PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO GRADUATES

Dear Graduates,

On behalf of every Southern Adventist University employee, I congratulate you on completing your courses of study and receiving your well-deserved degrees. We are proud of you!

We pray that as Southern alumni, you will continue to hold dear the Christian values you have experienced here, that you will excel in your occupations, and that you will continue to listen to and be part of God's calling in your lives, resulting in meaningful service in your churches and communities.

To your loved ones who have provided financial, emotional, and spiritual support, we thank them. The renowned scientist Isaac Newton once wrote that he was able to accomplished so much because he was "standing upon the shoulders of giants." I join you in acknowledging the giants in your lives, the ones who have loved, cared about, and supported you.

You have put in the hard work and completed a job well done. You are now equipped to go and lead. "The Lord bless you, and keep you; the Lord make His face shine on you, and be gracious to you; the Lord lift up His countenance on you, and give you peace" (Numbers 6:24-26).

Blessings,

Ken Shaw President

GRAND MARSHAL FOR ALL SERVICES

Keith Snyder, University Senate chair, Biology and Allied Health Department chair and professor

SPEAKER BIOGRAPHY

Gordon Bietz became the 25th president of Southern Adventist University's in 1997 and retired after 19 years in May 2016. Under his leadership, enrollment increased by more than 1,200 students to 3,500, and facilities experienced record renovations to accommodate that growth.

Before accepting the position as president at Southern, Bietz pastored the 2,300-member Collegedale Church of Seventh-day Adventists and served as president of the Georgia-Cumberland Conference

His retirement is a "working retirement." Besides his part-time job as director of Higher Education for the North American Division, Bietz continues to serve as director of the Adventist Association of Colleges and Universities and fulfills speaking appointments for the world church.

He and his wife, Cynthia, have twin daughters who each have provided them with three grandchildren. Retirement gives them opportunity to spend more time connecting with their family.

Due in part to his successful leadership at Southern, Bietz is in high demand as a speaker at workshops and seminars all across the country. But no matter where his travels take him, he always comes back home to Southern!

SOUTHERN SCHOLARS

In addition to maintaining a 3.50 GPA and meeting normal degree requirements, Southern Scholars complete a special honors curriculum involving interdisciplinary studies, honors courses, and independent study. This semester, four graduates earned that distinction. The titles of their senior research projects are listed below:

Julia Ciasca

"An Evaluation of Effective Fraud Awareness Programs in Current Educational Systems"

Dakota Cookenmaster

"Emblem: A Badge-based Approach to Learning Management Systems"

Sonia Joy

"The Effect of Sex on Venom Composition in the Southern Devil Scorpion, Vajovs Caronliniaus"

Adhey Waworuntu

"An Analysis of the Factors that Affect the Speed of Advancement of Men and Women into Executive Roles in Indonesian-Based Companies"

THE MACE

The mace is a traditional symbol used to communicate and designate authority. The Southern Adventist University mace was crafted in 1986 by John Durichek, a Southern alum. Southern's mace represents its heritage and raison d'être (reason for existence). The base is of pine from Jones Hall, built in 1917 and razed in 1985. The main staff is of walnut. The seven rings represent completeness. The four-sided ebony segment is seen as Southern's underlying educational philosophy—balanced mental, spiritual, physical, and social development for each student. The brass flames represent the Holy Spirit.

Bearing the mace is the grand marshal, Keith Snyder, chair of the University Senate and chair of the Biology and Allied Health Department. His regalia is evergreen, the university's traditional color.

PHILANTHROPY MEDALLION

Graduates are wearing a gold zipper-pull medallion in honor of the alumni, family, and friends who have donated to the class gift this year.

A C A D E M I C R E G A L I A

The color of velvet trim on the hoods represents the area of study. The color of the silk lining represents the university that conferred the degree. The color of the tassel represents the degree of the undergraduate.

HONOR CORDS

Gold Cord—Summa Cum Laude—3.90+ GPA Silver Cord—Magna Cum Laude—3.75-3.89 GPA Green Cord—Cum Laude—3.50-3.74 GPA

All other colors represent honors societies in the various academic areas.

CULTURAL GRADUATION STOLES

The cultural stoles celebrate Southern's Asian, African/Black Christian Union, European, Latin American, Native American, and Oceania Islanders student groups. They represent the fabric that makes this university a diverse community and spiritual family in faith. "After this I looked, and there before me was a great multitude that no one could count, from every nation, tribe, people and language, standing before the throne and before the Lamb. They were wearing white robes and were holding palm branches in their hands. And they cried out in a loud voice: 'Salvation belongs to our God, who sits on the throne, and to the Lamb'' (Revelation 7:9-10, NIV).

