Enrollment Largest in History; Greatest Gain in Any One Year

Enrollment for the fall semester at Southern Missionary College reached its highest level ever in 1961. This year 700 students are registered.

"Registration at Southern Missionary College has resulted in the largest enrollment in the college's history," said Dr. Theodore Lambrecht, registrar, at SMC's enrollment banquet on September 25th.

Largest Yet

The gain this year is 125 over last year; there are 645 day students, 184 community students, and 27 nursing students in Orlando.

There are 563 single students and 132 married students. The freshman number 530, the sophomores 577, the juniors 199, the seniors 20, and the special students 29.

New Dorm Overflown

The new Women's Residence Hall would not accommodate all the women who registered, according to Miss Ann Bass, dean of women. Quarters for the overflow have been provided, and it seems that the third and final word will be necessary to house next year's enrollment of dominion women.

Last year's registration for the SMC campus and for the nursing division on the Orlando, Florida, campus totaled 375 for the first day of classes. This year's mark of 700 for the first day of classes represents a jump of 22 per cent in one year.

Student Cafeteria

The administration of the college is expecting the strong upward trend to hold steady the needs of the college to advance and in spite of plans for a $2 million expansion program, of which the new Woman's Residence Hall is the first building to be constructed. Other facilities of the college have been started. The cafeteria is serving approximately 525 meals each day, the chapel will serve over 5,900 and the campus is too large for their rooms in the Administration Building. New staff and faculty members were employed this year to handle the teaching load and extra services needed on the campus. Over the last several years SMC's opening enrollment has grown up steadily. Projected figures for fall enrollment are approximately 900 by 1965 as tobereen in the years following World War II each college age.

Organized Registration

The college draws its enrollment in the Southeastern states of Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, Florida, and South Carolina. However, many other states and foreign countries are represented in the enrollment.

The 36 new freshmen and transfer students were welcomed at the traditional standards and faculty of the college by a series of orientation programs. The registration orientation program was conducted by Associate Dean W. M. Schneider. He directed and organized the complete procedure of registration in the auditorium on the east side of the school. The campus advisors were distributed throughout the building under name cards. Other procedures also made it comparatively simple for a student to complete his registration.

Dorm Future Bright!

By JUDY CAREY

"It's just great!" were the exuberant words spoken by Bernice Jones, a "Junior" that expressed the joy all of us girls feel about our new dorm. Our every need has been provided for—from the beautiful walnut studied desks to the rails along the hallway. We want to say a big thank you to Miss Cooke and all the administrative staff for working hard and long to have our dorm ready for us."

Problem Map Make

And speaking of our new dorm being provided for—a bathroom in the middle was seen busy at work Wed. night. It was no time for Judy Fyler to spend two whole hours stirring flour to we could be more. Judy, Tell me, was Saturday night so good?

Our new dorm promises us many complete problems. A guidebook of the proper care and feeding would be very useful to explain all the non-flying pugilists. Maybe the authorities of the college services would not have stopped her down the laundry chute."

"Mudra" or "Clouds"

Little Linda comes to be a very pertinent person. Her effect on wards Mudra Hall Jones was strong that Sunday the walked down the steps before she realized she was heaven toward the wrong dorm. She hopes she can get used to the idea that the boys are in "Clouds." Jones still new.

Guiltless Freshmen

The common expression that freshmen are limit guiltible spec- tators is widely substantiated when one looks around one of the new freshmen girls laughing drastically about the dorm looking at us elev- ator. Here's some advice freshman—Don't believe everything you see. All kidding aside, we're all that you freshmen girls are bad, just free to ask, for advice from an "older" concerning problems that are sure to arrive. We're sure to help you all, we can.

Thoughtful Gestures

Kendall Kenser: The emotional and hermaphroditic incidents about our dorm make life interesting, but we must not forget the united little features of thoughtlessness that make life worthwhile. Jean Bick has expressed making a number of names which have been posted on many of the doors throughout the dorm by the inability of the dorm getting acquainted. All the girls really appreciate that, Jean.

If this continues with such spirit and co-operation as it has been, then the future of the women's dorm seems bright.

Men's Residence Halls

Happy, Envious Men

By BILL FENTON

For the first time in 40 years, the man's residence has been relieved of crowded living conditions, and to be able to welcome some fresh- men students than ever before. We have been this year to the be- hind. Mudra Jones Hall, formally occupied by our women last. We feel our sons at the residence this new dorm and the fellows can help us to the little corner of the women's new facilities.

Special Report

There have been quite a few changes made in the interior of Mudra Jones Hall that this new dorm called "Clouds Jones," given by the fall.

The men there are just about settled down and ready to start the school year all with modeled accommodations. We do have a special report from our new freshmen, a change for the better. The men of Johnathan Jones arrived from the wilds of Afric- a

Student Association
Unique Organization Serves Varied Student Body Needs

By BRUCE FREEMAN

From the very first day that new students move in for the first time at the Student Association, they are confronted with a cornucopia of interesting, exciting, and educational organizations. If these new students are observant they will notice that the organization uniquely serves them, directs them, empowers them, and provides intellectual, spiritual, scholastic, and physical leadership. Further observation will confirm the fact that there is a student governing body that coordinates all of these organizations, goals and objectives.

Your Questions
The natural sequence of questions asked by new students and those with the SA is in the following:
(1) What is the SA?
(2) What does it do?
(3) How do you become an active leader in the SA?

Question one can be answered by saying that the SA is an organization of elected officers from the student body for the purpose of being a governing body for student functions and activities. This basic purpose is founded upon liberal principles and the preparation for life. Your SA will develop thinkers and more effective leaders.

SA Officers
The backbone of your SA, in reverse to questions two, is made up of officers: President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer. Next, the MV Society is represented by the Associate MV Leader. There are nine executive officers, assistant; Health, Labor Committee, Program Committee, Public Relations Committee, Scholarship Committee, and the Social Relations Committee. The two public committees are Educational and Program Director.

Freshman Opines That College is a Snap After Orientation and Registration Week

To quote the famous immortal words of Judy Henderson, "College is a snap. For me, it was an easy transition from high school to college." And I believe the new students are a little biased to agree. They've been told over the process for the moving day and that nothing could go wrong against it. And several of these were actually one day late. That's a real accomplishment in itself.

Tests
Right and early Monday morning at the usual hour of 7:30, we were confronted with tests. Each test was made up of 80 to 100 questions. The only question that we could be sure about was that each test was a bit on the personality test and tests to help in deciding our major. There were no sort of questions on the personality test—everything from "Do you enjoy forming new, creative, and fun. There were personality tests and tests to help us in deciding our major. There were no sort of questions on the personality test—everything from "Do you enjoy forming new, creative, and fun." We were surprised when we realized that our college subjects might be somewhat difficult.

Good Impression
Seriously though, we have enjoyed our first few days here very much. Southern Methodist College has lived up to our expectations on all counts.

Claims Second Shield

The SMC Temperance Society claimed the shield awarded for having the strongest temperature program in any Adventist college during the 1959-60 school term.

Results for the last school year showed that the SMC temperature program has again been awarded the shield for its progressive program. Each year the plaque is given to the college in North America that has the strongest and most active temperature program on campus. This is the second consecutive year that the SMC society has been awarded the plaque.

Raymond Kuutti

Raymond Kuutti, a member of the SMC chapter, who has been awarded a progressive program. Each year the plaque is given to the SMC chapter that has been given to last year's officers: John Forester, president; now in Miami, and John Forester, president of this year.

MSU granted Professor VandeVere a fellowship award in the amount of $2,000, asking him to assist in the department at the university while he was there.

VandeVere received his B.A. degree in business administration from Ensamblion Missionary College, Berrien Springs, Michigan, and he was awarded his M.A. by the University of Michigan. VandeVere is a member of Beta Psi, honor fraternity in business administration, and the National Professional Accounting Society.

Wayne VandeVere

Wayne VandeVere, associate professor and head of the business administration department at Southern Missionary College, has been on a 15-month leave of absence. He recently returned to the campus to resume his duties. VandeVere has been working on the Ph.D. degree in business administration at Michigan State University.

VandeVere has completed the course work needed for the degree, and he has chosen as the topic for his thesis research, "The History and Development of Federal Taxation of Unabated Income of Nuncupative, Undisclosed Revenue." Recent discussions in Congress on federal aid to parochial schools has made this topic appropriate for continued research.

Raymond Kuutti is a new instructor in strings.

The Division of Fine Arts at SMC has invited Mr. Kuutti to join the faculty. Kuutti is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and has been working on the Ph.D. degree in music education at the university.

Kuutti specializes in piano and serves as an accompanist for his husband's solo work. She also plays viola in amateur orchestras.

Kuutti has three children: Cynthia Ann, age 7; Elaine, age 5; and Earl, age 2.

Long Full Nepal

According to Dr. Mott Kaylor, Dean of Fine Arts at SMC, Kuutti's appointment will fill a long-needed need at SMC. Kuutti's qualifications as a string major will have the approval of the faculty, and students who play the string instruments will have 20 string players immediately available to provide the necessary personnel for the orchestra under Kuutti's direction.

A temperature bulletin board in the main lobby of the administration building is on permanent display and shows the temperature throughout the year.

Indications show that the temperature program for this school term is off to a good start and will be filled with interesting activities.

Facility Embark On Annual Cruise

Sunday, the 17th of September, the River Queen embarked on another of its cruises on the Ohio River. About two thousand five hundred students of the Southern Missionary College staff and the faculty were on board for an annual cruise.

The double-deck boat left from the River Queen dock at five o'clock. The wires of the river were fastened to the dock to keep the boat on the river.

The members of the society were enjoying a night of beer, with no beer after an enjoyable evening together.

Officers are meeting this week to plan the program of the forthcoming temperature workshop. The student committee appointed to assist the details is under the direction of John Forester, president of the SMC Temperance Society.

1961-62 Joker Presented By Hilderbrandt Today

The Joker, 1961-1962 was presented to the students and faculty during chapel, October 13, by its author, Dwight Hilderbrandt, with the aid of the staff members, Bill Smart, and the art editor, Bruce Kapprine.

Cover Is Unique

The student-faculty directory for this year has the word "Joker" across the top in red letters, bordered in black, with a white background. In the upper right part of the cover were the numbers 1961 and 1962 with the "J" of 1962 arranged in single letter, underneath the term in red in the "61." The card resembled Artome, the cover, which opens in a manner of a book. In the same manner for a book, and throughout the Joker's 40 pages, Keyotee drew the illustrations.

Due to the fact that this year's Joker is much larger than last year's and the allowed budget is practically the same, the editor, in thinking of the former of the Joker, decided to conserve space in the layout work and yet retain the same picture as last year's Joker.

Introduction Minimum

To initiate the students and faculty in their knowledge of what events they should expect to be "in the news," to make it a friend of each student and family member to contact the faculty number, and to help everyone know his SA officers better, there are included in this Joker the calendar of future events, the faculty telephone directory, and the list of the double B's received and the officers they hold.

South of the Border

Dear Jerry:

Here's just a line to tell you that the people of Mexico are not all of one race, either. There are many different nationalities, as well as a number of different languages spoken. The common language is Spanish, but there are also some who speak English. The people are very friendly and hospitable, and they have a great respect for their culture and traditions.

"Chickee" Jones Hall has just about completed its changeover now—that is, from winter housing to summer quarters. There was (and still is) a strange room to the left of the hall—plenty of things like Grissimo face, baby blues, etc., in the dorm room. Yes, we just love summer, but most of us would probably appreciate it more if we had just as much of it left as we had.

