captain of the team, Lance Watson, who performed a difficult full-flip and a round-off forward flip from the mat.

Reeves Concludes Marriage Lectures

"Of the three really important events in a person's life—birth, marriage and death—only marriage affords an individual power of choice," said Elder C. A. Reeves at a convocation at Southern Missionary College Wednesday.

He advised the students that young people should be thinking more seriously when planning a marriage, then they would be able to understand the differences in their values to which they are about to become attached.

"Too often, men and women are not taught of the marital differences which exist between the sexes but they become a husband or wife without awareness of this fact," he said.

He mentioned specifically the differences in the psychological ways of the sexes. "Women," he said, "are feeling instruments and must be handled accordingly. It must also be remembered that they appreciate the little things—the daily attentions."

"Fundamentally, both are equal, they complement each other in the union of marriage. Only in marriage do one and one equal one."

Professors Help Tennessee League

An organization active in the fight against liquor and intemperance, the United Tennessee Temperance League spends its influence the length and breadth of our state.

The League is an independent body, not sponsored by the state or any other authority. Its members are those who contribute to it. These funds are used to facilitate the temperance work carried on by the League.

A spring program is conducted in various churches over the state. Some of our faculty who have organized in this line of the League's activities are Professor Bushnell, Dr. Christensen, Professors Hyde and Elder Kenneth Hyde, Elder Ackerman, our AFS sponsor, has represented the League in two Methodist churches this year.

Now is the time to pay your pledge.

Kennedy Outlines Summer School

June 15 is the day when students will begin registration for the 1959 summer school. The first term of instruction will begin June 16 and will continue to July 21, a period of six weeks. The second term starts July 26, and the graduation exercises are to be held August 14 and 15.

Several new faculty members will be on the staff this summer. Mrs. Evelyn Lindquist will teach Freshman Composition and English Literature, C. A. Reeves, Daniel and Roy, will teach the speech classes, E. O. Glendard, Anatomy, Physiology, and General Biology; the latter will be taught only during second semester. J. B. Coopers will be offering recitation classes such as tennis, artistry, and health courses as demanded.

In addition to the above named subjects the curriculum will include Fundamentals of Education, Teaching in the Public Schools, Child and Educational Psychology, Secondary School Curriculum, Student Teaching for both elementary and secondary teachers, Elementary School Music, Piano and Organ, Fundamental Concepts of Mathematics, Descriptive Astronomy, Pulpit Epistles, American History, World Geography, Social Organization and Administration, History and Philosophy of Education, Marriage and the Family, and School Health Problems.

Special attention will be given to such subjects as: With a special interest in science, and the teaching of more sciences on the elementary level; Dr. John Christensen will offer, at the same time, SMC Introduction to Chemistry. This course is designed to meet the needs of elementary teachers.

The second acts of that of Arts and Crafts, a workshop under the direction of Mrs. David Dean and a consultant from one of the outstanding schools of the world.

SA Workshop Officials Plan, Work, Vote, and Play

By Bonnie Watson

Recently seven delegates from SMC traveled to Union College, Nashville, Tennessee, for the Ninth Annual SA Workshop, April 30-May 1. Included in the delegation were: Don Wilson, SA president; Don Crane, president-elect; John Taylor, secretary-elect; William Taylor, secretary; Gaylin, SA secretary-elect; Ronald Watson, Southern Secretary; Guy Foster, Southern Representative; and Clarence Kinsley, SA Representative.

General assemblies were held on Thursday, April 30, and Friday, May 1, featuring reports by the students from various colleges. In addition to the reports, Dr. R. L. Hammond of Washington, D. C., Mr. J. Baker, President of Union College, and George H. Johnson, Director of Student Affairs, Union College, were the special assemblies gave a valuable presentation of joint aims for all workshops.

Most interesting, however, were the social meetings of each department. The newspapers, the yearbooks, and the magazines, were put into these meetings where the representatives of a specific department met to present and tackle their problems. The primary objective of the workshop was accomplished. Discussing together the entire group of SDA colleges.

