400 Alumni Visit Campus

Four of the new SMC Alumni Association officers are: Floyd Greenleaf, '55, president; Barbara Stinchfield Platt, '63, assistant secretary; Mary E. Elam, '51, PR secretary; Douglas Bennett, '51, president-elect.

Approximately 400 alumni members and their families visited Southern Missionary College during the annual Homecoming, October 27 and 28, 1972.

Highlights of the occasion featured Elder Raymond H. Woolsey, '51, as the Friday night speaker and Elder Robert H. Wood, '47, as the Sabbath morning speaker, and Charles Fleming, Jr., general manager of the college who was made an honorary alumnus.

In charge of the overall activities was Warren Hammond, '51, who made the presentation to Mr. Fleming of a plaque designating Mr. Fleming as the first honorary alumnus in the history of SMC. Hammond said that the Alumni Association was honoring him for his unselfish and untiring work and contributions over the years.

During the vesper service on Friday evening, the Nicaragua project, sponsored by the MV Society of the College, was supported by the alumni in the amount of over $2,000.

The Collegedale Chapter of the Alumni Association was host for the buffet supper on Sabbath evening, and Dr. C. F. W. Fitcher, SMC's academic dean, provided the vespers and meditations.

Officers for the coming year are Floyd Greenleaf, '55, president; Douglas Bennett, '51, president-elect; Dianne Tennant, '65, secretary; Barbara Stinchfield Platt, '63, assistant secretary; Wallace N. Blair, '53, treasurer; Mary E. Elam, '51, PR secretary.

Enrollment on Plateau

Southern Missionary College completed its registration with 1,412 students, reaching a plateau since last year's total was also 1,412. The figures were given by Dr. Arno Kutzner, SMC's director of admissions and records.

The enrollment has leveled off after 15 years of unprecedented gains, starting in 1957 when the number was 480.

The college campus registration does not include 261 in the Collegedale Academy and 392 in the Spalding Elementary School. The total for the three campuses is 2,059.

This year's students include 28 full-time students in clinical experience for nursing on the Orlando campus, 24 part-time students in the Madison, Tenn., area, and 20 part-time students in the Calhoun, Ga., area.

SMC, at the request of three Seventh-day Adventist academies, has made several freshman courses available to high school seniors who want to get an early start on their college careers.

From September 461, sophomores 303, juniors

Though the new cafeteria-student center building is not yet finished, it already houses the business administration department with its three classrooms and four offices, with additional space for readers and secretaries; it also houses the Computer Spectrum business, and offices for MV, Temperance, and the Colporteur Club. Grindstone Mountain is seen in the background.

Woolsey, Wood Speak

Thomas R. Huxtable of Takoma Park, Md., one of the three members of the 50-year honor class, was present at Homecoming. "Hux," in 1916, helped move the college from the Graysville, Tenn., campus to its present site. Their hilarious experiences with moving the cattle is recorded in "SMC, a School of His Planning." Pictured with him is Mrs. Huxtable.

Those taking part in the Friday night vespers were: Donald Self, '71; Warren Hammond, '51; Raymond Woolsey, '51, guest speaker; Frank Knittel; Melvin Campbell and Howard Kennedy, '57.

Three Classes Honored

Those present from the honor class of 25 years ago were: Earl Fisher Kenny, East Lebanon, Maine; Grace Schneider Turner, Collegedale; Betty Jane Bottomley Wood, Maitland, Fla.; and Wilma Cornell McDonnell, Miami, Fla. The class consisted of 13 four-year graduates and 16 two-year. Seven of the two-year class returned to SMC and graduated with bachelor degrees.

Elder Robert H. Wood, '47, spoke at both the church services. Pictured with him are those who also participated in the second service: Floyd Greenleaf, '55, Warren Hammond, '51, Elder Wood, Gary B. Patterson, Harold Phillips, '50, and Desmond Cummings, '65.

