PIPE ORGAN ARRIVES:
Largest Tracker in North America
Forest Lake Academy Alumni

The weekend of February 23 will be homecoming at Forest Lake Academy. Roll call of classes begins at 7:30 p.m. on Friday evening. Honor classes will be 1935, 1945, 1955, 1960, 1965, and 1975.

Dr. John Wagner, president of Southern College of Seventh-day Adventist and former principal of FLA, will speak for the 11 o’clock Sabbath worship service. A potluck luncheon will follow.

After sundown vespers, a brief business meeting will precede supper. John Jay will narrate his film “Winter Magic Around the World” on Saturday night.

Sunday plans include a brunch and trips to Disney World, Epcot Center, and Sea World.

Write Gladys Leinert Smith, ’33, FLA alumni president, for more information or to provide her with your current address and last year you attended FLA. The address is: 3909 Semon- ran Boulevard, Apopka, FL 32703.

Highland Academy Alumni

Wayne McNutt, ’60, chaplain at Walker Memorial Hospital, Avon Park, Florida, will speak Friday evening. Kay Campbell Norskov, ’75, has charge of Sabbath School. The Sabbath worship service speaker will be Tui Pitman, ’60, Bible teacher at Bass Memorial Academy, Lumberton, Mississippi.

Dr. H. D. Lawson, the new principal, especially welcomes his former students to return for this special weekend.

Mailbag

Dear Editor:

I wish to correct misinformation printed in the last issue which was sent to you by one of my "friends" and a classmate from 1980. While it is true that at the time of publication I was assistant director of public relations at Andrews University, I am not married, never have been, and certainly don’t have three kids! I am enjoying my single life and am not working on a master’s degree at the present time.

What an experience it has been, though, since that last issue came out. I have had telephone calls from all over the country expressing everything from disbelief to congratulations. My home church in Birmingham, Alabama, was even planning a group wedding present when they heard the news. (Too bad I had to tell them the truth; I could use some new sheets, towels and kitchen utensils.)

Well, the fact of the matter is that I have taken the position of director of public relations at Shawnee Mission Medical Center near Kansas City. I began December 3. The hospital has almost 400 beds and is located in a suburban area. My new address is 12504 W. 97th Terrace, Apt. 301, Lenexa, KS 66215.

Sending erroneous information to SOUTHERN COLUMNS did not add to the magazine's credibility, Alan Ruggles, but it certainly did add spice and excitement to my life. All in all, I don’t think you should do it again.

Sincerely,

Mark Driskill
BA ’80, Communication and Religion

Alumni President’s Message

Alumni Update

I am happy to report that there is a new sense of purpose on this campus among students and faculty alike. The college is moving ... and so is your Alumni Association. Consider the following:

■ In the last issue of the COLUMNS the BECA graphs showed the giving response of our challenged alumni. The Business Executives Challenge Alumni (BECA) fund has continued to expand, and your executive council recommended that $100,000 of this year's money go into the scholarship program.

■ At a recent meeting it was further voted to recommend that $100,000 go into the scholarship endowment program for each of the next 10 years. One million dollars from your gifts will assist the work-oriented student in these financially uncertain and insecure times.

■ The Board of Trustees for Southern College has voted the president of the Alumni Association to be an ex officio voting member of the Board. New ideas and suggestions from you, the alumni, can be taken directly before the Board, and Board actions affecting us can have more rapid dissemination to the membership.

■ The endowment program is growing. At a time when the world is asking if private education can survive, men of vision have set the machinery in motion to assure our continued operation under God. Approximately 60 percent of the $10 million goal has been pledged or already given.

We are looking for ways to be of expanded service to the alumni in the field. One suggestion being studied is an alumni directory with alphabetical, geographical, and years-attended listings. Another idea is an employment service that would inform interested individuals of teaching, nursing, and other professional opportunities. We need your input.

If we are to be of service to you, into what area should we be looking? Take time to communicate with the Alumni Office of Southern College. Your ideas are important to us. We must hear from you!

Your continued support and prayers are vital to the success of these important programs at "The School of Standards."

John Wm. Henson III, ’54

COVER: The Opus 26, so named because it is the 26th organ created by master builder John Brombaugh, is being installed now in the Collegedale Church on the campus of Southern College. In the picture Brombaugh himself is testing a pipe. This is the largest tracker pipe organ built in North America in this century. See story, page 4. (Photo by Rosanne Olson)
Mailbag

Dear Editor:

I wanted to mention that I have been reading with interest the letters about my little sister, Ruthi Shafer, after you printed the article about her powerlifting. I wish it would have been possible to include a picture of Ruthi when she is not lifting, since under the strain of a lift she does not look too great. She is still a beautiful woman and although her lifting has given her slightly larger arms and shoulders, she is still very feminine in appearance.

Although I do not share Ruthi’s enthusiasm for powerlifting, I still respect her accomplishments and am proud of her for going "to the top" in whatever she has tried, including her business as a Prudential life insurance agent.

Sincerely,
Rose Shafer Fuller
Portland, TN

Dear Editor:

Thank you very much for the copies of SOUTHERN COLUMNS that I have received via my father, Dr. Lyndon E. Harder of Ooltewah, Tennessee.

Although adventurous and quite independent, I have found it most interesting (and I must admit, stimulus for sentimental ponderings) to read the tidbits about my former colleagues.

SMC/SC has been a positive contributor to my maturation, Christian growth, and knowledge of the world in general. I feel satisfied to see that the college continues to develop and advance successfully; I am proud to be an alumni.

Writing from Europe, Bundesrepublik Deutschland (West Germany), I wonder how many of my friends and acquaintances are apprised of my current milieu, as I am informed of their present status by the help of your publication.

So, if you will indulge me a little self-centeredness: I joined the Army in December, 1982. My basic and specialized training were completed at Ft. Sill, Oklahoma. Presently I am serving a three-and-a-half year tour in West Germany in the beautiful southern area adjacent to Bayern (Wurttemberg). Serving in a Pershing II missile firing battery of over 220 personnel, my duties are secretary for the Battery Commander and First Sergeant, and Battery Clerk. I am engaged to a German nursing student, Angelika Pegert, and we will be married in December of this year. Upon completion of my contract with the US Army in April, 1987, I will move back to the United States, pursue graduate studies in the medical field, and then re-enter the US Army Officers Corps as a hospital administrator.

Please continue sending SOUTHERN COLUMNS!

Sincerely,
Lyndon E. Harder
West Germany

Dear Editor:

I read with much interest your latest issue of "Those Who Walked These Halls" and felt you did a terrific job with that section of the SOUTHERN COLUMNS. In fact, the whole magazine was excellent. I'm only a member of the Committee of 100, but enjoy keeping up with what happens at our college in Collegedale.

Sincerely,
Herbert J. Michals, M.D.
Kingsport, TN
Pipe Dream Comes True

The long wait is over...
The crowd cheered as the two trucks rolled into the parking lot of the Collegedale Church and the choral group, Die Meistersinger, struck up a tune of thanksgiving. The organ had arrived.

Together the college and the Collegedale congregation had waited seven years for this organ while it was being painstakingly hand built by masters of the craft. A full three stories high, the Opus 26 is the largest tracker organ built in North America in this century, boasting 4,926 pipes and 70 stops, a significant fact because it is the number of stops, not pipes, that defines the scope of an organ.

Although it is not physically the largest pipe organ in North America, it is by far the largest tracker pipe organ. A tracker is built after the fashion of the great organs of Europe from the 16th and 17th centuries.

These organs have thousands of slender wooden linkages, known as "trackers," which connect the keys to the individual pipe valves, and the stops to the ranks of pipes. The music created by such an arrangement is different both technically and aesthetically from that produced by an electronic organ where the keys are connected to the pipe valves by wires and electrodes.

In spite of an electronic age that suggests the biggest and best organs should be products of electronic wizardry, many organ builders have fought the tide of modern technology and have returned to the craft that made the truly great sounds of the organs back in Bach's day.

John Brombaugh, the builder of the Opus 26, is one of these master builders who prefers the Old World sounds. He and his crew of technicians operate a workshop in Eugene, Oregon, where the Opus 26 was constructed and then disassembled for transport to Collegedale.

Although Brombaugh's firm is one of 20 currently producing tracker organs in America, he is probably one of the most sought-after builders. While other firms have teams of personnel who devote their full attention to one particular stage of production, similar to the process on an assembly line, John Brombaugh oversees all areas of engineering, construction, and voicing (or tuning), thus ensuring total quality control. His organs are modeled after...
Baroque-era instruments made in northwest Germany and Holland. "That's why we chose John Brombaugh to build the organ," says Judy Glass, associate professor of music at the college. "He does the voicing of the organ personally, giving each pipe individual life and character. This is a very important step in bringing a tracker organ to its proper full throat."

Brombaugh is a rigorous and exacting engineer, according to Mrs. Glass, whose views are supported by current literature on the subject. Brombaugh holds an engineering master's from Cornell University and held his first job with the organ division of the Baldwin Piano and Organ Company in Cincinnati, trying to combine his love for music with his skill for mechanical design.

He created several electronic innovations for the company, many for which they still hold patent rights, but he became disillusioned with electronic organ music after listening to recordings of historic European organs.

He eventually decided to pursue the almost-forgotten discipline of tracker organ construction, and after apprenticing with several world-renowned builders and doing a six-month journeymanship with Rudolf von Beckerath in Hamburg, Brombaugh set up his own workshop.

The Opus 26 has more than a few unusual features. Its pipes, unlike most pipes today, are not composed of tin, but of lead. While in Europe, he had an old organ pipe analyzed and discovered to his amazement that the basic element was lead. In accordance with the Old World standards, his technicians forge their own lead pipes by hand in a small foundry located in his workshop.

The organ also carries a glockenspiel, or complete set of 36 bells, also operated by trackers connected to the keyboard.

The keys are covered by cowbone, which does not yellow with age as does ivory. The beautifully designed wooden housing for the organ is made of fumed white oak. The original wood carvings were executed by one of Brombaugh's staff specialists. Many of the large pipe openings and carvings are gold-leaved with 24 carat gold. The organ's longest pipe is 32 feet long, a posane pipe made of wood.

The Opus 26 was purchased in 1978 for $400,000 as a joint college and church project, but its current value has risen to $1.2 million. Considering that the organ has an estimated lifespan of 300 years (compared with the 40-year lifespan of most electric pipe organs), the investment is considered by many to be a sound one.

Not only will the quality of campus music instruction increase, but the church congregation will be blessed with musically enhanced worship services. And the organ's impact on Chattanooga's cultural community has already been felt. As a campus visitor commented while looking in on the installation, the Opus 26 will put Chattanooga on the map for fine arts development.

It took Brombaugh's staff of technicians six weeks to reassemble the organ in the church once it arrived by truck from Oregon. Brombaugh himself will live on campus for up to six months while he performs the most critical stage of assembly—individually voicing each pipe to match the acoustics in the church.

Plans call for a dedication ceremony and opening concert when the organ is fully voiced and ready to play, probably in late summer or early fall. John Brombaugh hopes to have some of the voicing complete in time for Bach's 300th birthday, which will be celebrated throughout the world on March 21. Up until that time, the congregation will be treated to hearing a few pipes at a time as work progresses.

In addition to the massive Opus 26, the college has also purchased a smaller Brombaugh creation, the Opus 27, for its music recital hall. The Opus 27 has two manuals, 13 stops, and is one of only six mean-tone tempered instruments built in the 20th century. It will be voiced at the same time as the Opus 26.

Above: These slender wooden linkages, the trackers, connect the keyboard to the pipe valves.
Below: A craftsman painstakingly gilds the lip of a pipe before its installation. The process was undertaken after the pipes arrived in Tennessee from Oregon.
NEWS

REGISTRATION

Margaret Connell Thompson, R.N. at Florida Hospital, '29, left, of Chattanooga chats with Miriam Bruce Boyd, '26, of Camdenton, S.C.

The lobby of Mabel Wood Hall buzzed with greetings as So-Ju-Comians registered there on Friday, Founders' Day, Alumni Weekend.

A handclasp, a wave, a refreshing of memories-the afternoon was a mixture of nostalgia and wonderment at change. Mazie Hein, '37, Rubye Sue, former staff member, and another guest are pictured.

Lorraine Davis Fox, '43, of Ooltewah registers before paying a visit to the new Heritage Room in Mabel Wood Hall. About 250 So-Ju-Comians signed the guest book.

Elder and Mrs. Clyde O. Franz traveled down from their retirement home in Berkley Springs, W. Va., for homecoming. He was a 1932 graduate and Lois Mae (Clark) graduated in 1934.

