Alumni President's Message

Dear Friends,

The holidays are over and the thoughts of our families getting together brought pleasant feelings. It was also a time to reflect on the first coming of Christ to this world and what that means to us. We recalled the blessings of the past year.

I have enjoyed the leadership of J. W. Henson and the other executive officers of the Alumni Association the past two years. I truly appreciate the opportunity I now have to represent each of you as president of the Alumni Association. The officers are already working on plans for alumni weekend next October 31 through November 2, and encourage you to start your planning for that enjoyable weekend.

I also represent you on the Board of Trustees of Southern College of Seventh-day Adventists, and as I see the financial problems facing colleges and students, am impressed with the great importance of the BECA and Endowment Fund drives. If Southern College of Seventh-day Adventists is to continue in a strong manner, it must have the support of each one of us. Thank you for this support.

Sincerely,

Robert A. Lorren, D.D.S., '57

Mailbag

The Alumni Association received several letters following Homecoming. Here are excerpts:

Thanks for the warm hospitality, the honor bestowed, and the privilege of speaking at Homecoming '85.

Don Hunte
Loma Linda, Cali

What a fantastic weekend I enjoyed at Southern College's 1985 Homecoming! Everything was planned to the "T." Loved the students in authentic southern attire. The Sabbath meals were outstanding (delicious and well planned). The Saturday night concert was very enjoyable. The organ concert was great. Surely many hours of effort and planning went into making the entire weekend be one to remember always.

Connie (Arnold) Jackson, '61
Goodlettsville, Tenn

I should like to express my heartfelt thanks as well as the sincere appreciation of my sister Myrtle for the wonderful weekend which you and your co-workers worked so diligently to prepare for the alumni of Southern College.

Most sincerely
Sarah (Slate) Gaic

Excellence

BY DORIS BURDICK

It's only natural that the tie between business and philanthropy is a close one. Both involve the transfer of assets.

The business department at Southern College is the first academic area to benefit from a magnificent gesture that breaks ground among Adventist colleges. A generous gift has established the Ruth McKee Chair for Entrepreneurship and Business Ethics. The $400,000 endowment enables the college to add a new member to the business faculty. Interest income will provide continued funding. This is the first fully endowed chair on any Adventist college campus in North America.

"We have some prospective names for the newly funded teaching position," Dr. Wayne Vandevere reports, "and screening of candidates is in process." The individual selected will have strong interests in business ethics, management, and business development in a free-enterprise environment.

"It is fitting that our first endowed chair is named for someone whose entrepreneurial skills have been demonstrated over the past five decades and someone who has consistently modeled ethical principles," said President John Wagner. Ruth King McKee is the vice president for purchasing and receiving at McKee Baking Company. Since 1934 Mrs. McKee has been an equal partner with her husband in all of their business enterprises. Her business ability has played a large part in the success of the company.

Computer literacy is fast becoming a necessary skill in many fields, business among them. Again in this area a generous gift has been invested in business students at Southern College. Ten new microcomputers and attendant printers have already been ordered to provide business computer laboratory experience. They and a like number yet to be ordered will be located in Brock Hall.

For 15 years now, another philanthropic gesture has had its impact on Southern's business students and the Chattanooga business community. In 1970, Eugene A. Anderson, an Adventist businessman in Atlanta, set up funding for a business lecture series. Each year it has brought to the campus a broad spread of speakers—a budget expert, a lawyer, a car salesman or personnel manager, even a woman police officer and a former con artist—to enrich students' understanding of business topics. This year 62 students enrolled for the hour of credit available as a seminar course. "The turnout is tremendous from the community," said Dr. Vandevere. "I'm pleased to see what the series is doing in acquaint-provide us a total of $18,000 annually to make possible our LTHC curriculum. In many cases our graduates accept administrative positions at nursing homes operated by one of those organizations."

Giving has been a two-way street with the business department over the years. For example, Dr. Vandevere has undertaken auditing treks to far places in conjunction with the church's auditing service. Last summer, he audited in Africa for five weeks. Field experience provides a teaching perspective unavailable from textbooks alone. And certainly it's a credit to the quality and thoroughness of Southern's business program that at least five of this year's prospective graduates have already been invited to join the General Conference Auditing Service.

These examples of what philanthropy is doing for one department are illustrative of what gifts mean to other areas as well. During the last ing our Chattanooga neighbors with the college."

"Another area in which philanthropy has strengthened our department is our long-term health care administration program," Dr. Vandevere added. "Life Care Centers of America, CareMore, Inc., and the long-term health care branch of Adventist Health System/Sunbelt fiscal year, gifts to the college totaled more than $2.5 million, according to Dr. Jack McClarty, vice president for development. This includes nearly $1 million in subsidies.

"Every gift is significant and has a bearing on the future not only of the college itself but of the young people who come to learn," says Dr. McClarty.

Eminent Author Chaim Potok To Speak

Best-selling American novelist Chaim Potok will be visiting the campus March 19 and 20 as a part of the President's Lecture Series.

His most recent book, Davita's Harp, was published in the spring of 1985. He is widely known for his five previous stories of contemporary Jewish life in America. In addition, Dr. Potok, a conservative rabbi, has written Wandering, a highly readable history of the Jewish people.