Lastly, the water fountain from floor 1 was replaced! Everyone knows that "the most important thing in the gym" is when it gets turned off, it is received with open arms here in the dorm. I hear all kinds of comments as I am entering "get me rid of something like that" but on my part to that noise I say every day. I have a newspaper that I can't turn off at night!

By News

And then there's Bob Deloffield. The old time movie star when Bob came into the dorm carrying a big bag over his shoulder someone asked what he was carrying. "Just a little favor for my parents."

The folks at home don't have to think of us as much as we have, I mean a lot more work.

Picnic Memory

The school picnic by the river was enjoyable. I mean a lot more than a picnic. We'll be lucky again this spring with news about everything to tell everyone.

Volunteering

Even though we are hundreds of miles away, we find that we are part of good ole' Southern Miss. Most everyone says that all in our class just got renounced again this year. Because we were students, Mrs. Ollis Graham, Forester, Ollis Graham, Forester from Columbus Union College just let us know that little number of the junior class up to 17. Glad you all chose SMC and hope you'll be here in the future.

Upcoming Events

One thing we are missing is our big fall football game due to the fact that our class was divided into three groups: Some taking surgery, some customs, and the rest on regular fall duty.

New Ball Team

Guess you all have heard rumors up there about the scarcity of our state population and sadly enough; all those rumors are true, but I never knew there were others besides some of these girls anywhere. Don't you do the wrong idea, they have gotten used to the idea doing without some furniture. Why, only yesterday I heard our junior dormitory window was smashed at 10:20 by a Rapiderned Hennessey, Bert Polters, Brenda Bueh, and Sylvia chow down until they get their laundry done. A lot of people knows that the "most important thing in the gym" is when it gets turned off, it is received with open arms here in the dorm. 'Personable' Describes Girl From Hawaii

Out of all the students present at the Southern Missionary College campus this year is a petite blonde, Cecilia Cullington, from Honolulu, Hawaii.

Cecilia graduated from Vitallo Senior High, Vancouver, California, and worked as a typist for the New York Times, Los Angeles, San Francisco. Last year she served as a medical-biological technician at the University of Hawaii School of Aviation in Pensacola, Florida, where she did X-rays in the pattern and brother and sister.

Cecilia tells her typical style as the envy of one of her talents.

Home Economics Students Enjoy Outing at Lake Ocoee

It's been known that you can’t have too much fun. So the delicious home-made stews and other food really hit the spot when suppers rolled around. During the time everyone helped with the preparation of at least one pot. Many that note the gravity of Lake Ocoee and its contributions to the outdoor activities of the students, who would have any interest in swimming and water sports. You can imagine how good the cool, refreshing water felt after a hard week of studying and work.

Cecilia shows her typical style as the envy of one of her talents.

Freshman Nurses Visit Facilities on Orlando Campus

On October 3, at 7:00 p.m., 33 freshman nursing students climbed into the bus and headed off on a visit to the Florida Sanitarium and Hospital in Orlando, Florida. The bus traveled through the campus and arrived at the hospital at 7:30 p.m. Several of the students were on the bus at the time of the visit.

After a few minutes of normal observations, the students were shown to the hospital. As they arrived at the hospital and entered the building, the students were welcomed by the staff. The students then toured the hospital and were shown various areas, including the operating rooms, the intensive care units, and the recovery areas. The students were given a brief overview of the hospital’s history and its role in the community.

The students then had the opportunity to ask questions of the staff members and to gain a better understanding of the work that goes into running a hospital. The students were also given the opportunity to visit the hospital’s gift shop and to purchase souvenirs to remember their visit.

The students then returned to the bus and were driven back to their college. The trip was a success and the students were well pleased with the visit to the hospital and the experience they gained. The students were grateful to have had the opportunity to learn more about the field of nursing and to see the work that goes into running a hospital.

Field Day Total Hits $6,870; 450 Solicit; 200 Give Wages

Southern Missionary College had one of its largest Field Days in its history recently. There were 105 students in attendance and, finally, with many car drivers from the community, brought together to rent $6,870.

70 Car Crew
Over 70 cars and almost 450 people participated in the program, covering the territory between Atlanta and Knoxville.

Something new was tried in organizing this year when a bus load of students was sent to Athens. This was met by cars and drivers furnished by the Georgia-Cumberland Conference and the Southern Missionary.

Student leaders were chosen early so that they could get the members of their bands and unselfishly work for and sustain their fellow students by making up their bands.

Pamphlet Solicited
The bands and instrumentation of the college solicited items of furniture and appliances in other items solicited by students and faculty members, were put on display and then auctioned on Saturday night, October 21. The proceeds from the auction totaled $1,044 while the cash solicited during the Field Day came to $5,826, making a grand total of $6,870.

The organizing Committee spread the spirituality and the participation of the students, and very little pressure was put upon anyone to go or give for anything. As a result, spontaneity was shown by the students in going and by the student giving of their labor from driving the college industries and community industries.

Taylor Led Out
Plans are already being laid for a more efficient campaign next year for both the solicitation and organization of maps, territory, etc. The committee that planned the campaign for the students and the college were the following:

Dr. Wilbert T. Taylor, chairman; Elders B. D. Thompson; Principal Kenneth Stewart; Dr. C. C. Hardin; Elder L. A. Wynn.

Bindery Nears Completion; New Manager Coming

Rapidly approaching completion is the $35,000 structure soon to house the new SMC bindery. The building itself is of modernistic design, constructed of concrete blocks, and has an attractive red brick facade. The interior, measuring 60 by 120 feet, will be heated and cooled by a new direct-steam hot water system, which will also maintain a constant humidity.

Bindery Engineer
Inside will be found the latest in bindery equipment valued at $50,000. Much of this equipment has arrived and is being stored in the former storage building until the time of installation.

W. O. Chastain, bindery manager, is expected to take over complete charge of the building about November 15, from Washington where he was manager of the Walls Wells College Bindery. Mr. Chastain has also been president of a bindery association comprised of all Adventist-operated binderies.

Expected Arrival
It was originally planned to have the bindery organized shortly after the start of the month, but unforeseen delays, among them, various illnesses in the Chastain family, have necessitated a postponement. Present plans call for operation of the bindery in a limited capacity by the first of January. It is expected that full-scale production will be achieved by January.

Similar binderies at other denominational colleges employ upwards of 250 persons. The building and equipment cost is one of the best sources of campus employment for girls. Since the bindery will fall under normal business regulations, the minimum wage will be raised to $1.50 for those.

Title Is Misnomer
Actually, the title of bindery is a misnomer. The main function of the SMC bindery will be in rebind- ing library books, and in the production of text books and secondary school texts.

The average book is bound by its own hands. The most recent ones of the SMC bindery will be in rebinding library books, and in the production of text books and secondary school texts. Three volumes through 500-600 bands during the life of the book. Contribu- tions to these volumes will be rebound every two years. This creates a much easier work in which the SMC bindery is calculated to operate.
You and Your GPA

"GPA, GPA? That's almost all I've heard since I've been here. Yes, I suppose it's important, but they seem to hang it around your neck and make it a burden for you to carry. Actually, I've become quite concerned over it, if I don't get a GPA of at least 1.0 I'm as good as out! This is an exclamation which may fit your feeling exactly at the moment and mean exactly what it is.

The grade point average is very important, very important; your success in college naturally depends on it to a large degree. So worrying about getting a GPA of 1.0 if you are really interested in succeeding; you will doubtless make it—if you persevere.

The GPA is actually only a "C" average. If this is your goal, it is a low one.

Then again, you may be the student who is concerned about the overall scholastic standing of Southern Missionary College. This 1.0 GPA "hugs" you. You would like to see SMC take on a genuine scholastic air. Perhaps it already has, in the sense that each student is doing his best. Then we may not have the percentage caps of high grades as do Princeton, Harvard, Yale, UCLA, or MIT, but remember we do have the same goal as these well-known schools.

Our goal as a school is to prepare workers to step into the world and present to it the truth we live by. Our goal is to prepare men of this world, it also reaches to the world to come. Ours is not to try to beat all others in getting the highest grade; rather, it should be to get all the knowledge we can of a course even if our grade point average is less. This does not, however, refute our absolute failure learn. Those of the more intellectual group are perhaps a bit higher.

Nevertheless, whatever your intelligence is, you still have the ever-present GPA nudging you on. This GPA is an important feature of college life, so accept it as such and make the best you can.

You are one of 746 students registered at SMC now. The college is not up to a cap of each of us. What we are at SMC will be. If we want SMC on a high scholastic standing, our efforts towards that end will make it so.

The Student Association is planning the scholastic phase of college life and is endeavoring to help each student reach his ideal and make it a reality. If this is accomplished, the scholastic standing will undoubtedly be improved.

At this point, a sincere glance into your real purpose for being at SMC and your purpose in life will aid you in reaching your goals.

By George! Every dorm has its dull moments and a few even have dull weeks. I suppose I could call the past four weeks rather dull ones for Jones Hall. Now mark my words, in ten minutes after the Southern Accent gets into the hands of a few Jones Hall boys they'll be telling me all about the exciting and thrilling events that have taken place. (Such as the rains when lights go out on third floor, the show that Jones Hall put on and even a hidden birthday party.)

Blind Interest

I looked out my window one rainy evening last week and was not too pleased to see a couple of guys try to put a windsock on the junior hall. The windsock was placed on the junior hall's edge of the roof of the dorm was nutting out already. However, the boys were earning a lot of reinforcement even those who were washing the blinds and didn't want a windsock placed on their dorm. So next week there will be a holder out over the edge of the roof while the other watch until work permits well, if you're interested.

Street Vendor

One of the first floor dorms was having a little fight among some evil genius. The boys there were talking for hours and hours that they will be interesting and helpful to both the Business and social committees. —FAN

Scales and Devotion

To Change or Not to Change SMC's 17-Year-Old Name?

By Bruce G. Freedman, Jr.

One of the important functions of those handling the 50th anniversary of SMC's Student Association is to decide whether or not to change the name of the Student Association. This decision is likely to be made at a special meeting of the Student Association in late October.

Many people have been discussing this issue for some time. Some feel that the name should be changed because it is outdated and no longer reflects the current needs of the students. Others feel that it is time to change the name because it is no longer appropriate for the current needs of the students.

The Student Association has been in existence for 50 years, and the name has remained the same. However, the world has changed significantly over the past 50 years, and the Student Association needs to keep up with these changes. The name of the Student Association should reflect the current needs of the students.

The decision to change the name of the Student Association is important because it will affect the way students identify with the Student Association. It is important to consider the opinions of all students before making a decision.

Mr. West’s Work Deals With Sensitive Nerve—Money

Seventeen years in Chattanooga and never saw Rock City! These words were written by a man who retired from the ministry, Mr. West, however, including parts of the religious and scholarly. After graduation from Southwestern Junior College in 1943 and from college, he was a minister known SMC from the get-go.

Mr. West was the man whom every job-seeking student meets personally before registering is over. Work assignments are one of his favorite jobs. If you have property to sell or you are house hunting, you want to count Mr. West. Free to train an interview. One may get in formation about the real estate article between telephone calls, one or two calls, but he points his finger at the College's three homes, etc.