SA Senators Inaugurated in Chapel Ceremony

The candidates of the WCTU Oratorical Contest with Mr. Beard

Swanner Places Third in WCTU Oratorical Contest

A Brian College representative, Swanner, placed third in the WCTU Oratorical Contest. He was one of the contestants from the college.

Another contestant was as follows: Dean Collier, Carson-Newman College, Jefferson City, Tenn.; Dr. C. W. McWhorter, SMC, Collegedale, Tenn.; George C. Dumas, Freed-Hardeman College, Henderson, Tenn.; and Carolyn Wallace, Lee College, Cleveland.

Judges for the event were Mrs. A. Sweet, state treasurer of the WCTU; Mrs. H. D. Brown, district corresponding secretary of the WCTU; and E. L. Fox, principal of Ochsleyn High School.

"Alcohol was a contributing factor in the death of Alexander the Great," he said.

"Last year people in the United States spent more money on alcohol than was contributed to churches, and it's time more was for churches and welfare organizations together."

In concluding his argument Swanner said that Abraham Lincoln stated, "Alcohol has more killed men, but no defense."

The Senators for 1959-60 were inaugurated on Monday, May 11, during the regular chapel session. Twenty Senators were commissioned and charged by the President of the college to carry out their duties faithfully and well during the coming school year.

Don Wilson, president of the Student Association for 1958-59, will be congratulated on the excellent way in which he has served the student body this year. He will go down as one of the outstanding presidents of the Student Association. In his last SA talk of the year, Mr. Wilson reviewed some of the activities and highlights of the Student Association this year.

Several prizes were undertaken by the SMC students, made for the first time. They helped considerably in education and a happy result. The key campaign for funds for the Student Lounge, W.S.A.C. and signs for the highway was put over very well. The school year ending May 11, was a happy one for the SMC students.

Read Will Head Secretarial Dept.

Mr. Charles B. Read of Washington, D. C., has been appointed to be head of the secretarial department of Southern Missionary College.

Mr. Read is a graduate of Union College. Before his graduation, he attended High School in Louisville, Kentucky, and served two years in the U. S. Army.

After his graduation from Union College, he then attended Missouri City, Mo., before going to Washington, D. C., where he has been working for many years.

At the present time, Mr. Read is an assistant secretary. He holds the M.S. degree in the University of Indiana.

Read married Miss Marie Martin Don of Louisville, and they have three children: J. A. Bruce, John J. and Leta J. Read.

It is expected that Mr. Read will begin his duties in June.

SMC Receives Research Grant

Southern Missionary College has been awarded a chemical research grant of $2,000 by the Petroleum Research Fund. Dr. John Christensen, chairman of the Science Department, announced the news.

The Petroleum Research Fund of Washington, D. C., is sponsored by the American Petroleum Institute and makes grants upon application of colleges wanting to conduct basic research in chemistry. The grant will cover the period June 1, 1959 to May 30, 1960.

Have you applied for next year? Better do it now.

Choralale Chorus Sings at Louisville

Louisville, Kentucky, was host to SMC's Choralale Chorus on May 15 and 16. The group presented 20 different numbers, a sacred program on Friday night and a secular one Saturday night.

Elder Gordon Hyde was the soloist for the church on Friday night. The chorus sang for the service, also.

Chorus members who performed in Louisville are: Carl Maddox, Judith Felt, and Kenneth Blanton. Carl and Judy sang a duet during the sacred concert on Friday night.

Merlin Taylor, head of SMC's music department and concert pianist, presented one section of the Saturday night program.

Also featured Sunday night were the College Quartet which is a part of the Choralale, and John Rhodes, who accompanied the group as a trombone soloist.

Previous to this, the Choralale has traveled to Florida in concert, and on May 5 presented a program at the Solly-Day High School assembly hour.

Editorial . . .