The So-Ju-Comian group, students who attended Southern Junior College (1916 to 1944), flocked in on Friday, November 2, for a head start on homecoming. With ceremonies marking the recycling of Miller Hall, the former music building, into quarters for the Division of Religion, the planting of a tree brought from the old Graysville campus, and other activities, the afternoon itself passed quickly into history.
Life-giving water was more than a symbol as this structure was set apart for its new purpose. Fund-raising by the So-Ju-Conians to finance the refurbishment has been completed. The actual work will soon be underway.

Dr. Gordon Hyde, chairman of the Division of Religion, was presented a symbolic key to the new Religion Center.

Elder and Mrs. A. C. McKee, '30, and another So-Ju-Conian join in the symbolic planting of a young dogwood tree moved from the Graysville campus.

The ribbon was cut by John Speyer, '29, Rochelle Kilgore, '04, Martha Montgomery Odom, '24, and Dr. Merrill Dart, '25.

Dr. Jack McClarty, right, was named an honorary So-Ju-Conian by the So-Ju-Conian Project Committee, formed of those standing with him, from left, John King McKee, and Jesse Cowdrick.
Alumni of the Year Elder and Mrs. R. L. Odom illustrate the fact that former students of Southern College in all its phases, as well as graduates, are now considered alumni. Martha Montgomery Odom served as secretary to President Lynn Wood and graduated in 1924. Her husband attended but graduated elsewhere. A prolific author, Elder Odom has written over 20 books and edited "Message" magazine and much of the denomination's Spanish literature.

Alumnus of the Year for 1984 is J. C. "Buddy" McElroy, Jr., ’60, a hospital administrator in Meridian, Mississippi, and owner of Sumter Timber Company. He is a member of the Southern College Board of Trustees and a member of the Committee of 100. Because he could not attend the presentations on Homecoming Weekend, Buddy was honored with a plaque when the Board of Trustees met the preceding Thursday. After his conversion in 1958, he came to Collegedale for school. "This college had the greatest impact on my life," he said, when accepting the award.

Young Alumnus of the Year is James Closser, ’79, center. While his wife, Myrna looks on proudly, Dr. Jack McClarty reads the plaque. Jimmy is director of development and public relations at Madison Hospital.

"The Yellow House," the original home on the Thatcher plantation which was to become the modern campus of today, has been recaptured by painter Chester L. Varnell of Chattanooga. Unveiling took place after the alumni supper Saturday evening.
Joe Crews, '44, director of Amazing Facts, spoke Sabbath morning, calling for a maintaining of distinctiveness as a church, and a willingness to set an example concerning God's plan.

Prior to Jerry Clower's humorous presentation (above) on Saturday night, Century II—the $10 million scholarship endowment campaign—was kicked off with a slide presentation depicting the changes made over the years in campus appearance, but emphasizing the crucial need both now and in the future—financial help for deserving students.

The Sunday morning brunch for members of the honor classes was attended by about 75. Seated from left are Rochelle Philmon Kilgore, '04, and oldest known living alumna, Mary Philmon Eyer, '34, and Mary Lucas Turner, '34. Behind them are President John Wagner and Bill Taylor, director of alumni relations. (Photo by Jann Gentry)

John Speyer, '29, of Zachary, Louisiana, led out in the singing of the good old school song at the box supper for So-Ju-Conians late Friday afternoon.
Honor Classes

1924
Left to right: Warner McClure, Robert Leo Odom, Martha Montgomery Odom, and Bernice Hollister Gibbs.

1934

1944
Left to right: Luann Tunison Crews, Joe A. Crews, June L. Wright-Frame, George Fuller, Claudine Hopkins Boyle, and Elouise Wynn Smith.
1959

1974
Left to right, front row: Nannette Wolcott, Julie Marchant, Linda Wheeler Hale, Marilyn Cundiff Sliger, Faye Auctt Rhodes, Mary Wahl Nielsen, Cindy Mathiesen Williams.
Third row: Gerald L. Small, Pamela White Ahfeld, Shirley West Wodzenski, Teresa Barrera Deindoerfer, Mark Dalton.

1979
Left to right, front row: David Cotton, Steve Hunt, Cynthia Bata Fisher, Beth Best Sabo, Wanda Beck, Ann Kennedy Shaw, Myrna Litchfield Closser, Dan Garza.
Sanford and Martha Ulmer: How two people turned a dream into a $10 million campaign to help students.

from an interview with J. T. Shim

They’re the spark plug that got this whole thing going,” said President John Wagner, recounting Sanford and Martha Ulmer’s role in the Century II Endowment Campaign.

At the pre-kick-off meal on November 1, Sanford Ulmer described the college’s initial reaction to his brainstorm in 1982. “When I mentioned $10 million, the administration almost keeled over,” recalled Ulmer. But he justified the figure, ”You go for the amount that is necessary to do the job.”

Sanford Ulmer was born in New Orleans in 1906. He finished academy at the Southern Junior College version of this college in 1923. (Ninety percent of students then were academy level, he remembers, with just seven two-year-college graduates that year.) Education and total expenses totaled around $750 a year in those days. He worked most of his way through at 25 cents an hour.

Ulmer stopped by the campus some 20 or 25 years after his graduation to pay his respects to “a very wonderful teacher, Maude Jones.”

His next visit was four years ago. He and his wife, Martha, were driving down Interstate 75 on a trip from their Lansdale, Pennsylvania, home when he noticed the sign “Southern Missionary College.” On a whim they drove over to Collegedale to take a look. And in Wright Hall they met Bill and Elsie Mae Taylor.
"We had an interesting visit in Mr. Taylor's office. I asked him question after question. All the time I was talking with Mr. Taylor, I began to turn over a little something in my mind." Before leaving, having no children of their own, knowing his own days of trying to work his way through, and finding out what tuition costs today, Ulmer asked, "Do you think the school might be interested in a small scholarship fund to help a few students get through school? I think you have enough buildings. I'm not interested in giving another dollar for a new building. I'm interested in helping students get an education."

A scholarship fund of about $15,000 was set up immediately (and later expanded considerably). And 5 students were selected to receive help the second semester of that year. (As far as Ulmers were concerned, criteria were: a student's need, seriousness about an education, desire to do some good in the world, and a healthy reaction to work. "Working was an absolute positive part of the whole thing."

As they wanted their name mentioned, they replied "Not particularly." They had no idea whether they'd ever see the students.

But the college forwarded letters of appreciation, "so expressive of their desire, their interest in a scholarship fund, their desire for education at a Christian college, their appreciation—almost invariable the students considered it an answer to their prayers, just as if God had reached down and said, 'Here's some money.'" Martha remembers, "Yes, that almost all expressed the desire to pass on and, when able, to do something similar themselves. This response from the students to what we did for them at the beginning convinced us to go further," the Ulmers say.

And go further they did. After helping 50 or 60 students (selected by the college's Scholarship Committee) over the next year or so, they realized that the need went beyond their resources. The Ulmers saw a solution. One day Sanford told the Board, "Beautiful campus, beautiful buildings, fine teaching staff—but you have one problem—the students cannot afford to come here. The solution is to create a endowed fund large enough so that there would be enough income from that investment to help a considerable number of students." In his mind, he recounts, "I pictured an absolute minimum of $10 million."

"That's an astronomical sum," adds Martha. "It should be $25 million," Sanford counters.

You will simply never accomplish anything big by thinking small," the retired businessman-salesman-land developer-builder continues. They developed the nucleus of their dream. Mr. Ulmer still remembers the skepticism on the faces of the Board when the $10 million plan was presented on February 15, 1983. Undaunted, they told them, "It can be done. I know the money's available. We simply have to do the job of telling those who have it how badly it's needed and telling them that this is one of the greatest privileges that they could ever have offered to them to be able to join in and to use their money and their savings for a cause like this. If they can think of a better thing to do with it, I would be the first one to tell them to do it. If not, use it for this purpose. Because they are investing in young lives, and that investment will go on and on and on as long as that person lives."

The Ulmers are quick to credit the Board with overcoming its initial natural shock and bit of hesitation. "I remember Al McClure saying that this was the most important challenge ever brought before the Board," says Ulmer. "They accepted it, they voted on it, they said they would give it their wholehearted unanimous support—and they have done so."

This past September Martha Ulmer was appointed as an honorary member of the Board.

Though Martha considers her appointment a real honor, she is more than a passive onlooker. At the November 1 Board meeting Mrs. Ulmer took seriously a match challenge announced to board members whereby their personal contributions up to $500,000 would be equaled dollar for dollar by a gift from a donor wishing anonymity. Further, another $500,000 raised by board members in the course of the 10-year campaign through personal influence, contacts, or personal funds, would also be matched.

"It was an exciting meeting," says Mrs. Ulmer. "Two million right there," and Mr. Ulmer's grin reflects his delight. Getting the ball rolling, Mrs. Ulmer personally pledged $100,000 toward the challenge.

"We agree wholeheartedly that probably nothing we could have decided to do could give us any more satisfaction than what we are doing now," asserts Ulmer.

At the insistence of others, the Ulmers are both members of the Endowment Fund Committee, chaired by J. Wm. Henson III. "We're kind of a package," says Martha. On that select committee are "people who will not accept failure under any circumstances," says Ulmer.

More Ulmer philosophy: "If you can come out of college having learned four things, you're on the way to an education. Those four things? 1. Learn to learn. 2. Learn to think. 3. Learn to get along with other people. 4. Learn to communicate. If you pick up those four things, you can go on from there. It may take another 40 or 50 or 60 years to complete your education... My years here awakened my mind and gave me a love for good reading. I read from four to six hours every day and have for the last 40 or 50 years."

On the true cost of education: "The old saying is so true—If you think education is expensive, try ignorance. But students are probably paying only about half of the real cost of getting an education. For instance, all these buildings, built out of donations. If it weren't for that Committee of 100 these buildings wouldn't be here today. Practically nothing the students are paying today is going towards the walls, the roof, the equipment in these buildings."

On alumni responsibility: "If you attend a college, whether you are willing to admit it or not, you have put yourself under an obligation that you can never rectify except by making a contribution yourself when you are able to do so to help the next generation get that same education. You can say, 'Well, I paid my way through school, and that's it.' You only paid about one-half of your way through school."

On Christmas Eve 1985 Sanford and Martha Ulmer will be celebrating their fifty-fifth wedding anniversary. But they give no hint of slowing down. "We've made our three-day drive down here every two to three months for the last four years. We will not back off until we're positive it's going to reach its goal. Right now our priority is this drive. We're going to do all we can to keep up its momentum and see it succeed."
College Name to Remain the Same

By November action of the Board of Trustees, the school’s name will be left unchanged: Southern College of Seventh-day Adventists.

After hearings, surveys, and other input, the committee appointed last year to review the college name returned a report favoring the retention of the present name. That recommendation was accepted by the Board and it was also voted to use it in its full form on all printed materials generated by the college.

“We sense a growing acceptance of the name adopted in July 1982, and with this decision now reaffirmed, work will proceed on developing a new logo and achieving uniformity in all new stationery orders, roadside signs, and publications,” said Dr. John Wagner, president.

“Now that we’ve gotten the name settled, we are ready to move on into our second century of ministry to the youth of this church,” he added.

FM90.5 Defines Future Format

A shift in radio station FM90.5 WSMC’s programming, activated New Year’s Eve, culminates months of careful study by the station board.

Prompted by the conviction that FM90.5 is a missionary arm of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, the station plans to sharpen its tools of proven missionary technique by consistently providing excellent service in an area of community need: fine arts broadcasting.

The classical format of the future will be interleaved with a selection of brief inspirational messages both throughout the week and during the Sabbath. This is expected to actually increase exposure to Christian principles of living, though the gospel music programming on Sabbath (often tuned out by much of the listening audience) will be reduced.

“The Adventist community will still be able to hear many of their favorite programs,” Todd Parrish, program director, assures listeners. The Voice of Prophecy, Focus on the Family, Focus on Living, Quiet Hour, It Is Written, ARN Dialogue, Your Story Hour, and The Sound of Worship (the local church sermon) will still be found in the Winter 1985 schedule, though perhaps at a new time. The station publishes FM90.5’s Radio Guide, a quarterly listing of programs. It is available free of charge to listeners.

“Our mission has been defined as twofold,” stated Olson Perry, general manager. “We provide training for students in broadcasting, and furthermore, we represent Southern College to the greater Chattanooga community by providing a musical, informational, and inspirational public radio service.”

Statement of Mission. Perry elaborated: “Because concentration of appeal is a necessary principle of effective broadcasting, FM90.5 defines its listeners as being those with a specific interest in the arts. The station will serve them seven days per week with a format of classical music, significant information, and inspirational messages. Maintaining a mutually harmonious tone among these three areas will give unity to our total programming package.”

FM90.5 WSMC, on the air since 1961, is the oldest non-commercial station in the Chattanooga area. A charter member of National Public Radio since 1970, FM90.5 has as many as 10,000 regular listeners for the NPR programs “Morning Edition” and “All Things Considered.” The station anticipates continuing to carry these programs through the week with the exception of Sabbath.