Mellon Emphasizes

Reference to Southern Mena- tion College, Mr. West graduated in 1943. He may be willing to share with aspiring young helpers here during these two years be his prediction book: retail 1943 was averaging 100 per cent deliveries. one summer amounting to $4,200. One bit of advice Mr. West might mention to students to study the book on the religious background of everyone. Instead of being the minute that makes sure you know what is the time real self, you must know what is the time in your home. Reading materials. A Sabbath School teacher never ever graduating and academic Bible Institute during his six-year work, and besides adequate material at Forest Lake Academy, Mr. West feels he could not have been with- our Joanna Shidley, 10, have taken up their father’s musical talent. The special music at services a few Friday even- evening was refreshing—after the initial reaction, that is. Accompanied by Mrs. West’s tenor voice, it seemed to usher in the Sabbath. Mr. West, we all know, you played the violin, in fact, as an instrument. Miss Joan West, 12 years of age, but we didn’t realize you sang too. Thank you for the talented students with the SMC.

Reminiscence

What an evening it was and you who the others and members of your original Southern Mena- tion College string quartet get together? Do you remember the days when you attended your sec- ond year in the same administration? You have once in your life, aren’t you, about 50 radio stations that really was on the air?

The Wests have recently taken up water sports as a hobby. This summer was Mrs. West’s first time in the slot, but she seems right home at it.

Sensitive Nerve

His job requires that most sensi- tive nerve—the money center. A student may come in with a sensible idea and work on that idea after talking, praying for a solution, perhaps a faith venture, that was the way others and us to graduate. This may not be the place to air those stories, Mr. West says, there is no place to be as a student, or otherwise, who does what he says he will.

Mr. West is a firm believer in the SMC tradition of Southern Culture. He appreciates those who practice Courtyard West’s words of the year by reflecting the Originators of the Golden Rule—EA.

Carrigan, his meeting promises to be one of the most outstanding meetings of the year.

Assisting Dr. Carrigan will be Mrs. Charlotte Shidley of the Tennessee office of education.

Mr. West, in a word of advice, expresses a statement to Barbara Whalen, his nearest superior.

Friday Night Seminars Serve Dual Purpose in Campus Life

Upraisers through student groups gain valuable practice and experience while helping to make the life of the student body in Friday night seminars. Folding chairs will be pitched in the aisle and on the floor in the chapel, and a majority will be located in the center, during the evening 45 in the Fine Arts Chapel.

Check Sheet

Many of the approximately 150 students attending the meetings are fellow theological students, who, under the direction of Professor Clifford A. Arrives, the semester sponsor, filling out a "suggestion sheet" will be returned back to the staff we received the letter to the students to give their opinion as to the areas where the students have done well and where they need improvement.

Benefits

Although this activity has to be "suggested" in between worship and MV on Friday evening, the attend- ance this year has been full to over- capacity.

This extra-curricular activity is one of several carried on by the theology students to help them in their training for their work. In the case of some of the participants and to the listeners are several (1) the scholars gain ex- periences which are difficult, if not in- stinctive experiences, to make beliefs, etc. (2) see how well organized and meetings are conducted, and (3) get practical help for the students. The attending students get to hear a sermon with adults who are students of their school life, and they observe their fellow students in the role they will ultimately fill in completion of their education.

To Be a Friend

We all need the help of a friend, even a cockrel needs the help of a friend. Sooner or later the friend comes by and the cockrel sticks. Now if the scheme of the universe is such that the degraded, best anchored feet to its unlighted stem, can find a friend to whom it may cling, do you think that you, with all your possibilities, your intelligence, your good sense of humor, your virtues, and your faults, need to be without a friend to whom you may hold fast? Friends? Why, the campus is full of friends, helpful people doing good to people, kindly people, all waiting for you to reach out and take hold of their all-sustaining friendship. You must reach out, you must take the first step. Emerson said, "The only way to have a friend is to be one." To be a friend is one of the noblest and most difficult undertakings.

Friendship depends not upon fancies and sentiment of the moment, but upon character. True friendship is abiding. Like character, it suffers long and is kind. It endures all things, a shining jewel through the darkest days. That miserable groom who believes that only he who has a dollar has a friend deserves neither the dollar nor the friend. For friendship is measured neither in dollars or cents. It is measured in the character, the sympathy, the loyalty with which it clings.

We have here at SMC the opportunity of a lifetime. The opportunity for treasure far greater than silver or gold. We have the treasure of genuine friendships. Which brings us to the question: Are you, and am I, the kind of friend others can treasure? SB

Nature Versus Litter

Now that autumn is in full swing and Mother Nature bids her trees to cast their leaves to the ground and prepare for another winter, human beings are more inclined to be heedless in their processing of the leaves, and other such wastes with the rationalization that it will be lost among the fallen leaves.

However, this season's leaves may seem to be "a mess," but just look closely and meditate on the beauty and wonder of nature. Look at the multi-colored, the slowly dominating beauty of the leaves. How thrilling it is to see nature in its work, beautifying, preparing, providing! It's all so refreshing as you walk down the sidewalk, down the stairs, to the dorms or to a class, walking to the dining hall in the loveliness of autumn. Don't ruin it all with the scar of a wrinkled up old newspaper or wrap.

Southern Missionary College has a beautiful campus, and it's continually getting better with the improvements. Let's not undeniably be beauty by littering up the campus. JK

As flagball starts into its fourth week, TDU and Toughest, the two teams, are still shaping up and looking better every game. Before I go further into the games won and lost, I would like to explain a few points of the last game. The first error to be connected is that pending to the game of October 18th, Toughest, by right, was off to win with a TD by Chuck Turner. However, the score of the game was called off shortly after, as a total of eighteen points were scored in the TD.

Kennedy Directs Re-Evaluation Of SMC Program

The entire educational program of Southern Maryland College has been under study for the past one and one-half years. The report of this study, which includes visitations visited with every person connected with the college and every front of its operation as expected to be ready by the end of the semester. As of now, 18 Members of this team, which consists of faculty members and those in the Southern Association, are in the process of visiting schools.

Renewal Assumptions

The current study is being conducted in order to determine ways to improve the school and also to help the visiting committee in its evaluation of the college. Studies of this nature are undertaken every ten years for the purpose of removing the school's accreditation with the Southern Association.

It is believed that as a result of a study made for the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education, the Southern Association may make changes that will help SMC and its students.

Nine committee members participate in this committee, chaired by Dr. M. J. West, representing the students. The committee is composed of ten students, including Dr. Everett Hunter, Librarian, Dr. Elizabeth Hyde, Student, Dr. William E. Taylor, President, Dr. Howard W. Johnson, Research Coordinator, and Dr. C. G. Blackwell, Chairmen. The committee's chairman is Dr. K. M. Kennedy.

Thurber, SMC Graduate, Newest Member of VOP

Mr. John Thurber, graduate of Southern Maryland College, is the newest member of the VOP of People's King's Harriet quartet. After graduating from SMC in 1956 with a major in music and a minor in education, Mr. Thurber taught voice and chorus at the Glenelg Valley Academy in Glenelg, California, and South Lewis County Community in South Lawrence, Massachusetts, for five years.

Mr. Thurber, from New Hampshire, Mr. Thurber says that he loves Collegeville. Of course his interest in SMC and the Collegeville is probably influenced by the fact that his father, Dr. Robert S. Thurer, was president of Collegeville. The Thurbers now have three small children.

Harriet Stamper has been a member of the Collegeville for many years. Although she was asked to remain with the Collegeville, she asked to come to the Collegeville. Her daughter, Miss Harriet Stamper, is a student at SMC.

WSMC-FM, Southern Missouri College's educational FM radio station, begins program tests Wednesday, according to John Vogt, manager of the station.

Under the terms of the construction permit granted by the Federal Communications Commission some time ago, WSMC will make program tests for several weeks before it goes into small official broadcasting.

Student-Faculty Parties Planned For Staff Homes

Students and faculty members will work together in planning parties in faculty members' homes for staff day night, December 2, according to Mr. Edgar Grunfield, chairman of the Social Committee of the faculty.

Students may plan the parties and request to use the faculty member's home, or faculty members may plan and invite just students, said Mr. Grunfield.

Some students and faculty members are already planning their parties, and Mr. Grunfield urged that plans be made early and guests invited so that the last minute rush can be avoided. —FAN

Last night, the room of Sigma Theta Chi entertained the men of University Delta Phi at the annual reception. The event began at 9:30 with a tour of the new women's residence hall and the facilities, and continued with the banquet and program in the main hall. The only activities in the new buildings were in the workshop area and bingo and cards. (SMC's administration has not considered changing the name of the college.—Editor.)

Keep the Name!

Dear Editor:—

I was among the column writers by our student body president four weeks ago when there was any discussion about changing the name of our college. I doubt if there can be anyone on our campus who believes that there is a need for a name change. I do not believe that the administration has any opinion that we should retain the present name. I am aware of the fact, however, that there may be thought of it being among the trend of similar actions, even though it may be, in other men's eyes, the same as going to the college of the future. I believe that this is one of the best names for this particular campus in the light of the total situation.

Let us not be hastened to have a new name.

Respectfully submitted,
Jay McElroy

Honey-Coated Memories

By Tom

Memory is a fragile thing; the strongest, and the most precious of memories. History-honored memories have been made in one day or a few weeks. . . . Two weeks before icecap crept through all the dormitories and campus. Every creature was stirring. Some of the dorms were posted by the window with signs, in hopes that the more sensitive resident would be on the look out for such a message from the "OU" girls. "What is the matter?" we wondered. The answer is Fowler's Deuce. This is revealed in the lives of the students. The line between the "OU" girls and the seniors has been drawn and the dorms have been made to fit into the new category. Not for us.

This is the name that the name that means so much to hundreds of our students. We are not going to change it, not even on the campus. The name that we have now is the name that we will keep. It was not at this time to be the greatest of wonders; it was not at this time to be the greatest of things. It was just the name that we had when we first came here. It was the name that we knew. It was the name that we kept.

To Ann and All Her "Dears"

By Jean Brus

Mother was able to finish filling the Thanksgiving baskets with her usual love and care. We all felt that this was the best gift we could ever have. Ann and all her "dears" came to us today to help us make the baskets. They were all so happy and were willing to do anything for us. We all enjoyed the time we spent together. It was a beautiful day and though the weather was not so good, it was nice to be able to move about and get some exercise. The boys were outside playing. They were all in a good mood and doing well. We all enjoyed the day and had a good time. The baskets were all finished and the boys were happy with the results. The baskets were delivered to the homes of the students and the boys were happy with the effort. The baskets were all delivered and the boys were happy with the effort.

Thanksgiving is a time to give thanks for all that we have. It is a time to be grateful for the things that we have and to be thankful for the things that we do not have. It is a time to remember the past and to look forward to the future. The baskets were all delivered and the boys were happy with the effort. The baskets were all delivered and the boys were happy with the effort. The baskets were all delivered and the boys were happy with the effort. The baskets were all delivered and the boys were happy with the effort.

Castro Duplicity

Through recent newspaper headlines and radio commentaries we have learned that the country at our front door will also be a country of progressive Communism as long as Fidel Castro is at the helm. Castro’s admitting that he has always been Communist perhaps shocked some, yet others probably thought he was simply stating the obvious. He has now made an established fact. The man who drew the sympathy of most of the world in his rebellion against Batista’s government was motivated by Communism.

We might wonder why Castro hid this ideal during the revolution and shortly after its overthrow of the former government. The answer he gives us is that the United States would have interfered more than it did and would have taken a definite position against the revolution and aided Batista with artillery. This is a likely answer, especially when bringing the number one enemy of the United States to its front door. But why did Castro hide his ideals from the men and women who were supporting him, the very people who were leaders of his revolution? He had no idea that Castro was Communists inspired by Castro’s revolution in Cuba. The Soviet revolutionaries turned against him after the revolution was over. They were fighting for freedom, but were defeated by Castro.