Like any other organization a Student Association must continue to grow or it will become almost nonexistent. In taking a backward glance at our own Student Association, we feel that we can see definite marks of growth. It was nine years ago that the first Intecollegiate Workshop of Eastern SDA Colleges was held on the campus of SMC. At the invitation of the Student Association here. Next spring the tenth annual workshop will be held here at SMC, and we trust that on this the tenth anniversary of these workshops we will again be able to contribute to the growth of this vital part of Student Associations.

In this issue we bring the resolutions that were adopted at the recent workshop held at Union College.

GENE KENDALL

Talge, Characters, and Human Drama

Rudolph Akich reminds us that for the first time in all year we have had a talk of sublimation. It is a sobering thought. Talge Hall is a large arena of contrasting events. In the effort to show the big picture I fear I have struggled in vain to depict the real drama of individuality. At the risk of offending some by omission, I will gross over some of the most exciting events of our year which occurred these last few weeks; and accept this challenge of springing loose to depict to you the best of this year.

SMC is where everyone finds new powers within himself. This is where teams take on real personality and character corresponding to the man who leads within. Some teams have no trace for volunteer prayer bands held there nightly. Some, too, are known for their pious. Some rooms are where one gets to get considerable help in hard courses; some are where one gets when he doesn't care. Some people take much but seldom say much; others rarely speak, but are heard on these occasions.

Talge Hall is where Eddie Horn forgot Mother's Day until we and then called his good work collected.

Talge Hall is where the dean treats us like men and we act that way—often to surprise many makers. This is where beds get made, lessons are prepared, and the neighbor who can cook is not saying he will share his talents.

Collegiate is not the church that voted Eugene Anderson in as a member even though he had never been there. It is the home of the fanatic who judges the transfer request in Eugene's name. It is the home of the men: Herman Washington, Scott McEwen, Ted Edinger, Norman Elliott, Dick Wilson, Jerry Garrison, and Philip Neal, who decided the guards in a nearby CMC camp, that they would have a more realistic assignment. One state trumpet instructor can be a very powerful speaker indeed. Our appropriate militant dean "valiantized" all six men to a mensie window washing job.

One important part of our dorm life has been our Upsilon Delta Phi Club. This club has made unprecedented strides this year under the following officers: Dan Rozell, president, Bobby Cobb, vice president, Gary Fox, treasurer, Lane Schmidt, secretary, and Bill Berry, pastor. They will be very fully followed next year by the following: Dwight Hilderbrand, president; Bernard DeWisher, vice president; Edith Hark, treasurer; Lynn Rickard, secretary; and Mervyn Williams, pastor. Herman is extremely well qualified as pastor; being one of the few men who lives so that he can call one of his fellows down without offending. Dwight Hilderbrand had good reason to feel that he was a good president of our club. One of 1958 in which I was a proud member. He has proven his reliability on his farm and extra-curricular posts he has held. We may expect this dorm club to continue as a good force.

One of the best springs is a unique experience. This is the land where flowers, green, budding trees, and bright signs replace rain and mud, and where many are too busy to notice. Spring is in Washington, pastor; Herman is extremely well qualified as pastor; being one of the few men who lives so that he can call one of his fellows down without offending. Dwight Hilderbrand had good reason to feel that he was a good president of our club. One of 1958 in which I was a proud member. He has proven his reliability on his farm and extra-curricular posts he has held. We may expect this dorm club to continue as a good force.

College is when a student progresses from a state of dependence to a state of freedom upon his feet or hat at his disposal. Summer is when one leaves how far he has gone on this road and how well he has traveled. My God grant to each student the skill and drive to reach his place, and the grace to accept it.

Some discouraged are concerned and grieve at white and more appreciate student work as they are able to adjust to college life.