While recognizing that many people are far from appreciating classical music, FM90.5 has discovered that the thought-leaders of the Chattanooga community tend to be among its listeners.

Classical music selected for the Sabbath hours will be chosen with special care, Parrish promised. “The listener will be able to enjoy the same type of great music that would enrich a church service or would enhance the Sabbath experience in some other way.”

Study is being given to the possibility of also operating a parallel sub-carrier station for subscribers in the immediate area who would enjoy hearing campus speakers, camp meeting sermons, and other programs of interest to the Adventist community. “Community interest and financial support will factor in the consideration of this option,” indicated Perry.
Endowment Campaign

Good Progress Toward $10,000,000

The Century II $10 million scholarship endowment campaign officially opened on Saturday night, November 3, before an audience of 2,500 alumni, friends, and constituents.

"Over $5.6 million in cash, pledges, and challenges are in hand to open the campaign," said Dr. John Wagner in his announcement. A 10-year time frame in which to achieve the goal has been set.

"I truly hope the goal can be reached ahead of schedule," declared William H. Taylor, campaign director. "I talk to students, and I know their financial needs can't wait 10 years. I'd like to see all $10 million producing scholarships before our centennial in 1992."

Alumni are largely credited for building up the first $1 million for the endowment fund over the past few years. Pledges made recently by members of the Board of Trustees and a major donor seeking anonymity helped bring the Century II campaign to the half-way point and beyond.

Pre-Kickoff Banquet

An air of rejoicing was the mood at the pre-kickoff buffet dinner served November 1. Besides reports from the Board chairman and the college president, words of appreciation were heard from a grateful student now receiving scholarship assistance. Bill Taylor provided visual summation of the campaign at that point.
Those Who Walked These Halls

1920's

Alice (McSwain) Jones attended school at Collegedale from 1918 to 1920—grades 6, 7, and 8, while "Professor Wood" was president of newly named Southern Junior College. From Bell, Florida, she recalls those days: "We used scrub brush and wood stove at the laundry, coal instead of wood. Heated ironers on top of the stoves."

Grace (Porter) Myers, student '25, is retired in Avon Park, Florida.

Ruth (Johnston) Newell, student '17 to '20, and her husband, Tom, are living in Portland, Tennessee. She is a retired R.N. and he is a tool and die maker.

Martha (Montgomery) Odom, '24, and her husband, Elder R. L. Odom, have just moved to Chattanooga to be near their son.

Sarah (Edwards) Strickland, '27, and her husband, Thomas, whose last year on the campus was also '22, are living in Avon Park, Florida. She is a retired teacher, and he, a retired R.N.

Aline (Johnston) Trimble, student '19 to '23, is a retired nurse, widowed since 1972 when her husband, Jim, died suddenly on a mower when developing a subdivision. Her son, Bob, lives in Florida. She lives in Verona, Virginia, and has three grandchildren in Virginia, also three great-grandchildren.

1930's

Harry Bennett, Sr., student '37, and his wife, Eredel (Bradley), '36, are living in Avon Park, Florida. He is a retired hospital chaplain.

Robert N. Bowen, '39, and his wife live in Harrison, Tennessee.

Richard B. Cheaves, '38, is retired and enjoying life by travelling. Home base is in Bethesda, Maryland. One of two daughters is Janet, married and living in Casper, Wyoming. She has four children. The other daughter, Judy, single, lives in Silver Spring, Maryland, and works for the National Institutes of Health as a contract specialist.

Gerald Oscar Dunham, '35, is a C.P.A. He lives in Portland, Tennessee.

Thelma (Thuman) Hartwell, '37, is an inactive R.N., retired in Avon Park, Florida. Her daughter, Frances Robertson, '55, joined the faculty of the Division of Nursing at Southern College in the fall. Linwood Robertson, '57, is teaching effective parenting and operating a family counseling center. The other two Hartwell offspring, Kay and Ray, '78, also attended Southern.

Margaret (Selix) Peterson, '39, and her husband, Lewis, of Corvallis, Oregon, stopped by Collegedale and also visited Woodrow Wilson, '38, and Nancy Wilson, student '37 to '38, at Blairsville, Georgia, while traveling in October. Naomi and Margarette, roommates while students here, had not seen each other in 46 years! The Wilsons are among a small group of members seeking to raise up a church in their dark Union County of north Georgia. They invite others to join them in this adventure for God.

Serpentini T. Sharian, '31, and her husband, Bedros, reside in Avon Park, Florida. She was a nursing graduate, and her husband studied for the ministry and retired from business.

Marjorie (Randall) Silverstein, '34, died November 7, 1983, in Silver Spring, Maryland. She taught for 30 years in SDA elementary schools in North Carolina, Georgia, and Colorado. Her daughter is Ann S. Gray. Her two brothers also attended school. Collegedale Winslow Randel was in the academy class of '24, and Carol Randel, the academy class of '26 and the junior college class of '32.

1940's

Claudine (Hopkins) Boyle, '44, is a piano teacher and housewife in Concord, Tennessee.

Ruby Shreve, '47 and summer '64, is retired in Avon Park, Florida, from her career in elementary education.

Ruth (Kiseter) Watson, '45 and '49, has been teaching at Little Creek Elementary School, Knoxville, Tennessee, for five years.

Betty Jane (Bottomley) Wood, '49, resides in Altumonte Springs, Florida. Betty is a secretary and bookkeeper for Dr. Robert T. Hoover and Economy Health Food Sales. She has two sons: Dr. Michael N. Wood, '77, a surgery resident at Loma Linda; and H. Lee Wood, '81, employed by Retirement Centers of America in Cleveland, Tennessee. (With apologies for inaccuracies in a previous column, Ed.)

1950's

W. Maurice Abbott, Jr., '53, is personal ministries and Adventist Laymen's Services and Industries director for the Southern Union. Prior to 1979 he served in the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference for 12 years. His wife, Dorothy, graduated from Collegedale Academy and attended SMC for two years. Currently she is administrator of Smyrna Towers, a high-rise retirement center. Their daughter, Sheree, married Kenneth Hutchinson and lives in Jackson, Tennessee. Their son, Jeffrey, '81, lives in Atlanta.

Ernest S. Anderson, '51, and his wife, Betty, built a modified A-frame house, three apartments, and a 25-space RV park near Payson, Arizona. They live in a mountain cave with a beautiful view and welcome friends to visit. He is building houses from the ground up and also working in Phoenix as a finish carpenter.

Velma Boyd, '53, having retired from teaching, spends her time painting as a hobby. She lives in Ooltewah, Tennessee. Her husband, Charles, passed away three years ago.

Billee Rachel (Turnage) Caudill, '57, lives in Chunky, Mississippi.

Dale Collins, '53, heads the printing department at Walker Memorial Hospital, Avon Park, Florida. His wife, Betty (Staben), '53, is medical records librarian at Walker. They were on the staff at Southern prior to 1982.

Reba (Cates) Crucher, '55, and her husband, Darrell, own and operate a piano store, Crucher Pianos, in Chattanooga. Their son Marvin is in business in Gainesville, Florida. He married Sheilah Crews and provided them with "two beautiful grandchildren, Sean and Kimberly." Their son Kent is a theology seminary at Southern this year.

Robin W. Erwin and his wife, Budebah (Jacobs), students '51, reside in Pensacola, Florida. He is a supervisory management analyst and she has retired from IRS employment as a taxpayer service representative.

George Paul Hayes, '50, has been teaching music at Walker Memorial Junior Academy, Avon Park, Florida, the past two years. He directs a 30-member orchestra. Before that he worked for three years as layout artist, camera operator, and platemaker in the Walker Memorial Hospital printshop. His wife, Pauline, is secretary in the dietary department at the hospital.

Barbara (Eldridge) Kischies, student '52, is a registered nurse employed by Florida Hospital in the resident training program at the Family Health Center. She is married to Herb Kischies, a commercial artist. They have four children: Karen (Harrington), Linda, Diane (all three attended SMC), and Herbie. They also have one granddaughter and another on the way.

Ellen (Hendrick) Lancaster, '51, attended academy in Collegedale for three years. She finished nurse's training in 1988, and now supervises on a skilled care wing of a nursing home near her home in Travelers Rest, South Carolina. She has a daughter and a grandson. Her mother lives with her.
Lilah Lilley, '53, is retired in Collegedale, Tennessee.

Elsworth McKee, '54, is president of McKee Baking Company, which employs about 150 SC students and many student spouses. His wife, Sharon (Sisson), graduated in 1979. Two nonfamily vice presidents at McKee Baking Company are also SC graduates. Two daughters are graduates of '81 and '84, another daughter married after attending, and one son is a current student.

David Messinger, '57, is a practicing osteopathic physician in Delaware. His brother, Harold, also '57, was a general surgeon who practiced in Chattanooga before his untimely death in 1980 of cancer. Harold's widow, Martha, still lives in Collegedale. Their son, Jon, president of the class of '82, is in his third year of medicine at Loma Linda.

H. Brooker Mills, student '49, '56 to '57, is a physician with the U.S. Air Force, chief of hospital services at Maxwell Air Force Base in Alabama. His wife, Joyce (Anderson), student 1952, 1956, enjoys volunteer work, tennis, and travel. Their son Michael is married and lives in New Jersey. Randy, married, lives in Orlando and has a daughter. Beth is a freshman at SC this year, and Iris is a sophomore atForest Lake Academy.

Caryl (Maddox) Morrey, '59, and her husband, Ken, moved to Dalton, Georgia, in 1981 upon his retirement. Caryl is working as an R.N. in the TCU at the Habershaw Medical Center. They enjoy having two children living nearby, "not to mention a very sweet little grandchild." They invite friends to come visit and pan for gold in one of the many streams around Dalton in the beautiful foothills of north Georgia.

Carol (Smith) Palgrove, '56, and her husband, John, former student, live in Avon Park, Florida. She is office manager in his dental office.

Panline (Nowworthy) Pierson, '54, is still living in Collegedale. She is working in the alumni office, searching for "lost alumni." She will appreciate all the help you can give her. She is an avid lover of the symphony and enjoys working with the SC Symphony Guild.

James P. Rogers, '59, is treasurer of the Florida Conference. His wife, Mary (Gulledge), former student, works for the Florida Conference Association. Their daughter, Gail, '75, lives in Orlando with her daughter, Lauree, and works at Florida Hospital. Their son Bruce, former student, and his wife, Kara, live in Orlando where he works for the Florida Conference. Brian, former student, and his wife, Mary, live in Avon Park. Jim lives at home and works at Florida Hospital.

Carl Selby, student '56, is D.B.G. coordinator for Walker Memorial Hospital in Avon Park, Florida. He and his wife, Lorraine, have two children at SC, Lori and Kyle.

Ronald C. Shealy, '59, is in purchasing and management for Shealy's Millwork and Supplies, Inc., West Columbia, South Carolina. He and his wife, Priscilla (Hutson), have two sons, Craig, '66, and Neil, '13.

Faye (Mixon) Strickland, '54, just retired to Chestee, South Carolina, from Dayton, Ohio, where her husband, Frank, was an anesthesiologist. They became grandparents this year.

Paul Watson, '60, is a physician in practice with Dr. Roger VanArsdell in Knoxville.

Ron Whicker, student '59, and his wife, Linda, live in Kernersville, North Carolina, where he is a building contractor and she is a real estate agent. Their son, Mark, is a junior at SC, and Leigh, their daughter, is in her freshman year at SC.

Jim Wilburn, student '57, and his wife, Margaret, also live in Kernersville, North Carolina. He is a driver-salesman for Thurston Motor Lines, and she is assistant department manager of lingerie at Ivey's Four Seasons.

Edward C. Avant, '58, is director of production at McKee Baking Company. His wife, Dine (Simmons), '79, just graduated with highest honors from Cleveland State Community College. She now works in the ICU at Park Ridge Hospital in Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Carmen Delores (Rhone) Ayers, student '60, is living in Fletcher, North Carolina, and is a manager with Home Interior & Gifts Incorporated of Dallas, Texas.

Doris F. (Dyer) Brayton, student '69, is living in Greenville, Tennessee, and is working as a registered nurse.

Bevin Lee Brown, '68, and his wife, Kathie (Botts), '70, are living in Banks, Alabama. Bevin is practicing anesthesia in nearby Ozark as well as building a house in the country. He also enjoys farming. They have a daughter, 7, and a son, 3.

Jean (Dickenson) Critten, '68, is a registered nurse, working part time as assistant director of nurses at Highland Manor Nursing Home, and also for Sunbelt Home Health Services. Her husband, David, is a machinist employed by Cutters Exchange in Nashville, Tennessee. They moved to the Highland area the first of August after 16 years in Tullahoma, Tennessee. Their children are Tammy, 15, and David, Jr., 11.