In The Chosen, his first published work, Potok focused on the conflicts of individuals seized by the crosscurrents of the secular world and personal religious convictions. "I think I stumbled quite inadvertently upon the central problem of any system of faith in the secular world," the author says. The book was subsequently the basis for a film.

An evening lecture at 8 p.m. on the first day of his visit will be given in Ackerman Auditorium. The public is especially invited to this presentation. When he speaks at the student convocation the following day (10:30 a.m. in the Physical Education Center), the public may also attend.

Dr. Rosalyn Yalow, 1977 winner of the Nobel Prize in physiology or medicine for her work in the development of radioimmunoassay, charmed her audiences as the first of two guest lecturers in the new series.

She stressed the importance of confidence and the willingness to put in the time and effort to do well. She told one student reporter, "It is the responsibility of the faculty, even as my teachers encouraged me, to help their students achieve as much as possible. My theory is that you are not simply teaching courses, you are teaching people. You have to know about the problems your students have, not just in your field of interest, but their general problems. I think on a campus like this students probably get much more guidance in this way than at state universities where you are one of the mob." ■

Sanford and Martha Ulmer, of Landsdale, Pa., with plaque

Ulmer Student Center Named

They've shared love with hundreds of students. They've given visionary leadership to the ten million dollar endowment campaign. They've provided numerous scholarships. They've earned the respect and admiration of students, faculty, and members of the Board of Trustees."

With these words, the student center became the Sanford and Martha Ulmer Student Center, "dedicated in honor of the Ulmers' 50th wedding anniversary and in grateful recognition of their total commitment to the students of Southern College of Seventh-day Adventists."

A plaque and an album of campus photos were presented to the Ulmers by President John Wagner a few days before their Christmas Eve anniversary. At a student convocation in January, with the Board of Trustees convened and present as guests, a brief ceremony marked the official naming of the center. Board members expressed further appreciation for the Ulmers' role in helping students.

"The Ulmers are an example of philanthropy at its best," said Dr. Wagner, "because their generosity flows untainted from a pure spring of love. All of us are inspired by it."

The Student Center, with its lounge, snack bar (KR's Place), Student Association offices, the Teaching Learning Center, Counseling and Testing Center, campus chaplain's office, CARE office, and prayer room, is actually an extension of Wright Hall. It was completed in 1973. In the lounge area (named the L. T. Haney Room) is a plaque recognizing the 1977 gifts of L. T. Haney which, along with employer matching gifts, provided its furniture and equipment. ■

For the glory of God and the uplifting of man

April Organ Dedication Set

by Sheila Elwin

Whether you're an organist, a musician in general, or simply a lover of great music, there is only one place to be April 23 through 27: Collegedale, Tennessee.

Not exactly the cultural center of the South, you say? No, but it is the home of the Anton Heiller Memorial Organ, and the site of inspiring dedication services to be held in the Collegedale Seventh-day Adventist Church.

This very special organ, built by John Brombaugh, is the largest mechanical action organ in the United States, and one of the three largest in the world, built in this century. Named for the late Anton Heiller, distinguished Viennese organist, composer, and conductor, the organ has 4,926 pipes, 70 stops, 4 keyboards, and a glockenspiel.

The dedication ceremonies will begin Wednesday, April 23, with a concert by Leonard Raver, professor of organ at the renowned Juilliard School of Music, and official organist of the New York Philharmonic. Winning entries in the college's international composition competition planned for this event will be performed at the recital. Other concerts include the following: Peter Panyavsky, organist and music director for St. Stephen's Cathedral in Vienna, Austria, and professor of organ at the Vienna Academy of Music, will perform Thursday. This will be followed by Harald Vogel, director of the North German Organ Academy, in concert on Friday. Vogel is also a professor at the Hochschule fur Musik und Theater in Hanover. All three concerts will be in the Collegedale Church at 8 p.m.

The main dedication service will be on Sabbath at 11 a.m., and will be broadcast live on FM90.5 WSMC. Judy Glass, professor of organ at Southern College, and Peter Panyavsky will be the organists for the morning service. It will include the world premiere of a work composed by Panyavsky especially for the dedication.

In addition, a hymn festival is scheduled for 4 p.m. with Klaas Bolt, church organist to the Grote of St.

Bavokerk in Haarlem, Holland, and professor at Sweelinck Conservatory in Amsterdam. Saturday night's concert will be by Michael Radulescu, professor of organ at the Hochschule fur Musik in Vienna, Austria.

A dedication concert of the meantone organ in Ackerman Auditorium will be held Sunday, at 10 a.m. This organ, also built by Brombaugh & Associates, will be played by William Porter, professor of organ and harpsichord at the New England and Oberlin Conservatories of Music. Dedication activities will conclude the same day at 2 p.m., with another concert by Harald Vogel, on the meantone instrument.

In addition to this superior concert schedule, two days of workshops will be held.

