CONSTRUCTION HAS BEGUN AT THE LIBRARY

Updated entrance and expanded third floor work taking place at the library

We are excited to announce that construction at McKee Library has begun.

Third Floor

McKee Library's third floor is undergoing a major renovation. This space will be the future home of the Tutoring Center and the Writing Center.

The Lincoln Library will receive a new space for all of the library's special collections. This space will be open for research and study.

A large general purpose classroom and restrooms will complete the third floor.

Tutoring Center Location

The temporary location for the Tutoring Center office is Room 149 on the library's main floor. Tutoring will take place in the space outside the office until construction is complete. Appointments are virtual until August.

Writing Center Location

The Writing Center will remain in its current location until construction is complete.

After moving to the third floor, the previous Writing Center space will transition to general study space and reference.

Front Entrance

McKee Library will receive a new two-story front entrance in the coming months. The second floor of this space will be a new sun room-style reading area.

We are excited for this new space that will increase natural light and study space in the building.

Temporary Entrance

During the front entrance construction process, a temporary entrance will be established on the Knowledge Commons wall.

Circulation Desk

The circulation desk will be relocated to the area nearest the temporary entrance during construction of the new entryway at the front of the building.

Construction Closures & Noise

McKee Library plans to remain open throughout the construction process. Any temporary closures will be announced campus-wide via email, on our website, and on the library's social media platforms.

We do anticipate the building to be more noisy than usual throughout this process and appreciate your patience.

TOOLS & RESOURCES

BLACK LIFE IN AMERICA

Black Life in America is sourced from more than 19,000 American and global news sources, including over 400 current and historical African American publications.

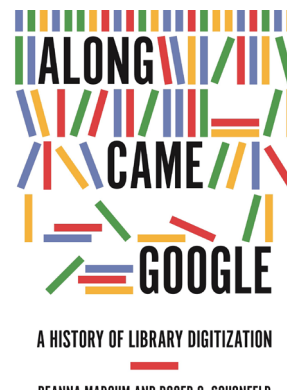

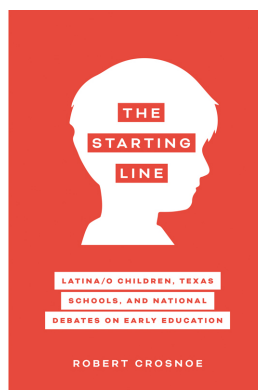

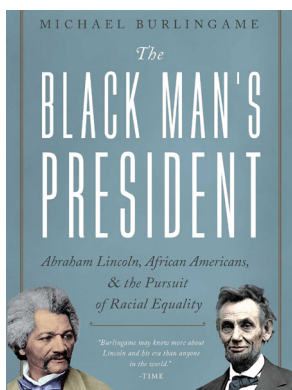

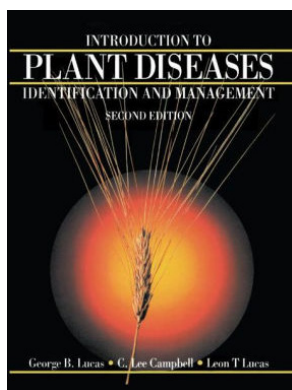

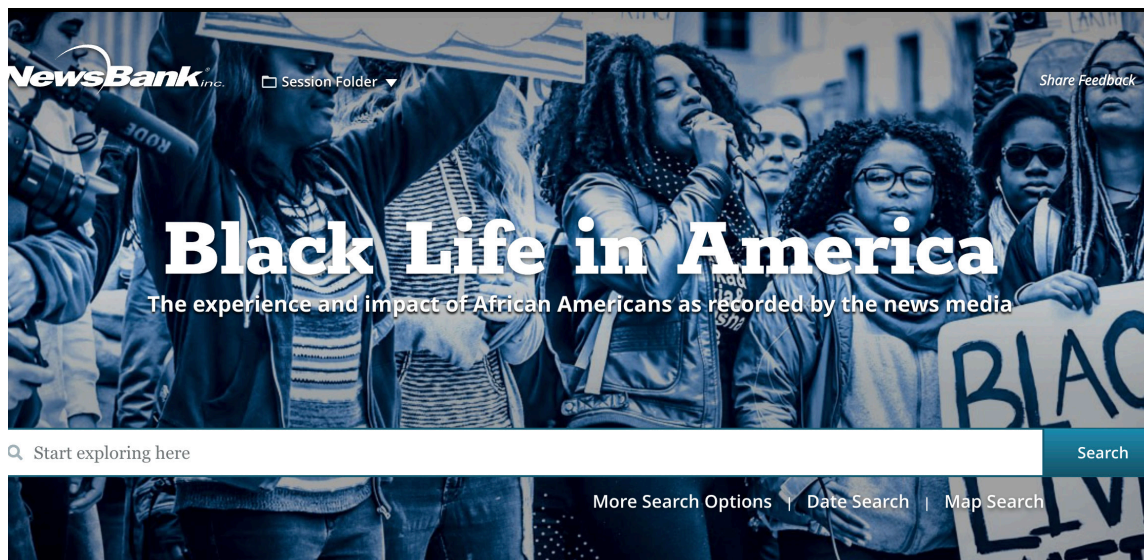

This database is an easy-to-use online resource—updated daily—for every institution working toward social justice and racial equity.

From the early days of slavery to modern times, people of African descent have had a profound impact on American history. While many Black achievements are not covered in most textbooks, Black Life in America—a unique digital archive of news media—presents the broad sweep of African American history. By offering balanced coverage from diverse sources published across four centuries, this product provides critical perspectives on the experiences of being Black in America.

Civil War cannonball on display at McKee Library

A 32 pound solid shot cannonball that was picked at the site of the Civil War Battle of Murfreesboro is on display at McKee Library. The cannonball was donated by Robin Harris, the nephew of Truman Parrish, who was a graduate of Southern College in 1960.

View the Item

To view the cannonball in person, please visit the library's main floor. The cannonball is in a display case near periodicals. A digital photograph can be viewed on Knowledge Exchange.