Those on the program for Sabbath School were: Chester Caswell, '70; Minon Hamm, '66; Bruce Gerhart, '61; William Kuester, '29; Bruce Freeman, '62; Pat Mathers Orange, '62; Marsha Dunkin Teel, '72; and J. Don Crook, '53.

AD Nurses Score High

The associate of science degree nursing students over the last few years have been making excellent scores on the state board examinations, according to Mrs. Christine Shultz, head of the department.

The national mean is approximately 500, and in 1972, the 24 candidates for graduation from the program scored a mean of 538.28, which is 38 points above the national mean.

Of the 24, only one student failed in one of the five examinations that each of the students takes. Therefore, the 24 students took 120 area tests, and only in one out of the 120 was there a failure.

Several of the students have been in the top 15th percentile for the past several years. Only one year since the inception of the department in 1965 have the students fallen below the national mean.

Hospitals from around the area indicate that they are quite pleased with the clinical expertise that these nurses have been showing.

The two nursing divisions now constitute approximately 30 percent of the college's total enrollment.

Fourteen Alumni Ordained

Fifteen young ministers in the Florida Conference were ordained at camp meeting and all but one are graduates of SMC. Those ordained were: Lewis H. Bame, Jr., '65, pastor of the Brooksville-Inverness District; Ronald Bruce Bentzinger, '68, Altamonte Springs; Richard H. Coston, '56, Merritt Island; J. Wayne Coulter, '66, Altamonte Springs; Randall H. Fox, '61, principal of Forest Lake Academy; his wife Gwen Gardner Fox, is a '58 graduate of SMC; H. Lewis Hendershot, '68, Apopka; Richard J. Judson, '68, Winter Haven - Lake Wales; Marvin G. Lowman, '66, New Port Richey; Gordon L. Retzer, '68, Port Charlotte; J. Walter Ring, '69, Ocala; his wife, Ina Miller Ring, '69, graduated from SMC four-year nursing; Robert H. Schwebel, '65, Arcadia - Ft. Meade - Wauchula; William R. Webb, '68, Boynton Beach; T. G. Whitsett, '66, Tallahassee; Walton A. Williams, '68, Sarasota - Venice - Nokomas; his wife, Carol Neidigh Williams is a '67 graduate of SMC.

Board Votes Personnel Changes

The Board of Trustees of Southern Missionary College in an interim meeting held recently voted several actions that affect the personnel of the college. The annual meeting comes in February.

Three of its members were made board members emeriti: Elder K. A. Wright, for many years president of the college and now retired in Florida; O. D. McKee, former president of the McKee Baking Company and now chairman of its board and an alumnus of the college; and B. F. Summerour, a businessman from Atlanta who has been on the board for 35 years.

The board voted memberships to Ellsworth McKee, '54, a son of O. D. McKee and president of McKee Baking Company; Lynn Nielsen, '69, attorney-at-law in Chattanooga, and Mrs. Cora Perkins, business woman of Deer Lodge, Tenn.

The board also voted the following: to initiate the new faculty senate that will serve as a clearing body for policies of the college and will be composed of several administrative officers, as well as a large number of faculty members elected by their colleagues. The faculty senate had its first meeting recently and will report periodically to the faculty on its actions.

Mrs. Barbara Ruf was voted a one-semester leave to finish her doctorate in English at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville. James McGee was voted a 15-month leave to pursue the doctorate in music at the University of Cincinnati. Elder Ron Springett was voted a three-year leave, starting in 1973, to pursue a doctorate in theology at the University of Manchester, England.

A summer service leave was voted for Dr. Melvin Campbell. Overseas travel leaves were voted for Dr. Marvin Robertson, chairman of the SMC music department; Prof. and Mrs. Stanley Walker, of the music and office administration departments; and Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Davis, of the math and nursing departments.

Permanent tenure was voted for Dr. Wayne Janzen of the industrial education department.

Also, the board recognized the impending retirement of several of its staff members: Ransom Luce, now cafeteria director; Frank Fogg, former manager of the College Broom Factory; Les Bonjour, of the engineering department, and James Zeigler of the biology department.