There is a suggested donation of $5 per concert or $25 for all seven dedication concerts. The entire series will be taped by American Public Radio for distribution via satellite to over 300 public radio stations in the United States, Canada, and Australia. More information on all concerts and workshop sessions may be obtained by calling (615) 238-2880. ■

Sahly Chosen Next President

Dr. Donald Ross Sahly, 43, has accepted the invitation to become the 22nd president of Southern College of Seventh-day Adventists.

The invitation was extended upon the vote of the Southern College Board of Trustees, which met January 23. He will follow Dr. John Wagner, who leaves Southern College in May to assume the presidency of Union College in Lincoln, Neb.

Sahly now lives in Singapore, where he is the associate director of education for the Far Eastern Division of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. He supervises all levels of Adventist schools in the Philippines and Guam/Micronesia, an area with a graduate school, a seminary, three senior colleges, 23 high schools, and 131 elementary schools.

Concurrently he directs Home Study International (Far East). His six years overseas also include experience as academic dean and interim president at Southeast Asia Union College.

Before his move to Singapore, Dr.

Sahly was administrator of the Adventist English School in Bangkok, Thailand, from 1979 to 1981. The school has a student body of 1,200.

The college president-elect also has about 15 years of experience in elementary school teaching and administration. In 1978-79 Dr. Sahly was assistant to the vice president for public relations and development at Andrews University in Michigan.

Born in Canada, Dr. Sahly earned both a bachelor's degree and a master's degree at Andrews University. His doctor of education degree in educational administration was earned at the University of the Pacific in Stockton, Calif.

He and his wife, the former Wesslynne Choban, have a daughter, April, 17; and a son, Quentin, 14.

A 12-member screening committee, composed of board, faculty, administration, student, staff, and alumni representatives, was appointed last October. Their list of 39 suggested candidates was narrowed to nine names which were presented to the Board in December. ■

CARE Encourages Christian Growth

An average of 300 students are attending the weekly Afterglow programs following Friday evening vespers, reports Allan Martin, Afterglow leader. Other opportunities for nurturing and sharing, both on and off campus, reflect similar Christian commitment. CARE (Collegiate Adventists Reaching Everyone) is headed up this year by Bill Dubois, left, assistant chaplain and Taskforce worker. Other students pictured with Bill are Bob Folkenberg, in charge of Campus Ministries; John Dysinger, leader of CABL (Collegiate Adventists for Better Living); and David Forsey, president of the Collegiate Missions Club.

Lecture Series Off and Running

Now at the half-way point, the 1986 E. A. Anderson Lecture Series has already included a reformed con artist (Frank Abagnale), a woman police officer (Nancy Hightshoe), a newspaper editor (Lee Anderson), an economist (Ziad Keilany), and an insurance corporation president (Thomas Gaines III).

Yet to come are five more lectures in March and April. "Success Performance Behavior—The Critical Differences" is the title of Dean Basham's lecture on March 20. He is director of training for Olan Mills, Inc. Paul Cinquemani, president of Adventist Living Centers, Inc., will speak March 27 on "Long-Term Care and Acute Care. Why? What Role for Church Health Care?"

On April 3 Karen Stophel, founder of Woman Alive, Inc., will present "Guides to Becoming the Person You Are Meant to Be." The following Thursday's subject will be nonverbal communication. Lecturer will be Cody Sweet, president and founder of Nonverbal Communications, Inc. The lecture series will conclude April 17 with Bob Scott's presentation, "I Cannot Recommend This Individual Too Highly Because . . ." Scott is president of Glendale Adventist Medical Center.

Each Thursday evening lecture begins at 8 p.m. in Brock Hall. ■

Religion Division Expresses Thanks

At refurbished Miller Hall—now So-Ju-Conian Hall, the Religion Center—almost every planned improvement is now in place and functioning. The few exceptions await delivery of goods.

"Spontaneous expressions of appreciation are heard in the offices and classrooms every day," says Dr. Gordon Hyde, division director. "The division takes this opportunity to salute the generosity of the So-Ju-Conians, which has made this delightful and practical improvement a reality. A parallel salute goes to the Engineering Department of the college, which has implemented the improvements. Debra DeGrave and Associates are responsible for the interior decorating." ■

March 16 to 21

Alumni over 60 have a fresh new opportunity to sample campus life at Southern College. Elderhostel is coming March 16 to 21.

The Elderhostel program is tailored to the growing number of older learners. It offers anyone 60 or more (or the spouse of someone that age) a great way to keep the mind active. One, two, or three classes, food, and lodging for the week are offered for the same inclusive price ($195) applied to Elderhostel weeks on hundreds of other American campuses.

Most Elderhostel participants take all three courses offered, but only one is required. The classes do not presuppose previous knowledge of the subject, but offer mental adventure in a friendly atmosphere.

Classes this year are: Current Topics in Nutrition (to be taught by Bill Allen, vice president for academic administration); Organs and Organ Music Through the Ages (by Judy Glass and Marvin Robertson of the music department); and The Influence of Judaism in the Writings of Chaim Potok (by Jerry Gladson of the division of religion). To make the week even more memorable, Potok himself will be lecturing on campus on Wednesday and Thursday.

Though Elderhostelers will be sharing teachers and other campus resources with younger students, they enjoy an advantage the full-time students might wish for: no exams to take and no papers to write.