ERMA LANCASTER

Procrastination, Snakes, and Free Car Washes

Want to know how many days, hours, and minutes I'll be out? Just ask any one of those fellows who are doing, dropping shoulders, and a general run-around with blood. I'll show procrastination. Between picnics, class and work school, every one is looking toward the end of another school year. Speaking of picnics, while the Uthurs' Club was on its picnic, some dear souls went hiking. On the way back Carolyn Strain and Dorothy Stevens were sailing along when Dorothy fell on a stick. Soams as though she saw a snake—Caroly was standing on a stick. Carolyn, who was more scared—or so she said?—went home, slipped on its rattles' cause even though it was a rattlesnake, it wasn't making a sound. It wasn't until she moved that the snake gave its proper stance and succeeded in inspiring the girls to make good the trail at quite a rapid pace. I don't think they've stopped doing yet.

I may suggest that Maggie Harmon and Cecilia Farr be a little more careful where their Sabbath afternoon walks take them. Otherwise there will be quite a few more "free car washes" given out before we end the time that school is in.

The Dosawaki Friend has enjoyed this summer's work very much. We have initiated the "Friendship Sisters" (Secret Pal), swimming parties, and this last half of the school year. Now we are looking toward a sunrise breakfast and perhaps another swimming party in the very near future—plus the revealing of our secret pal.

Next year the Dosawaki Friend will be started off with the following listed officers: president, Julie Tenney; social secretary, Patty Murray; religious vice-president, Joyce Tenney; social secretary, Myra Rogers; treasurer, Myrtle Lyle; assistant treasurer, Sandra Vining; parliamentarian, Margie Temples; secretary, Beverly Dyer; pianist, Barbara Schick. We wish the best of luck to all the girls as they take over these new responsibilities and hope they have a very successful year.

Notice the girls who are getting those lovely lists. We doubt they have been reclining on the new porch furniture that we had so recently acquired. Each of the three porches of our dormitory is now the sole possessor of 3 poly-aluminum chairs, six of which are of the reclining type. They are very nice, even though some have the habit of straying from 2nd up to 3rd (walking chairs, maybe) leaving unbuttoners more than liked. In any case we appreciate them.—Thank you, Miss Catterian.

The girls still in worship a very fine plan was suggested, by Miss Catterian. Each girl, after worship, would give three complimentary or encouraging notes to three girls. These were gathered on the distributed to those to whom they were addressed. This way of appreciating ourselves, we hope, will lead us to be best utilized and more appreciative and sympathetic of others. By encouraging one another, we have been drawn closer to each other and hoping the bond of friendship does not dissolve as we all go our separate ways soon, but that we will remain together—if only in our hearts.

Last Thursday night we played "Fruit Basket Turnover." The girls went to worship where they have usually gone. They were guided tours through the dorm. Some of the tours were so good. We girls got a good idea as to how the other end of the campus. After the fellows and girls had spent through the main hall and Talge Hall respectively, we were treated with ice cream sandwiches—that was fun, let's do it more often!]]]

Our darn "Moths" was quite surprised on the Tuesday night before Mother's Day. We presented her with a dozen or so balloons that even those roses could never express our love and sympathy toward her, but hoping that she knew the unspoken meaning of it, best that they representative love and sympathy.

The next time you read this column it will have been written by the new columnist, Alice Fowler, who will be writing for you next year. I leave you all the luck reading the escapades of the girls of Maud's Jones Hall in the very pleasing manner that Alice will bring this to Alice I wish all the luck in the world in meeting decisions, trying copy and doing up printable notes.

I thank you for bringing with you during this year. There are a lot of girls who never got their names in the column, until I could let them all see. It's not that they haven't done anything. I'm sure they have [we all have managed to contribute to the happy turn of the.] Good-bye and good luck to everyone this summer.

New Building Named Home Arts Center

Shankel Suggests Name

The College Board, in its meeting at Miami at the time of the Southern Union Session, chose the name of "Home Arts Center" for the new building at SMC. The building was first occupied last fall, and it houses the Cafeteria and the Student Union Room on the upper floor and the Home Economics Department on the lower floor.

The name for the building was suggested by Dr. G. E. Shankel. This entitles him to the twenty-five dollar prize that was offered by the board. Dr. Shankel has stated that he plans to give this money to some worthy student to be applied toward his expenses.