PRESIDENT'S AWARD FOR TEACHING EXCELLENCE

A lifelong educator, Kathy Goddard joined the English Department at Southern in 2010 to teach composition and creative writing. She earned her undergraduate degree at Andrews University in Michigan and master's degree at John Hopkins University in Maryland and received the Zapara Award for Excellence in Teaching and the Alumni Academy Achievement Award.

Two of Goddard's passions are teaching and writing. Goddard enjoys helping her students perfect their writing craft and earn their first by-lines. As a writer, she is published in multiple genres from short stories to scriptural textbooks.

Goddard's commitment to quality has been a key part of the success of students across Southern's campus. Other professors share that "she is incredibly patient, kind, and clear in her teaching practice." Goddard bases her courses on Biblical foundations and integrates critical thinking skills so that students learn how to reflect, write, and believe carefully and with a firm foundation for serving others.

Most impressive is Goddard's mentorship and support of both students and colleagues spanning many academic areas. She finds deep joy in recruiting and equipping the next generation of teachers and consistently spends extra time helping learners who are struggling. Additionally, she sponsors the department's Writer's Club, which gives aspiring authors a platform for sharing literary creations and publishing poetry, prose, and art.

Another English professor on campus describes how "generous care for people is evident in Kathy's daily walk, and her spiritual insight and wisdom provide a strong example for others to aspire to!" From supporting the university's band-aid fund for students' unexpected emergencies to leading Sabbath School classes and volunteering at the Interfaith Homeless Network, "Kathy's love for God and others overflows outside of her classroom and into the Southern community and beyond."

In recognition of her exemplary pedagogy and her Christlike heart of service, Southern Adventist University is pleased to present Kathy Goddard with the President's Award for Teaching Excellence.

An alumna of Southern's undergraduate psychology program, Cristy Pratt earned her master's degree in Industrial and Organizational Psychology from Walden University in Minnesota. She worked as an adjunct instructor in the School of Education and Psychology at Southern for three years before becoming a full-time associate professor in 2013.

Getting to know her students in and outside of the classroom is Pratt's passion, and she frequently is described as an "amazing," "devoted," and "compassionate" professor, adviser, mentor, and friend. One student gushed: "I can't compliment her enough; she's just that great!"

Pratt's personal relationship with God is cited as one thing that sets her apart as a professor and impacts her thoughtful and effective approach to each and every course. "She has a special talent for capturing interest and interaction, no matter the topic," with organized and clear expectations that allow students to look forward to learning from her while achieving academic success. Known for bringing "a calming but enthusiastic energy to even early morning classes," Pratt is generous in small kindnesses, such as sending emails to wish students good luck at the beginning of a semester.

A native of Brazil, Pratt sponsors the Latin American Club on campus as well as the Psychology Club. Her professional affiliations include the American Psychological Association, the International Honor Society in Psychology, the Society for Industrial and Organizational Psychology, and the Society for Human Resource Management.

To honor her remarkable success in engaging with and caring for students, Southern Adventist University is pleased to present Cristy Pratt with the President's Award for Teaching Excellence.

PRESIDENT'S AWARD FOR EXCELLENCE IN SCHOLARSHIP

After graduating from Pacific Union College in California with a bachelor's degree in biology, Aaron Corbit, PhD, planned to pursue a career in medicine. Instead, God led him to teach science and math at a small church school in Chicago, Illinois. Later he returned to the West Coast to complete his doctorate in biology at Loma Linda University, focusing his research on rattlesnake conservation biology and the epidemiology of snakebites in Southern California. He joined Southern's Biology Department in 2012.

Described by his peers as an "amazing biostatistician" and "exemplary researcher" who is "perpetually helpful," Corbit not only publishes his own research but also evaluates student and faculty research projects and analyzes the data of others. He is hands-on in conducting research with and lending guidance to many students, including those who are pursuing a biology research degree as well as senior students in other academic disciplines. "Always open and willing" to assist, he is constantly "helping someone with his or her data."

"Aaron sets a high standard of excellence and demonstrates how and why research is such an integral part of ensuring that relevant and significant practices are used in the classroom," notes a fellow professor. "His willingness to go above and beyond normal requirements really sets him apart as a scholar scientist."

Another biology professor who frequently teams up with Corbit for research cites Corbit's major contributions to multiple publications in just the past two years with more work already underway. Recent projects include looking at the defensive behavior of black widow spiders and assessing the impact of human traffic on wildlife abundance in hiking trail systems. Conservation biology, behavioral ecology of venomous animals, and the intersection of science and faith are his broader research interests.

Acknowledging his own research accomplishments and his gift of helping students while holding them to exceptional statistical analyses, Southern Adventist University is pleased to present Aaron Corbit with the President's Award for Excellence in Scholarship.