Because the number of Elderhostelers is generally limited to 45, those interested in enjoying this special week at Collegedale are encouraged to make reservations as soon as possible: Elderhostel, Division of Adult Studies and Special Programs, Southern College, Collegedale, TN 37315. PR Office Takes the Cake

Benchmarks of performance have been provided the public relations office at Southern College by successes in three recent competitions.

Three Silver Quill awards for excellence were given to Southern College in the 1985 IABC District II competition.

IABC is the International Association of Business Communicators. Winning entries were the poster depicting Southern College as one crystal apple surrounded by many ordinary apples, the Activities Calendar, and the Viewbook.

In the local Golden Pen competition, Southern College also was a favorite. Of 28 awards given to Chattanooga area communicators, 7 rewarded creative projects of SC's public relations office, under the direction of Vinita Sauder. Awards of Excellence were earned by the poster, the Viewbook, Transcript (SC's employee newsletter), the feature "A World View" in a recent issue of this magazine, and by SOUTHERN COLUMNS as a whole. Advantage (newsletter for prospective students) and the Activities Calendar garnered two Merit Awards.

In a district competition sponsored by CASE (Council for Advancement and Support of Education), Southern College again came out on top. Advantage won a Grand Award in the printed newsletter category, which had 19 entries. Among 46 entries in the special print communication category, Southern's apple poster took another Grand Award.

Graduation Celebrated

For 106 students, graduation day arrived in December rather than the more traditional May.

Desmond Doss, recipient of the Congressional Medal of Honor for his heroism as a wartime army medic, challenged the graduates to "Let Your Light Shine." The afternoon commencement service followed a nurses' pinning ceremony for 42 associate degree and 15 baccalaureate degree students. Jan Haluska, associate professor of English at Southern College, chose the title, "Pins and Needles," for his address at the pinning.

Among the 46 baccalaureate graduates, 6 earned academic disinction. Donna Lynn (B.Mus.) graduated summa cum laude with a grade point average above 3.90. Sondra Snider (B.A. Music) graduated magna cum laude (high honors). Gaye Colvin, Edward Lyons, Dale Moran, and Vivian Ott graduated cum laude.

Sixty students completed associate degree programs. Honored among them were Paul Cannon II and Jeanie Young (magna cum laude); and Claire Wiese Blum, Sue Crews, Becky Everett, Reba Sherrill, and Eva Wilkinson (cum laude).

Southern College has 370 seniors this year, the majority of whom will graduate May 4.

McKee Library Recipient of Wyeth Book

An Andrew Wyeth limited edition volume has been given to Southern College by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Decosimo of Chattanooga in honor of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. McKee.

The gilt-edged, suede- and buckrum-bound volume is one of only 300 copies, each numbered and signed by the artist. The gift, with its faithful reproductions of Andrew Wyeth paintings, rough sketches, excerpts from Mr. Wyeth's handwritten letters and notes, and text by Richard Meryman, is No. 35.

"This is indeed a beautiful piece of work," said President John Wagner of the gift. "We sincerely appreciate the generosity of Joe and Rachel Decosimo." Joseph F. Decosimo is head of Chattanooga's largest CPA firm. The volume will be on special reserve in McKee Library. Of interest to most anyone, the volume will be of particular value as a reference work for art students.

Several years ago Andrew Wyeth was published by Houghton Mifflin Company and the complete printing of 50,000 copies quickly sold out.

(Since that time, single copies have been resold at 15 times the original cost.) The limited edition dates back to the same time, but was printed by a more exacting process, Colotype, with extraordinary care. For example, color reproductions were taken to the original paintings, including those in a major exhibit on American tour, in order to check first-hand on printing quality and color fidelity. The limited edition, with 194 numbered pages, has 10 pages not in the regular edition.

Jan Rushing Voted Alumni President-Elect

Ballots cast in the recent Alumni Association election gave the president-elect position to Jan Rushing, '58. After two years as president-elect, he becomes president for two years, and then continues to serve the Alumni Association as past president for two more years.

Jan Rushing

Rushing is an executive vice president for Adventist Health System/Sunbelt Health Care Corporation. His duties involve Region I hospitals in Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, and Georgia. He also is an elected member of the board of commissioners for the City of Collegedale. He was an associate professor of business administration at Southern College from 1971 to 1977. His wife, Patricia (Wilson), joined the SC nursing faculty in 1982. They have a son and a daughter.

On the same ballot, Jolena (Taylor) King, '61, sales/executive secretary at Collegedale Casework, Inc., was chosen to join the Alumni Association executive committee. Her husband, Roger S. King, '60, is a dentist in Collegedale and both of their sons have attended SC.

Debra McKee, '81, vice president for human resources at McKee Baking Company, is also newly elected to the committee. Deb majored in history at SC and now is working toward a master's degree in business administration.

One more new name on the slate of officers is Peter Read, '55. He pastors the Chattanooga First Church. He and his wife, Valmae (Minchin), have two daughters. Kathleen, '84, has completed her B.S. degree in nursing, and Cheryl, '85, also is a nurse. She received her associate degree last May.