Janice Elaine (Gammenthaler) Denton, '69, is living in Bellbrook, Ohio. She and her husband both work at Kettering Medical Center. Janice works in public relations, editing two hospital papers.

Robert Dickinson, '63, is working as a registered nurse in the ICCU at Walla Walla General Hospital. His wife, Jeanne (Stamper), '69, is substitute teaching at Walla Walla Valley Academy and has recently started her own yard care business. She plans to update her education so as to earn a Washington State Teacher's Certificate. Robert, their older son, is an academic junior. Brian is in the 5th grade.

Albert Dittes, '67, is the director of public relations and development at Highland Hospital in Portland, Tennessee, after receiving a master's degree in journalism. Previously, he spent 12½ years in pastoral ministry for the Ohio Conference. His wife is director of nurses for Sunbelt Home Health Services, Madison, Tennessee. They have two children, ages 11 and 13.

Bob Dunlee, '64, is an evangelist for the Florida Conference. He and his wife, Joyce, who is his associate, travel throughout Florida, conducting crusades a year. Their sons are: Bob, Jr., '75, on the staff of Madison Academy in Nashville; Richard, a youth pastor in Bonider, Colorado; Steve, former student, director of Oasis Youth Ministries and self-supporting minister; and Dan, '83, in his first year of medicine at Loma Linda University in California.

Bruce Elliston, '68, is a family practice physician in Arden, North Carolina. His wife, Judy (Whitman), '62, is a homemaker who enjoys quilting and playing the piano. They are living with their three boys, ages 13, 12, and 5, on a farm where they raise horses and Hereford cattle.

Lloyd Erickson, '66, is at Andrews University where he is working on a doctorate in counseling psychology. He was in conference youth work for

These ladies—Edythe Stevenson Cothren, Ione Ingram McAllister, and Ruth Kneedel Jacobs—spent hours preparing the Heritage Room display, tracking down memorabilia and bringing it together from many places and donors. The collection is not limited to the faraway past, but will grow as additions are made from the present and future.
Those Who Walked These Halls

ten years and an academy principal for two years. His wife, Charlotte, '66, is the secretary in the Heritage Room of the library at Andrews. Their children are Jonathan, 11, and Jennifer, 9.

L. Noel Fillman, '63, and his wife,innie Vee (Wendon), former student, live in Berrien Center, Michigan. She is a representative for Knochen, Inc. Their children are Sherry, Ken, and Terry. Sherry and Terry were in college when Jinnie wrote, and Ken is a cosmetologist.

Jewel (Edwards) Fountain, '60, is living in El-living Spalding.

a living Loma Moore, living and a 1 years.

married Kemersville. College.

studying Tennessee.

Those Tennessee, Michael.

years of Tricity Academy in Kernersville. Their twins, Sherry and Cheri, graduated from Tricity Academy in the spring. Bruce was assistant dean of men in Jones Hall when the girls were born 20 years ago.

Sarah (White) French, '61, is living in Portland, Tennessee, and works as a tax accountant.

James A. Greene, '67, is vice president for finance at Loma Linda University. He and his wife, Joyce (Kosakale), student '64, have three children: Krista, 19, Steve, 17, and Donna, 5.

Marie Holloway, '54 and '60, is a retired church school teacher living in Orlando, Florida, where she taught the last 22 of her 45 years of teaching.

Elder C. V. Jones, '67, is the principal and teacher of grades 4 to 8 at the Prescott Adventist School, Lindsenfeld, N.I., where his wife, Lenora (Pervis), '63, teaches grades K to 3. Their two sons are David, 14, and Kimber, 10.

Reta (Knight) Knecht, '67, is living in Michigan where she is a charge nurse in obstetrics at Traverse City Osteopathic Hospital. She recently received certification in obstetric nursing. Marvin, her husband, has his own garage door business. They have two sons, Charles, 14, and Michael, 12.

Richard C. Larsen, '60, is a physician living in Avon Park, Florida.

Jim Link, '75, is living in Orangevale, California. He works in Sacramento as a health administrator for the California State Health Department. His wife, Mary (Garrett), '68, is working part time as an OB-GYN nurse practitioner. They have two children: Melanie, 12, and Eric, 9.

Tonna (Hardin) Logan, student '67, is office manager for a CPA partnership. She and her husband, Bruce, and their daughter, Casey, 4, live in Water Valley, Mississippi.

R. Duane McCondre, '64, is working for the Gulf States Conference as a literature evangelist. He is married to the former Sylvia Sellers Moyer, also from the class of '64.

Wayne McNutt, '65, is living in Avon Park, Florida. He is a chaplain at Walker Memorial Hospital. His wife, Debbie, works at Walker Memorial Hospital in admissions. They have two children, Kevin, 19, a recent graduate of Forest Lake Academy, and Cynthia, 17, an academy junior.

Danny Minnick, '61, is working for the International Rice Research Institute in Manila, Philippines. He is a consultant to the World Bank in New York, as well as to colleges throughout Asia and part of Africa and Europe. In October he was on his third trip around the world in the last eighteen months.

Ron Nolan, student '64, and his wife, Linda, live in Spartanburg, South Carolina. He is in the piano business.

Mary Ann (Deakins) Roberts, '64, is a cytotechnologist with Roche Biomedical Laboratories as well as a part-time free-lance writer and photographer. She is married to David Roberts, former student, who has his private dental practice in Gibsontown, North Carolina. Their 16-year-old son is in the 11th grade.

Ralph R. Ruckle, '67, is a family practice physician. He is presently building a new office next to the relocated Highland Hospital where he has practiced for 8 years. His wife, Dianne (Parker), '67, is a registered nurse. They live in Portland, Tennessee.

Ruby Shreve, '47 and '64, lives in Avon Park, Florida.

Robert Simmons, student '61, is a literature evanelist and lives in Portland, Tennessee.

Dorothy (Hedrick) Starr, '63, is a secretary and lives in Knoxville, Tennessee. Her daughter, Lynnette, is a senior at Forest Lake Academy.

William Swafford, '65, recently moved to Colledgedale where he teaches at Apison, and his wife, Betty (Bishop), '65, teaches at Spalding. Their son, Mark, is attending Southern College.

Raymond A. Underwood, student '65, is an electrical engineer living in Moore, South Carolina.

Gerald VanHoy, '67, is an accountant and general manager for Tri-City Industries. He and his wife, Joan (Patissi), former student, are living in Kernersville, North Carolina.

Charlene (Paden) Wilson, '69, is married to Thomas R. Wilson. They live in Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Bailey Winstead, '64, is administrator of a rest home. He and his wife, Bev (Shacklett), '65, are living in Kernersville, North Carolina. She is a physician's assistant with Kernersville Care.

Betty Jean (Williams) Allen, '73, is living in Oneida, Kentucky, with her husband, the retired postmaster of Oneida. She is self-employed, teaching private piano lessons. They have a son, 9, and two daughters; and one grandson.

Elizabeth Ann Eiler, '79, married Gary Duane Arquitt on June 24 at College Dale. They are living now in Dunedin, Florida.

Ruth (Wilson) Baker, '74, is living in Savannah, Georgia. Following her graduation and marriage, she taught first grade in the Savannah Public School System for six weeks, then retired from her career in elementary education. Since then she has been teaching piano in her home and is the full-time wife of Carroll Baker and mother to their three boys, 6, 4, and 5 months.

Jeri (Carr) Basler, '72, is a homemaker living in Cleveland, Tennessee. Her husband, Bryan, '74, is a body shop mechanic and is building their own home. Their two children are Emily, 2, and Rochelle, 5.

Wanda (Daniel) Beck, '79, is living in Jellico, Tennessee, where she teaches grades 1-4 in the church school. Her husband, Charles, '81, is a machinist in Oak Ridge, Tennessee.

Charles Bishop, '75, is living with his wife, Krystal (Ofi), '75, and daughter, Kerrie, in Avon Park, Florida. Where she is a residential contractor. Krystal teaches grades 1 and 2 at Walker Memorial Junior Academy.

Brenda (Gadd) Bliower, student '72, has worked for the past nine years as a medical technologist. She specializes in immunology. She and her husband, Russell, married in 1978 and live in Wellsville, Ohio. He is studying to become a physical therapist.

Oil lamps, handmade quilts, picture albums—these are some of the priceless legacy collected now in the Heritage Room at Southern College.

1970's

COLUMNS

18 • SOUTHERN COLUMNS
John William Boyle, M.D., '71, has been practicing obstetrics and gynecology in Tamanaw, Guam, since 1981.

Lawrence Charles Brooks, '71, is the controller of Fletcher Hospital, the newest addition to Adventist Health System Sunbelt.

Gary D. Brown, '76, is a CRNA living in McMinnville, Tennessee. His wife, Betty (Beauch), '75, is a registered nurse and works part time. Their children are Jason, 6, and Jennifer, 3. They would love to hear from classmates. Rt. 5, Box 46A, McMinnville, TN 37110.

J. Richard Burdick, student '76, is living in Aspen, Colorado, and owns Burdick Computer, Division of Mason & Morse. He and his wife, Shari (Little), former student, have a daughter, Johnna Marie, born November 26, 1983.

Robert L. Burns, '79, pastors the Homestead and Key Largo churches in Florida. His wife, Kerry (Arnold), '77 and '79, is a full-time homemaker, mother, and pastor's wife. Their children are Brendan Robert Burns, 3, and Blair Thomas, almost 1, both born within three weeks of a major move! They would love to hear from friends. Their address is 29920 S.W. 152 Avenue, Leisure City, FL 33033.

Mike Cauley, '75, pastors the Port Charlotte Church in Florida. His wife, Dottie (Bradwell), '75, is a homemaker as well as working part time as church and school secretary. They have two children, Michael Richard, 7, and Kelly Renea, 5.

Randy Cobl, '79, married Lynn Wissman, student '79 to '81, in June of 1984. They are residing in Calhoun, Georgia, where he is working with the anesthesia group at Gordon Hospital. Lynn is also employed at the hospital as an X-ray technologist.

Joyce Ann Cook, '71, enjoyed a challenging year (1983-84) in Korea as an overseas volunteer Special Service elementary school teacher. She is currently filling the same position in Yokohama, Japan. She is "grateful that all of life's experiences can draw us closer to the Saviour."

Judith (Osburn) Crabtree, '71, and her husband, James, student '64 and '81, live in Sacramento, California, where he is youth minister at the Sacramento Central Church. He was ordained to the ministry on May 26. In the military he served in Southeast Asia and was awarded the Purple Heart. He and Judee were involved with the Florida Conference youth program and mission projects to Central America before they went to Sacramento in 1990.

Randy Day, '78, is the music teacher of K-8 for Lodi SDA Elementary School; is a violinist with the Stockton Symphony Orchestra; and is organist and choir director at Fairmont SDA Church and Lincoln Presbyterian Church in Stockton. His wife, Diane, is a medical receptionist. They have no children as yet, just two cats. They enjoy an active role in Marriage Encounter.

Rachel Elaine (Self) Ellison, '72, is married to Mike Ellison, an attorney in West Columbia, South Carolina. Rachel is busy at home raising 3 children and remodeling a large, old home.

Leon Eldon Everett, '72, is living in Lawrenceburg, Tennessee, where he is in private practice. He received his M.D. degree at Dalhousie University in Nova Scotia, Canada, in 1978. He and his wife, Dorivann (Halvorsen) Everett, '72, have one child. Erika Noelle, 6.

David Fardulis, '72, is administrator of W. R. Window Nursing Home in Elizabeth City, North Carolina. His wife, Shari (Wittenberg), '71, works part time at the nursing home. They have three children, Erin, 8, David, 5, and Kelly, 3.

Loren Fardulis, '70, is dean of men at Atlantic Union College. He has an M.A. degree from Andrews University in psychology. He was previously a dean at Broadview Academy. He and his wife, Cindy (Sned), '68, have two children, Scott, 13, and Amy, 10.

Dana (Osborn) Ferguson, '78, is living in Avon Park, Florida, and is working as an R.N. in the outpatient surgery department at Walker Memorial Hospital.

Anna Fletcher, '78, is living in Avon Park, Florida.

Richard Fletcher, student '78, and his wife, Dorothy (Hyatt), student '78, live in Greensboro, North Carolina. He is an electronic technician for Duke Power Company.

Jo Ellen Firpi, student '70 to '72, worked part time as a fashion model throughout south Florida while finishing up college. For the past 7 years she has been working as an executive at Citicorp Savings in Miami.

Dottie (Peterson) Ford, '72, married Ray Ford after graduation and taught for three years, then earned an associate degree in nursing. She works in pediatrics two days a week, is taking course work toward her B.S., and is enjoying their son, Nathan Eric, 1. Ray is an airline pilot and is starting a natural fiber import business. They live in Columbia, South Carolina.

