Donors to Fund Raising Campaign

The Alumni officers are certainly happy over the response during late 1967 for the various funds on the campus that the Alumni have supported. It is the hope of the Alumni Association officers that all Alumni during 1968 will make it a point to give a minimum of $5.00, and of course many of you will want to give more to the Alumni Association. At the bottom of this column you will notice that there is a box to indicate your gift and to which fund you would like for your gift to be designated during 1968.

The following individuals, alumni, former students, and friends of SMC, gave to the various Alumni projects and funds during 1967:

This continued until she reached the hospital.

A physician at Memorial Hospital in Glendale stated that Dr. Ludington's quick action not only saved the woman's life but also prevented brain damage.

Another interesting experience involved open heart surgery performed by Dr. Ludington and another doctor.

They removed a bullet that had been lodged in a patient's heart for 15 years. In examining the patient and doing the surgery the doctors theorized that the bullet had gone into a vein and had gradually moved up during the 15 years into the patient's heart. The bullet was pushed along with the flow of blood during this period of time. After the bullet reached the heart, the heart beat would bounce the bullet up and down about 2 inches. The surgery was successfully performed and the bullet removed.

The patient now has a tie clasp made of the bullet so that he can remember the episode, the operation, and his good recovery.

VP Calls on World Alumni To Support Library Drive

By FLOYD GREENLEAF
Vice President
SMC Alumni Association

Whenever SMC alumni get together they inevitably begin to talk about their Alma Mater. Their comments vary but probably go something like this:

"Were you there when the chemistry lab was in Lynn Wood Hall? Were we ever glad when they built the science building."

"Remember how it used to rain like everything and flood all over the place? It still rains like it used to, but they fixed the flood problem."

"Did you ever go to the church in the tabernacle and sit under the basket ball goals? At last, SMC goes to church in a church."

"Remember when all the girls lived in Maude Jones Hall? And all the fellows in Talge? Are those new dorms ever nice!"

"Remember the old store — food, clothes and everything in one place? What a change!"

"Did you ever work the night shift at the woodshop? Forty-five cents an hour?"

"Remember when they taught PE in the tabernacle? What wouldn't we have given for a real gym and a pool."

"Do you remember WSMC when you could get it on the radio as far away as Talge? Now look at it — 80,000 watts!"

"Remember when they taught auto mechanics and woodworking in the basement of the ad building? You ought to look inside the McKee Building now. They have labs for everything."

"Were you ever a member of the old fire crew and had to push that old hose cart across campus? Have you seen the new fire truck yet?"

Those were the good old days and alumni like to talk about them. They also admire the changes that have transformed SMC into the modern, attractive plant that it is today. To a great extent these changes were made possible and functional in design, but will also have columns at the front entrance to keep in step with the architectural trend on the campus. It will be built on the site where Talge Hall, a men’s residence, now stands.

The building will be two floors and will have 39,240 square feet. As the tentative plan now stands, there will be possible future expansion into the basement.

The building will house not only the stacks, the reference room, and the reading rooms, but also seminar rooms, a cataloguing area, conference rooms, librarian’s offices, browsing room, reserve book areas, and various study sections, as well as carrels interspersed within the book stacks where students may study.

A faculty committee under the direction of Dr. Frank Knittel, SMC’s academic dean, has been working on tentative plans with ideas furnished by the library staff and the faculty.

It is anticipated that construction will start in September and be completed within a year.

Construction will be under the supervision of Francis Costerian, plant engineer for SMC, and his construction staff.

VP CALLS FOR SUPPORT

by gifts from people who firmly believed in a better college as the years progressed. The continuing need for such people is made apparent by the changes presently taking place.

The new library, discussed in another article in this issue represents a long-awaited advancement in which the Alumni Association has taken great pride. With the hope of becoming an effective force in campus improvement, the Association has pledged its full energy and resources to the construction of this new academic facility.

In case you have not joined your fellow alumni who have already donated, why not send in your gift now? Better yet, why not decide to make annual donations on a regularly budgeted basis?

With such a group of donors that collectively constitute a significant contribution to the growth of Southern Missionary College, the Alumni Association can play a meaningful role in the future of this campus.

Many of SMC’s alumni are becoming members of SMC’s Honor Club ($100 a year), and others are in the SMC Ambassador Club ($50 a year).

The following form is for your convenience in giving or pledging toward SMC’s new library:

New Library Will Occupy Site

The old makes way for the new, and an era ends as Talge Hall comes down at Southern Missionary College.

Talge Hall, named after Mr. John H. Talge of Indiana, has been razed at SMC, and a new library will go up in its place. Shortly after having moved the college to its present site from Graysville, the College Board planned a new men's dormitory, to be started in 1918 and finished in 1919.

The men lived in what was called the "Yellow House," (the Thatcher Mansion), in tent houses, and in an old make-shift dormitory. Part of the money for the new dormitories was provided by the General Conference, but it was insufficient.

Mrs. Elva Gardner writes in her history that World War I had interfered in raising funds and getting necessary help to complete the building in time for the opening of the fall school term in 1919.

"But," Mrs. Gardner continues, "the two union presidents, Elder Branson and Elder Wight, called in most of the workers in the two union conferences for a 'workers bee' to help erect the new building. All who could leave their work came with overalls, hammers, and saws. The fifty that responded lived in tents while erecting the new dormitory. These were joined by a few volunteer workers. One of the men, who had a broken arm, still did his part in planning the work and overseeing the enterprise. No architect was employed.

"The lumber used in the men's dormitory was from the Billy Sunday Tabernacle in Atlanta. The men pulled out the nails, straightened pounds of them, then found they couldn't use the nails because they couldn't be driven into the hard wood. It was while these men were building the dormitory that they