At the same time, the Collegedale Alumni Chapter elected its new officers. David Winters, '71, a physician, is chapter president. Cliff Myers, Jr., '71, will be serving as vice president. The chapter secretary is Vickie Hall, '71. ■

At Rest

JAMES M. ACKERMAN, 82, died Dec. 11, 1985, in Collegedale. He had been director of testing, audio-visual services, and admissions, and taught education classes at Southern College prior to his retirement in 1970. He was also the first city manager of Collegedale upon incorporation in 1969.

Ackerman was born in Yorkton, Saskatchewan, Canada. He graduated from Union College and Vanderbilt University. Later he was awarded a doctorate in education by the University of Tennessee at Knoxville.

He was an ordained minister and youth leader in Canada and Kansas before being called to the South for similar work. After leaving the Georgia-Cumberland Conference, he was principal at Forest Lake Academy and staff member at Madison College prior to coming to Collegedale in 1957.

Dr. Ackerman's first wife, Lois Palmer Ackerman, and a daughter were killed in an accident in Atlanta in 1948. Later he married Verna Bee Staley, who died of cancer. Survivors include his wife of 32 years, Dorothy Evans Ackerman, a former music teacher at Southern College; two daughters: Jean Kelln and Joyce Haynes, both of California; seven grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

ALMA (CHAMBERS) AGER, 68, died Oct. 17, 1985, in Rapid City, S. Dak. She was chairman of the behavioral science department at Southern from 1965 to 1972. She was born and raised in Alabama, and came to Collegedale for academy and her first college studies.

In 1945 she joined the staff of Plainfield Academy in South Dakota, then in 1955 moved to Loma Linda, Calif., to supervise a medical laboratory. In 1967 she was awarded a Ph.D. degree by the University of Southern California. After leaving Southern, she worked in South Dakota as a clinical psychologist with the Veterans' Administration. In 1974 she married Grant Ager.

WILLIAM P. BRADLEY, 87, science and mathematics teacher at Southern from 1923 to 1925, died Oct. 6, 1985, in Laurel, Md. His lifetime career in the Seventh-day Adventist Church also included service as educational secretary in the Southern and North Pacific unions, a number of years as a missionary to the Far East, and 25 years as an associate secretary of the General Conference.

Survivors include his wife, Mildred; one son, James; a sister, Ruth Jobs; and three grandchildren.

GENEVIEVE (ILES) McCORMICK OST, who taught communication classes at Southern from 1966 to 1974, passed away in Orlando, Fla., on Jan. 17, 1986. She was 70. She and her husband of ten years, Walter M. Ost, M.D., had moved to Deltona, Fla., from Collegedale a few years ago.

While at Southern she had traveled widely with a speech choir, and was active in recruitment and as a sponsor for the Student Association. In the Collegedale SDA Church she was head deaconess for several years. Survivors include her spouse, a son, a daughter, and two grandsons.

A Street in Their Honor

In 1958 William H. and Elsie Mae Taylor arrived in Collegedale. Some 28 years later they still are very much a part of Southern.

Bill has been assistant to the president and director of alumni relations since 1981, after serving in other capacities such as director of student affairs, director of public relations, and professor of communication. Though retiring now from the alumni directorship, he anticipates working part time with the scholarship endowment campaign and the Committee of 100. For nearly 20 years Mrs. Taylor has provided answers as switchboard operator and receptionist in the administration building. Their children are all SC graduates—a medical doctor, a CPA, and a nurse.

The vision of Bill Taylor has reached beyond the campus for which it is estimated he has raised or helped raise $18 million. Participation in United Way, the American Diabetic Association, and the Lions Club extended his influence. Ingathering field days and a year of service at Southeast Asia Union College in Singapore demonstrated the Taylors' openness to world needs. In recognizing their loyal service by the naming of the road in front of Wright Hall, President John Wagner said, "Taylor Drive will provide us all with the opportunity to literally as well as figuratively follow in their tracks of dedicated service to God and humanity."

A MONTAGE of MEMORIES

A chat in the Garden of Prayer

Some alumni called Homecoming 1985 the best ever. Surely it ranked as a wonderful occasion for the hundreds and hundreds of alumni and family members who came back to the campus the end of October. An open house and Friday afternoon program and concert in So-Ju-Conian Hall, followed by supper, music, and remembering in the Harold Miller Choir Room of Mabel Wood Hall were Founders' Day highlights. The Garden of Prayer was dedicated that same afternoon.

From the vesper service with Marvin Williams, through Don Hunter's Sabbath sermon, lunch for 1350 guests, music—both in the church on the Heiller Memorial Organ and with Brad and Olive Braley at So-Ju-Conian Hall, supper fellowship, a meditative parable by Carolyn Luce Kujawa, to the business meeting with its introductions and awards, alumni participated with enthusiasm. The day was capped off with Mac Frampton's piano concert and an alumni-student basketball game, won by the future alumni.

Can you help put

The Alumni Office is working very hard to update alumni records, and is especially working on updating the honor classes that will be represented at Homecoming 1986.