Fred R. Fuller, '76, is the minister at Highland SDA Church in Portland, Tennessee. His wife, Rose (Shaffet), '75, teaches part time at Highland Academy as well as being a wife and mother.

Charles G. Graves, '75, graduated from LLI School of Medicine in 1978, completed a family practice residency, and is now taking an anesthesiology residency at LLI. He is married to Denise Durksen, who is an R.N. teaching at the LLI School of Nursing.

Ronald Milton Hand, '70, is an attorney in Kissimmee, Florida. He is in business for himself. He and his wife, Virginia, have two daughters, Stephanie and Jennifer.

Elizabeth L.Hardison, '75, is a part-time cook for a 200-bed nursing home. She is living with her parents in Hyattsville, Maryland. She still has the 1972 Datsun she bought while taking the class Auto Survey for Women.

Ray Hartwell, '78, is pastoring the Hendersonville and Gallatin churches in Tennessee. His wife, Jeanne (Zacharias), '78, is doing some freelance writing.

Richard L. Helm, student '76, is a printer's assistant at Walker Memorial Hospital. His wife, Angelene Doria (Moom), student '76, is a housewife. They live in Avon Park, Florida.

Jim Henderson, '75, is the general manager of Gilbert Manufacturing Company, in Eufaula, Alabama. He and his wife, Janice, have boys, Todd, almost 5, and Nathan, almost 3. They have just moved from Carolin, Georgia, to Eufaula, where they have bought 80 acres of beautiful Alabama countryside.

Phyllis Henderson, student '76, lives in Avon Park, Florida, where she is a musician and secretary.

Bruce Herbert, '72, is living in Winston Salem, North Carolina. He is a medical technologist. His wife, Linda (Ryals), '72, has a master's degree from LLU and teaches at Tri-City Junior Academy.

Judith (Clarke) Herrmann, '74, is living in Carmel, California. She is currently the executive director of the Central Coast Visiting Nurses Association. Her husband, Bruce, is a dentist with a practice in Monterey. In addition to her B.S. degree in nursing, she has earned a master's degree in business administration from the University of California.

Mike Hicks, '72, runs a medical clinic in West Yellowstone, Montana. It is a satellite clinic 65 miles from the nearest hospital and physician. He and his wife, Helen (Berezcz), '71, have two boys, Shannon, 11, and Justin, 5, whom they are presently teaching at home. They love the area and recently began their first SDA company in that community. Mike taught in Illinois and Wisconsin for five years, then took the physician assistant program at Kettering. He has since worked with Carban refugees for two years and in other clinical settings.

 Dwain L. Holderbaum, student '76, is living in Springboro, Ohio. He is an industrial water treatment consultant. He married Sherry Burnett in February of 1982. They have no children.

Lee D. Holland, '73, has been city manager of Collegedale since 1975. In this capacity he carries out policies set forth by the city commission and is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the city. His wife is Cathy Cruz, former student. Children are: Judy, 15, Scott, 13, and Jennifer, 10. Cathy is the credit manager of McKee Baking Company.

Forest Hughes Hilton, '71, and wife Debbie (Weeks), '72, are living in Avon Park, Florida, where Forrest has his own CPA practice.

Ruth (Longway) Jorgensen, '79, and her husband, James Jorgensen, '78, live in Chattanooga, Tennessee, where she is a recovery room nurse at Parkridge Hospital and Jim is an industrial mechanic at McKee Baking Company. They have a son, Justin Miles, 1.

Phillip Loy Lawless, '75, and his wife, Donita, are living in Smithville, Georgia, where Phil is
Those Who Walked These Halls

Charles Longway, ’78, married June Saxon this spring. He is a bio-medical electronics technician and is currently working on his master’s degree in electronics. He and his wife live in Dayton, Ohio.

Barry Marden, ’77, is living in Allendale, Michigan, and teaching grades 7 and 8 at Grand Rapids Jr. Academy. He taught in Akron, Ohio, for seven years. His wife, Denise (Pebler), student ’77, is enjoying being a homemaker and caring for their daughter, Kyla. 3.

Ben Maxson, ’71, received his Doctor of Ministry degree in June. He has been pastoring in Dalton, Georgia, for about four years. He and his wife, Mary Louise (Holmes), ’70, have two children, Laurie, 10, and Benjie, 6. Mary is teaching piano at the elementary school and is working part time as secretary for the church.

Glenn McGrady III, ’76, and his wife, Sharon (Webster), ’77, live in Collegedale where Glenn is a subcontractor and Sharon is a supervisor and recorder for the records office at Southern College of Seventh-day Adventists. They have two boys, Glenn IV, 2, and Justin Scott, who arrived July 1 at 9 lbs. 10 oz.

Gary McKinney, student ’75, and his wife, Anita, ’76, have three children: Matthew, 4; Nathan, almost 3; and Alicia, almost 1. Gary installs cabinets for hospitals. Anita stays busy at home with their three little ones. They live in Candler, North Carolina.

Robert Meeks, student ’76, and his wife, Lucia (Longway), ’78, live in Ooltewah, Tennessee. Robert is a plant engineer at Sovex Natural Foods. Lucia is a senior programmer at Blue Cross Blue Shield of Tennessee.

Ted Mohr, ’71, is president of Battle Creek Adventist Hospital. Lois, ’72, is secretary to the principal of Battle Creek Academy. They have two sons, Jonny, 11, and Robby, 7. They would welcome visits from school friends.

Jeanne (Wilson) Montgomery, ’78, is a full-time mother living in Greeneville, Tennessee.

G. J. Newmyer, ’73, is an electrician living in Avon Park, Florida.

Linda (Purdie) Noll, ’70, is living with her husband, Joe, and daughters, Nicole, 4, and Nichelle, 1, on the family farm in Mifflinburg, Pennsylvania. They raise registered polled Herefords for breeding stock, and steers for beef. They also have two registered quarter horses and the girls have a pony named Jessica.

Ben Norton, student ’73, went on to Loma Linda University where he graduated in 1975. He married Susan Brown in 1975. He has practiced physical therapy for 8 years, and is now in his second year of medical school at the University of Mississippi. Susan is in charge of out-patient surgery at St. Dominics Medical Center. They have two children, Jamie, 4, and Jennifer, 2.

Wayne D. Okimi, ’74, was promoted in July to mechanical engineer in the firm's management. He is a Louis-based national hospital and medical services group of Price Waterhouse. He joined Price Waterhouse in 1982 as a senior consultant after previously serving as a consultant for Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Tennessee and as controller of Scott Memorial Hospital in Lawrenceburg, Tennessee. He has an M.B.A. from Webster University. A native of Hamilton, Ontario, he and his wife, Laura, live in Brentwood, Missouri.

Patricia (Gerpford) Parks, ’74, is living in Nashville, Tennessee, where her husband, Michael, is owner of Michael Parks Mechanical Contractors, Inc. They have 2 children, 9, and 2. Patricia is quite involved in several charity and civic organizations, and professional associations.

Judy (Marquis) Peterson, ’72, is living in Greeneville, Tennessee, and is the director of medical records at Takoma Hospital.

Robbi Pierson, ’79, is living in Berrien Springs, Michigan, where she is nursing at Berrien General Hospital, and attending Andrews University. She anticipates graduating in the spring with a degree in media technology, and is already doing freelance work in this field. She wrote and photographed ‘God’s Runners,’ a slide-tape program currently being shown in Lake Union churches.

Denald L. Rima II attended SMC from ’77 to ’79 and was not a member of the class of ’79, erroneously listed previously. In fact, he was not yet born in 1956. He received a degree in data processing management from Clemson University and is currently a systems analyst with Sonitrol Corporation in Orlando. This past summer he received his Certificate in Data Processing.

Brian Thomas Rogers, student ’75 to ’80, is an accountant at Walker Memorial Hospital in Avon Park, Florida. He is married to the former Mary Henderson, also a student of Southern College.

William Ruby, ’77, is living in Avon Park, Florida, where he is principal of Walker Memorial Junior Academy. His wife, Velda, ’72, is a kindergarten teacher for the Florida Conference. They have twins almost 4, Heather and Chad.

Rolland M. Ruf, Jr., ’71, is living in Greeneville, Tennessee. He is director of environmental services and laundry at Takoma Adventist Hospital. His wife, Tina de Urríes, ’76, is a registered nurse.

Mark D. Sager, ’76, is living in Avon Park, Florida, where he works as a registered nurse at Walker Memorial Hospital. His wife, Elizabeth, ’77, is also a registered nurse.

Heather (Richter) Simmons, ’70, is living in Vero Beach, Florida, where she is starting a private practice in counseling, specializing in medical social work, and also doing consultation for a home health agency. Her daughter, Jennifer, is 3.

Marilyn (Cundiff) Siger, ’74, after living in the South for 15 years, has moved back to her hometown where she is teaching kindergarten at Indianapolis Junior Academy. She is enjoying her new position in the Lord’s work.

John E. Soule, ’74, is living in Avon Park, Florida, where he works as a microbiologist. He is married to the former Lis Jorgensen. They have two children, John Jr., almost 4, and Traci Ann, almost 2.

Wilfred E. Starr, ’73, is living in Knoxville, Tennessee, where he is the principal of Knoxville Junior Academy. He is married to Dorothy Hedrick, ’73.

Dixie (Clark) Stone, ’77, is living in Batesville, Arkansas, where she works as a laymidwife. She also conducts classes on parenting, health, and nutrition. Her husband, Ben, is an active literature evangelist. Zane, almost 5, enjoys making calls with his dad. Amie, 2, rounds out their family.

Paulette (Henderson) Straine, ’80, student ’77, lives in Cameron Park, California. She is a medical secretary and housewife.

Stanton Tait, ’79, is a controller at Highland Hospital. He and wife, Debbie (Straw), ’80, live in Portland, Tennessee. Debbie is the infection control nurse for Highland Hospital. Their son, Brandon Reid, is 2.

William H. Taylor II, ’75, is controller for Walker Memorial Hospital. He and his wife, Pamela (Brooks), ’81, live in Avon Park, Florida. She is an accounts receivable supervisor.

Doug Thompson, student ’75, graduated with a B.A. in biology in 1977 at the University of Louisville, and with a B.S. in medical technology in 1983. Then he and his wife, Beth, student ’74, moved to Avon Park, Florida, where he works as a medical technician at Walker Memorial Hospital, and she works in patients business. They have a daughter, Brianna, 5.

Cindy (Walden) Turner, student ’70, is living in Avon Park, Florida. She is the owner of The Strawberry Patch Floral & Gifts. She has two sons, 5 and 13.

Fred L. Turner, ’74, has returned to Collegedale to complete his B.S. degree in nursing. He is working as a registered nurse at Parkridge Hospital. His wife, Nancy (Wardle), ’70, is a registered nurse who assists with classes at the American Red Cross of Chattanooga. They have

Greg Vital, student '74 to '78, joined Quadel, a Chattanooga development and management firm, in June. Previously he worked as a licensed stockbroker for Dean Wittner Reynolds, Inc. He served for four years as a member of the Collegelegade city commission and is also on the board of trustees for the Chattanooga-Hamilton County Hospital Authority.

Barbara (Palmer) Wetherell, '77, was recently promoted to associate editor of Listen magazine and holds an assistant director of the General Conference Department of Health and Temperance. In addition, she is working on an M.A. in journalism, with an emphasis in public relations, at the University of Maryland. She and her husband, John, a financial analyst with a health-care company in Georgetown, live in Silver Spring, Maryland.

Darlene Elizabeth Wilson, '75, has lived in the small north Georgia town of Blairsville for five years. Prior to that, she was an executive assistant director of the General Conference Department of Health and Temperance. She now works with the Tennessee Public Health Department, Chattanooga office, and is in charge of immunization for an 11-county region. She is also a business woman and mother of three children.

Anna Paulette Witt, student '67 to '70, is a student at the University of North Carolina at Asheville and is also a correspondent for the Asheville Citizen-Times.

---

1980’s

Jeffrey Abbott, '81, and his wife, Tracy (Naas), '81, have made their home in Atlanta, Georgia. Jeff is head of the paint department for Cran Daly Volkswagen, an auto dealership, and Tracy is a secretary at Smyrna Towers.

Ron Ammundsen, '81, and his wife, Rene, have moved to Vancouver Island, British Columbia, Canada, where they are teaching at Mount Arrowsmith SDA School not far from their home in Qualicum Beach.

Virginia Bochinski, '80, is living in Atlanta, Georgia, and is employed as a medical technologist.

Carmen Breece, '81, has recently moved to Decatur, Georgia.

Wade Burby, student '81, is living in Avon Park, Florida, and is employed at Pia Luguis Restaurant.