Why did he hide his ideals? A true answer would perhaps be that he would have been literally smashed with the objections and forces of the five countries of the world as well as by his own militiamen before he even fired the first shot of his ideal.

So, after Castro’s revolution is a success, and the world smiles at his “Cripping Cuba,” he turns the tide of freedom and slowly builds his Communist government. Now he feels strong and has the full support of Khrushchev he seems no longer to need to hide his goals and introducing the possibility of nuclear war. Presently, it’s all cold war. Whether Castro will remain the dictator of Cuba’s Communist government and exact his bonanzas to be seen.

Building Minds

At the present, Southern Methodist College is undertaking a building program such as it has never known before. This is my third year at SMC, and I already have seen the old science building torn down, the new Women’s Residence Hall, and the library, which will be in operation soon.

The inclusion of these additions on our campus have been needed for a number of years and are now representative of the first faculties to be seen in any of our denominational colleges.

In addition to the science building and the new library, the Campus Center and the new church. Ultimate plans are for the completion of the layout of the whole campus.

Yet, SMC is building bigger and better things to meet the needs of modern education; it’s a time of building.

How true this should be of each student in college. College years are to be, and may be, not only for the building up of our minds and the storing of knowledge that will prepare us to meet the challenges of a modern world, but I think the success of one’s college career is determined by how the way be applied himself to that task. The person who goes through college with the determination to grasp everything that aids along the lines of public men will no longer cause a student to make a candidate for the class record. If you feel that you aren’t getting your money’s worth from college, it’s probably your own fault. It is possible to get your money’s worth, but you’ve got to put forth the effort.

Happy Holiday Season

Let's Raise GPA

Dear Editor:

In one of the recent issues of the S.A., Mr. Stanley W. Bartoli announced the plan for the new grades of the Fine Arts College. He was justifiably wrong about the future of the Student Association. I was present at the meeting and am aware of the inconsistencies in the selection of our own. I must say, however, that the Student Senate was submitted to the students for a vote.

The Student Senate was submitted to the students for a vote. They voted by recent ballots, and six of those chosen were on the Senate. The first two, however, were not chosen for their grades, but on their reputation, added two or three more.

The number chosen was inconsistent with our own program in that (1) the low GPA requirements left the open field too many people, which also has a tendency to make, (2) the basis of selection by leadership was dropped as to the SMC standards, that is, effective in service.

Contrary to our method, our past college and other college institutions have a scholarship with a very high standard, and the leadership is in the adjacent determining factor. Castro has said that “Viva Castro” is the idea. They are very negative, and, in a sense, it is necessary. Why are they now? It is smaller in and to less service that we have chosen to establish.

The Student Senate has chosen its v2e this year for its task this year to do work in the college currently and estimate the intercultural and international atmosphere of Cuba. This goal is realized only on the fact that professional airmen are produced. The choosing of "Who's Who" could be a tangible method if it had been based on scholarship as an adjoint factor to the leadership to self-governance and self-governance and self-governance and self-governance.

Until two years ago the GPA requirement was 2.0. Then the Senate lowered it to 1.5. The next step is to change it to the situation of "Who's Who" has decided.

First, I believe the GPA standard ought to be raised to about 1.8

What's Happened To Our School Spirit?

Dear Editors:

May I add an "Ammon" to Bruce Peterson's annual writing of the name of SMC?

While I'm not standing SMC this year, I am still loyal to the school, in name and in what it stands for. What's happening to our school spirit that we are ashamed of the name I hope to see a news soon that the whole idea has dropped.

Good Reasons For Name Changes

Dear Editors:

I hope the SOUTHERN ACCENT is unbiased enough to print a few comments from the other side of the fence. This is an issue that has cropped up at the name of Southern Methodist College.

Don't think you that our denominational leaders in the field of education at the General Conference in Washington, D.C., must have carefully thought a great deal before they decided that the time had come to change the name of Southern Methodist College. Surely our distinguished educators here must have given careful consideration to the changing of the name of College of Missouri. That must have been removal, wouldn't you say so? Yes, I believe we all know that at least some of these reasons were: from our own observations and in the side of others.

Oh, there may be opposition, probably though before I'm sure that those who have been here in this name had opposition — probably more probably more. It is the fact that the names are changed, and three have been experienced for each action.

Sincerely,

Jim Seaton

January 19, 1962

You are now living in the first month of a new year, January, 1962. You have a whole year before you. What are your plans for it? Or have you even made any plans? In observations of people who made no plans at the outset of past years, we see at the year draws to a close that the year is just the same, nothing planned, nothing to show for the past year besides the things which were essential to do. Many a person with potentiality to do great things tempts by the wayside because of a lack of will power to get busy and do something worthwhile. They made no definite plans but merely thought to let things go as they will. If the book comes open, if not, open, maybe it will later on, maybe I'm just not cut out to do anything important much less anything outstanding in my life.

Maybe I'm just supposed to get mediocre grades in my college career or in my years of high school, or maybe I'm supposed to stay on this position I have at the shop because I'd have to put forth effort to get a promotion and that would take a lot of extra time.

Oh, yes, my neighbor, he's a swell guy, sure, someday I'll tell him about my religion. He's been wanting to know about it for quite a while. I'm planning to tell him sometime. When, I'm not sure, because maybe I might have to put forth effort, do some studying so I would have a good forceful presentation, because my life isn't exactly a great example of what I'd have to tell him of the truth. I guess I'll tell him about—somehow.

In any case the planning in this situation try a new outlook on this year. Try a new year's resolution that goes something like this: I will not procrastinate this year and will get on the ball and do the best that I can in the things that have to be done. You may be surprised to see the changes take place if you follow through with the resolutions. That book will come sooner than expected, these mediocre grades will come up, this promotion will be closer, and most of all, that neighbor may become a church member, a member of your family.

One thing, however, you don't have to start at the beginning of a year, you can start anytime. The tradition has been to start a new year off with new resolutions and plans, but stick by them throughout the year so they will have a chance to work.

Remember: Let's better do, in '62!

Watches and Appetites

Anders Coffee and Brenda Murphey were treated to a lovely surprise when they returned from vacation. Two thoughtful girls had fixed their own iced tea and refreshments. They knew just what a girl likes in her coffee—some lemon slices, plenty of wet wood, old cans and to make sure that Anders slaps well, cocktails were in their bed. This was all composed of Allie and Gayle Towler. The girls are dedicating their brains to science on the installment plan, because no one could normally think of such things.

Smoky

Judy Schabler is following safety rules explicitly. During the night not long ago, she stumbled, but wouldn't open her door for fear of fire outside. She couldn't locate anyone with smoke every where, the teller that the fire was.

Such are many of the unusual occurences in the girls' dorms. But that isn't surprising, considering how unexpected, we do so, I now see you slowly sinking under the dirty mops.

Bicycle Wanted

And then there is my old friend Gilbert Burnham, you may have heard Gilbert Burnham, he is quite busy. Gilbert has a real fast English bike, and does he ever ride it. He even knows the name of the bike the Colonel is in the market for a "Bicycle built for two." Anytime a friend of the Colonel is in need, Gilbert will call him on it to the Colonel's request, Gilbert service them if it is any price below the cost of a screen contact, Gilbert Owen.

The New Style

During Christmas several followed hot Christmas tides in their rooms. The most unusual room was in Mr. Cullin's house, It was a big lamp from a belly bar, placed beside our bed. A Christmas surprise from some of boys' many friends on seconds.

Resolution Pather

New Year is the time when we pull resolutions concerning our personal lives; the acrid for the coming year. And then, inevitably, some of us break our resolutions one by one. One of my resolutions was to have this column in tone. Well, this year I have broken my resolution and I'm late. So I must run, see you next month!

Vacation Hustle, Bustle
BY JEANNE PERRY

The last few weeks have been exceedingly busy ones for all of us. This has been the excitement of Thanksgiving vacation following our great anticipation of Christmas vacation only three weeks away. Of course, those three weeks will be filled with a lot of hard work, which makes up the last eighteen days of Christmas won in the hearts of each of us. I would like to take this opportunity to give a word of thanks to each girl who helped in preparing the pretty decorations. Even Strega would have had the Christmas spirit after sitting there for a few minutes.

Miss Cateson Visits Campus

Who said people in college were too old for a Christmas stocking? Each of the faculty members had a part in fulfilling the strenuous student life at the school. One of the most enjoyable parts of this Christmas was the visit of Miss Cateson from her distant home. She was delighted to be able to visit each room and pass out some of the little gifts that the students had given her. She was happy to come back to her old school and enjoy the festivities with the students.

Faculty-Student Party

The party was held in the Union Building and was a great success. Many of the students attended, and there was a great deal of enjoyment and merriment in the festivities. It was a true Christmas celebration, and everyone was happy to be a part of it.

Vocation Vacation

Well, vacation is over, and we are all back at school to prepare for the richly decorated school. Thank you for being so nice to us, and we hope that you will enjoy your vacation as much as we did.

Reading for Impression

Ken was reading a book on Greek literature. He is quite a scholar, and he is always looking for new books to read. He is a very serious student, and he always takes his studies very seriously. He is a good student, and he is always doing his best to get good grades.

Wooden Snowman and Mascot

BY GEORGE JACKSON

Welcome back from vacation everyone! I hope you had as nice a Christmas as I did. My Christmas was pretty quiet, except that if you went north you probably had a lot of snow. I spent my Christmas down in the South, and we had quite a few snow days. But after a few weeks, things started to calm down, and we had to get back to school. It would be nice to spend the holidays with our friends.

Snowman and Mascot:

Some of the students decided to make a snowman and mascot for the school. They were happy to have the opportunity to be creative and make something special for the school. The snowman and mascot were a big hit, and everyone was happy to see them.

Time to 'Catch a Breath' And Then 'Plunge in' Again

BY BRUCE FREEMAN

With the frenzies of a new year in our somewhat wound-up bodies, there comes the ever-sought-after aspect of a new semester—change to catch a breath and plunge in again.

Joining this new semester and prowess of schoolmates' friendly climbing will be many new faces. The Student Association would like to take this opportunity to wish all the anticipating "new-comers" a pressure but hearty welcome to the SMC campus. We especially extend a hand of welcome to the returning Florida College students. The campus has missed their presence, and we sincerely hope they will find SMC friendlier and better than ever in every way.

But for every action there is an equal and opposite reaction. Some days will be leaving our campus for various reasons and therefore the SMC campus will be a shining invitation to return to our campus in the very near future. We especially hope the departing students will be courteously aware of our missing them and that we wish them the best of success and the swift acquisition of modern ways.

In the actual machinery of the Student Senate, there will also be some new faces. Mrs. Horace Sturman, president of the Sorority, will be joining the Student Senate in Sept. 1951, to study for the evening. With a full load of the G.I. Bill, he will be able to complete his college work.

Eliza and Mrs. Wren have a daughter, Martha, 13, and a son, John, 11. The whole family enjoys collecting, and they have over 70 different kinds of rocks.
Reporter Tells Students Not to Fear Communism

Communism has the world in fear, but there are few reasons for the world to fear Russia and Communism. Groups Meet On Sabbath For Discussion

Once every three weeks on Sabbath afternoon at 4:00 o’clock, theology students and those interested gather together in the Library Management room in the basement of the library to discuss religious topics.

There has been much of such discussion ever since the first time. The first meeting was small with only four or five present. This increased to about fifteen at the last meeting. There were twelve to fifteen present. The meeting is not for debate but for discussion.

The question they have been discussing so far is a question on the Sabbath that the Trinity Interview in Chicago asked our seminary minister students. The question is whether keeping the Sabbath is a moral law or not. The Divinity School says that if “Sabbath observance is not a moral law, then we are free to use it, accept it, and observe it or not in our own way.”