If you are on this "missing" list, it is because the Alumni Office has no current address for you, though you may be receiving this magazine on the basis of living in the Southern Union. Please send your current address, phone number, and any career and/or family information that would be of interest to your fellow alumni.

If you have helpful information about yourself or someone else on this list, please write: Pauline Pierson, Alumni Office, Southern College, Box 370, Collegedale, TN 37315-0370.

College Honors Come Even After Graduation

The past year was an honorable one for the Alumni Association.

Two new Honorary Alumni were chosen. Their service records give a hint of their dedication to Southern. Ray Hefferlin, professor of physics, has been on the faculty for 30 years, his entire career. Exchanges with foremost scientists in other countries, including the Soviet Union and the People's Republic of China, have kept him from provincialism. K. R. Davis joined the faculty in 1959 as a Bible teacher and the dean of men, and was here for seven years. After four years away, he returned in 1970. He now is director of counseling and testing, and sponsors the Student Association. Summer recruitment activities have given him friends all over the Southern Union.

Ray Hefferlin

Fred and Edythe Cothren were honored together as Alumni of the

Fred and Edythe Cothren

Year. He, a retired medical doctor, and she, a recent recipient of a doctorate in music, have given exemplary support to the college. Edythe

Stephenson Cothren is a member of the Board of Trustees and has provided leadership for the So-Ju-Conian group of alumni. The Cothrens belong to the Committee of 100, and have provided scholarship funds and other financial support.

Young Alumnus of the Year honors went to Denzil McNeilus, of

Denzil McNeilus with President John Wagner

Dodge Center, Minn., executive vice president of McNeilus Companies, major manufacturer of cement trucks. He illustrates the fact that Southern's Alumni Association encompasses former students as well as graduates. Denzil's wife, Donna, is a 1979 graduate. Denzil was named to the SC Board of Trustees in 1984, and he and his wife joined the Committee of 100 last year.

Two Distinguished Alumnus Service Awards were presented. Ruth Kneeland Jacobs was honored for her support of alumni activities. A So-Ju-Conian, she received an honorary diploma last May. Don Hunter of Loma Linda, Calif., member of the Class of 1925 and main speaker for Homecoming 1985, received recognition for his 60 years of service for the church here and abroad, and his support of Christian education.

Besides these whose names have been added to plaques at the head of the staircase in Wright Hall, many other alumni received recognition. Three couples who were main contributors of seed money for the alumni giving program in the past five years were honored: David, '69, and Evelyn (Erickson) Castleberg, '68, of Durand, Wis.; James, Jr., '60, and Joy (Tanner) McElroy, '61, of Cuba, Ala.; and William, '55, and Myrtle (Ezell) Hulsey, former student, of Collegedale.

J. W. Henson III was presented a gavel in appreciation for his service as Alumni Association president during the past two years. Mazie Herin, '37, of Fletcher, N.C., was recognized in the 25th anniversary year of the baccalaureate nursing program at Southern, which she helped found. William A. Iles, Apopka, Fla., was given a plaque recognizing his leadership in the Committee of 100. Ruth Battle received group appreciation for her gracious hostessing of Sabbath lunches at homecoming time.

Relating especially to So-Ju-Conian projects, a commemorative plaque is at the entrance to the new Garden of Prayer. This beautiful spot is a memorial to Symon and Leota King, parents of Ruth King McKee. Charles and Gloria Lacey were recognized for their impressive landscaping work in the entire area by So-Ju-Conian Hall, the Religion Center which formerly was Miller Hall. Charles Lucas was commended for his leadership in the actual restoration of the building. Memorial donations—the baptistry by Theo Maddox, Jr., in honor of his wife, Nellie Henderson Maddox, and the piano and organ by the family of Claiborne Bell and Edythe Hand Stephenson—were also marked with plaques.

Olive and Brad Braley, '56, of Glendale, California, were given a plaque in appreciation of their music for the church over the years. A painting of Harold Miller was accepted by Marvin Robertson on behalf of the Music Department, now housed in Mabel Wood Hall. Mounted door knobs from old Jones Hall were presented to the following: Jesse Cowdrick, Don Hunter, Walter Clark (in absentia), Lorene Fox, Jean Wingate Schill, Mildred Bradley, J. W. Henson III, K. R. Davis, and Dewitt Bowen. ■

THE PAST MEETS THE FUTURE

Those Who Gave, Fiscal Year, 1984-85

Once again the monetary gifts of alumni and friends are recognized. The President's Circle and the Associate listings (Century, Diamond, Golden, and Silver) represent cumulative giving by an individual or couple of more than $2,500 over the years. The Club groups reflect gifts in the 1984-85 year alone (July 1 to June 30), which have not yet advanced a donor into an Associate group.

What each donor should know is that his gift is appreciated, whatever its size. It's like the children's song, "Little drops of water, little grains of sand, make the rolling ocean and the bounteous land." Because 1,888 alumni contributed $132,572 during the 1984-85 fiscal year, BECA (Business Executives Challenge Alumni) kicked in bonuses of $24,000. The class of 1954 deserves special mention for its 93 percent participation, which brought SC an additional bonus of $6,000.