H. H. (Bo) Carlyle, Jr., '81, is assistant manager of North American Credit Services, Inc. His wife, Juanita (Hughes), '79, is the secretary of Memorial Hospital’s respiratory therapy department.

Suzette Cowgill, '83, is an elementary school teacher living in Portland, Tennessee.

Orlinda DeGraw, '82, is teaching at the Ogden Road SDA Elementary School in Dayton, Tennessee. She recently returned from Micronesia, where she spent two years as a volunteer missionary. Her father died less than a month before she left the States for Micronesia.

Frances Kay (Piper) de Vries, '80, is living in Collegedale, Tennessee. She married Peter de Vries, '79, on April 12 of this year. Peter is a self-employed carpet installer in the Memphis area.

Dean Edwards, '83, teaches grades 7 to 9 at Pee Wee Valley Junior Academy in Crestwood, Kentucky. He is engaged to be married in the spring to Sheila Kimrey, '84.

Judy (McClellan) Ewing, '82, is living in Avon Park, Florida. She is employed by Walker Memorial Hospital as a registered nurse for recovery room.

Anna Fletcher, student '80, is living in Avon Park, Florida. She works as a medical secretary at Walker Memorial Hospital.

Dennis Grigsky, '81, lives in Middletown, Ohio. He and his wife, Dalaina (Resibois), '81, teach in the Ham-Mid SDA Elementary School. He is principal and teaches upper grades. Dalaina teaches grades 1 to 4. "Now that we’re out in a non-Adventist community, we both realize how wonderful the Christian lifestyle really is," they write.

Brian E. Jobe, '83, is living in Greensboro, North Carolina, where he works as an accountant.

Glenn H. Littell, student '81, is living in Johnson City, Tennessee. After his December graduation with a B.S. in biology from East Tennessee State University, he plans to go on to medical school. His wife, Karen K. (Darbo), '82, is a registered nurse working in the respiratory intensive care unit at the Veterans’ Administration Medical Center. Karen plans to graduate in May with a B.S. in health education and a B.S. in nursing.

Karen (Graham) McFadden, '81, is an R.N. working in the fields of oncology and IV therapy in home nursing. She is employed by the Visiting Nurse Association and lives in Lake Mary, Florida. She married Gary McFadden on January 2, 1983.

Jon Messinger, '82, is in his third year of medicine at Loma Linda University.

Deborah (Debbie) Michals, '82, is an assistant head nurse of the new eating disorder unit treating only anorexia nervosa and bulimic patients at the Sycamore Hospital, which is affiliated with Kettering Hospital in Dayton, Ohio.

Joyann Michals, '83, has been living in Hamburg, West Germany, for more than a year. She is learning the German language while living in local homes, being an "ooper" like the English "nanny."

Jan (Sager) Newman, '82, is an LPN, living in Avon Park, Florida. She is the director of a day care center.

James E. Norton, '82, and his wife, Peggy (Strickland), '81, are living in Gaffney, South Carolina. Their son, Brian Michael, was born February 7, 1984.

Jeff Owens, student '80, and his wife moved to Houston, Texas, from Florida in March, 1983. He is supervising the cardiovascular catheterization lab at Hermann Hospital, University of Texas Health Science Center. Daughter Linda Marie was born May 17, 1982.

Moises Prado, '80, is working in the admitting office of Hialeah Hospital. He plans to finish his B.A. in business administration and stay in the medical administration field. He has returned to bachelorhood and is living in Miramar, Florida. His son, Jeremy Andrew, is a year old.

Randall Lee Pires, student '78 to '81, is an X-Ray technician at Edge Memorial Hospital, as well as a chemistry major senior at Troy State University. He and his wife, Jeong Hwa, live in Troy, Alabama, and are expecting their first child.

Grace Ethel (Iuta) Powell, student '80 to '82, is living with her parents in Riverside, California. She is working, but plans to return to Loma Linda University to finish her degree in home economics.

Lori Ann (Partridge) Raible, student '82, is working as an accountant for a growing insurance company and is finishing her senior year of college. Her husband, Jeff, is also continuing his education. They live in Corona, California, and are both very active in a "young marrieds" church group. Lori Ann is starting to train for triathlons and hopes to get serious with it next summer.

Brian Rogers, student '80, works in the accounting department at Walker Memorial Hospital. His wife, Mary (Henderson), student '80, is office manager and also works for the hospital. They have their residence in Avon Park, Florida.

Byron Dale Rouse, '81 and '83, is living in Liberty Hill, South Carolina. He is a registered nurse and works as staff nurse in the surgical unit at Kershaw County Memorial Hospital.

Jane Evelyn Simmons, student '83, is an elementary teacher, living in Portland, Tennessee.

Mike Stone, '81, recently moved back to the Collegedale area from Louisville, Kentucky. He is still single and is currently a service representative with a Chattanooga copying/printing/graphic arts equipment company. He would like to hear from friends. (859) 349-5216, Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Taletha Thomas, '83 and current B.S. nursing student, is the niece of Jean (Benlo) Pilloswich of Benton, Arkansas. Mrs. Pilloswich recently made her Florida Hospital School of Nursing pin available to Southern College for a die to be cut for the new pin.

Dean A. Tucker, student '81, is a radiological technologist living in Kernersville, North Carolina.

Keith Tucker, student '81, and his wife, Janene (Lucie), student '81, are living in Greensboro, North Carolina, where they manage a federally funded crisis shelter for pregnant and young, temporarily homeless or runaway youth. They have a daughter, almost 2.

Jill Turk, student '84, is a student at UNC, Greensboro, North Carolina.

Necla Ruth (Hilb) Zaska, '80, and her husband, Peter, are living in Coorabong, Australia. Peter is a businessman and is attending Avondale College. Ruth is a contract journalist and the associate editor of Australia’s largest circulation newsletter, Health '84. She also writes and edits for several other publications and travels extensively. She plans a 1985 trip to the U.S. to work, vacation, see friends, and scout in anticipation of their return to the States to live.

Ken Zervos, student '81, is living in Forest City, Florida. He works full time as a pressman in Winter Park and part time for Cable TV Stoner in Longwood. He will be graduating soon from Seminole College with an A.D. degree in computer science, mathematics emphasis. He is still making video movies and plays tennis at every opportunity.

Mark Zervos, student '81, is an advertising manager in Orlando, Florida. He attends the University of Central Florida. His home is in Forest City and he enjoys living close to the beaches.
Readin' – 'Ritin' – Research

Works by Three Professors Go to Press

by Sherry Dike

Teachers read books; teachers research books; and some even write and publish them. On the campus of Southern College are several faculty who have recently mastered the challenge of authorship.

Dr. Gordon Hyde, who for 10 years served as the director of the Biblical Research Institute and who is now the chairman of the Division of Religion, has a new book just off the press. The Gospel of the Here and Now is a devotional book written to serve as a companion to the 1985 first quarter adult Sabbath School lessons, which he also authored. The book adds insight to the themes and events recorded in Mark’s gospel.

The 1985 Sabbath School Lesson Quarterly will be the first of an entirely new series. In 1982 Dr. Hyde was asked by the Sabbath School Council to lead the way in introducing a 10-year sequence of studies that will cover the Scriptures entirely. “How Christ Meets Human Needs” is the title of the first quarterly. Mark’s gospel was chosen to open the new 10-year program because it speaks of man’s hopes, fears, and anxieties, and deals with current issues.

Dr. Hyde has been the author of two other adult Sabbath School quarterlies and for each he has written an accompanying book, God Has Spoken and his best-remembered book, Rags to Righteousness.

Dr. Hyde has already started on his next writing project. He has been asked to write one section in Volume 11 of the SDA Bible Commentary, designed to cover the fundamental beliefs of the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Dr. Jerry Gladson, SC’s professor of Old Testament studies, has just sent his book Who Said Life Is Fair? to the press. The book deals with the life of Job and was written at the request of the Review and Herald. Dr. Gladson had already written a teacher’s quarterly on Job, and so he began a chapter by chapter commentary in 1980, delving deep into theological reflections about the problem of evil. The book is not written for a technical audience, says Dr. Gladson, but for the common person. He hopes it will be used in college religion classes or in church settings.

Dr. Gladson is now working on a second book, titled The Bible Primer. This will be a complete study-it-yourself guide to the Bible.

In the history department, Dr. Benjamin McArthur, associate professor, has recently seen the publication of a revision of his doctoral dissertation. Entitled Actors and American Culture, 1880-1920, it is part of Temple University Press’s American Civilization Series.

Dr. McArthur’s book studies the social role of the actor during the golden age of the American theatre, the years when Edwin Booth, the Barrymores, and Joseph Jefferson were household names. It is not a study of plays or acting techniques, says Dr. McArthur, but a study of the relationships of actors to the wider American culture. McArthur finds that actors sought social respectability through the emulation of the learned professions. They formed professional associations and tried to formalize actor training, but ultimately the players’ social role depended on their status as celebrities, the models of modern life whom we see exalted today.

Dr. McArthur researched his book in Chicago and New York, then made the necessary revisions for publication during his first five years on the staff at Southern College. The college’s word processing center provided essential help in the preparation of the manuscript. McArthur’s next project is a study of a former University of Chicago president, Robert Hutchins.
New York City Awards
Southern College Volunteer Group

What relationship do a glass apple and a Thanksgiving dinner have?

Last spring Ed Lamb, associate professor of social work and family studies, attended an awards dinner in New York City. On behalf of scores of Southern College students, he accepted the Volunteer Award - 1984, presented by the Salvation Army in New York. It was one of only three such awards made this year.

The glass-apple-adorned plaque represents a gift of caring and a gift of time—1500 Thanksgiving Day hours shared with the homeless and hungry who come to the Salvation Army to celebrate the day of feasting. This is the eighth year that behavioral science students have participated in serving dinner.

"Invariably students say, 'This is the best Thanksgiving I've ever had,'" states Lamb. "The down-and-out dinner guests like to talk to our students. It's a real positive experience for all of us."

This year the group worked with the Salvation Army at the U.S. Army and at the Salvation Army branch in Harlem. Other years they have served in the Bronx, the Bowery, or Midtown.

The social service experience on Thanksgiving Day is but one facet of the intensive and highly educational schedule students followed on their nine-day jaunt. While 33 art appreciation students from Southern College toured some of the world's greatest galleries and museums, the 37 behavioral science students visited ethnic areas and observed urban change.

As in previous years, they spent a morning with "Mama Hale," who gained recognition in the September Reader's Digest and the November 18 issue of Parade for her selfless care of over 480 babies born to drug-addicted mothers.

All 70 of the students and their sponsors stayed at the YMCA in Manhattan for their budget visit in the Big Apple. The total tour cost $210 plus meals and provided a well-earned hour of Directed Studies credit for the social work or sociology student and two hours of credit for Bob Garren's art students, in conjunction with orientation classes and quizzes, journals of observations, and, for upper division students, annotated bibliographies or research papers.

"It was a great experience that I wouldn't have missed for the world," commented one of Lamb's students in retrospect.
With the addition of two more names, the emeriti list for Southern College now includes 10 former faculty members.

R. E. Francis, B.D., was named by the SC Trustees at their March 12 meeting as professor emeritus of religion. He taught here full time from August, 1960, to December, 1978, and still resides in Collegedale.

At the same time, Cyril F. W. Futcher, Ed.D., was voted the honorary title of vice-president emeritus of academic administration. Dr. Futcher retired in Collegedale the second time, after being recalled to his administrative post in 1982 for a two-year period.

Other emeriti faculty are Dorothy Evans Ackerman, Theresa Rose Brickman, Olivia Brickman Dean, Charles Fleming, Jr., K. M. Kennedy, H. H. Kuhlman, Evlyn Lindberg, and Drew Turlington.

Dr. Ray Hefferlin, professor of physics, traveled to the People's Republic of China this month to confer with scientists interested in the same field of molecular research.

Lectures were scheduled in Shanghai, Hofei, and Peking. The major portion of his December 3 to 16 visit involved intensive conferences with two scientists at Hofei who have been studying the same area as Dr. Hefferlin and his SC students, for about the same length of time. Contact was established in March of 1984.

The research area consists of the construction of periodic systems of molecules. It is known among scientists as "pure" research, meaning that it has no immediate application other than contributing to our understanding of the basic plan of the universe.

On December 21 Dr. Hefferlin reported at the International Conference of Pacific Basin Chemical Societies in Honolulu. Two Southern College students, Ken Friddy and Erin Sutton, are co-authors of the Hawaii report.