The purpose of these discussions is to deal with such questions that our ministers will have to meet when they go out in the field. Also, students must be prepared to answer such questions on the Sabbath when they are asked.

14 Nursing Students Capped; Hyde Speaks at Event

Fourteen sophomores nursing students at Southern Missionary College were capped in a special ceremony Friday night, Jan. 26.

Speaker for the occasion was Elize J. Hyde in the head of the nursing departments at Southern. Elder Hyde said, “As you leave this campus now for three months, so to enter upon your clinical training on the Orlando, Florida, campus of SMC, the present and great expectations of your teachers and classmates will follow you. What will you do with your time to be of service for your fellow students and society.”

“Leading education have observed that in many women’s colleges the teaching and teaching professions be cause these insufficient type of college for a spirit of dedication close to that of the maternal spirit. Participating in the service were the following: Mabel Wood, professor of English, hyde Herman Young, innovation, quaker, Sylva Allen, Cate.

This group in Chicago asked 13 questions, all on the fourth commandment. Dr. Chitterson states, “This question and others are not new, but that other question that comes up, but today is brought up by the thinking people in America. The purpose of these discussions is to deal with such questions that our ministers will have to meet when they go out in the field. Also, students must be prepared to answer such questions on the Sabbath when they are asked.”

Culture and Courtesy

Are culture and courtesy synonyms? We have all seen courteous people who are cultured; we have also seen so-called cultured people who were not courteous. It is possible to define culture as "the enlightenment and refinement of taste acquired by intellectual and aesthetic training." We can conclude that a person who recognizes and appreciates plastic and musical beauty; and is not afraid of hard work; who has a love of fine music and a refined taste in dress is cultured. The question is: Do these attributes alone constitute genuine culture? This type of cultural sophistry, although often seen, he is perfectly refined unless someone crosses his path or steps on his toe, then he becomes loudmouthed, bellowing "out of order." Therefore, this person was not truly cultured, because a cultured person is always courteous. He has been living under a guise of pseudo-culture rather than pursuing genuine culture.

A person who is truly cultured is not easily offended. He doesn't wear his feelings on his sleeve. He doesn't react to other people's behavior. This demonstrates his gentleness by being kind to others. To forget one's self and help others is a true mark of refinement. As a person who has no feeling at all, what is his culture but a way of treating people the way you would like to be treated if you were in their place.

If each of us linked this rule with a love of beauty and refinement of taste, there is no doubt that the world would be a much better place in which to live.

National Scenes

The united congress has made a start toward being a political one in a real sense. The introduction of the House of Representatives and that third of the Senate met up at Nashville, Tennessee, on Tuesday, November 4. There is some belief that the formal adjournment of the House will not prevent the meeting of Congress in mounds or any change in the administration's plans to go to war toward federal aid to pauper schools. The Catholic Church is to maintain up to one hundred thousand of its own Catholic schools in the House, and of course children of those who are in other denominations are to be taught Catholicism in large cities, so the voting may be close with the possible federal aid to any education bill, giving some construction aid to parochial schools.

International Scene

The International Conference is coming to a close simply because the Hindus will not permit the international officials to visit their country to investigate whether they are living up to the Non-Offense policy. Western observers in the conference are now ready to stay on the premises in the event Washington should ask them to leave, and they have their staffs with them.

The Organization of American States has formed a new bond of friendship, one of the main things that have been worked out during the convention are the American ideas for national sovereignty, the idea of a separate United States, the idea of an American commonwealth. The American ideas for a commonwealth in the Caribbean, the idea of a separate United States, the idea of an American commonwealth are all brought up with some official pronouncements that there is no longer a separate United States, that it is all one thing.

The science departments were visited by American Academy with demonstrations, January 29, in the interest of the sciences and in science. Dr. John Chittenden and Dr. Roy Heflin were on the trip, accompanied by a few staffs. They are all soon to follow: Donald Doles, Benno Kirsch, John Schulte, represented chemistry and biology departments. Karl R. Bingham and Donald Nicholas, representing physics and math departments. A discussion group was left at the Science Day evening program, in which many questions about Christian education were asked and answered.

The February meeting of the council was held in two sessions: the editorial sessions, and the business and accounting sessions. There were three members of the editorial and one member of the business meeting, who directed the direction of the club presidency until the next meeting, and prepared for the next meeting with the club presidency.

We are looking forward to even better and faster teams for second semester now that the players are more experienced and in top shape.

Rest After the Storm

By Sandy Miller

With a slight of wristful relief, we left the arena of the basketball court, and entered the residence hall. We were driven to the storm by our happy state of mind.

The东风 has found an effect on the way of disrupting our hopeful tone of cheerfulness.

Barbara Hollen has several problems to face this semester. She has a lot of homework and the tests always leave her tired. She also has a lot of friends who are looking for some special annual event for post-holiday entertainment and have decided to have a very nice night out. They want to go to a dance, but they are not sure if it will be too much trouble.

Judy Dowler is in the last year of her college career. She is thinking about her future, and she knows that she will have to make some decisions soon. She is not sure if she wants to continue her education or if she wants to get a job. She is also thinking about her family and her future.
Choosing SA Leaders Becomes Serious Business

BY BRUCE FREEMAN

The month of Washington and Lincoln propels students through the specter of time’s hauntings, and trembling closely behind comes the month of March. With the approach of March, two significant events should be pointed out. On March 2 the vote presidential candidates for 1964-65 will present their plans and philosophies for next year’s SA. Secondly, the student body will cast their votes for one of three two candidates and three other executive offices.

Choosing your top leaders for student government is, like any other election, a process of important decision-making—important to you as a member of this student body and to the college as a complete unit. This is where leadership ability is analyzed and evaluated objectively, but here, as in every other matter, you must base your reasoning on the abilities of the candidates as well as the relationship to your personal life and the college. Leadership ability in all its implications is all too often considered in whole, and relationship to its parts is underutilized. Ignored by this is the fact that "leadership ability is a continuum of factors. Leadership is basically influencing others in a task, to be continued and directed. The sign of a true leader is his ability to draw the rest out of those around him. He won’t be the executioner, but will be a consummate master that leads a new leader in knowing how he helped others by giving them direction and motivation from either spiritually, intellectually, socially, or physically.

By selecting your leaders, keep these factors in mind. These criteria will work together to make up the fullness of your leaders. Today, and every other leaders guide, whatever they do and however they do it. Creating, in a sense, a true leadership team is a must, and training leaders is a necessity.

Motivation of SA Officers Should Affect Student Voting

By RICHIE FREEMAN

A change in administrative policy in your Student Association and its leadership has many implications that should be noticed and understood by all. On the understandable principle that what you vote for, you get, you may assume that new ideas, objectives and philosophies concerning the leadership and SA functioning and purpose will more likely be put into action by the SA officers.

Changes in certain aspects are necessary for a progressive SA. If natural rights, you, the students, should demand changes, and more importantly (and often neglected), you should know the reason for the changes. All too often, students think that a leader will make a change or implement a new policy on the basis of "its popularity," in its power to attract votes, and popular support. A change in leadership and style of leadership is necessary for the change in the SA's objectives. The new SA must be the voice of the students.

In this spirit, let us develop the new SA. Let us be bold, and take advantage of the opportunities we have been given. No SA president has made such changes as have the new SA presidents.

Working Together

The SA is a relatively small thing, but it does uphold the essential concept that the Student Association and the administration in the academic setting are not independent of each other. The faculty resuming their role is a welcome addition. It is not a private individual or things that they do in relation to the administration that has the things being interwoven. It is a desire for something other than ignorance of the facts. Similarly, working together, we can choose a better, and better-organized, better-managed, better-run government.

Popham Gives SA Lecture, "Challenging Decade Ahead"

Leading the way in advertising the unity between scientific knowledge and humanism is the challenge which faces the present civilization in the decade ahead," said Mr. John N. Popham, director of the "Challening Decade Ahead," in the tabernacle auditorium.

"The next decade will be a period of tremendous explosion both in population and human knowledge. "We are nothing more than an urban world," he said. "The next few years several areas of the country will become "population centers" such as Boston in Washington.

"You will be able to drive your car a distance without leaving an urban area. This may necessitate forming regional governments to handle the complex problems that arise in these areas," he said.

The new is in operation to construct a network of 40,000 service centers that will deliver every major city in this country.

"The goal of this network is to provide a service that every SMCC will have to the city in achieving the most uneasy necessity for a peaceful existence in the world."

Fine Arts Division Acquires New Shanty Organ for Chapel

At last Southern Metropolitan College has a real organ on campus. What is an organ? Webster defines it as "a musical instrument whose sound is produced by pipes." This means that the three electronic organs on campus are not really organs at all but instruments that produce sound through electronic means.

The new pipe organ in the Shanty is a Conn Company in Orrville, Ohio, which is recognized as one of the country's finest organ builders. The two-manual console has thirty-two stop-tabs for control of the 15 stops and 13 combination pedals which allow the organist to use any one of any stops by pushing a button. The box which encloses the four ranks of pipes is located on the back wall of the chapel.

The organ contains 326 pipes but preparation for 505 more pipes has been made which will be added when completed. The console itself is situated on a movable platform on the stage of the Fine Arts Recital Chapel. The organ will be used for teaching, practice and recitals. The installation of the instrument took two weeks. Organ technicians from Atlanta, Georgia, have done an efficient job.

The March meeting of the American Guild of Organists, Chattanooga Chapter, will be here on March 19. Mr. D. C. Cat will give the opening recital on the organ at this time. On another section of this program the College Choir and organ will sing a group from their sacred repertoire, and the program will also include organ music by Bach and other great organists.

The March 23 meeting of the Fine Arts Guild will be given to a concert to celebrate the organ dedication.

Students Assume Campus Positions On Special Day

Students of Southern Metropolitan College are going to have Administration Day on March 14. This is a day on which the roles on the campus will be reversed. Administrative offices of the college will be held by members of the Student Association. Bruce Freeman, president of the Student Association, will be acting college president and David Osborne, vice-president of the Student Association, will take charge as the college academic dean. Teachers will appear as student teachers.

The day gives the students an opportunity to prove the many principles that have been taught them. The teachers, according to Dr. Schneider, are to leave the campus and pursue matters of self-improvement.

The day will include a chapel service and a meeting of the President's Council. —PAN

Colporteun, So, rage do needs ra7Lf,?i ^

by Ralph Waldo Emerson once said, "Who was a man, must be a non-conformist ."

This ends application to our situation in the above case. One should feel free to express his ideas and be able to make suggestions without fearing a reprimand.

Ellen G. White had this to say: "The teacher must make rules to guide the conduct of his pupils. These rules should be few and well-considered, and once made they should be enforced. The teacher himself has helped to frame them."

To cite an illustrative example, let us discuss the idea of chaperoneage. Under this term in our student guide book, SMc and You, p. 13, Elder Dakly was widely quoted. I immediately say that he made some very inappropriate statements. However, in the paragraph of his book preceding the quotation, he had been largely referring to a particular young woman whom he confessed he had not understood until she was with young women.

If we go to the point, the person is old enough to be in college in a certain old enough to decide how to control himself respectfully. I would like to see the regulation simply require that at least one couple be together on outings or dates to act as a check on each other. Surely, this should be sufficient for young people who are nearing maturity. Emily Post, in her book, Emily Post's Etiquette, p. 166, in a chapter entitled, "The Chaperone and Other Laos Convention," even raises the question as to whether the old idea of chaperoneage is necessary for our modern generation. However, I do think that chaperoneage still has its place in some instances such as overnight stops.