Every attempt has been made for accuracy in these listings. If your name is misplaced or omitted, please accept our apologies and notify the Alumni Office so that records may be corrected.

The 1985-86 goal to be met by June 30 is $150,000 from at least 2,080 alumni. To all who have given in the past, and to all who will be giving, THANK YOU from the student body, the faculty, staff, administration, and board of Southern College of Seventh-day Adventists.

Well-known Adventist musicians Brad and Olive Batson Braley have presented a portrait now hanging in the Heritage Room at J. Mabel Wood Hall. They also have shared scrapbooks, recordings, clippings, and other memorabilia. Back in the 1940's Olive was teaching speech and music at Southern when Brad came to install a campus organ. They have been combining their musical talent ever since.

An unusual part of the annual tree-lighting in front of Wright Hall was the naming of Hickman Drive (the road from the service station northwest to Industrial Drive). Marvin Hickman, left, a colorful, quaint, and lovable member of the Collegedale community for 57 years, was thanked by President John Wagner, center, for his helpfulness over the years. Rain or shine, Marvin cheerfully delivers school and church publications around campus. His Sante suit and cycle are characteristic. As Dr. Wagner told him that cold December night, "Truly your unselfishness is in the spirit of Christmas all year long!"

Committee of 100 Honors Fleming

For students at Southern between 1946-1975, this man was practically an institution in himself. As general manager for finance and development, Charles Fleming's primary interest was in the industrial and commercial operation of the college which provided students with opportunities. During that time, a completely new physical plant was developed and enrollment rose from 250 to its peak at 1,700 plus.

One of the founders of the Committee of 100 when it began in 1963-64, Mr. Fleming later served as its executive director for about 10 years. A plaque was presented to him at the most recent board meeting of the committee. Since its incorporation in 1964, William A. Iles has presided over the support group for the college. Bill McGhinnis is the current executive director and senior president. Mr. Fleming remains active in the Collegedale community and in Chattanooga service organizations. He is a member of the SC Board of Trustees and the SC Industrial Board. Also, he is the first elder of the Collegedale SDA Church and board chairman of Collegedale Interiors, Inc., a carpet brokerage operation with an annual volume of about $4 million.

Those Who Walked These Halls

Those attending the 1985 homecoming in Collegedale from the 1920's decade included: Rose Meister Allen, Masie White Jameson, Robert and Martha (Montgomery) Odom, Robert and Elizabeth Cowdrick, D. W. Hunter, Merrill Dart, Herman Slate, Jesse Cowdrick, Katharyn Anderson Crowder, Thelma Levering, Carl and Ruth Jacobs, Ray Jacobs, John Speyer, Margaret Thompson Connell, Charlie and Helen (Watts) Boykin, Nellie Ferree, and O. D. and Ruth (King) McKee.

Jennie (Stagg) Hudson, '28, was sorry not to be at homecoming, as "Southern College has always been close to my heart." She adds, "Always interested in what is doing."

Ruby (Wade) Jensen, '23, is living in Christianburg, Va. Though virtually incapacitated by rheumatoid arthritis, she wrote recently of fond SJC memories. She recounted a 1920 experience in Elder Field's Old Testament history class when she, Dorothy Tolman, and Lucille Whiteneck decided to write a composition incorporating class members' names. "We were sitting right in front and got so tickled he should have sent us out of class, or made us read it aloud," she says.

Herman I. Slate, '25, took two years of high school at SJC, resulting "in a deepening of my Christian beliefs." Later he graduated at Loma Linda with his degree in medicine, and became a general surgeon. In '40, he married Esther Grace Heiser of Beacon, N. Y. From 1952 to 1968 he was chief of surgery at Hadley Memorial Hospital in Washington, D.C. He retired from surgery in 1975. He describes his greatest thrills as "the occasions of three of my major operative cases becoming members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church." The Slates continue to live in Arlington, Va., not far from their two married daughters, Grace Langley, a systems analyst; and Glenda Brenner, a CPA.

Don Steinman, '27, writes from National City, Calif., where he and his wife have a large garden with berries, fruit and nut trees. They grow bananas and lots of flowers. At 80, he is in excellent health and "of good courage as we see so many evidences of the soon return of Jesus." Don completed nurses training at Hinsdale in 1929 and the theology course at Washington Missionary College in 1935. He pastored in the Potomac and Ohio conferences, worked with J. L. Shuler in evangelism, and was on the youth camp staff at Tar Hollow, Ohio. He worked in Illinois 5 years and then in California at Paradise Valley Hospital. He has two daughters, grandchildren, and a great-grandson.

Virginia (Leach) Thatcher, '24, '29, '63, and her husband, Mel, are retired in Paradise, Calif. She taught for many years. Their daughter Jackie Ruskjer lives in Paradise, and a second daughter, Barbara Jane Studer, lives in Avon, Ohio. There are six grandchildren.