Bulimarexia was the subject of a one-day workshop held November 27. Dr. Marlene Boskind White, of Freeville, New York, spoke for student assembly as well as leading out in other presentations. Health service personnel and other staff attended not only from Southern College but from other educational institutions in the Chattanooga area. Dr. White, a practicing psychotherapist, earned her Ph.D. in counseling at Cornell University in 1977. She has been involved in research and treatment of eating disorders for over seven years, and has co-authored a book, Bulimarexia: The Binge/Purge Cycle. The presentations were sponsored by the Southern College Student Health Service in cooperation with Student Services.

Lady Caroline Cox of Great Britain visited the campus November 5. A leading authority on education, the Baroness was touring the United States under the auspices of The Foundation Endowment, a non-profit organization which addresses issues of interest on both sides of the Atlantic. Lady Cox spoke to the faculty at 4 p.m. and in the evening told students of her trips behind the Iron Curtain to take medical supplies into Poland.

One hundred forty students graduated Thursday afternoon, December 13. Of that number, 59 completed baccalaureate majors and 81 received associate degrees.

Commencement speaker was Dr. Calvin B. Rock, president of Oakwood College. Class officers were Douglas Gates, president; James Gerson and Deanna Wolosuk, vice presidents; Renee Midg and Reg Rice, pastor. Valerie Dick Boston, Deanna Wolosuk, and Karen Peck graduated summa cum laude. Three others graduated magna cum laude, and 12 graduated cum laude.
Stewart Crook

- Stewart J. Crook has been named associate vice president for development at Southern College of Seventh-day Adventists. Prior to November 1 he was director of trust services for the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference, a position he had held since 1981. In his new role he will be working closely with the Century II Endowment Campaign, with its $10 million objective for student scholarships. Elder Crook will be visiting and soliciting, working with volunteers, and presenting workshops related to financial planning.

He previously taught music at Southern (1964-68) and attended school in Collegedale. He graduated from Collegedale Academy in 1951, and took college classes from 1951 to 1956. He received a B.S. degree from Madison College in 1957, and his M.S. from the University of Tennessee in 1962. In addition to his trust services and music experience, he has been a dean of men, principal, youth director, and pastor.

Mrs. Crook, the former Shelley Martina Martin, is an accountant. Their three daughters, Delby Louise West of Altamonte, Florida; Shelley Marciainn Robertson of Louisville, Kentucky; and Jodi Lynne Crook of Nashville, all graduated from Southern College.

Gymnastics Workshop Brings Together 325 Representatives From 19 Schools

Academy students not only learned particular gymnastic moves but also how to "spot" the moves, providing protection from possible injury and promoting confidence for the gymnast.

In early November the Division of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation hosted an intensive acrosport clinic. Directed by Coach Ted Evans, the gymnastics workshop drew from 13 academies which had been represented in previous years and from five new ones. Oakwood College also sent a team. Southern College has been sponsoring the gymnastics workshops every other year, alternating with music workshops.

Steve Elliot, above left, from the University of Nebraska, was the master clinician. He is a world champion in acrosports. Hours of practice Thursday and Friday were crowned with a spectacular performance on Saturday night which brought together routines by the various teams. Stands were packed and spirit was high.
The Heritage Room

A Window to the Past

by Gary D. Howe

Through the years the personality of this campus has been formed through the fusing of leadership and cooperation given freely by many people—faculty, students, supporters. How the college arrived where it is today is vital to its future. So that the rich history of Southern College will not soon be forgotten, the college is in the process of putting together a Heritage Room. It is currently located on the second floor of the new music center, Mabel Wood Hall. During the 1984 homecoming, the Heritage Room displayed numerous items, including a trunk, a student’s desk, and a typewriter from the Southern Junior College era.

The preparation of the display was coordinated by Dr. Edythe Cothren, a 1931 alumna, who served as registrar and music and secretarial teacher from 1929 to 1933. Dr. Cothren and a small group of alumni put many hours and much energy into the gathering and organizing of pictures, furniture, and other items to display in the Heritage Room.

"Through the coming weeks and months, further work will be dedicated towards the growth of the Heritage Room’s contents so that the room will eventually include items that stir memories for each and every alumnus who sees them,” commented Dr. Cothren. Even those who are not alumni of Southern College can find in the Heritage Room a reminder of the dedication invested in this college through the years.

The college recently received a significant donation from the wife of a former president of Southern Missionary College, Kenneth A. Wright (1943-1955). Mrs. Wright, who presently lives in Avon Park, Florida, included in her gift many photos and records pertaining to the college during her husband’s years as president. Among them are two plaques which can be seen in the Heritage Room. One was a thank you signed by the 1943-44 faculty when permission was granted by the General Conference Committee at the spring council in Chicago, for Southern Junior College to become a senior college. The entire faculty met President Wright at the Collegedale stop on the railroad to present the document.

The second plaque commemorated the naming of the administration building after President Wright when it was completed in the late 1960’s. It matches the plaque still mounted at the front entrance of Wright Hall.

Though many items that record the history of Southern College have been preserved, the collection is by no means complete. The college welcomes donations from its alumni and friends who may have interesting items to share. The address for such donations is:

Mr. William H. Taylor
Director of Alumni Relations
Southern College of SDA
P.O. Box 370
Collegedale, TN 37315-0370

The Heritage Room is open at present by appointment only. Those wishing to visit it are invited to contact the Alumni Office in Wright Hall.
Following is an update to the "Those Who Gave" listing in the Southern College of Seventh-day Adventists First Quarter issue.

Those lists of contributors to Southern College of Seventh-day Adventists include some corrections and the addition of names of donors before 1962 and of new donors during the time period of 1964. The listing in the First Quarter issue was cumulative from January 1, 1962, to December 31, 1983. Many donors who gave again between January 1, 1984, and June 30, 1984, are not listed again.

The Alumni Association and the college faculty, staff and students express appreciation to all donors whose names are listed here as well as those listed previously who lent their support over the years.
Silver
Associate
$2,500 to $5,000
(Corrections and Additions Only)

Dr. & Mrs. Normann E. Peak
Dr. John F. Pifer
Dr. & Mrs. Walter Puckett
Dr. & Mrs. Robert Raitz
Dr. & Mrs. C. N. Rees
Lauritine S. Reeve
Mulligan Reynolds
Virginia Riley
Marllynn Rogers
Elder & Mrs. H. F. Roll
Emory Schwall
Linda Kay Sines
Myrtle E. Slate
Dr. & Mrs. Richard Sloan
Hal Smith
Dr. Paul G. Smith
Donald A. Strong
Mrs. B. F. Summerour
Robert C. Swofford
L. Nakoffers
Debra S. Taylor
Dr. David Tepper
Dr. & Mrs. Mitchell Thiel
Lois Thompson
C. H. Walters
Mr. & Mrs. Ralph Walters
Elise V. Watt
Donald West, Jr.
Elder & Mrs. Kenneth A. Wright
William A. Wymot

Ambassador
Club
$500 to $2,500
(Corrections and Additions Only)

Flora Adams
Dr. Ralph A. Altman
Frank Baisden
George & Vena Baehm III
Don M. Beard
Dr. Douglas L. Bechard
Dr. & Mrs. Samuel S. Binder
George C. Bishop
Mr. & Mrs. Wallace Blair
Wayne D. Braly
Maudie Brooke
William J. Burnett
Matti B. Chauhan
Dr. & Mrs. Otto Christenson
Mr. & Mrs. Hugo Colditz
Dr. & Mrs. Leroy Coolidge
William L. Coolidge
Mr. & Mrs. Ron D. Cople
Robert E. Cowdrick
Milford C. Crist
Edith Cunningham
Dr. Frank Damazo
Donald Davenport
Mr. & Mrs. Jim Davis
Mr. & Mrs. Homer H. Dever
Mr. & Mrs. Waldemar Ebbers
Henry T. Hardin
Laura Hedden
Margaret Hills
Frank Holbrook
Mr. & Mrs. A. W. Holmberg
Dr. & Mrs. Moon-Wha Hong
Bob Hopper
Harry Hulsey
Harland Johnston
Mrs. Milnor Jones
Harold Lamenick
Charles F. Landis, Jr.
Mr. & Mrs. Larry Larrabee
Daw Yuan Lee
Paul Leitner
Dr. C. Y. Liu
Dr. & Mrs. Robert A. Loren
Marvin McAlexander
Bessie McGuffey
Mr. & Mrs. William Metcalfe
George O. Michaels
Arden Miller
Elder Bob C. Mills
R. E. Minchin
Klaus F. Nentwig
Margaret Noone
Dr. Arthur M. Owens
Dr. La Veta M. Payne
Mr. & Mrs. Lawrence Payne

Dr. & Mrs. Albert J. Webber
Dr. John P. White
Dr. & Mrs. William Hobbs
Emory Schwall
Linda Kay Sines
Myrtle E. Slate
Mr. & Mrs. Richard Sloan
Hal Smith
Dr. Paul G. Smith
Donald A. Strong
Mrs. B. F. Summerour
Robert C. Swofford
J. Nakoffers
Debra S. Taylor
Dr. David Tepper
Dr. & Mrs. Mitchell Thiel
Lois Thompson
C. H. Walters
Mr. & Mrs. Ralph Walters
Elise V. Watt
Donald West, Jr.
Elder & Mrs. Kenneth A. Wright
William A. Wymot

Loyalty
Club
$250 to $500
(Corrections and Additions Only)

Audrey L. Beal
Richard Boskind
Dr. Jimerson Bowers
S. M. Brading
Mrs. Seibert Brewer
Doris Brown
Mr. & Mrs. Ronald C. Brown
Mr. & Mrs. Arvil N. Bunch
Mr. & Mrs. Luke Bunch
G. E. Butler
Dr. James L. Caldwell
C. A. Callow
John S. Carriger
Dr. Douglas Chamberlain
Dr. Morrow Chamberlain II
Elizabeth Clark
Thomas Clines
Elizabeth Cowdrick
Mr. & Mrs. Ben E. Crawford
Mr. & Mrs. Troy F. Daniel
Tom David
H. B. Douglas
Mr. & Mrs. Ruel Edmister
Mr. & Mrs. Charles Edwards
Mary G. Eggers
R. W. Fannell
Gertrude L. Fleming
James F. Fote
Mr. & Mrs. James M. Gager, Jr.
Jerry Gladson
Mr. & Mrs. William Grim
Ira D. Halvorsen
Steven J. Harvey
Dr. & Mrs. Bill Hawthorne
Ruth Higgins
Dr. & Mrs. L. W. Homer
Dr. Noel Hunt
H. L. Ingle
Hortense M. Johnson
William R. Johnson
Wesley W. Jones
Paul H. Keckley
Mr. & Mrs. B. B. Kieim, Jr.
C. F. Kelly
Richard E. King
Wilson Kirby
Carl Kosanke
Dr. Stewart Lawwill, Jr.
Audrey Liles, Jr.
Lilah Liley
Evlyn Lindberg
Dr. Philip H. Livingston
Ina Longway
Mr. & Mrs. Kirk McAllister
Dr. & Mrs. S. J. McCallie
Ellis B. Mellette
Opal L. Miller
Dr. Charles F. Moore
Dr. John N. Oliver
Eva Pangborn
John L. Parks
Pastor William Patten
Dr. & Mrs. Gary B. Patterson
Christene Perkins
H. L. Pike
Mr. & Mrs. Wayne A. Powell
E. R. Prieste
Gladys Priest
Allen Raff
James O. Rhodes
Stanley E. Rowland
David W. Russell
Emma Saxton
Stan Showalter
Verna A. Slate
Mr. & Mrs. David C. Smith
Sherwood Smith
Mr. & Mrs. G. R. Soper
Dr. Philip Sotzing
Mr. & Mrs. Ronald Spalding
Eleanor G. Speaker
B. R. Splawn
Don Steinway
Bernice Stevens
Dr. Brooke Summerour
A. W. Taber
Mr. & Mrs. G. F. Taverne
Mrs. Fred Temple
Joe B. Thomas
F. D. Thoresen
Mr. & Mrs. Paul Travis
John P. Van Cleave
Mr. & Mrs. E. K. VandeVere
Mr. & Mrs. William H. Wates
Valton D. Watkins
Mrs. A. L. Watt
David E. Weisley
R. H. Wentland
Thomas Wolfe
James E. Zeigler

Patron
$10 to $250
(Corrections and Additions Only)

