FAKE NEWS DISPLAY AT MCKEE LIBRARY

McKee Library is featuring a special display of resources for dealing with fake news.

With the rise of fake news across the internet, McKee Library has put together resources for students and faculty to help identify and avoid fake news.

Not sure how to identify fake news? The following tips and resources might help:

- Use fact-checking resources like FactCheck, Snopes, and Politifact.
- Pay attention to the web address of all news articles.
- Watch for capitalization and grammar errors.
- Research the author of the work and the organization.
- Conduct a reverse image search on Google.
- Open a new tab for each piece of information
- Be aware of bias.

The Fake News display will be available on the library’s main floor April 1 through 30, 2018.

CELEBRATE ASIAN AMERICAN & PACIFIC ISLANDER HERITAGE MONTH

McKee Library has partnered with SAU's Student Association to create a dynamic display of books and films in honor of Asian American & Pacific Islander Heritage Month.

Similar to the display created for Black History Month, McKee Library has partnered with Student Association to create a display of items celebrating Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders throughout the month of April.

All are encouraged to check out a book or DVD from McKee Library’s display, located on the library’s main floor. This display includes a variety of works by prominent Asian American and Pacific Islander authors and poets, as well as films, documentaries, and children’s books.

Additional recommendations are available on the Asian American & Pacific Islander Heritage Month reading list.

The Return of the Prodigal Son: A Story of Homecoming
Written by Henri J. Nouwen
Recommended by Carol Harrison
BX2350.2 .N667 1994

A chance encounter with the painting The Return of the Prodigal by Rembrandt leads Henri Nouwen on a spiritual adventure. Through this inspiration, he probes the themes of homecoming, affirmation and reconciliation. The challenge to love as the father and be loved as the son is the ultimate revelation.

Hidden Figures
Directed by Theodore Melfi
Recommended by Donald Martin

Based on the book by the same title, Hidden Figures takes place in the middle of the space race between Russia and the United States, when struggles of race and gender equality and professional distinctions in the workplace abounded. This movie explores those issues when NASA hires a brilliant group of African-American women, Mary Jackson, Katherine Johnson, and Dorothy Vaughan, to work on a team of mathematicians who will provide the calculations for the launch and re-entry of John Glenn’s spacecraft. The movie shows the discrimination these three women endure by fellow NASA colleagues. They bravely tackle these obstacles, becoming heroes for overcoming barriers and changing hearts, opening the door for future generations.

About the Work

On August 18, 1885, Samuel Clemens patented a “game apparatus” with the United States Patent Office, which would become Mark Twain’s Memory Builder. Clemens fantasized about making millions from his game, but test marketing in 1891 failed to yield any public interest. One critic later described the complicated game board as looking “like a cross between an income tax form and a table of logarithms.”

More Information

The Duane and Eunice Bietz Collection houses books and materials by and about Mark Twain. Included in the collection are several rare first editions, signed copies, periodicals, memorabilia, and authentic letters written by Mark Twain. The collection was donated to McKee Library by Duane and Eunice Bietz in 2009.

Call for Artists

If you are an artist or know of someone who is interested in exhibiting their work, please email Katie McGrath at kmcgrath@southern.edu. We accept most mediums and themes as long as the works follow university guidelines. Students are encouraged to exhibit their works, so please share this information widely.