Minnie Ward, '24, passed away August 6, 1985. She was buried in Keene, Texas. She is survived by two sons, Marceus L. Ward of Dallas, and Clovis Wendell Ward of Eagle Lake, Texas; a daughter, Wanda Easley of Gentry, Ark.; 13 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Kenneth Crofoot, '36, passed away on Oct. 11, 1984, in Orlando, Fla. As a student, he worked in the library, and his wife, Eleanor (Andrews), recalls the priceless education she herself received from reading during those years. She later taught school and earned a M.Ed. from Maryland University. Dr. Crofoot taught, pastored, and was a chaplain and clinical psychologist. In retirement he was a volunteer family and marriage counselor for the Forest Lake SDA Church as well as for a county health clinic. Daughters are Ellen (Mrs. Robert) Nixon, treasurer of Takoma Academy, and Kathleen (Mrs. John) Harrington, who works in Quality Care.

Lois Mae Franz, '34, died on Oct. 2, 1985, in Berkeley Springs, W. Va. Lois was a secretary at the General Conference for 11 years, retiring in 1977 because of illness. Her husband, Clyde, '32, was an associate secretary there from 1970 to 1980. For 21 years they were at various posts in the Inter-American Division. They have a son, Charles, an orthodontist in Calif., and a daughter, Sue Smith, who lives in Maryland.

Vera Fay Lester, '36, was last employed as teacher and registrar at Rio Lindo Academy in Healdsburg, Calif., where she still lives. After completing a two-year music degree here, she went on to other colleges to get her B.A. in modern languages. B.Mus. in music education, and her M.Mus.Ed.

Audice L. Lynd, student '35, is a former Kentucky-Tennessee Conference treasurer. He and his wife, Delia (Banks), have one daughter, Virginia Orr. The Lynds are retired in Candler, N.C.

1940's

Earl L. Clough, '49, though retired from the ministry, is presently a camp ranger for the Mountain View Conference in W. Va. He and his first wife, Dorothy, had a son and a daughter. After her death, his second wife, Louise, gave him two step-children and a daughter.

Curtis C. Johnson, Jr. student '44 to '45, is a retired X-ray technologist, and his wife is retired from nursing. They have rental property near their home in Largo, Fla. They have a daughter in North Carolina and a son in California, "plus four wonderful grandchildren."

Alice (Perkins) KImber, '47, is residing in Sanford, Fla., with her husband, Victor. She has been awarded an honorary doctorate in social work by the World University Roundtable International Secretariat in Tucson, Ariz. She has also been included in the 1985 book, 2,000 Notable Americans. This fall she was invited to attend the World Conference of Doctors in Tucson.

Clarence D. Wellman, '46, died Feb. 10, 1985, in Keene, Texas, after a year's fight with cancer. He was a member of the first four-year senior class at Collegedale. He enjoyed almost 40 years as a minister, serving in the Georgia-Cumberland and Texas conferences. He and his wife, Allene (Hasty), had celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary just five months before his death. Their daughters, Joyce Williams and Nelda Fields, live near Allene.

Gerald Kovalski, '63, is the director of communication for the Georgia-Cumberland Conference. He was principal of Bass Memorial Academy, Lumberton, Miss., for the past three years, and communication director of the Alabama-Mississippi (Gulf States) and New York conferences prior to that. His son, Jerry, is working this year as a student missionary on Guam at the Adventist World Radio/Asia station. Jerry and his wife, Cindy, have an apartment overlooking the ocean on the west side of the island.

Charles N. Martin, Jr., '64, is now the executive vice president of marketing and development for Hospital Corporation of America. He joined HCA in September, 1980, after serving as president and chief operating officer of General Care Corp. Martin resides in Nashville, Tenn., home base for HCA.

Ron Shoemaker, '68, has recently moved to a new location near Ringgold, Ga. He is a sales representative for a uniform rental service. He and his wife have two sons, ages 7 and 10.

Those Who Walked These Halls

Ronald M. Smith, '65, is field representative, Trust Services, for the Oregon Conference. He had been senior pastor of the Hood View/Pleasant Valley District. Before going to Oregon in 1976 he had pastored in Florida for 10 years. His wife, Kathleen (Detamore), '65, is a nurse. Their children are: Daryl, Darlene, Laurel, and Lauren.

Steve and Kristin Thompson, '69 and daughter Tina

Steven Thompson is principal of Newbold College in England. After he and his wife, Ellen-Kristin (Peterson), graduated from Southern in 1969, they both completed master's degrees at Andrews University. While pastoring the Dundee church in Scotland, he took studies at St. Andrews University. In 1976 he received his Ph.D. in New Testament. After being a pastor in England for two years, he joined the Newbold College faculty. In June 1984 he became principal of the 250-student Adventist college. Kristin teaches in the Newbold Church School and they have two daughters, Lisa and Tina.

Heidi Marta (Gallner) Uptegrove, student '65 to '68, received a B.A. degree in psychology from the University of California, Riverside, and a masters degree in counseling from the University of San Francisco. She is currently working toward state licensing as a marriage and family therapist. She is the mediator/conciliator of the Family Conciliation Court, Superior Court of Tehama County (northern California). Her husband, Tim, is the business manager for the Tehama County Department of Education.

Charles Lloyd Williams, '69, and Margery Sue (Schacklett), '68, of Hagerstown, Md., left San Francisco for Singapore with their three children on August 21. Charles is the new director of the publishing department for the Far Eastern Division.