Marie Abbott
K. H. Abbott II
Lee E. Abelson
Charles E. Abernol
Elison Adams
Isaac C. Adams
James R. Adams
Jessie M. Adams
Peggy Adams
Frank Adkins
Ben Aichele
Bill Aiken
Dr. Michael Aiken
Betty Ainsbinder
Mrs. M. J. Akers
Myrtle Akers
Darleen Davis
Diane Davis
Hugh S. Davis
Nancy J. Davis
Richard Davis
Dr. Robert E. Davis
Wilbur T. Davis
Robert Davison
Edna M. Deaton
E. T. Debary
Joseph F. Decosimo
Susan Deben
Sharon D. Dempsey
Mark Dennis
M. L. Derryberry
James A. Desrosiers
Arthur B. Devin
Luanne H. DeWitt
Mrs. A. E. Deyo
Karen Diamond
Beverly Dickertoff
Patricia D. Dickinson
Sharan Diedrich
Frank A. Di Gioia
W. L. Dimick
Elder & Mrs. Albert G. Dittes
Alma Dixon
D. W. Dockey
Lewis C. Doggett
Harry W. Dole
James Donaldson
Jean Dorch
Joyce Dorch
Rheta Dorch
James W. Douglas
Stephen A. Downs
Brian A. Drake
E. L. Draper
George Draper
Belle Draughn
Louise C. Drew
Roy M. Driscoll
B. M. Drucker
James Dusett, Jr.
Elder & Mrs. Roger Dudley
Phillip I. Dugan
Eugenia Duncan
James Duncan
Joseph C. Duncan
M. A. Dunfaith
Laura Dupper
H. W. Dunand
Mr. & Mrs. John Durichuck, Sr.
Dr. Martin Durkin
Marian E. Darran
Ladd Dunya
Linda H. Dwyer
William K. Dwyer
Katrina Eberhardt
Thomas R. Eberle
W. M. Ebersole
Ella Mae Edgmon
Marchie L. Edgmon
Elfa Edmister
Al Edmister
Art Edmister
Mike Edwards
Lula Evskall
Shirley Eldridge
Mrs. C. E. Eller
Mr. & Mrs. J. Q. Eller
W. H. England
Harold F. Englert
James F. Ensign
Lloyd Erickson
Robert J. Ermer
William H. Ernickson
Charles Ervin
F. D. Estabrook
Peter Estved
Mrs. H. A. Etheridge
Donna Jeanne Etkin

I. M. Evans
Thomas P. Evans
Mrs. Theodore I. Evans, Jr.
Tim C. Everitt
Dr. C. E. Everett
Sally Everett
Dr. & Mrs. T. Faetunich
R. O. Fall
William Farris
I. S. Faulkner
E. L. Fedder
Lorraine Felker
W. H. Ferguson
Robert A. Field
Ruby D. Fielding
George W. Fillauer
Leonard N. Fillman
Jerry Finkle
Georgia Fisher
Lawrence E. Fisher
Elizabeth Fleming
Leonard C. Fletcher
Donald B. Flint
Flora Flood
Larry E. Floyd
Robbie E. Floyd
David Fogg
Ronald A. Fonda
Elwood M. Fote
Walter T. Forbes
Blanche E. Ford
E. L. Foreman
Mrs. A. H. Foster
Loren E. Foster
Mr. & Mrs. William G. Foster
Aileen B. Fowler
Graham Fowler
Mr. & Mrs. Archie G. Fox
Dr. Ronald L. Fox
Sally Franklin
L. H. Frantz
Mrs. D. C. Frazier
Bernie Freedman
Gloria Freedman
John R. Freeman
Royal E. French

Burton Frost
Elgin E. Frye
Devin Fryling
Evelyn L. Fuchcar
Mareette Fultsbright
Kenneth W. Fuller
Myrtle Fuller
Floyd L. Fuller, Jr.
H. F. Fulton
Dr. & Mrs. Prentice Fulton
Lewis Funderburg
William R. Furrey
David G. Gabbard
Denise C. Gagne
Mr. & Mrs. Werner Gallo
Fowler Gamble
Alvida H. Gann
Helen Gardner
Eliza Garrett
Gary P. Garrett
Gus Garr
Dan Garza
Mr. & Mrs. David L. Gates
Lillian Giever
S. Gelpar
Loyd C. Georgin
Thomas E. Geraghty
G. M. Gibbs
Henry W. Gilbert
Jennie S. Gibson
Burl Gibson
Margaret Gifford
Cheri Gilbert
Warren M. Gilbert
David J. Gilbreath
Richard Gilks
Mr. & Mrs. F. C. Gilkeson
Dr. Stephen R. Gilmore
Dr. Joel F. Ginsberg
Alvin J. Girdner
Mr. & Mrs. Dwain Glass
J. M. Glass
Scott Glass
Louie A. Gleyre
Mr. & Mrs. Mel Glover
Diane L. Grifo

Michael Golden
Laverne Goodbrand
Ruth Goodbrand
Betty L. Goodman
Dorothy G. Goodnord
Richard B. Gossett
Stephen C. Grace
Doris Graham
Floyd Graham
Leon Graham
Elder & Mrs. Obed G. Graham
Ruby Graham
J. C. Grainger
Clinton Grantham
Andrew Grassell
Bill Grauher
Elder & Mrs. Ted N. Graves
Orin H. Gray
Dr. James E. Greenery
Doris Green
John G. Green
Joseph C. Green
Mrs. Walde Green
Iacob Greenberg
William Greenberg
Georgia Greene
Dr. & Mrs. John Greene, Jr.
Dr. Michael D. Greene
Mary L. Greenhoe
W. D. Greer
James Greer
Mrs. James J. Grifiss
Jim Griffith
Russ Griffith
Jan Grigsby
J. Greulich
Elsie Grounds
Mr. & Mrs. Edgar Grundset
Natalie Grundset
Lyndhurst Gulfdorf
Martha Gundaker
Adelaide Gundlach
Kathleen Gunter
Calvin Guthrie
John Gutierrez
Harvey Habenicht

The Homecoming supper hosted by the Collegerdale Alumni Chapter on Saturday evening was well attended. Each person raising a hand in this picture met his or her spouse on the Southern campus.
A box supper on Friday of Homecoming was a pleasant part of Founders' Day.

Ramun L. Solomon
James C. Swason
Mary Lou Sotting
Elder Joseph A. Soule
Mrs. O. C. Spencer
William M. Spencer
Herbert J. Spittler
Richard Stagg
Kurt Stigmaier
Wittke Starjet
Anna Steele
Dr. & Mrs. Byron Steele
Dr. Wallard H. Steele, Jr.
John D. Stein
John Steinkraus III
Mr. & Mrs. Mark Stephens
Thomas A. Stephens
Dr. C. M. Stephenson
Marilyn Sterling
W. F. Stevens
Darrell C. Shepwart

Mrs. T. D. Strickland
Ludovica Strickler
Marjorie Strong
Elmyra Stover
James K. Studor
Glen Studivindt
Paul Sturtevant
Kemmi E. Styskal
Jeraldyn Sullivan
Brooke Summerour
Belva Sunderman
Karen J. Supon
Ura Lee Sutton
Mr. & Mrs. L. George Sutter
Mrs. Joe Swan
Mrs. Delbert Swanson
Dolman D. Swanson
Eric Swanson
Glady's H. Swanston
Robert Swanston
Gordon Sweene

William C. Swift
Carmen D. Swigart
C. T. Swinson
Mrs. John M. Swinson
Phillip A. Taber
W. R. Tabor
D. L. Tankersley
Willie M. Tapeley
J. F. Tarner
Ray N. Taylor
Dr. Viston Taylor
Nancy V. Teeple
Nadine Fejani
Harvey Templeton
M. A. Tomenbaum
Bertha W. Terry
Crenette I. Teter
Elise Tetz
Richard Thatcher, Sr.
Myrtle Thiel
William Thimsen
Byron Thomas
Carol M. Thomas
Norris V. Thomas
Randy Thomas
Tatea C. Thomas
Philip R. Thomford
C. C. Thompson
George Thompson
M. S. Thompson
Sarah Thompson
Marianne S. Thornberry
Mrs. Gary Thurber
Judy Thurmon
Mel Thurmon
Lousie Tolbert
Ethel Tolhurst
Carl T. Tolliver
Peggy L. Tompkins
Cindy Torpke
Vivian C. Trammell
Nellie J. Travick
Aline Trimble
William Trinkner
Russ M. Triplett
Wilson H. Triplett
Harry Troiz
Frank N. Troy
Mr. & Mrs. Max Trummer
Jeanette Tryoler
William Tryon
Wayne Tucker
Emery C. Tucker, Jr.
A. J. Tuckman
Mrs. William Tugwell
Ron Turcotte
David Turner
Lynn Turner
Walter Turner
Kathy Tyler
Dr. & Mrs. William E. Tyndall
S. C. Ulmon
Dorothy Ulrich
Dr. Stephen Valadez
Minnie R. Vance
Adriam Vanderbil
John Vangoosen
Dr. Dorsey Van Horn
Mary G. Van Horn
J. L. Vanwagner
Mr. & Mrs. Thomas Vasil
Russell L. Vaughn
Ralph Vaughn
Kelley I. Veeley
Marie Vignano
L. J. Voskull
Mr. & Mrs. William Voss
Lewis R. Wadding III
Danell D. Wade
N. K. Wagner
Richard Wagner
Ralph F. Waldrum, Jr.
Welcome to the following new Committee of 100 members:

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Davis
Dr. and Mrs. Ted Hamilton
Mr. and Mrs. Bill Haupt
Dr. and Mrs. Elton Kerr
Dr. and Mrs. Gunter Koch
Dr. and Mrs. Tom McFarland
Mr. and Mrs. William Metcalf
Mr. Frank Palmour
Mr. Ed Reifsnnyder
Mr. Brooke Sadler
Dr. Rahn Shaw
Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smith, Jr.
Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Ulmer

Committee of 100 membership now stands at 124.
SCOTT JEFFREY YANKELEVITZ, 21, a junior business major from Brookeville, Maryland, died October 24 of head injuries suffered on campus that afternoon when he fell from a skateboard. A memorial service the following day in the Collegedale SDA Church evoked touching tributes from several of his many friends. A group of 30 students and five faculty members traveled to Maryland for the funeral on October 27.

"He was warm and sensitive... but the characteristic I admired the most was his unfailing dedication to his friends. His silent influence and leadership brought me through many trials," wrote fellow student Jerry Russell in memory of Scott.

Scott was born January 28, 1963. His immediate family are Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Yankelevitz and an older brother, Bruce.

FLORA DORCH MOYERS, Graysville Academy graduate, passed away August 6, 1984, five weeks into her 100th year. A native of Tennessee, she had lived in Keene, Texas, since 1941.

Flora Dorch was born July 3, 1885, in Springville, Tennessee, and began studying at Graysville at the turn of the century, when she was 15. After some time as a student, Flora began teaching at Graysville and in 1905 married Samuel Moyers. Records show that he taught agriculture at Graysville and studied at Southern Training School. Their son, Carl, was born in 1908.

Just as the family prepared to move to Keene in 1919, Samuel died. Flora and her son went on to school at Keene anyway, and then together took their final year of college study at Union College in 1931-32. She stayed on to teach in the demonstration school in Lincoln, Nebraska. Carl went to Loma Linda University but died suddenly halfway through his medical studies.

Mrs. Moyers moved back to Keene in 1941 to care for her parents and to teach in the church school. Pastor Cree Sandefur, one of "Aunt Flora's" many students, commented, "Her magnetism drew young people to her. They left her presence with new ideas and enlarged ideals."

August 19, 1984, at her home in Collegedale. She had served the Alumni Association for about eight years, and had been named an honorary alumna in 1982 in recognition of her work.

Born in Minnesota, Claire was preparing for the teaching profession when she met Jerry Lien, a hometown boy. He joined her in the Adventist family, and on June 16, 1937, they were married. After teaching in public schools for some time, they attended Union College, where Claire studied secretarial skills. Later she studied medical transcription.

When Jerry entered the ministry, she used the piano, organ, and chalk art to enrich evangelistic meetings. She was intensely interested in children's Sabbath School work throughout her life. Claire's incredible courage and profound faith inspired many in her recent years of ill health.

Her son, Jerry Dick, lives in Collegedale. Her two sisters are Evelyn Herrmann and Florian Lee and her brother is Duane Grimstad. Burial was in Collegedale Cemetery, following services at Valley View Chapel of Lane Funeral Home on August 22.

CLAIRE GRIMSTAD LIEN, executive secretary of the Southern College Alumni Association before her retirement in November, 1981, died...
Travel with Southern College and your fellow alumnus.

This exciting foreign study tour will cover the island of Britain from London in the south to Glasgow and Edinburgh in Scotland. Included in the itinerary will be such notable places as Oxford, Coventry, Liverpool, Cambridge, Stratford on Avon, Stonehenge, York, Bath, Sussex, Canterbury, and Winchester, plus an evening at the Royal Shakespeare Theatre. The tour will also take a brief excursion from Chester into the hills and along the coast of northern Wales.

College credit is available to any tour participant, if desired. Cost of the 21-day tour is $2,100, which includes all transportation, lodging, two meals per day, cost of academic credit, and tourist fees.

Additional information may be obtained by writing Dr. William Wohlers, Department of History, Southern College, P.O. Box 370, Colleugdale, TN 37315-0370.