Another View On Library Regulations

On p. 32 of book, SMc and You, (p. 12), was formulated through student-faculty cooperation, and is open for revision and improvement as needs are indicated. I feel much of the content of these regulations which should be further considered, as is illustrated above. I would like to see the- and other student ideas—expressed for proper consideration. So, I encourage YOU to speak up!

S.A.D.A.'s Are Restless; Can Be Remedied by Work
By Bruce G. Fearman
In the February 23, 1963 issue of Time magazine, there appeared an article inquiring student curricula and the resulting effects on student government. The article was well received, and the viewpoint expressed by the student government was in agreement with the article's conclusion. Along with this new era for student affairs has come a cycling student (a "normal" for student government. On several campuses, the student government has been simply abandoned.

Professional Clubs Have Varied Activities This Year

Southern Methodist College departures and departments have organized clubs, commonly called professional clubs, to help interested students in their chosen fields.

Physics Club

In reviewing and previewing the various activities of the club, one notes that the Physics Club has been very active. It is a new club this year, brought forth with the mind of providing assistance to the student community.

The November meeting was attended by the club's two officers, Bob McGarrity, president, and Ronald Fox, secretary-treasurer. Sidney Geller, president of the Chemistry Club, was invited to take this development seriously. The November meeting in the Physics Club invited special guests at that meeting. Or, the Chemistry Club members were invited to special guests at the meeting. However, Mr. Johnson commented how the Physics Club members were invited to special guests at the meeting.

Near the end of January, Dr. Helford, of the Chemistry Club, attended the "Revolution in Science Message in a Rainbow" at the second annual Chemistry science symposium at the American Institute of Physics—Bob Eckhardt, John Evans, Bob Fox, and Bob Speeman—were present with their theories on the symposium.

In April, students will present reports on their research on this physics project for the past few years.

Chemistry Club

Mr. Murrin Rogers spoke at Chemistry Day on March 1, in the science building. Room 201, at 7:30 a.m. This topic was the nuclear project which is used for hydrogenation. Although it is small, he said his town company that manufactures the nuclear project, the discovery of which has made Mr. Murrin world renowned.

Business Club

The Business Club meeting of March 21 will feature a talk by Mr. Bob Ford, president of the Elgenger Hospital, Chattanooga, Tennessee, at 7:30 p.m. Room 201, at 7:30 p.m. and his topic is "Future in Hospitality Business." Each student will receive a free ticket to the meeting.

April 5, John Harney, director of publicity relations for Southern Paper Co., California, Texas, the largest manufacturer of newspaper in the world, will meet with the Business Club in the science building. Room 201, at 7:30 p.m.

The first club meeting sponsored on SMC's campus as a Saturday night program will be "Productions on Camera". March 8 is sponsored by the Business Club.

'Nurses' Club

After receiving his B.A. degree in 1951, Velten entered in the Graduate-Columbia, B.C. as an instructor of the B.C. SMC president. In 1952, he accepted a call to be the pastor of the Carrie Church of Christ, in which he was later appointed by the president. SMC Invites All Prospective Students to College Days

Once a year Southern Missinary College invites all prospective students for the following year to the campus. The two days spent there are to give the visitor a real view of college life. This year, April 22 and 23 are the dates for the college days.

As the basis from which the academics of the Southern Missionary College have been formed, the college is guided by a competent faculty which teaches the students. Each member of the faculty is a professor of arts, science, mathematics, and the like.

All phases of the school program are on display, either in chapel programs, instructional tours, academic presentations, or reten-

tional evening programs.

Each academic division is open for visitation and inspection.

Students and administration members are present to advise, or answer any questions asked. This is an opportunity to acquaint the prospective student with the field of his choice, or help him to decide the course he wishes to follow.

A complete tour of the industries and job opportunities is a vital part of the college day program, showing where students can work for financial aid. On Sunday and Monday evenings, the students will participate in the "College Bowl," a parlour-games program, and on Monday evening the program committee of the Student Association will present an "Evening in Europe."—Continued on page 3, col. 2

Dietmore Team Will Conduct Prayer Week

Elder Charles W. Dietmore will conduct the Spring Week of Prayer at Southern Missionary College April 6 through 10. He will be in residence at the college facility.

As usual, the college will conduct the morning services in the auditorium. The evening services will be held at Elder Dietmore in the assembly hall. The college will also conduct evening services in the auditorium.
In order to create a better understanding in the minds of some who perhaps have gained the impression that the Southern Accent is taking too definite a neutral stand on many issues and ideas which could develop into hot discussions, we will present the principles on which the newspaper is published.

First of all, we take into consideration our real purpose for being here at SMC, specifically a Christian college known as the "School of Standards." We are here to get a Christian education, a harmonious development of body, mind and soul. This harmonious development, would, therefore, be a unity between the three phases, in our case, the foundation of our religious beliefs. This is principle number one, our loyalty to our purpose in life, to develop ourselves harmoniously for our life tasks.

Principle number two is the basis on which our religious foundation is founded—love and truth. If we quarrel among ourselves, it is a shame that we are not actually stable in What is published in our school newspaper is the question asked here. Why publish some body's ideas which will cause an issue that doesn't really appear on the campus unless created by the overly controversial statements or ideas being published? This could be principle number three, to not try to cultivate controversy and feelings on the campus. Closely associated with this is the principle of our school, in fact, do very closely harmonize with this principle of the editor of this newspaper.

This brings out another point, which we shall call principle number four. The editor, being a theology student, has very high standards to live up to and would not be doing himself well, for principle's sake, to cause a division in any group striving for a singular goal.

It will be noted that the Southern Accent has numerous opportunities, however, for student opinion. This does not excuse us from expressing opinion or the student's viewpoints at all, rather, to develop deeper thoughts to be expressed as worthwhile and constructive statements.

The Student Association column was initiated this year to bring a means of communication between the Student Senate and the student body as a whole. This is one form of student opinion. Letters to the editor, column features and free lance articles, to mention a few, are other opinion possibilities. The opportunities are there, only waiting to be used by you for your ideas of betterment and development of our stay at SMC.

Souther Accent

The Southern Accent is a newspaper written by the students of Southern Methodist College. Views expressed by the Southern Accent are those of the editors and staff who represent the students' viewpoint after the administration.

Our Basic Policies

Religious News

- Twenty-five years ago only 11 per cent of the subscribers belonged to any church, according to the listing in "Who's Who." Ten years ago it was 24.4 per cent. Today only 40 percent of the Southern Accent subscribers have a religious affiliation. Southern Methodist University is the only United Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, until recently has been reporting the percentage of students that are identifying with the same church that most of the students identify with.

The advantage of the Southern Accent's 1962 national budget provides more than two million students to think more deeply concerning the spiritual implications of their lives, according to a Prager report. This sum is to be used for missionary and repair of churches and chapels, upkeep of community and purchase of clergy men's salaries.

The editor further stated that the government was making sure there would be no official registration of religious or non-religious religious beliefs. Religious instruction will continue to be given in the children's stuff rolled as grades of the public school, with completely voluntary attendance.

Sunday School, which put their strongest support into any from the United States Supreme Court’s six to three decision in their favor, continues to be in many schools. If a City Council has voted 10 to 2 to override Mayor Abraham Nevelson's veto of a City Council amendment. At the same time, it approved an after-school religious education, which permits nuns elected on Saturday to Sunday, on pages 100 Robert R. Whittle: Chairman, Northern United Committee of Seventh-day Adventists, his membership ship was for the exemption, but would have preferred that instead of mentioning Saturday only the amendment would have included all those who go church on another day Sunday. The Kentucky Court of Appeals has also just declared a similar exception clause to be constitutional, stating that the members of the church do not sufficiently perform any religious activity to amount to the establishment of a religion. Rather, they avoid performing religiously or any other person who would have been a Sabbath other than Sunday. Maryland is still weighing the possibility of such a move, but is now without exception.

The appeal of Lester Dominguez is beginning to work for some people, that Kidwell has been chosen by the most fascinating book from the library and couldn’t help himself from it. This is not the only situation. As a publishing friend, Mr. Friend, came to Kidwell’s office and helped him with the most fascinating work. Neither the title of the book nor the result of this book.

The 600-120-foot-long one was captured on Cape Canaveral on January 17, when he was back for a month until everything was OK. Some people were very much the Colson Gilmor in it. It’s something a junior high school student could do.

More than 15 Pozzenti and Jewish clergymen were among those signing a page full of advertisements in the New York Times appealing to the House of Representatives to support their De-Religious Activists Committee. The signed page quoted George Washington’s warning against the importation of petitions of pretended grievances that the committee threatened democracy by introducing the alien concept of attend to from his helper's (h) helpfulness (h).

Why were the lights on the entire side of the building? Had it been a week earlier? From what I’ve heard, Gil Kendall lamented that a student was in the shower room and didn’t want to use the free his feet, let’s not condense this about you, for the time-wasting, Gil.

Dorms Show 'Man Called Peter'
"A Man Called Peter" was shown at 8:00 p.m. on March 24 in the auditorium. This film tells the life story of Peter Marshall, who was served in U.S. Senate Chaplain.

The film is based upon the book of the same name written by the late Cardinal Marshall of Boston.

The funds received from this event contributed toward church improvements. The $26 room (only room for students with 16 hours or more) in Tidwell Hall and one in process of remodeling in Jones Hall for the same purpose, are some areas where these funds will be used. Guest rooms were made available to those attending, and new lighting for the hallways are some of the future plans for these rooms.—PAN

Many of the world's music critics have praised organist Elsasser for having "the world's finest pedaling technique." These exhibitions of "foot work" range from a French Endeavor played by feet alone and containing whole paragraphs of four-note chords to his own composition containing some 3,000 pedal notes to be played in approximately three minutes. This latter composition is often followed byใกลיתו ריקפורטע "_flight of the Bumblebee" performed almost entirely by the feet. Enlarge Your World

How large is your world? The social circles of some are so small they cannot become important to others, because there are no people in the circle they can influence.

Do you decide you don't like a person from what you have heard of him before you have had a chance to find out for yourself what he is like? The one who tells you may not know anything about him except what other persons have said. This is a poor basis for choosing friends.

It is my opinion that we students are extremely friendly as far as the "hello," "how are you?" and "excuse me" are concerned, but that a large proportion of us are deceiving ourselves. We are content to be friendly with one another, yet are not acquainted with the full measure of trust and confidence which we place in our friends.

The April vacation has arrived for most students, and brings with it the opportunity to travel to different parts of the country.

For some, it may be a chance to visit family members or friends who live in other parts of the world. Others may choose to explore new places, try new foods, and have an opportunity to relax and enjoy some leisure time.

In conclusion, the April vacation is a time for many students to take a break from the routine of their daily lives and enjoy the fresh start that comes with a new month.

Miss Lea Served As Accountant, Dean, Registrar

Walling up the college for four thousand years, Miss Lea has lived in Cleveland, Tennessee, Miss Lea is indeed a record.

At the age of twenty-one, she was the Accountant, and Dean, Registrar, and Trustee of a small Southern college. In 1945, Miss Lea retired from the college, and has since then been living in the South for forty years.

Memories

In the beginning, there were some memories of how the college was before the war - a small, simple place with a few buildings and a few students. But then, as the college grew, more buildings were added, and the student body increased. Today, the college is a large, bustling place with many buildings and a large student body.

Despite the changes, Miss Lea has remained a fixture at the college, helping to keep the books and assist in various tasks. Her presence is still felt, and she is respected for her dedication and hard work.

