UPDATED LIBRARY WEBSITE & SCHEDULING TOOLS
Improved scheduling tools now available using McKee Library's website

In June, McKee Library launched its new website, which follows the updated university design. The new layout allows users to easily make appointments, reserve a study room, renew materials, and access the resources available in Knowledge Exchange and Research@Southern.

Updated Research Guides
All McKee Library research guides were migrated to a new platform, which allows students to access a subject specific research guide.

Professors can request an assignment specific research guide that would include resources needed based on specific guidelines for a course, or research based assignment. To make a request, contact Katie McGrath or Jessica Spears.

Meet with a Research Coach
Students can schedule an appointment to meet with a research coach (librarian) using the “Meet with a Research Coach” tool on the main page.

Library Calendar & Reservations
The new library calendar and reservations system allows students and faculty to easily see the various instruction sessions and workshops held in the library or in campus classrooms. Faculty can now schedule an instruction session in the library or in the course classroom, as well as schedule a Writing Center workshop. To view the calendar or schedule a session, please click on “Library Calendar & Reservations” on the left hand side of the library’s website.

HOW TO IMPROVE STUDENT WRITING
Using Assessing and Improving Student Writing in College to improve student writing in the college classroom

Dr. Sonja Fordham

The Bottom Line
Research suggests that, in as many classes as possible, students need to write frequently, receive feedback, and learn metacognition.

In more detail, they need to experience the following…:

- See that writing is important and necessary
- Experience a safe, supportive, yet rigorous environment with instructors who believe in students’ ability to improve as writers
- Read, read, read, and, more broadly, work within an interactive, language-rich environment
- Writing frequently in genres that require higher-order thinking
- Learn to work in multimedia forms and use developing technologies
- Get helpful guidance, feedback, and chances to revise
- Learn mindfulness about their own writing (metacognition) and principles they can apply across contexts