Ben Thornton, PhD, joined Southern's faculty in 2010 and holds degrees in biology, conservation biology, and environmental toxicology. Recognition for his work is noted as "long overdue," and peers describe him as going "above and beyond" and embodying "what excellence in scholarship is all about."

Thornton's research with students has included differential protein expression during limb regeneration in lizards, atrazine-induced changes in glutathione transferase activity, detection of microplastics in sea turtles, dendrochronology on White Oak Mountain, effects of MCHM from coal mining on fathead minnows, and detection of estrogen in wastewater effluents.

With the support of colleagues, Thornton envisioned and implemented the first undergraduate research program for Southern's biology students. As biology research coordinator, he established courses for a research degree, created an undergraduate research lab, and wrote the Biology Writing Guide to standardize writing requirements for both classes and research.

Thornton also serves as director of the Southern Arboretum and was the driving force behind this initiative, tagging specimens across campus while creating a website database for identification. To date, 1,200 trees and woody plants and 84 species (53 native) are catalogued and showcased, offering visitors an organized source of information about the aesthetic beauty and nature surrounding campus.

Additionally, Thornton has mentored students on Southern's Evangelistic Resource Center mission trips to the Philippines, Zambia, and Zimbabwe and during international biology field classes. His photography is used to promote future trips as well as various departments' efforts and achievements.

With great esteem for his defining leadership in biology research, Southern Adventist University is pleased to present Ben Thornton with the President's Award for Excellence in Scholarship.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDALLION

Krystal Bishop, EdD, has served as a professor in the School of Education and Psychology and director of the Teacher Education Program since 1996. Her commitment to students' personal and academic success is unparalleled. In 2010, she received the Adviser of the Year Award, and in 2011, she was presented with the President's Award for Excellence in Teaching.

Bishop has authored numerous articles in the Journal of Adventist Education on teaching literacy and presented countless training sessions to teachers nationwide. She also served as a liaison between Southern's educator preparation program and Hamilton County, the state of Tennessee, and the Southern Union of Seventh-day Adventists.

Over the years, her love for children has motivated leadership in Primary and Earliteen Sabbath Schools and fundraising and mission trips to the Living Waters Orphan Feeding Center in Kenya. She also participates in Feed My Starving Children.

For her grace, passion, and tireless work in Christian education, Southern Adventist University is pleased to recognize Krystal Bishop as a worthy recipient of the Distinguished Service Medallion.

Sylvia Mayer completed her undergraduate nursing degrees at Southern and later returned to join the teaching faculty in 1981 for four years, and then again in 2004. As director of Admissions and Progressions for the School of Nursing, Mayer meets with many prospective students and families, even on weekends and breaks. Seemingly on call around the clock, she is a welcoming personality and voice for the program.

Coworkers describe her gracious "can do" spirit as a powerful motivator that consistently finds ways around problems. "Sylvia knows people and resources" and "seems to be a magnet for students and community members who are in trouble and needing assistance. She raises money; gets food, furniture, places to live, and vehicles; organizes work bees; and provides emotional support to many."

Mayer is also a visionary who coordinated with area hospitals to build the Nursing Consortium, a respected, off-campus Bachelor of Science in Nursing completion program. She champions affordable, work-and-family-friendly, RN-to-BSN education and assures a curriculum geared to adult learners. For students and contacts who may not share or understand the Adventist faith, Mayer is known for gently explaining the Sabbath and other doctrines in a thoughtful and engaging way.

Because of her beautiful representation of Jesus to everyone in her sphere of influence, Southern Adventist University is pleased to present the Distinguished Service Medallion to Sylvia Mayer.

Candace Wing, director of the University Health Center, led her team and the campus through the COVID-19 pandemic in which the approach and efficacy of hands-on care gifted students, parents, employees, and the broader community with reassurance and safety.

Wing oversaw the development of the COVID-19 response and worked tirelessly to maintain the overall health of the university, forming liaisons with state and local health officials to ensure an evidence-based and effective approach and adjustments. In spite of her own tremendous workload, she also found time to lend a hand to her coworkers, who describe her as "an amazing leader."

Upon graduating from Southern with her associate and bachelor's degrees in nursing in 1985 and 1986, Wing worked in labor and delivery, pediatrics, home health, and infertility and reproductive medicine. In 2007, she came back to her alma mater as a nurse in the health center and was promoted to director six years later. Her current responsibilities span primary care, travel medicine, and patient education.

Lasting relationships that develop during interactions at the health center are what Wing treasures most about her work on campus. She's happiest with a house full of college students and also volunteers in children's Sabbath schools.

Because of her steadfast commitment to the highest standards of health care, Southern Adventist University honors Candace Wing with the Distinguished Service Medallion.