Faculty Men Entertain Women at Annual Event

The men faculty and staff members entertained the women faculty of Southern Missionary College at the faculty staff dinner party the night of March 15.

The men, as hosts, met the women equipment managers at 30:15, the new women’s dormitory, and dormitory business managers showed them around the dormitory. From the reception room they went to the cafeteria where John Schmidt, director of food services, had prepared the evening meal.

The center of interest was a large vase for flowers around which were the slides for the evening’s meal. Mr. Schmidt served the vase out of a 209 pound block of ice and had glass and a crystal piece for the ice cube.

The group then went to the science building, room 221A, where Dr. John Christian and Dr. Clar- ence Chest performed a chemistry demonstration for the ladies. The demonstration put on a physics demonstration.

Since it was a rainy day, the group went to the library where Mr. Davis, director of libraries, showed the ladies some of the books he uses which included Mr. Kyle Boros, Mr. Wayne White, and Mr. Donald White. Mr. Davis also showed the group a quartz crystal of Mr. J. C. Coleman, a member of the Physics Department, Dr. Larry Williams and Mr. John Read sang for the group.—PAN

College Faculty Salaries Up According to NEA Survey

College professors, the senior faculty members, broke through the $10,000 barrier this year and are expected to earn, for the average, $10,376. College instructors, the beginning faculty members, have a median salary of $6,000 and Roy C. Macl, director of the NEA study.

The $10,356 for the full professor represented an increase of $12.06 per cent over the last similar study by the NEA, two years ago. One-fourth of the professors are paid more than $10,144; one-fourth less than $10,136.

The median salary for college instructors is $5,382, with one-fourth earning more than $6,000 and one-fourth less than $5,382. Some associate professors are paid as much as full professors—the range for such associate professors reaches a top of $10,500. Only 2 per cent of full professors earn as much. The median for college presidents is $12,000, with two presidents reported to be as high as $10,000 and $9,900 each with $10,000.

Nearly four-fifths of the college teachers are men, and, in addition, two-thirds are educators. Most of the data for the men is $7,009, and for women, $5,410. These data were obtained from more than 300 universities and colleges in all parts of the country. A geographic distribution of the report shows the highest median salary, $12,017, was reported in the Far West; the lowest, $6,019, in the Southeast.

On the average, professors comprise 20.4 per cent of the faculty, associate professors, 12.4 per cent, assistant professors, 20.3 per cent, and instructors 37.9 per cent.

Salary changes from the report received during 2 years ranged from a decrease of $7 per cent of the teaching staff in 15 per cent of the cases for 3.7 per cent of the teaching staff.

The group gathered for the NEA reception on March 15. Dr. Davis, director of libraries, showed the lady members the new women’s dormitory. The group was welcomed by Miss Jesse Martin, president of the NEA.

Dr. Bohannon was appointed to Iran Service After Mr. Bohannon was graduated from SMC, in 1952, he entered the Seventh-day Adventist Theology at Washington, D.C., and received the M.A. in Practical Theology.

He was the associate pastor of the Colombia, Georgia, church. While there, he directed the building of the Lord’s Church. Then he was appointed pastor of the Lincoln City church. During his stay there he was commander of the SMC Missionary Defense which followed a bull whistle, horn, and a hand bell for entertainment.

SA Stresses ‘New Look’ In College Days Program

By DIXIE FREEMAN, President SMC

The myriad doors of opportunity stand open to the campus at one for the progressive student. The Student Association provides the opportunity to apply skills of leadership and creativity. A unified student body utilizing the maximum of one’s talents and direction as set forth by Christian educational philosophy and principle. Faculty are responsible for administrative dedication and loyalty to provide the potential of a rapidly progressing physical plant. College industries are libraries for application of the manual skills as well as unique financial helping hands for students.

SMC invites such visiting scholar to consider himself right at home on one Southern campus, where education in a progressive Christian program standards are a reality, and friendships are a fact.

Your Choice and Future

If you have claustrophobia in crowds, in all sense of direction on campuses, a dulled idea of what college life is like, a fear of studying for examinations of higher education, or just plain wondering about college, we invite you, the high school and academy seniors, to indulge in College Days in order to get the full benefits they hold for you.

The goal of College Days is to paint a true picture of SMC, including every phase of student life from study and work to play. To this goal, the administration and students are striving through the efforts of the Student Senate.

You have gone through one day of the eventful week end already and have, no doubt, begun to form some basic opinion of SMC. We hope you have, but reserve room to form the real opinion when you have finished this day, because this day is geared for you, the information seeker. As you observe the college and all its offerings, you will definitely find the program that will best help you to make that dream come true, if indeed you have one.

The teaching staff are well trained in their specific fields and are appointed with much thought and study as to the contributions they would give to this college and to the residence who choose to be well educated here. The purpose is to develop a well-rounded individual rather than one who is top-heavy in any of the three forms: body, mind or soul.

You have seen the growing physical plans—the addition of Science Building, the new women's dormitory, the new year the new shopping center, and in the near future a new church, gym, administration building, and eventually a new campus. This is a progressive college and its students are likewise progressive.

The Student Association will be your voice in the affairs of the college's advance towards the future with the students' best interest at heart. If you choose to enter SMC, you will be part of this united effort towards service and ultimately perfection.

If you choose to cast your lot with SMC, you will include yourself in a heritage that no man can outlive. This heritage dates back to the years of struggle by strong men and women with utmost faith in God.

With only four short-years-steps, you will find yourself an alumni of this institution whose name spreads around the world.

The opportunities are all here for you. Now is your choice and your future. As you read the eighth pages of this newspaper, sections of which are featured for you, we hope you will decide that this SMC is the place for you. GK

Buddy-Buddy Help In Cafeteria Line OK

Dear Editor,

I am happy that I have buddies who are ready to share same line in line. I do the same for them if I have a chance. All three students who are always about in line should get some friends to help them and that way everybody's happy.

Your humble servant,

Station WSMC-FM

Is Appreciated

I would like to express my appreciation to the college administration for setting up an FM radio station on campus. The fine music in a new direction in entertainment for our hour. Two AM radio listeners left for years because there were no program except the news broadcast that was too loud to be a Christmas show, but now 154 AM is our evening fare.

The children appreciate the story hour on Monday and my sizeeregions morning the Boys. Sunday School classes have a smaller program more often, perhaps for the younger crowd.

Thank you to John Vogt, Terry McClure and all the staff and munc for their service; they who have worked for years to see this a working reality.

Another spring has rolled around, bringing with it the warnings of sunburn, the riotous exuberance of flowers, and an occasional astringent reminder we've been trying to conscience ourselves that "April showers bring May flowers."

Speaking of spring, we're all hoping that everyone had a happy vacation. We all did.

Mechanics

We have some rather adventurous pets down here, who have decided to take a course in auto mechanics. After the trip to College Dale, this past vacation, I think they have a head start. I never knew so much could go wrong with one car. Pat Ramsey's car is extenuating through, being something she couldn't find in her meager store of old rules. Linda Combs, Lil Wilson, Geraldine Denton, Ronald Hendrix, and Darla Combs, and yours truly have decided that a trip anywhere in Pat's car is not possible without three things: a blanket, because the "air-conditioner" can't be turned on; a flashlight, for the trip is the middle of the night to cool off the radiator and recharge the battery; and, of course, cheese and crackers to eat while waiting on some dark, lonesome highway for a car, a friendly truck driver to stop and give a ride. Anyway, things are looking up, when really the voltage regulator has expired. Even with all of this happening, the pets decided that the trip was well worth all the extra work. And, of course, Earl and Linda have started counting the sounds until the next trip. There is always some extraordinary mechanical ability some people have.

Assurances

Incidentally, any trip to College Dale is only one of the numerous trips that are just beginning with the usual ways of spring things. Jill Walk can give you a fairly detailed account of a trip to "Tom's Pizza Palace." She and Pat not only had pizza smeared from head to toe, but a gravy of grease here and there.

If anybody wants to see a good specimen of cauliflower ears just take a look at Tom Adams. She spent three hours on the phone the other day, doing most of the talking, I might add.

We have a couple down here that seem to need a little counseling from Dean Taylor on good social conduct. Barbara Clement's little girl, Cindy, and Mrs. Theriot's (four days) little boy, Duj, seem to think it's fun to bug each other and then go crying during dinner.

Work of Prayer

A few weeks ago we enjoyed a Week of Prayer conducted by Elder L. G. Scott from Kenner, Texas. Elder Scott was from New Orleans, Louisiana, and lived in his early childhood in a Mississippi farm. He was graduated from College Dale Academy. His college days were interrupted while he spent three years with the U.S. Army Air Force, and is the sergeant's assistant. He is a graduate of Southern Missionary College. He has a master's degree in education and a theological principal in the University of Chicago, Texas Christian University. The University of Texas, and Andrews University. He has pastored 15 churches, was edu cator of Religion and MOV servant of the Georgia-Cumberland Conference, captain of Southern Missionary College for three years, and college president for four years. He has conducted several weeks of prayer in junior and senior academies, junior and senior colleges, and the Glencoe Sanatorium Hospital. He is an exceptionally good speaker, and I'm sure we have gained a rich blessing from his presence here.

Princes of Fantasy, Miss Linda Byant, will wave her magic wand to start the day in her multi-color realm. The mystical tale includes a trip "Over the Rainbow," to "Neverland," and "The Steeple Town," and many other thrills too numerous to mention about and enchanting trip through Wonderland.

SMC Offers Nine Divisions

Communication Arts

This is the age of communications. Every day we are confronted with the necessity of understanding our interactions with others. We base our projects being carried out on such as the "selective listener." Within the next few months we may have worldwide (live) television programs.

Communications is a broad field it covers radio, television, newspapers, magazines, the movie industry, and the publishing industry. It includes also some of our everyday conversations. Every individual, every organization, every business and every facet of the world depends on communications.

The age of mass communications has brought as much importance to the academic field of communications. Southern Methodist college is endeavoring to "keep up" with the new and rapidly developing field. Last year the English department, the speech department and the modern language departments were combined into the present Communication Arts Division. Dr. Clyde G. Bushnell is the chairman of the division.

Opportunities

There are many opportunities for those interested in communications to practice what they learn. In the various writing courses, one may write columns and articles for publication in the college newspaper—The Southern Accents—as well as The Weekly Instructor and the radio station WSMC-FM. Give the speech student an opportunity to "learn the ropes" and practice his definition before a "live" listening audience. Those interested in script writing can get much experience writing for the station. WSMC-FM is an educational radio station authorized by the Federal Communications Commission. The station will operate on the assigned frequency 88.3 megacycles.

Fine Arts

Have you ever had aetical, an art class, or an art course, or an art workshop? Have you ever had a veritable master class or an art studio? What about a week of painting, sculpture, or pottery painting by an accomplished artist, to paint something like you yourself, and then simply dismiss the idea as "impossibly impossible"?

Well, . . . we think we may have talent! And if you are really interested, drop down to the studio below, join Helen Hole and see what goes on in the land of brushes and modeling clay.

Whether it is classical drawing, oil painting, or sculpture that interests you, Mr. Oliver Doss or Mrs. Melva Williams will be glad to have you good art students. You can do wonders like the people like you.

We're sure you like music: music that makes you dance, music that makes you sing, music that makes you feel. Does the music you like make you feel that you're apathetic? We do hope that you'll learn to appreciate the more serious music, for that is why we are here to help you learn to know and to love good music. From a picture in a pipe organ, we are prepared and ready to assist you.

If you have any questions of our music minor about the real professional training available in the audio and visual departments of the Music Department, you are now being taught for the musical student.

