McKee Library offers research guides, reading lists, and new databases to assist researchers.

McKee Library has added research guides and databases to further assist our learning community.

Research Topic Guides

The library now offers 47 research topic guides on a variety of research areas ranging from African American Studies to World Religions. These guides provide an excellent starting place for new researchers. Each guide provides direct links to background information available in Credo Reference on subtopics and links to scholarly research in McKee Library databases.

How do I? Research Guides

For any researcher struggling with a specific topic, McKee Library now offers a series of research guides called “How do I?”. These guides provide assistance in navigating the research process, including topics such as citations and academic integrity, evaluating resources, fake news, Mendeley, and getting started with research.

Reading Lists

At the request of the Student Association, McKee Library created a series of digital reading lists. These lists are available on a variety of topics and feature recommended books. Current lists include Asian American and Pacific Islander Heritage Month, Award Winning Titles, Biblical Foundations of Faith and Learning, Black History Month, Faculty & Staff Recommendations, and Seventh-day Adventist Pioneers.

If you would like to request a specific reading list for your course or a topic of interest, please contact Jessica Spears at jspears@southern.edu.

New Databases Available Through the Library

- American Antiquarian Society (AAS) Historical Periodical Collections: Documents the life of America’s people from the Colonial Era through the Civil War and Reconstruction.
- Credo Reference: Gather background information on your topic from hundreds of full-text encyclopedias, dictionaries, thesauri, quotations, and subject-specific titles, as well as 500,000+ images and audio files and over 1,000 videos.
- PrepSTEP for Colleges: PrepSTEP is an online platform that can change the lives of students through academic success and preparation for today’s workplace.
- Primary Source Access-Regional Edition: This is a collection of 160 multidisciplinary resources covering art, history, literature, news, and the social sciences, from 1473 to date.
- PsycTESTS: Professionally indexed, with more than 40,000 records, this database is an extensive collection of items associated with psychological measures, scales, surveys, and other instruments.
- Territorial Papers of the United States: The official history of every American territory before it became an American state, sourced from the National Archives of the United States.
- Testing and Education Reference Center (TERC): Databases featuring standardized test preparation, researching undergraduate and graduate programs, finding tuition assistance, and exploring careers.
- Transparent Language: Transparent Language builds all four core skills of a language: listening, speaking, reading, and writing. 100+ languages to choose from.

Twelve Years a Slave is the autobiographical account of Solomon Northup, an African American who was born free in New York in the early 1800s. Northup was captured for twelve years. It is during this time that the story takes place.

This audio book, narrated by Sean Crisden, is an unabridged version of the original work. Comparable to other slave narratives, this work is a story of freedom and slavery during the time prior to the American Civil War.