The Music department provides a musical language, a musical theory and its ready for operations of the music student. This is being utilized by the French, German, and Spanish classes of the Music Department, taught by the Spanish and French teachers of Collegeville Academy. The lab work is very helpful to students who are learning to speak and understand the language.

Professors

If you are interested in any of these fields you may consider one or more of the following teachers: Dr. Clyde G. Bushnell, professor of modern languages, Mrs. M. Hedge, associate professor of speech, William Hill, Taylor, associate professor of journalism, and Gordon Maddox, associate professor of English. Mrs. Maddox is on leave of absence this year working on her doctorate degree. He will return to the college fall to resume his teaching duties.

Whatever you choose for a life work, remember you must be able to communicate properly and efficiently. The musical arts constitute the most prominent achievement of the human race, and the music major will help you realize the importance of the fine arts department.

Chairs of the Division of Nursing, Dr. Mardel Smith, looks over files of nursing students.
The Division of Natural Sciences and Mathematics is composed of the biology, chemistry, physics, and mathematics departments. The object of this division is to give the student an understanding of the relation of science to our modern civilization.

Biology
In the biology department, there are essentially three types of courses offered:

1. The first type of course is the general or survey type. These courses are popular with students of every curriculum who wish to gain a basic understanding of biology to fulfill the science requirement.
2. The second type are the pre-professional science courses. In these, the pre-professional student is expected to develop enough biological knowledge to keep him busy in medical or dental school.
3. The third type of course is a comprehensive survey of the other three. These courses are designed to satisfy the student, particularly those seeking a doctor of medicine or dentistry.

Chemistry
The chemistry department this year is under the direction of Dr. J. E. Watson, the chairman of the division. There is one professor who teaches in this department.

Social Sciences
The Division of Social Science includes history, political science, geography, sociology, and cultural studies.

When you are thinking of a catalytic effect of a stimulating environment you are in the right place. The Science Building with its new addition has doubled in size. Whether you are taking a subject that is starting in the new year or you are continuing your studies in the same field of law.

The Social Science Division sponsors two courses during alternate semesters. Both carry three hours of college credit. During the summer of 1959, a three-week trip to France, Switzerland, New York and the New England states will be offered. The other begins in June of this year and is a tour of the South. It will touch all the states within the Ohio River and Mississippi river. The times to be reached will include all the great sights of southern American history and will take about six weeks of tour, covering about 3,000 miles. The entire one per student for the tour of the books is estimated at $270 and may be even less. —EFA
Pre-Professional

Southern Methodist College offers pre-professional and pre-technical curricula in a wide variety of fields. These open the way for students to enter professional schools of their choice for more specific training, or to enter upon a career as technologists.

The college is prepared to cooperate with students desiring to enter fields not listed below and will seek out special requests of courses needing to meet the entrance requirements to such institutions as may be chosen.

Medicine

Because nearly all medical colleges now require a bachelor's degree of all candidates, students who expect to enter a medical college should register as candidates for a bachelor of arts degree, selecting suitable majors and electives.

Care should be taken to see that the entrance requirements of the chosen medical college are included in the course of study.

The quality of scholarship required for entrance demands that grade-point averages in normal subjects and other subjects, figured separately, should not be less than 1.5, and a higher grade-point average is desirable.

Dentistry

Class A dental colleges require a minimum of two years of college work, and students planning to enter the Dental School of Loma Linda University should plan to take three years of college work. Those desiring to become dentists should plan for two years of college work before entering the dental hygiene course.

Pre-professional laboratory technicians should plan to take three years of study at Southern Methodist College point in attending a school of medical technology. The pre-professional course calls for one year of college work.

Law

SMC's pre-law program has been fashioned to meet the requirements of the Law School of the University of Tennessee and other accredited by the National Association of American Law Schools. Students completing three years of college with a grade-point average of 75 or better may receive the bachelor of arts degree from Southern Methodist College upon completion of the year in law school provided that the last year of pre-professional work is taken in residence at SMC.

Elect applications for this degree be made before the student enters law school, that the student maintains a pattern of living and conduct compatible with the aims and objectives of SMC, and that the student fulfills the requirements for a major and minor.

Engineering

Southern Methodist College offers a two-year pre-engineering program, the completion of which enables the student to transfer to an engineering school without loss of time. He can then pursue further studies in either civil or mechanical engineering.

SMC also offers three other pre-professional curricula. They are pre-physical therapy, pre-pharmacy, and pre-orthoptometry. Each of these requires two years of college work before entering the professional school.—FEA

Lyceum Program Will Be Film 'Sun Comes Up'.

Jeanette McDonald, starring in a picture called 'The Sun Comes Up,' will be shown at Southern Methodist College on Saturday night, April 29.

It may be less to Southernites and many others that this film was shot in the Smoky Mountains. No color film and a dog play important roles in this dramatic narration. How the power of sympathy can overcome selfishness and do good in another's life is shown.

Miss McDonald will sing some of her best songs. "All who have learned to love the songs of Jeanette McDonald will love this film," says Mr. Hyde of the Program Committee.

This is a program and will be shown in the College Yokesdale auditorium.—PAN

Loma Linda Research Shows Influenza-Fallout Relationship

Atlantic City, N. J.—Survivors of a nuclear disaster could become victims of an influenza epidemic against which their natural resistance had been destroyed. Studies at the Loma Linda University Van. laboratory in Los Angeles show that gamma rays such as might be encountered near a nuclear disaster area change the "immune mechanism" which protects the body from the influenza virus.

AEC Helps

Research scientists at the Loma Linda University School of Medicine, with support from the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, conducted a series of experiments on mice in a special laboratory constructed for the purpose. One section of the laboratory, guarded by a heavy lead door and other safety devices, contained a Cobalt-60 source emitting carefully measured radiation waves. The second laboratory area contained work space and room for test animals not to be exposed to the radiation.

Results

In the radiation exposure room, mice were placed at four different distances from the Cobalt-60 source, making it possible for the university scientists to observe the effects of different dosages of continuous radiation on the animals. All four levels of irradiation were too large to be correct the size of a nuclear explosion. More were irradiated at the various positions for given periods of time, then returned to the exposure room. At this point they were infected with influenza virus, then reared for additional periods of irradiation. A second group of mice never exposed to the irradiation were also infected with the virus, but in the latent free sections of the laboratory.

Comparisons were made both between the irradiated and non-irradiated mice. The irradiated animals showed the presence of larger amounts of the influenza virus, developing more rapidly and persisting for longer periods of time than the non-irradiated mice. Those which had undergone the largest amount of exposure to the Cobalt-60 source had approximately six million times as much virus as those which had not been irradiated.

Explanation

An explanation for the markedly greater growth of the disease virus in the irradiated animals is provided by blood tests done on both groups 30 days after they were infected. The tests measured the amounts of antibodies, organisms which protect the body against the infection, present in the bloodstream of both groups of mice.

The mice which had not been exposed to the radiation showed high levels of antibodies against the influenza virus. The irradiated mice had few protective antibodies, and those that were present presented the largest danger of irradiation had an adverse effect on antibody production and abolished the disease.

The report of these experiments was presented by James J. Cantor, Jr., M.D., at the Atlantic City meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

Chordale Gives Home Concert At May 4 Vespers

Establishing traditions is the theme of the Chordale Choir this season, and their annual Home Concert at 5:00 p.m. May 4, in the Pine Hall, is a good example of this. The program, which will be divided into four sections, will include songs related to the birth and life of Christ. Each section of the program will be presented by a student choir. The director's goal is to present something that will inspire each listener to greater understanding of Christ. This year the choral emphasis will be on Mary's position as the mother of the Lord. The concert will be accompanied by Mrs. Louise Davis, organist, and Dr. C. E. Smith, bassist.

Reader Urges More MATURE Acting

Dear Editor:

For individuals, walking out of wrestling in the evening to find that the car they have parked in the student parking lot has been slightly defaced is quite annoying. However, I am of the opinion that instead of cursing the car, one should take a reasonable and calm course of action, which is to report the vandalism to the appropriate authorities. This way, the perpetrators of such acts will be held accountable for their actions.

Sincerely,

David Miller

The impossible has happened again. Where the innocuous season begins early in September and lasts until the bitter end of April (with snow showers thrown in for the classroom: Collectables, where you are always greeted by their kind faces and the inanimate objects they have collected and savored over the years in their own special way, Take, for instance, the cost of the items and such in the former store. I am sure not only to want to pay for these. Yet, the cost of the education goes up as such because of such vandalism. Then let's not forget the cost of the supplies to replace (or repair) the items. The price charged for the new items will be astronomical. However, if you will bring five or more of the same item, they will sell it to you at a discounted price.

Mr. De, Mr. State is having trouble finding work in his own line, but knowing whether he is an academy or a college pupil (I retain from 'DJ' the belief that there is no such thing—HE SHOULD NOT BE ALLOWED TO (or accepted) in COLLEGE FOR AT LEAST FIVE YEARS. This would give that student a chance to make some money. This may not hands and stringent, but in view of the fact that Southern Academy College is to have, more students, intelligent students, ones such that the cost of tuition, in view of the people's need, seems too strong a barrier. A suggestion to Mr. De, Mr. State: Why not expand your horizon to include the country's welfare?

Sincerely,

Don Patrick

History Tour for Credit

In Montgomery, Alabama, the students will stand on the very spot where Jefferson Davis took the oath as President of the Confederate States. They will visit the chamber where the Confederate government was organized and the village of east and where it was formally dissolved.

The fast and second white houses of the Confederacy are on the list as well as the spot where Jefferson Davis was captured by Union cavalry.

In Virginia the class will visit Richmond, Yorktown, Williamsburg, Richmond and Appomattox. They will go to "My Old Kentucky Home," where they will be able to see the home used by Stephen Foster when he wrote the words to his immortal song, "My Old Kentucky Home," which once stood on the plantations where he worked out the musical score.

The trip to historic Virginia reveals piers, horsehers, mules, and military history. All the students will experience the thrill of such rewarding experience and will leave with a new found respect for history credit. The total approximate cost is $125.00 per person.

SA Supports New Church With $200 Gift

The Student Association presented a $200 check to Pastor Ray B. Thurman in a brief chapel ceremony as a donation for the new church to be erected on the campus.

The check was presented to Pastor Thurman by the body of voting members of the Student Association on May 14. During the 1964-65 academic year, the Student Association voted unanimously to forward part of this year's SA contingency reserve to this endowment fund. This action was presented by the Student Association to the president and board of directors of the Southern Missionary College.

Miss Gretchen Smith, member of the Student Association, presented the check to Pastor Thurman, who then made a few comments as appreciation of this student interest and support.
A Large Task

The task that lies before us is large, and its charge, great. Honesty as editor is a delicate, a true, a trust; and reflect the opinion of the student, yet having ultimate responsibility vested in the administration. To many readers it is a fine choice with SMC. Through this bridge will be formed their image and opinion of the school. These requirements have but one solution, and that is in absolute integrity. Factually in a college newspaper should be defined as the power, in honesty, to propel and advise, but never to criticize or destroy.

Thus far, the Southern Accent will be different from this year’s is a foregone conclusion. This is as it must be, for a college newspaper represents the product of the combined imagination, initiative and ideas of its entire heterogeneous staff. But for a few concrete ideas for next year’s Southern Accent.

Elimination of the dormitory columns will help release space for activities of general interest. Substituting a general interest campus column in their place, the columns at mention of the campus will be more correctly conveyed to the reader.

In planning the 1962-63 ACCENT budget, we have made provision for each student to mail two subscriptions off campus. This will serve to broaden the readerhip and improve the image of SMC.
